Flint, postmaster here, stating that the prospects for Los Angeles obtaining the 1909 gathering of the grand lodge are excellent. "It is my judgment that Los Angeles is going to win," he says. "You got in early and have made an excellent showing."

STOCKHOLDERS SAY THEY WERE CHEATED

CLAIM STOCK WAS ISSUED FRAUDULENTLY

Board of Directors Will File Affidavit In Answer to Charges by Members of Ocean View Cemetery Association

A. D. Warner, attorney for Mrs. Charles E. Corbett and 193 stockholders of the Ocean View Cemetery association in their suit against R. Donaldson Brown and members of the board of directors, will file an affidavit today in the superior court, together with a deposition of R. Donaldson Brown, taken at the office of Hazel B. Rhodes at 10 a. m., June 18.

In his answers to questions Brown admitted that he gave his equity in the land where the cemetery is located for his 62,500 shares of stock. On the advice of his attorney, E. L. Payne, Brown refused to answer nearly all questions asked by Warner.

The complaining stockholders assert stock was issued fraudulently by the directors.

Herald Patterns

AN UP-TO-DATE ETON SUIT

6134

The amateur dressmaker will find some very charming styles at her disposal this season and an extremely smart coat suit which might be developed in pongee, taffeta or a light-weight cloth is here shown. The coat is of the Eton order, with the body and sleeves cut in one, the latter being in the short, flowing style that is now so popular. The skirt is a circular one, having no other trimming than the three tucks above the hem. It fits smoothly over the hips and flares modestly below the knees. Both coat and skirt are in the newest mode and are very easy to make, thus being especially adapted for home construction. In the medium size 1-8-4 yards of 44-inch material are needed for the coat and five yards of the same width for the skirt.

Two patterns—6134—Five sizes, 32 to 40 inches bust measure. 6135—Six sizes, 22 to 32 inches waist measure.

The price of these patterns is 20 cents, but either will be sent on receipt of 10 cents.

STANFORD PRESIDENT MAKES OPENING ADDRESS

LARGE CLASS IS PRESENTED WITH SHEEPSKINS

University of Southern California Brings Highly Successful Year to a Close—One Hundred and Thirty-three Graduates

About the most successful year in the history of the University of Southern California was brought to an impressive close yesterday with the twenty-fifth annual commencement program at the Temple auditorium. A class of 133 graduates was presented with sheepskins. The exercises were held in the morning and a large crowd witnessed them.

The appearance on the platform of Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of the Leland Stanford University, and Dr. G. F. Boyer, president of the University of Southern California, was the signal for an enthusiastic ovation from the audience. Dr. Jordan delivered the commencement address, talking for his theme "Enthusiasm." He said, in part:

"Learn to love the things you do because you do them, and learn to do the things you love because you love them," he said by way of introduction.

"If your mission in life today is to lie in a blanket and howl like a dog, do your best. Be as good a dog as you can."

There has been a lot of talk among your own people here as to the right and wrong of card playing, bridge, whist, dancing, theater going, etc. There is no right and wrong to it. "Anything wrong in it as far as a phase of idleness. Going to prayer meeting might be said to be the same thing if done in the same spirit."

"When a man gets a windfall, he is likely to pass the rest of his life watching the wind. If he falls heir to a legacy, he is likely to lose his immortal soul trying to get it before it is due. Love of unearned money is the root of all evil."

All Are in the Limelight

"Be enthusiastic. We, you and I, are in the limelight. Whatever our part is, and it may be a very small one, while we are doing it we are in the limelight. We are the most important people in existence just then. Enthusiasm is the basic center of life."

"Vice is self-inflicted injury. It is usually due to lack of life in being. The man who has vices has lamed himself. He no longer has his full capacity for doing and being. Death is a cleaner and better thing in the long run than vice."

"Whatever makes us ready for more happiness and joyousness is real happiness. Happiness is a sort of electric light passing into the soul. It is the signal that all is well with the nervous system. Happiness is the product of doing; of action. It is not being. It is always felt because it leaves a dark brown taste in the mouth the morning after."

"There is nothing distresses a man more than not having enough to do. Life drives him very hard who has nothing to occupy his time. And killing time is the costliest kind of idleness."

