EAGAN, FOR THE OAKS, MAKES HOME RUN

BOTH SIDES HAVE TO CHANGE THEIR PITCHERS

Game Featured by Many Errors on Both Sides and Fans Are Disgusted with the Poor Playing

Angels 4, Oaks 6

It was the same old story yesterday. There is so much to tell that it would not be advantageous to the Angel team nor policy to tell it. Although the Angels outlast Oakland nearly two to one the locals lost almost by the same score. Eagan's home run in the third brought in the winning tallies. Eagan, who was not good enough for the Angel team, swatted one that went clear over to Twelfth street, and before the Angels found the ball three runs had been scored. Delmas had to juggle Haley's grounder which sent Nelson to second. Heimuller hit past third and Ellis jugged the ball just long enough for Nelson to score the winning run.

In the last half of the third Oakes singled to left and Dillon repeated to right. Brashear singled luckily in front of the plate, and Smith popped to Haley. Ellis filed to center, Oakes scoring. Delmas smashed a three-bagger to right, scoring Dillon, and Brashear and Hogan popped to W. Hogan.

Thorsen relieved Koestner in the fourth inning for the Angels. Cook started with a single to left and was forced out at second by Nelson. Smith sent a fly to Delmas. Van Haltren repeated the maneuver to Oakes. Haley was safe when Delmas juggled his grounder. Nelson went to second when Heimuller hit a liner past Smith and Ellis jugged, allowing Nelson to score. Eagan fouled to Hogan.

In the second half Thorsen bounced to Hogan, who threw to Nelson, who dropped the ball and Thorsen was safe. This error made Van Haltren sore and he rushed from the field and benched Nelson and put Wright in the box. Bernard filed to Heimuller and Thorsen was caught on second. Oakes filed to Haley.

Slattery singled to right in the fifth inning and W. Hogan sacrificed. Altman fanned and Delmas filed to Cook, to Delmas.

In the next half Dillon popped to Heimuller and Hogan sacrificed. Altman fanned and Delmas filed to Cook, to Delmas.

In the sixth Wright fanned and Dillon popped to Thorsen. Van Haltren grounded to Bernard, who threw to Dillon and Haley filed to Ellis.

Ellis dropped one back of short for one base and then stole second. Delmas was put out on a grounder to Hogan and Ellis stole third. Hogan fanned and Ellis was tagged out while trying to steal.

Heimuller grounded to Delmas in the seventh, who threw him out at first. Eagan fanned and Slattery filed to Ellis.

Thorsen fanned in the next half and Bernard hit to W. Hogan, who threw to W. Hogan. Oakes filed to Van Haltren and Ellis filed to Smith.

In the eighth W. Hogan hit to Smith, who threw to Dillon. Altman hit a grounder to Delmas, who threw the ball to Dillon. Cook hit to Bernard to Dillon.

In the next half Dillon fouled to Cook and Brashear popped to Eagan. Smith reached on a single. Estery filed to the last inning Delmas hit to Dillon and Van Haltren filed to Oakes. Haley fanned.

In the last half Ellis fanned and Delmas singled to right. Estery batted for Hogan and forced Delmas from second. Wheeler batted for Thorsen and grounded to Haley, who threw to W. Hogan.

COACH'S TALK SHARP BUT OF GOOD EFFECT

ATHLETIC CLUB CREW BUSY PRACTICING STARTS

General Shakeup Has Had Good Effect and the Oarsmen Are in Fine Condition and Perspiring Freely

The principal work of the rowing crews of the Los Angeles Athletic club yesterday afternoon consisted of practicing racing starts. They were called back many times by Coach Treloar because of some little discrepancy which his eagle eye caught. On the upstream row the crews were stopped by the coach and given a few minutes' talk, each individual oarsman receiving a few pointers on what he did not do and should have done. That the talk was well digested was proved by the style of rowing the men gave afterward, and by the grunt of satisfaction Coach Treloar ejected, which was heard distinctly by those who accompanied him on the launch.

Capt. Isaacs lost his oar on one of the recoveries and was bawled out properly by the coach. Sam Hall was a little stiff but did good work, considering that yesterday was the fourth time he had ever been in a shell. Coxswain DeLong received his share of criticism and was sternly requested to "bend forward with the stroke."

