CHANGE DELIVERY CLAUSE IN BOND

SOME MODIFICATION MADE IN AGREEMENT

CITY SELLS SECURITIES WHICH IT WANTS MONEY

Aqueduct Funds Exhausted and Board of Public Works Refuses to Let More Contracts for Material

The bond agreement that W. B. Mathews, aqueduct attorney, has arranged with the two firms of New York bankers will be presented to the council in modified form at its session next Monday. The option clauses will still remain the same and the 4 1/2 per cent interest will remain, but the delivery clauses will be changed to conform with the ideas expressed by councilmen at a session held with the board of public works Tuesday morning.

This will make an appreciable difference in the total amount of interest that will have to be paid on the entire issue of Owens river securities. The aqueduct commission and the board of public works held a long session in the aqueduct quarters yesterday morning, at which the coast representative of A. B. Leach & Co. and Kountze Bros. was present, and this point was finally determined on.

Mr. Mathews explained at the conference that he found it impossible, after three weeks' work, to dispose of the bonds at 4 per cent, or at any price under 4 1/2 per cent, that did not include the option on succeeding issues of the bonds. Leach and Kountze, he declares, offered the best premiums of any of the Wall street bond brokers.

Reasons for Haste The coast representative of the brokers explained at the conference that the options were necessary, as they had to immediately begin to find a market for the succeeding issues, and unless they could be assured that they would be allowed to deal in the bonds to the conclusion of the entire issue they did not feel justified in taking the first installment of $2,000,000, which is offered them at 4 1/2 per cent.

Meanwhile two reasons for haste confront the board of public works and the aqueduct commission. The aqueduct funds are practically exhausted and the board of public works for the last two weeks has refused to make any contracts for much needed materials until such certain where the money is coming from. The second reason is that San Francisco will soon put $5,000,000 of public improvement bonds on the market at 5 per cent and to eastern brokers. The extra half per cent at which the San Francisco bonds are offered will make a difference in interest that bond buyers will not likely overlook.

A. A. Hubbard of the board of public works stated yesterday that while the extra half per cent on the Owens river issue will make a difference in interest of about $2,000,000 for the entire forty years which the bonds have to run, it is practically certain that more than that amount can be saved by the knowledge that the money will certainly be forthcoming. He declares they have found it to be the case in letting contracts for city improvement work that they could make much better bargains when the contractors were certain they could get their money as soon as the goods were delivered than in cases where payment was postponed to some indefinite time.

JULY LICENSES BREAK ALL MONTHLY RECORDS

Three Hundred Permits Are Issued for New Business Alone—Liquor Licenses of All Kinds Net City $32,450

Yesterday was a record breaking day for license clerk Lovey in city clerk Leland's office. He issued 300 licenses for new business alone, and practically every peddler who has been in business of any kind, every restaurant keeper and every other person required to operate under a license renewed. The license reports for the fiscal year ending June 30 have been compiled and show that $13,000 was paid into the city treasury for dog licenses last year. At the rate dog licenses are being issued this year, clerk Lovey estimates the amount will pay the $100,000 mark. There were 1064 monthly licenses, exclusive of liquor licenses, sent out for collection yesterday that will net the city $10,149.47 and 427 licenses for which $23,783.19 will be received. Liquor licenses for the month are: Two hundred retail saloons, $20,000; 84 restaurant liquor licenses, $6300, and 23 wholesale, $6150; making a total of $32,450 for liquor licenses for July.

The following were yesterday appointed by Mayor Harper as delegates to the national good roads congress, which meets in Denver July 8: Nathan Cole, Jr., Isidore B. Dockweiler, M. K. Young, Mattison B. Jones, F. H. Oaler, C. W. Judy and Frank J. Haddock. The good roads congress will meet one day before the Democratic national convention, and the delegates the mayor has named will go to Denver to attend the convention. They will arrive at least one day before the convention opens and take part in the deliberations of the good roads congress.

WOMAN AGAIN SEEKS PERMIT FOR ASYLUM

RESIDENTS OF NEIGHBORHOOD ENTER PROTEST

Applicant Advised by Mayor to Seek New Location, as Health Board Refuses to Reopen Her Case

Mrs. A. C. Talbot, who two weeks ago was denied the permit she requested of the board of health to establish what she calls a sanitarium for the treatment of nervous diseases in a building formerly occupied as a dancing academy at Woodlawn avenue and Miles street, made an attempt to reopen her case before the board of health yesterday.

The entire neighborhood gathered in the mayor's outer office, where the health board meets, and made vigorous protest against reopening the case. They declared the establishment was nothing but a private madhouse and the patients were visible from the street. Mothers declared the fence around the place was insufficient to keep any lunatic bent on mischief from getting out and doing any damage he chose, and they feared for the safety of their children.

Mayor Harper declared he knew nothing of the merits of the case, but he would refer the matter to the delegation was convinced the residents of the neighborhood did not want the establishment and was opposed to a re-hearing of the case. The matter was finally disposed of by granting Mrs. Talbot thirty days in which to find another location. The mayor suggested she go to the outskirts of the city on some car line, if she did not find a building suitable she could find someone who would erect her a structure suitable to her needs.

