PACKY SAYS HE WILL NOT LOAF

PROMISES TO WHIP BROCK WITHOUT DELAY EXPECTS TO WIN BY KNOCKOUT EARLY IN FIGHT

Cleveland Boy Also Gives a Similar Pledge, and the Indications Are Favorable to Great Battle Friday Night

After his workout yesterday afternoon Packy McFarland was so pleased with his condition that he consented to predict the outcome of his battle Friday night with Phil Brock and an idea of his great confidence can be gained in the statement he made in this interview.

"I will knock this fellow out, and do it quickly. There will be no loafing this time and the action will be fierce one from beginning to end. My friends will have no occasion to criticize my fight this time, as I intend to fight from the first tap of the song until I stop Brock and will be going at my best speed all the time. I certainly am in great condition, feel so fine that I only wish Brock could be turned into a piece of lead on the occasion, as I surely would win the championship, and do it quickly. Mark my words—a knockout Friday night and in five times at that."

That is the kind of talk his friends like to hear from him. Packy might have kept his great fighting record clean had he gone into the ring with Freddie Welch with the same determination that he announces he will carry into the fight with Brock. And if Packy lives up to his promises, as he undoubtedly will, the scrap should be one of the greatest battles ever fought by lightweights.

Brock has mapped out his plan of action along the same lines that Packy says he will adopt for the fight. Both are determined to waste no time whatever after the first gong, both are unyielding and confident regarding the result and each confidently predicts that the scrap will end with a knockout long before the scheduled limit.

Nobody knows just how fast and fiercely this pair of great little lightweights can fight. Each, while ordinarily clever in his maneuvering, principally upon his wallops to win his fights. This means that they must fight at close range all the time, as sluggers can do nothing at long range fighting.

McFarland will have an advantage of from four to six pounds in weight when they enter the ring. Naturally, he is of bigger build and heavier than Brock, who could make 123 pounds if necessary and be strong. In the catchweight proposition, Brock is the loser, but neither he nor his manager, Tom McKee, will acknowledge that this will prove to be any serious handicap. Brock is feeling like a champion, has trained for this fight as if a championship depended upon it and will fight as if he were defending a championship title.

Training practically is at an end for both of them. Each will get back around the camp for the remaining hours preceding the fight, but boxing is at an end and only the finishing touches remain to be put on. As there is no weight requirement, they will have only their fighting condition to look after, and with their long and strenuous training, they will be in the best of condition, satisfactory to them and their friends, there is little else to be done until the gong sounds them after each other.

Bubbles Robinson, the clever negro lightweight, and Kid Trennel of St. Louis will furnish the main preliminary event. This bout should be quite a good card in itself. Trennel holds two decisions over Young Loughrey, the crack eastern lightweight, and has a great record otherwise. Robinson is a remarkably clever fighter and has been putting in the training period at developing his punch, as he wants to win by the knockout route. Al Vogt and the Hawaiian white Chooker will try their little tracas over again and as it will be the last chance the negro boy will get in Los Angeles unless he wins decisively, he will try to reverse the tables on Vogt this time.

PHIL BROCK PACKY McFARLAND

Gossip of The Rialto

By Jay Davidson

JIM MORLEY, who probably knows as much about baseball as Russell Sage ever knew about the art of making money, has returned from the north, where he went to attend the Ketchell-Kelly scrap. Jim says that at no time has he been an applicant or seeker for the job of manager of the new Coast league club in the south and urges his friends not to unduly excite themselves in that regard. It is known to be a fact, however, that his friends who are to be interested in the new club would be tickled mightily if Jim could be induced to get back in the game, even if the one-man boss of the league would not stand for it. Despite all that can be said regarding his action in refusing to get broke on a losing proposition, he is a keen business man, a thoroughbred sportsman and a good fellow at all stages of the game. So, there.

Tommy Burns will be due in Australia in a few days, where he will proceed to scrape another financial platter clean. In a letter mailed from Rome, Tommy says he will train aboard ship and his friends in Los Angeles need not worry about his condition when he goes into the Antipolean ring the first time. "Just leave that to Tommy," he says. "You know I am too careful to be caught out of condition or to fight unless I am able to do myself justice. I'll bring back a few more medals and give a few more times for my bank account when I return, as well as having clinched my claims upon the title. Give my regards to Spring street and tell the baseball magnates and when I hold him until I get back. I don't want this mess of gray spilled before I return." Tommy is not alone in his opinion that Johnson will be the grayest any time he gets the big yellow streak in the ring.

It may not be generally known, but Hen Berry now is president of the Coast league. He is the big IT in baseball circles on the coast. By virtue of the position of president he became president when J. Cal Ewing left the state a few days ago. As such, he will not only be his own representative at the meeting of the subscribers to sit in the new Coast league club in the south tomorrow night, but he also will be the official representative of the league to the southeast and a smattering of rain in the late afternoon marred the day. The rain was not heavy enough, however, to make any material change in the going. All three events of the day were decided in straight heats. Results: 2:07 trot—Wilkes Heart won three straight heats. Time 2:08. 2:10 pace—Major Bryne won three straight heats. Best time 2:08. 2:13 trot—Dewitt won three straight heats. Best time 2:09 1/2.