Where heretofore the crews were known as first and second, they are now known only as one and two. Whatever difference there may have been in their respective rowing ability has been eradicated by the general shakeup of the two crews, in which the best rowers are divided and some transferred to the second crew. This, with the superb coaching of Al Treloar, has made a wonderful difference.

The start yesterday was characterized by some splashing and a little apparent nervousness, but as the boys warmed up the pulling became steadier. The last practice mile was made in good time with a thirty-two stroke. It was grueling work, but the boys are well trained and prespired less freely than they did the first day.

Games in Junior Singles Progress as Far as Completion of the Semi-Finals, with Interesting Contests

Special to The Herald. VENICE, July 1.—The opening day of the second annual tennis tournament of the Venice Country club brought out some fine play and was ushered in by fine weather for the sport. The games in the junior singles progressed as far as the completion of the semi-finals and leaves those two old-time opponents, Mace and Dawson, to fight for the supremacy in the finals, which will be played on Thursday forenoon.

AMATEUR GOSSIP

BY RED PERKINS

Louis Spitzer, president of the Independent league, was fined 50 cents for failure to participate in the regular league meetings.

The fine will not be forthcoming as he was one of the most prominent and enthusiastic members of the organization in requiring that all fines should be paid. In other words, Louis is "stung."

Sam Ferraris, who formerly played with the Pasadena aggregation, will be seen in the uniform of the Home Council team, which is a great benefit to that aggregation. Lahey, who was formerly catcher of Luke's aggregation, is in the lineup of the club in presence to Garrety as catcher. Personally I don't understand why this phenomenal change should be made, as Lahey in his trials and tribulations has always made good on the Luke's standpoint.

Red Perkins, the secretary and treasurer, is compelled to cough up with 50 cents for non-appearance, according to the decision of the directors. Meanwhile Perkins is not the only one stung as President Louis Spitzer is fined the same amount.

The following is the lineup of the independent team for next Sunday at Thirty-eighth street and Alameda: Pendo—Hoffman, catcher; O. Leonard, pitcher; F. Scott, first base; D. Newton, second base; Pendleton, short stop; C. Scott, third base; Sawyer, left field; Leonard, center field; Truitt, right field; Borden, sub.

At South Side Athletic club—Lukes versus Home Council: Lealey or Garrety, catcher; Smith, pitcher; Donatin, first base; Mannen, second base; Kelly, short stop; Hartley, third base; Strong, left field; Prouty, center field; Riggs, right field; Hill, sub.

The game between the Lukes and the Home Council will be the most strenuous contest yet in the series as it is considered that both pitchers have succeeded in winning their amount of games which are considered to be one of the most phenomenal in the semi-professional ranks, will be in the box for pitching excellent ball for the Pasadena aggregation and is considered to be a comer if he stays in the ranks of the Independent league. F. Smith of the National league has been pitched a cracker-jack and has a vast deal of speed behind his delivery. Lealey, who is slated to take turns with Garrety in the final games, Lukes at the present time stands 78 points in the lead over the Pendo aggregation; therefore if they win from the Home Council, Lukes will have a 100-point lead over the Pendo aggregation, excluding the Pacific coast league and American league. One reason I have for this is that they have not grafted any new players into the organization to show their impartiality in winning the league pennant. As I have said before, the Pendo nine is a strong bunch to depend on.

A Lukes bunch for their classic individual playing. Pitcher Ford, a boy who is considered one of the best semi-professional pitchers in the Winter league, who was last season with the San Pedro team, notwithstanding the nonsensical, boned practice of the club, Ford would have won many games. I am very sorry to insinuate that this remark has to be made, but still, at the same time, I am not desisting in my belief that there is a better pitcher and give equal rights to all and special privilege to none. The truth must come out.

INTERNATIONAL MOTOR BOAT ENTRIES CLOSED

NEW YORK, July 1.—Entries close today with the Motor Boat Club of America for the international cup race to be held in Huntington harbor August 1 for the trophy which was won last year in England by Commodore Schroeber's Dixie. From latest advices received by the club from abroad it seems possible the only foreign competitors will be the English challenging boat Wolsley-Sliddy, and a second English boat recently entered, Dalmier II, owned by Lord Howard W. Walden. The challenging boat, which is a new creation this year and made a most excellent showing in the races at Monaco, is owned by the duke of Westminster, and as both the owners of these high-speed craft are keen sportsmen it is expected they will be present to witness the contest, and very hopeful of course, that they will carry the trophy back to England.