WOMAN WANTS PORTION OF PUBLIC HIGHWAY

Petitioner Claims Pecan Street Between Kearney and Gless Was Never Deeded to the City. Vacated Year Ago

That portion of Pecan street between Kearney and Gless streets promises to be the subject of a lively dispute between a woman who claims she owns this portion of the street and the city vacated it for a public highway. June of last year the council opened Pecan street from Kearney to Gless, apparently without opposition and on the supposition that the property used was city land. Yesterday Juana Lopez de Lazzarich, widow of John Lazzarich, filed a petition asking that her title to this strip of land be quieted. She declares she owns the property, has owned it for twenty years and has not deeded it to the city, and very much objects to having the public highway on her land.

CITY HALL NOTES

The council met yesterday morning and passed the pay rolls for June in August, and the celebration of the Fourth in the city. The rolls were signed yesterday afternoon by Mayor Harper, and payment began before the close of business for the day.

The appropriation allowed Fire Chief Lips to attend the national convention of fire chiefs in Columbus, Ohio, in August, was yesterday raised by the council from $250 to $400. Resolutions were yesterday passed by the city council concurring with the widow of Herman Gerson, keeper of Eastlake park, who died Tuesday from wounds inflicted by a tiger.

The fund of $250 allowed the playground commission for the celebration of the Fourth in the playgrounds was made immediately available by resolution of the council yesterday. Nathan Cole, Jr., was yesterday granted thirty days' leave of absence from the police commission to attend the Democratic national convention at Denver, to which he goes as a delegate.

The police commission yesterday cited the proprietors of the Casino billiard parlor, 234 South Spring street, to appear before it on the next meeting and show cause why their license to conduct a billiard parlor should not be revoked. A gambling den in a room over the parlor, which access could be had only through the billiard parlor, was recently raided and one of the proprietors was among those fined for the offense. M. Gardiner, 1009 North Alameda street, was granted a restaurant liquor license by the police commission yesterday.

The case of Detective Craig, against whom verbal charges of misconduct have been made, was left with Chief Kern, with power to act, by resolution of the police commission. Further discussion of the sale of the Owens river aqueduct bonds was put over to the next regular meeting of the council by the resignation of Mrs. Kate H. Connor has filed a petition with the council in which she declares she was not awarded sufficient damages when a portion of her property was cut away in the reopening of Sixteenth street, between Normandie and Arlington avenues. Her lot was 45 feet wide, but 17 1/2 feet had to be sacrificed when the street was widened, leaving but 27 1/2 feet. This, she declares, is useless for any kind of building purposes except in conjunction with the lot adjoining, and she is unable to buy the adjoining lot and the owner of it refuses to purchase hers. She was awarded $462.30 damages, but claims she should have $714.81.

PRETTY ITALIAN GIRL SAVED FATHER'S LICENSE

Tells Police Commission Patrolman Saw Only Family Party When He Found Bottles of Beer on Restaurant Table

The pleadings of a pretty Italian girl yesterday saved her father's restaurant liquor license. Antonelli Rosa, who conducts an Italian restaurant at 651 San Fernando street, was cited to appear before the police commission yesterday morning and show cause why his license should not be revoked for selling liquor without meals. The patrolman on the beat had reported such a violation. Rosa's pretty daughter, who speaks English with a delightful accent, explained to the commission that what the patrolman had seen when he entered their place was merely a happy little family gathering, composed of her father, mother, sister, brother and a few other close relatives. They had had a couple of bottles of beer, she admitted, but it was all in the family. Her explanation was satisfactory to the board, and Rosa was permitted to retain his license without any evidence being taken on the other side of the case.

Mistake in Name

The transfer of the wholesale liquor license held by B. Wynns at 706 San Pedro street was made by the police commission Tuesday because Mr. Wynns has given up the liquor business and is now in the wholesale grocery business, and not because of trouble that has occurred at the place. A statement was made at the meeting of the commission Tuesday that Mr. Wynns' place had given the police some trouble, but a later investigation proved that it had been confused with another place near his location. The commissioners are unanimous in stating that Mr. Wynns has always conducted his place in an orderly manner.

WHIPPLE MOUNTAIN MINE HAS ODD HOUSEWARMING

An informal housewarming and dedication of the newly equipped offices of the Whipple Mountain Gold and Copper Mining company was held in the Wright & Callender building at Fourth and Hill streets yesterday. The mine of the company is near Parker, San Bernardino county, James L. Brice being president and manager and A. J. Richardson vice president and treasurer. Some of the most prominent mining men of the Coeur d'Alene section of Idaho are heavy stockholders in this property. Among the exhibits is a 94-pound piece of copper and gold from fifty pounds of ore and a 2 1/2-ounce from four pounds of ore. The larger pieces of ore assay $123.94 per ton, $44.44 gold and $73.50 copper, while the smaller pieces run $155.34 per ton, $25.84 gold and $129.50 copper.

FORMER KEEPER GERSON BORNE TO HIS LAST REST

Funeral Largely Attended by Relatives and Friends, and Resolutions of Sympathy with Widow Are Passed by Council

The funeral of Herman Gerson, head animal keeper of the Eastlake park zoo, who died at the county hospital Tuesday of injuries received from a tiger, occurred yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Dexter Samson undertaking establishment. About 250 friends and relatives attended the obsequies, which were conducted by a Jewish rabbi. The floral tributes were exceptionally numerous, showing the regard and affection in which the man was held. Among the relatives present were Mrs. Gerson, to whom he had been married but a short while, and his two brothers. Resolutions of sympathy and condolence from the city council were presented to Mrs. Gerson. The body was taken to the Los Angeles crematory.
