

SEVEN GIANTS IN PRIZE RING BROCK AND CARSEY ANXIOUS FOR THE ISSUE DIFFERENCES OF YEARS TO BE WIPE OUT FOREVER

Each Training Hard Because of Desire to Demonstrate Superiority Over His Rival—Both Are Confident

Grudge fights, fanned by the fans because they preclude all possibility of being in any way tame, always are welcome, and local followers of the sweet game are beginning to "Jerry" to the fact that they have one in prospect when Phil Brock and Frank Carsey get together at Vernon a week from Saturday.

The first time he went against Carsey, Brock was given an awful trimming, and police intervention in the seventh round saved him from being sent to the hospital. Phil was a little fellow at that time and his opponent had all the best of it in experience, but Brock kept on trying and finally hooked up with Carsey the second time.

This happened in Lorain, O., and both lads trained faithfully for the fray, each expecting to determine which was the better for good and all. When it came to fight, however, the police came through with such stringent rules that neither boxer was willing to do his best. Every time a little mixup occurred the coppers warned the men that a knockout would send all concerned to jail, so the boys were afraid to let go, and merely sparred.

Such a state of affairs did not tend to heal the breach, and several attempts were made to get Phil and Frank together again. On various occasions they almost were ready to sign up, when something broke in to spoil it, and not until Jeffries arranged the bout for his club were the articles which call them together signed.

The boys already are in full swing with their training stunts, and nothing like lack of condition will get the loser. Brock is getting together quite a colony of supper and lodging entertainers at Venice, and these help him with his boxing gear, and they are willing to don the gloves with the Chicago boy in order to learn something from him.

The memory of the Welsh-McFarland affair is too fresh in the minds of the local fans to call the Carsey-Brock mill the classiest of the season, but from one standpoint it will go for the rate as of equal note. Both boys are sluggers of a pronounced type, and nothing but real fighting can be expected from the fight which is being rung until one or the other is put away for the count. There is but little chance that it will go to the 25-round limit prescribed, for both promise to make it within short order, and they are insistent that his opponent will be handed a sleep powder before the fifteenth round has come and gone.

At Vogt, the sailor who outgamed the hairy Harlem Coffee cooler the other night at McCarey's show, will have a chance to show how well he can stand the gaff when it is handed him in scientific portions. Howard Baker has been signed to meet Vogt in a 15-round semi-windup to the Brock-Carsey fight, and should the latter win he will be hailed as a comer. Baker lost to Pete Sullivan in the preliminary to the Dalton-Carsey mill, but Howard was not satisfied with the decision and made such a generally good showing that Jeff has promised him bigger game should he win from Vogt. Baker is training in a downtown gymnasium, while Vogt does his work at Carsey and Young Otto, who also is attached to the South Side camp.

The New York American players gave Clark Griffith a diamond ring the other day.

Pitcher George Upp, returned to Columbus by Cincinnati, will not be of much help to the club this season, as his arm is in poor shape.

Cincinnati has bought Pitcher Rice from the Connecticut league and Catcher Warner from the Gulf Coast league.

President Watkins of the Indianapolis club says that the New York Nationals cannot have Pitcher Marquard until the end of the American association season.

Said Manager Chance of the champion Cubs the other day: "Another thing that has handicapped me is the fact that Kline's throwing. Frazer's wet ball has worked harm with that famous line throw that has cut down the base stealing with the other clubs so materially in the past. On the wet ball pitcher can make a catcher bad in his throwing with all the other pitchers, and that is what has been happening to Kline."

Titus of the New York Americans was fined $25 for not sliding to first base when ordered by his team captain the other day.

Johnny Hughes caught his thirty-third game the other day. The midge backdrop got two bingles.

The Record Juniors still have no game for next Sunday and would be pleased to hear from any 17-year-old player in the date. Call Harry Pyle at Press 32.

The Cleveland team has been playing great ball of late and working hard to get in first place.

"In Detroit life is worth living." Is the official slogan of the Strats City people. The phrase will not sound good if the Tigers fail to get on top.

Few teams have been so badly crippled as the Chicago Cubs this season, but the champs manage to hold their own in spite of the hoodoo.

Manager Bill Bernhardt has his Nashville team in fine shape in the Southern league. In Bay, Seigel and Hunter he has an outfield that has the blue ribbon attached.