It has been very decidedly believed by motor boat men here early in the year that France would not allow the present contest to go by without being represented, particularly as the very fast boats have been built in that country this season. No indication of any entry from France or Germany has been received, but recently Belling says if an entry were mailed under date of July 1 it undoubtedly would be accepted.

Half a dozen American boats already have been entered for the international races to be held in Huntington harbor July 10 and 11, to pick the American defending team of three. It is thought that there will be at least ten starters and the list of American aspirants will be completed today.

STATE LEAGUE

SANTA CRUZ, July 1.—The San Francisco State league team defeated Santa Cruz this afternoon by 2 to 1. With two men out in the eleventh inning, Bond won the game with a home run. Hoag, pitching for Santa Cruz, gave eight hits, while Wittmer was found for but five.

LADY MAUD IS A SAN PEDRO

SAN DIEGO BOAT COMES FOR HONOLULU RACE

HER THREE RIVALS GIVE HER YACHTING SALUTE

All Starters in Transpacific Cup Event Now Are Anchored in the Bay and Ready for the Starting Gun

The ship clocks on the other yachts anchored in the outer harbor were just chiming six bells, 3 o'clock, yesterday afternoon when the Lady Maud dropped her anchor and fired a gun, which immediately was answered by the Hawaii, the Lurline and the Gwendolyn II.

The Lady Maud is the San Diego entry in new race to Honolulu, and has just completed her first voyage in open waters. She left San Diego last Monday morning and had made a very slow trip to the Hawaiian Islands. She has prevailed on the coast recently. Her time coming up absolutely is no criterion of her speed, as the Lurline took just about as long to come up last week.

Now that the Gwendolyn II has left the ways at Joe Fellows' yards and is anchored in the outer harbor, all the four entries are near together, and to a spectator on the bluff, where the carline ends, they are apparently strung out in a line. From this point a very interesting comparison of the yachts can be made.

Starting at the west end of the string is the Lurline. She is the farthest away, but looms up like a big gray hound in a sea of foxhounds. Her old-style schooner bow, with the long bowsprit and clean overhang at the stern, combined with the tapering effect of two new topmasts, give her the appearance of a veritable clipper. She is an old boat, but the sweetness of her lines below the water are carried over the hull, and the whiffers and the distance gives a wonderful impression of chained power awaiting to be let loose.

The Lurline comes the Gwendolyn II, sturdy, strong and small. The rather stubby mainmast, with its long top above and the perky jigger at the stern, give this good little craft the appearance of a very much alive and "cheeky." The dip of her bow and the rise of her stern give an idea of the splendid water power beneath, and the Capt. Peterson on the trip down the coast, as it were. With an amateur crew, the Gwendolyn II will be in a measure handicapped, but the owners and crew are game to the core, and work begins at high noon on the Fourth of July.

The sailing master, Capt. Joseph Redfern, and Capt. W. B. Jack are the only members of the crew who were ever on the deep seas before the yacht rounded the Horn on the trip down the coast. Capt. Redfern has been a sailor all his life and has the best qualification papers as a mariner, but he is sailing for the sport and pleasure of the trip. No man on the yacht is paid, and each contributes his share toward defraying the expense of the cruise. The cost of the yacht is $5000.

The Hawaii is owned by the Hawaiian syndicate and was designed by B. B. Crowninshield of Boston, Mass., the famous designer of many racing boats. She was built by James Lyle, a boat builder of Hawaii, who learned his trade in the ship yards of his father, who built many of the first vessels owned by the Cunard line.

The Hawaii is 22 feet over all, 52 feet 6 inches on the water line, 16 feet 10 inches beam, 10 feet draught. She is of modern design, with good displacement and mercury in the bilge. She carries a large square sail and is finished in koa, a rare native wood. Her original cost was $4000. She is captained by J. H. Harris, and W. H. Stroud is mate.

