Mr. H. E. Huntington Has Expended Over a Million Dollars Around Redondo in Substantial Improvements

Go down to Redondo and see for yourself. And in addition to the three electric lines now running to Redondo is the great Santa Fe steam railroad. With four lines of transportation it would seem as if same would be sufficient, but surveyors are in the field laying out the shortest line of all to connect Los Angeles with its choicest seashore suburb—Redondo. Mr. Huntington has just completed at Redondo the largest electric power house on the Pacific coast, at a cost of $1,250,000. Go down and look at the mammoth cement smokestacks of this great wonder. They are indeed a sight to behold.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

AUDITORIUM—"Erminie," that greatest of all successes to the credit of Francis Wilson and Pauline Hall, will be the bill at the Auditorium this week, beginning tomorrow night, at the new popular price schedule. It was in "Erminie" that Eleanor Kent, prima donna of the Edgar Temple company, first won fame. She stepped into Miss Hall's part on six hours' notice, and held the place throughout the season. The role is naturally a favorite with her, and one of the best she does. Harry Cashman and Fritz Fields will be the two notorious thieves, Ravennas and Cadeaux. Among the notable numbers in "Erminie" are the famed "Lullaby," "The Jail Birds," the "Dickey Bird" song and the "Good Night" chorus. The opera has never before been done at popular prices in this city.

BELASCO—"The Girl of the Golden West." David Belasco's remarkably successful melodrama of California life in the early days, continues its run at this house, entering upon its sixth week tomorrow night, after breaking all Los Angeles records. Alice Treat Hunt continues to dispense drinks in the Polka saloon, where she is assisted by Richard Vivian as her bartender. Lewis S. Stone plays the road agent; Harry Glazier, Sonora; Howard Scott, the sheriff; Hobart Bosworth, the Indian, and Adele Farringham a squaw. Interest in the play continues unabated.

BURBANK—Beginning with a matinee, this afternoon Manager Morosco will offer the Burbank theater stock company, James Neil and Edythe Chapman, who have been especially engaged, in a revival of Mark Twain's famous story, "Pudd'nhead Wilson," as dramatized by the late Frank Mayo. Some five years ago this play proved an exceedingly popular offering at the Burbank and there have been many requests for a revival. Mr. Neil will be seen in the name part, a role which he has played successfully elsewhere. Edythe Chapman will appear as the octopus, "Roxy." The story of how Pudd'nhead Wilson, the lawyer whose shingle had waved in the winds for years and brought no answer in the form of a client, discovered the substitution of twin boys simply by the impression he had taken of their thumbs in their infancy will always remain a fascinating tale and one that will invariably arouse curiosity among play patrons. The court room scene will be given in detail and the equipment both for this and for the other scenes will prove well up to the regular Burbank theater standard.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—"The Belle of Richmond," a southern play, will be given its first presentation here this afternoon by the Ulrich stock company. This is described as a love story in which the real people are Virginians, the comedians are Yankees, and in which the inevitable villain falls from almost anywhere. The villain in this case is a bank examiner, who takes advantage of his official position to steal, falsifies books and statements to cover his tracks and finally places the fault on the other. The play works out to a happy conclusion, however, and will contain the usual number and variety of thrills.

ORPHEUM—The Empire City quartet heads the bill at the Orpheum this week with their accustomed quota of comedy and song. The Three Leighton are dispensers of black-face fun. They call their act "A One-Night Stand in Minstrelsy." Orin and Fern are from last week's bill include Helen Bertram, who will have a new program of standard, operatic and popular songs; the Keane-Briscoe pair in "A Trial Marriage"; Leo Carillo, Cole and Rags and Stella Mayhew.

EMPIRE—Alva York, a prepossessing young woman, with an enviable reputation as a singer, will head the bill at the Empire next week with a selection of English and Scotch songs. Her repertoire is extensive. "The New Boarder" is the title of the comedy sketch to be presented by Ed. B. and Rolla White. Ed B. White will be remembered as the old sparring partner of John L. Sullivan during the latter's championship days. Ben Sellers with coarser songs, the Hill sisters in illustrated selections, and the Empire stock company in "Too Much for Pat," a farce by Al Franks, complete the bill.

FISCHER—"Mephisto," a mythological fantasy in a semi-romantic vein, will be the offering of Herr Fischer's players for the coming week. Miss Bessie Tannehill will appear in the picturesque male attire of the Roman empire; Miss Nellie Montgomery will personate the famous statue, Galatea; George Morrell will be his satanic majesty; Evan Baldwin will appear as his secretary; Herb Bell will have a comedy part as usual, and Fred Gambold, under whose direction the playlet will be staged, is the Roman astrologer. Director E. P. Foot has arranged an attractive musical program, the vocal numbers being "True Heart," by Evan Baldwin and chorus; "Carristina," by Miss Bessie Tannehill; "Rain in the Face," by George Morrell and chorus; and "Moonlight Reverie," by Miss Montgomery and chorus. The opening chorus is from "The Honey-Mooners."