How those Boston teams hit at times! Every now and then the Red Sox and the Doves start a slaughter and murder two or three pitchers before they are satisfied.

Is there any pitcher doing better work than Jack Powell of the St. Louis Americans? "Big Jack" has been shifting about the major leagues for years, but he arrived in Brownstown with an assortment of winning twisters.

Another "bull" was made by George Adair, manager of the Los Angeles Athletic club baseball team, in announcing that the next game to be played by the club team would be with Rivers instead of Norwalk, as he has since learned. The game with Rivers has been postponed until July 19 and the club team will go to Newark next Sunday.

WOMAN PRISONER

MRS. MARGARET BACON HAS SERIOUS COLLAPSE

PRISONERS ALL COMPLAIN OF FILTHY CONDITIONS

Are Full of Fight for What They Regard as Principle, and Say Financial Aid is Pouring In on Them

As a result of the filthy and nauseating conditions at the city jail Mrs. Margaret Bacon, a Socialist of Pasadena, who was arrested in Los Angeles with a number of others for speaking on the streets without a license, was overcome yesterday and collapsed so utterly that her illness probably would have been fatal had she not been quickly pulled out in the sum of $200 by her friends.

Mrs. Bacon was in poor health when arrested, but this fact did not deter her from going on the rostrum and declaring her principles from her speech, on which she has fixed her faith.

When seen by a reporter after her liberation from the city jail Mrs. Bacon appeared much wrought up over the conditions there and stated it was far worse than she had dreamed of, despite the descriptions she had read of it in the papers. She declared she "had never realized prisoners were treated as they are."

H. T. Engle, another of the Socialists who was thrown into jail for testing his "rights as an American citizen," as he expressed it, "to enjoy the prerogative of free speech as guaranteed by the constitution of the United States," which he had done, declared that he was "fed up" with the conditions, but as he had demanded a jury trial the case will be delayed on the account of the finding it difficult to impanel the men because of the Socialistic tendencies of so many veniremen. After examining a score or more the case was continued until today, when it was expected more will be found who are not so biased by the socialistic doctrines that they cannot act as jurors.

Inviting Arrest. Joe Dion, another Socialist who spoke without a permit from the mayor, was also arraigned yesterday before Police Justice Chambers. His trial was set for October 23. Dion had made a great fuss over his arrest, and declares he is going to "fight it to the highest court."

Salvation Army folks and others can be seen on the streets the Socialists ought to; hence his denunciation of the local arrangements whereby only such "wholesome" characters as find it difficult to impanel the men because of the Socialistic tendencies of so many veniremen. After examining a score or more the case was continued until today, when it was expected more will be found who are not so biased by the socialistic doctrines that they cannot act as jurors.

QUARANTINE LIFTED, CADETS GOING HOME

Y. M. C. A. Members Have Been Treated Excellently, but Were for a Brief Time Short of Rations

The Triangle cadets of the Y. M. C. A. who have been enjoying the novel experience of being quarantined at sea, were released last night and will come ashore early this morning, the quarantine having been lifted late this afternoon. They would have been landed this evening but for the absence of the captain.

Dr. Brooks has taken the siege kindly and only says that for a time they did not have enough to eat. Through some misunderstanding no food was sent out to the City of Long Beach from breaking bread until last night, but then C. F. Quillan, the assistant secretary, sent out a substantial supper to the boys.

Dr. Brooks and Dr. Waldon spent the day on the boat examining the boys, and Assistant Secretary Quillan was also on hand rendering all possible aid. It was understood at the association that the boys would come to the city last night, but at 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning Dr. Brooks returned to Los Angeles and stated that the removal would not be made until this morning.

Clifford Walker of 5000 South Main street, the lad afflicted with smallpox, has been left at Santa Fejo under the best of care. The case is said to be an extremely mild one and there is thought to be practically no danger of any others catching the disease. The boys, however, will be kept under cursory inspection, reporting for examination from time to time.

"Saturday night we are going to have out twenty-five speakers; the public knows we are right, and being right, we intend to stand up for our rights, regardless of what Mayor Harper or any other public official may say."