One of the most rousing smokers recently held in Los Angeles was that of the Southern California Yacht Association, at its headquarters, 2214 West Fourth street, last night. The occasion was in honor of the installation of the officers recently elected for the ensuing year.

George Rowe, president elect, reviewed the work of the association, comparing present with former conditions and declaring that the work of the association was for the social, moral and financial betterment of its members and in the interest of both employer and employee.

Thomas Quinn, in a neat speech, presented the retiring president, Arthur Hampton, with a fine Winchester. A song was rendered by Messrs. Vall and De Sells. Phil Stebins, the Imperial piano soloist, gave numerous selections.

The newly elected officers of the association are: George W. Rowe, president; W. E. DeVine, treasurer; R. E. Finley, financial secretary; Ed Barrett, recording secretary; the work of the association was for the social, moral and financial betterment of its members and in the interest of both employer and employee.

MAKE SENTENCE CELL FOR LIFE

HARRY ORCHARD GIVEN REPRIEVE FROM DEATH

BOARD OF PARDONS SHOWS MERCY TO MURDERER

Slayer of Governor Frank Steunenberg of Idaho Is Spared from Gallows Because of Confessing Crime

By Associated Press. BOISE, Ida., July 1.—The state board of pardons today commuted the sentence of Harry Orchard, who was to have been hanged for the murder of former Governor Frank Steunenberg, to life imprisonment.

The board of pardons in taking this action acted on the recommendation of Judge Fremont Wood, made at the time of sentencing Harry Orchard.

The pardon board, consisting of Governor Steunenberg, at Caldwell, Idaho, and Attorney General Guheen, met in regular session today and took up the Orchard case.

Frank Wyman, appointed by the court to represent Orchard, appeared before the board and presented a formal argument in behalf of his client, basing his plea solely on the legal status of the case and maintaining, as was held by Judge Wood in recommending clemency, that in making Orchard a state witness the state obligated itself to extend clemency to him in return.

No one appeared to oppose the proposed commutation and by the unanimous vote of the board clemency was extended to Orchard. The last was opposed to having the sentence of court interfered with. Only yesterday he expressed to his attorney the hope that efforts to save him from the gallows would fail.

Orchard was arrested two days after the assassination of former Governor Steunenberg at Caldwell, Idaho, December 30, 1906, and a few weeks later, while confined in the Idaho penitentiary, confessed to James McPartland of the Federal detective agency, at the same time asserting that he was employed to commit the crime by officers of the Western Federation of miners.

As a result of his confession Charles L. Moyer, president; William D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the western Federation, and George D. Pettibone were arrested in Denver and brought to Idaho to answer the charge of murder.

John Simpkins, another member of the federation, also was indicted, escaped and is still a fugitive. Haywood and Pettibone were acquitted after memorable trials, in which Orchard told a story of alleged wholesale assassination which shocked the world.

Following the trial of Pettibone the case against Moyer was dismissed.

WOULD MODESTLY ADVISE SUNDAY BIB AND TUCKER

Many inquiries have been received at the Herald office in regard to the luncheon to be given on the winning contestants and their friends at Coulter's on Friday. Some of the feminine inquirers want to know what wear!

Of course the Herald management is not going to make any definite suggestions on so complex and personal a question as that, but it would like to announce that there will be a photograph of the entire group taken, seated at the table, and, of course, if you happen to be in your best bib and tucker you will feel proud of the picture when you show it to your friends.

It should prove a valuable souvenir of the great occasion and it will contain the pictures, it is hoped, of every one of the prize winners. This photograph will be published in the Herald on the following Sunday.

The prize winners and their friends will meet at the Herald office at 11:45 Friday morning, July 3. Please be prompt.

GWENDOLYN II JUMPS IN AND FILLS GAP

May Be Handicapped in Transpacific Race by Navigating Amateur Crew, but Navigators Are Game to the Core

The owners of the little yacht Gwendolyn II deserve great credit for their energy and pluck in entering the little boat in the transpacific cup race, leaving Seattle for a pleasure cruise, with no thought of racing, the owners, true sportsmen as they are, jumped in and sailed for the prize money.

Notice, as it were. With an amateur crew, the Gwendolyn II will be in a measure handicapped, but the owners and crew are game to the core, and work begins at high noon on the Fourth of July.