UNIQUE—"Giroffe Giroffe" is the opera selected for tabloid presentation at the Unique this week. Maude Beatty will sing the famous drinking song, "See How It Sparkles." Kate Carlson, who has been away for the past fortnight, will return to the bill and will be heard in "Dixie Dan," with chorus accompaniment. Lew Dunbar will be heard in "They Say He Went to College." The comedy roles will be played by Hugh Metcalfe, Billy Onslow and Billy Rehn. The comedy company will present Richard Cummings' farce, "The Widow McGint" with Katherine Merley in the name part, Willis West in a Dutch role and Mr. Cummings as an Irishman. Rose Behn will sing illustrated songs and the Unique-oscope will present moving pictures.

Wonderful improvements in the San Joaquin valley. Thousands of acres in alfalfa, beets, dairy farms, grapes, oranges and prunes. Go with the excursionists Wednesday night.

MILLS EDITS PAPER ON FELLOWSHIP PLAN

"WHAT IS LOVING THING TO DO?" ITS MOTTO

Prominent Los Angeles Religious Leader Will Soon Return from Long National Lecture Tour

Benjamin Fay Mills, who for three years has been the minister of the Los Angeles Fellowship, will soon return to Los Angeles from his national lecture tour, began last fall, with new honors and titles. In the eastern cities he was received as "the twentieth century prophet of the religion of democracy," and in many places where he lectured branches of the Fellowship have been organized.

Mr. Mills also distinguished himself as a newspaper editor in Minneapolis by taking charge of an evening paper, and by editing and managing it a demonstration of his creed, "What is the Loving Thing to Do?" Copies of this paper have been received in Los Angeles, and it is a novel edition. These are some of the features that distinguish it: Scare head on first page; "Forsyth, Brothers, fellowship is heaven, and the lack of fellowship is hell; fellowship is life, and the lack of fellowship is death; and the deeds that you do upon the earth it is for fellowship's sake that we do them; therefore I bid you to not dwell in hell, but in heaven upon earth, which is a part of heaven, and forsooth no foul part."

Editorial proposing that the cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul be united to form one city known as Minneapolis. Editorial advocating the presidential candidates of Bryan and La Follette as a matter of education to the American people. Editorial complimenting two rival papers on their merits and excellence. Signed editorials by each of the reporters, telling what they most wanted to say. News item, "Train dynamited by tramps on Northern Pacific," introduced by the following paragraph: "An unsocial society creates workless men, workless men create tramps, tramps create bitterness, bitterness creates disaster."

Feature page, with illustrated articles on Catholics, Jews and the Salvation Army. One page of sports instead of two, with prize fights and horse races eliminated in favor of baseball and tennis. "Story of the good works of Toozie Rogers, a saloon keeper. Every news item in the paper was handled from an optimistic standpoint. Very little of the news of the day was reported. Its treatment was unique. There was one story about a razor duel over a love affair. It was headed, "Not the real thing. This was a poor imitation of love." A story about a Columbia graduate who had turned burglar was headed, "Burglar with education needs still more. Columbia graduate did not learn to respect property laws."

Mr. Mills proved he an extremely active and vigorous editor. During the week in which he prepared to edit the paper he gave thirteen lectures, and attended to other business, but was in the newspaper office early and late getting the staff of reporters in line for his method of handling the news. These are some of the rules he posted in his office: Write every story as if you were the man in it. Keep the world smiling and you will keep it sane and healthy. Tell the truth, nothing but the truth, but not always the whole truth. Don't worry, you will have another chance tomorrow. Mr. Mills has been making a tour through the middle west in the interests of greater fellowship among people of all churches and religions. He has been speaking in any pulpits that is open to him regardless of the religious opinions of those who constitute the church. He has spoken to an audience of some people in the Mormon tabernacle at Salt Lake, to immense congregations in the Jewish temples and synagogues, in theaters and public auditoriums in Congregational, Unitarian, Universalist and independent churches. He says that the world is on the eve of a new era of fellowship and cooperation, and that differences of opinion in religious matters are giving way before the general spirit of harmony in what religious movements are trying to do for human progress.

THINKS SIMPLER NAME WOULD AID HIM GREATLY

"What's in a name?" Adam Gustav Pukropski says there is trouble in his name, and yesterday he filed a petition in the superior court to have it changed to the more euphonious name of Adam Gustav Kraft. Pukropski admits in his petition he was born in a German town with a name almost as bad as his own—Bart-kenguth. But he says his own name has bothered him in business and among his friends; that it is not easy to pronounce and difficult to spell and that he meets with difficulty in having others understand, pronounce or spell his name.

The petition for a change of name was filed by Attorney Harley E. Riggs, formerly a deputy county clerk and now practicing lawyer.
