(Continued from Page One) Spring street and down to Eighth street, then across to Broadway and up to First street. Along this whole route the streets were lined, the windows of buildings filled with spectators, and as well as could be done the crowds joined in an ovation. As the department stores were passed the windows were filled with fair-haired girls who cheered and who received in return a glad hand from the officers.

The rest of the ride was somewhat kaleidoscopic to the officers. Down Hill street with good speed and out Seventh, through Westlake park, Pico heights and to the Country club, where Scotch brook and lawns, the admiral returning through Berkeley square and Lester place and back to Central park various streets, the autos speeded. At Wilshire and Beverly the party lived greeting to the gray-haired Mrs. E. Anthony, who was injured in an auto accident a week ago, but who sat her window waving a large silk flag.

The ceiling is decorated with several hundred blue electric bulbs and ropes of asparagus plumosus. From this edge many festoons of asparagus plumosus, reaching to the center of the arch, are thickly strung with alternating ensigns of the union jacks, and between each two gleam electric bulbs.

Ropes of plumosus and strings of red, white and blue electric bulbs encircle the hall above the balcony, and ten spot lights have been placed at points of vantage for throwing colored lights on the decorations. MIGHTY MEN OF FLEET ARE PRAISED BY ADMIRAL THOMAS

HEROES OF MANY WARS ARE BANQUETED

Only words of appreciation were heard yesterday from the sixty and more representatives of "the mighty men" of the big fleet, the chiefs and warrant officers of that body of warships, at the hearty welcome accorded them by the city of Los Angeles through Gunner Frank McGregor, U. S. N., retired, and his efficient and enthusiastic coworkers on the entertainment committee.

Mighty Men Represented

Chief Boatwain Phil Mullin saved the battleship New York, Admiral Sampson's flagship, in the year 1897; Gunner Borgeson of the Georgia was the hero at the explosion on board the battleship Missouri; Chief Carpenter Gates of the Georgia was the main man in pulling the Oregon off the rocks off the Japanese coast; Boatwain A. Stewart of the Louisiana, like many another officer there, wears the Manila Bay medal on his breast.

Officer Meets Old Friend

Chauffeur Will A. Kistler—composer by the way, of a march and two-step in honor of this big fleet, entitled "From the Atlantic to the Pacific"—acted as leadman and announced "No bottom at six." As the officers waited for the march to be played, the guests at Pico and Hobson streets, Father Clifford, pastor of that church, saw them and invited them into his study. Talking with the officers, Father Clifford found that Chief Gunner Charette had been on the Chicago when that ship was at Queenstown years ago, and he had visited the crew. Furthermore, he was the only man of that entire daring crew who is in active service today.