"The constitution of the United States guarantees us the right of free speech. Unless it has come to the point when the people intend to abrogate the constitution, set aside the sacred fundamental principles of our government and disregard every true principle of Americanism, we are making a firm and final fight for those principles, demanding that they be recognized and respected in every ordinance made to conform to law and liberty, as our forefathers designed and sealed them with their blood at Saratoga, Trenton and Monmouth."

Stand on the Constitution. "We believe the constitution is the highest and most equitable source of all laws and that any law or ordinance which violates it or comes in glaring and direct conflict with one of its most holy principles is invalid and should be denounced by all good and loyal Americans and set aside completely and forever as unjust, unconstitutional and un-American."

"Financial aid and sympathy are coming to us from every part of the country, and there is every indication that the fight waged in Los Angeles may become a matter of national interest, for a principle is involved which is of vital interest to every American who was raised to believe he is 'free born' and endowed with 'certain inalienable rights,' etc."

Although passing a sleepless night in their stuffy cells in the matron's department of the city jail, Mrs. Cloude-Johns, formerly the Countess Poniatowski; Mrs. Alice Vall Holloway, who is a graduate of Bryn Mawr; and Mrs. Bertha M. Bailey appeared cheerful yesterday and expressed a hope that their incarceration "may be the means of calling the attention of the public to the manner in which the Los Angeles ordinance restricts the rights of free speech," as one of them said to a reporter.

Mrs. Johns said that the matron, Mrs. Phealey, had been extremely kind to them, but that the beds were filthy and the toilets in a bad condition.

"We have no sheets or pillows," she said, "and lie in dark blue blankets. The mattresses are in a questionable condition. There is no segregation, negro women and whites commingling. Tuesday night I slept in a trunk tank with drunken women, and with another afflicted with an incurable and contagious disease as a cell mate."

Vermin are terrible, and bother us continually; but we purpose to show the men we are made of good material and will fight to the last ditch, for we have something at stake worth fighting for—justice and liberty."

STREET SPEAKER IS NOT MOLESTED BY THE POLICE

Man Stands on Soap Box Hour and Half Addressing Large Crowd. Socialist Given Jail Sentence

F. L. Dodge, a Socialist, spoke to a large crowd for one hour and twenty minutes at Seventh and Main streets last night without a permit from the police commission and without interference from the officers.

Not a few of the many people present gathered in anticipation of more who have attempted to proclaim their principles anywhere on the streets have been arrested for failing to procure a permit from the mayor.

Just why Dodge, who lives at 603 East Fifth street, was not arrested last night proved puzzling to many present. Several of the leading Socialists declare it was because of a statement made on the witness stand by Chief of Police Ed Kern, who declared at the trial of one of the Socialists yesterday that permits "were out and in force for the Socialists to speak at Seventh and Main streets and also at the Plaza."

Chief Kern's statement is denied by the Socialists, who say the permits issued for these places were all revoked over a year ago.

Preceding Chief Kern's testimony Charles McKeag, clerk of the board of police commissioners, who has personal charge of all permits and license records, stated that no permits were now in force for the Socialists.

The Socialists, who had been speaking on a rented lot, gave notice they would speak at the places designated. Accordingly Dodge took the soap box there and talked to a large crowd, while many waited to see if he would be arrested. The police did not arrest him.

George Van Ness, who was arrested June 22 for speaking on the street last night, was convicted by a jury in Judge Frederickson's court and sentenced to pay $40 or serve forty days in jail. After the sentence was passed it was stated that Van Ness had been given more than the legal maximum. The judge then reduced it to conform to the law and the man was given the maximum penalty, $25 or twenty-five days.

PRINTER ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF ARSON

Complaint Charges That He and His Partner Defrauded Stockholders and Burned Books to Conceal Facts

H. D. Hopkins, a printer, who was formerly one of the proprietors of the Lodi Daily Herald, was arrested at his lodging house, 501 South Flower street, last night by Detective Jones and Boyd and Deputy Sheriff Case of Stockton on a warrant charging him with arson.

According to the story told by the officers Hopkins and a man named Palmer were publishing the Lodi Herald up to April 13, 1907, at which time the Van Buskirk building, in which the paper was published, was burned to the ground.

Palmer left for the east shortly after the fire, and after publishing the paper a few weeks Hopkins suddenly disappeared.