ANGELS HAVE WINNING WAYS

SIMPLY DO NOT KNOW HOW TO LOSE A GAME BEAT COMMUTERS IN FIRST OF HOME SERIES

Hosp Twirls in Excellent Form, Holding Oakland Batters Safe at All Times, Although Visitors Are Beaten Only by One Run

COAST LEAGUE STANDING table with columns for Club, Won, Lost, Pct.

Angels 3, Oakland 2 Just because they have acquired the winning habit, the Angels went out and annexed the opening game of the series with Oakland yesterday, but sympathy for the cellar champs kept the score down and the league leaders only won by the margin of one run in a 3 to 2 score. Hosp was tossing 'em over for the Angels and the former San Diego star never was in much trouble, only six safeties being recorded against his mystifying efforts. Here is the way the runs were made on both sides:

The Commuters started out in a businesslike manner, getting one run over the Angels in the first inning. Van Halten, about the only one on the Oakland lineup that can be depended upon for a hit in an emergency, singled in the first, and was sacrificed to second. Heilmuller fractured the atmosphere three times and squatted on the visiting players' bench. Rip Van Winkle Egan singled to right with such ferocity that Grandfather Van Halten was enabled to reach the registering station in absolute safety. Then Willie Hogan

Another run, and the last one for the visitors, was scored in the sixth inning on a succession of clean hitting. Egan was given a life on Delmas' toe enthusiastic throw to first. Hosp and Bernard conspired to retire Hogan and succeeded. Then Bernard and Dillon proved too many for Miller, who died in left for one base, Egan getting in such a way of running that he could not stop until he had crossed the home base. Sixtieth flew to Brashear.

After the Commuters had scored one run in the first inning the Angels concluded to begin business, and in the second inning they passed up a brace of tallies, just enough to put them ahead of the hounds. Ellis tripped to center and Judge Nagle could not overlook the opportunity to get a tying run, so he smashed the spheroid on the nose and it did not touch ground until the judge was on second base and Ellis was fanning himself on the Angel bench. Dillon sacrificed and Easterly put the ball into center deep enough for Nagle to beat it home. Hosp forced Easterly. Bernard singled in center. A new dew dropped out in center.

When the visitors tied the score in the sixth Cap Dillon conspired with his aggressiveness, and in the seventh inning he was up to the Angels either to win or play extra innings the champs put over the winning run. Hosp went out, Hogan sacrificed, Dillon singled in center and Easterly hit a base and Dillon hit such a puzzler to Miller at short that Bernard scored while the shortstop was trying to catch the ball to still so he could pick it up. This broke up the game.

ENOUGH ENTRIES IN TOURIST TOUR

THIRTY-FIVE CARS READY FOR LONG RUN J. S. Conwell Says Others Will Not Be Refused, but Hints That There May Be Limit Auto Notes

By Associated Press. ENTRIES have been coming in so fast for the first annual tour of the Tourists from Los Angeles to San Francisco and return that the Auto Vehicle company has stopped soliciting cars for the long run.

"We have been agreeably surprised with the interest taken in our tour," said J. S. Conwell, general manager of the company, yesterday. "Up to today we have received thirty-five entries, which are practically certain to start in the run. This assures the tour being the greatest event of the kind in the country, with the one exception of the Golden tour."

"We do not solicit any more entries. This, of course, does not mean that no more entries will be accepted. We will take care of others who may take part, but practically certain to succeed and will now take things as they come until the day of the start. There is a possibility that the limit will be placed near the sixty mark, and owners of Tourists who intend going should get their entries in at once."

This will be a representative Southwestern California turnout, with cars from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Azusa, Covina, Alhambra, San Diego, San Bernardino, Santa Ana and Riverside. All the out-of-town entries have not been received and when these arrive the total may reach the fifty mark by next Saturday.

The tour is scheduled to start from here August 12. The night stops will be Bakersfield, Fresno, San Jose and San Francisco. After a couple of days in San Francisco the tour will be to Los Angeles over the coast road, with a day's layover at Del Monte and night stops at Paso Robles and Santa Barbara. This will make one of the most complete tours of the state and those who go in the large party will have more pleasure out of the tour than in making it alone, and it will also be much cheaper in many respects.

Leon T. Shettler will leave Thursday morning in a Kissel Kar to look over the course of the Kissel Kar-White race in Los Angeles to North Bay. He will be accompanied by Bert Latham, who will drive part of the race. Harris Hansu will be Mr. Shettler's other driver.

F. C. Fenner announced yesterday that he would use three drivers, H. D. Rvus, Billy Simmons and Fenner himself. They will change at Palmdale and Old Point Comfort.

F. C. Fenner returned from San Diego yesterday, where he established a White garage branch. It is situated at Tenth and H streets and will be in charge of Earl Pfeifer.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4.—Following a heated campaign on the eve of the state primary election, Roy C. Woods, a wealthy real estate dealer of Wellston, a suburb of St. Louis, and candidate for the Republican nomination for public administrator of St. Louis, shot Alex Steub, a Wellston butcher, shortly before last midnight, and forty-five minutes later was himself shot and fatally wounded by some one unknown to the police. The shooting of both men is the result of bitter political campaigns in the county, past and present. Woods is not expected to recover. No arrests have been made.