CUMNOCK GRADUATES HOLD THEIR ANNUAL REUNION

Afternoon Banquet at Auditorium Well Attended and Accompanied by Long List of Witty and Appropriate Toasts

Cumnock hall was the scene of a most enjoyable reunion yesterday afternoon when the graduates, led by Mrs. Grigg, marched into the auditorium by classes to the strains of the "Alumni Song." Covers were laid for fifty, graduates who have not been able to meet at the alumnae banquet for years were present.

Mrs. Jessie Grigg, '00, president of the Alumnae association, introduced the toasts, the first being to "The Incoming Class," by Miss Ruby King, '07, of Long Beach. Mrs. Fredonia Zimmerman, '08, responded to "The School," "The Future of the School" was predicted by Miss Annice Campbell, '08, president of this year's class, and "The Prodigal's Return" was the toast appropriately responded to by Miss Agnes Hebenberg, '02, who is back from a two years' sojourn abroad.

"Stage Reminiscences," by Miss Lillian Blackstock, '02, gave her professional experiences in the Southern Marlowe company. The Ethical Massacre was handled by Miss Wilhelmina Wilkes, '05, of the faculty, while "Our Babies" was drunk to with a will, especially by the Cumnock mothers present. Miss D. C. Haller, '05, and other Cumnock teacher, gave "The Girl Who Attends the Alumni Business Meeting," and the last toast, "Our Next President," was the subject of Mrs. Cecily Praeger Allen, '04.

These present were Mesdames Gladys Garfield Archibald, Lulu Bottorff Parker, Estelle Elliott, Hartwell, Elye McClure Heinen, Ruth Mesdames Sandison, Alice Williamson Preston, Louise Woodard Baldwin, Lillian Brock Nicklin, Jessie Page Hems, Augusta Atkinson, Louise Bridgen Galbreth, Fern Palmer Parker, Cecily Praeger Allen, Maybel Sherman Strang, Helen Seckel, Lella von Ache Jenks, Lillian Murdock, Annborn; Misses Ida May Leonard, Lillian Blackstock, Agnes Browning, Gladys De Witt, Agnes Hebenberg, Emma H. MICHIGAN DRINKS TO TAFT AS PRESIDENT

UNIVERSITY ALUMNI TOAST HIM ROYALLY

William W. Phelps Recalls That He Was Mentioned for White House First at Yale Banquet in Chicago

The very first mention of William H. Taft in connection with the presidency of the United States was made at a dinner of the Yale Alumni club of Chicago several years ago at which Taft was present, according to William W. Phelps, who responded to the toast "Oliver Times" at the annual banquet of the University of Michigan Alumni club at the Hollenbeck hotel last night.

"Mr. Taft intimated that the suggestion was a little premature," said Mr. Phelps, "and displayed the usual modesty which seemed fitting to the occasion. At any rate the Yale men arose and drank the toast to Taft as our next president, which is, as far as I know, the first time he was ever mentioned for that office."

Mr. Phelps then said that, in view of the news of the secretary's nomination, he would propose that all who cared to should arise and toast the next president of the United States. Although there were many Democrats among the club members they put aside their political affiliations for the moment and drank the toast.

Dr. Andrew S. Lobinger responded to the toast "Southern California." He prophesied that Southern California would eventually rival the golden state of Greece, as already she gives promise of becoming the center of the highest development of art and literature in the history of the world.

William W. Phelps, he said, was the preparatory epoch that always precedes perfection in the sciences and arts.

Mrs. Mary Elliott responded to "U. of M. Students in the West." Judge Victor E. Shaw of the appellate court acted as toastmaster.

CITY GAS COMPANY NOT TO BE MERGED IN ITS RIVAL

J. F. Sartori, president of the City Gas company, emphatically denied yesterday that that company was carrying on negotiations with the Los Angeles Gas and Electric company with the object of selling to the latter firm. President Sartori said the negotiations were going on for the raising of funds to carry on improvements, or to sell the controlling interest for the purpose of having the plant and equipment of the central station, and for a long time crossing officer at Third and Broadway. When news of his son's arrival was given him Patrolman Lenox immediately telephoned his company to the central station and all are now waiting for him to show up and be congratulated.

Stork Visits Officer's Home

Andrew Jackson Lenox No. 2, a bouncing twelve-pound boy, has arrived for an extended visit with Andrew Jackson Lenox No. 1, patrolman on the Los Angeles force, and for a long time crossing officer at Third and Broadway. When news of his son's arrival was given him Patrolman Lenox immediately telephoned his company to the central station and all are now waiting for him to show up and be congratulated.
