ORDER OF BATTLE TONIGHT

Chester Moss vs. Kid Hamilton

Young Sharkey vs. Kid Adams
Young Kaufman vs. Dwight Van
Frankie Sullivan vs. Hobo Dougherty
Freddie Welsh vs. George Memsic

BY JAY DAVIDSON
The question as to whether George Memsic really has returned to his best form and again has the belief that prominent contender for the light-weight honors will be definitely settled tonight when he meets Freddie Welsh, the clever and tenacious contender, in a ten-round bout at McCarey's club down at Naud Junction. More than ordinary interest is attached to the fight of this mill, as Memsic, once regarded as the greatest and most dangerous contender for the championship, has impressed the fans with the belief that he has regained his old-time form, and if this be true he will be the toughest proposition that Welsh has stacked up against in his ring career.

WELSH FULLY REALIZES THE TOUGH JOB HE HAS ON HIS HANDS AND WILL GO INTO THE RING PREPARED TO ENGAGE IN THE BATTLE OF HIS CAREER. He has trained in perfect condition, having developed his amazing speed and cleverness until he has acquired that confidence which knows no fear of the ten-round bout. He will stop the great little Bohemian, he says, and further clinch a decisive victory and further clinch his claim upon the near-championship.

ON THE CONTRARY, MEMSIC REALIZES THIS IS A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY FOR HIM TO MAKE GOOD AND RE-ESTABLISH HIS REPUTATION. He can gain more in a decisive victory over Welsh than he could pick up in a dozen ordinary victories. Not for one moment has he lost sight of the fact that he has the slightest doubt that he will be an easy winner and he has remarked several times that while he realizes the danger that he has created, he also recognizes as true the fact that a victory over Welsh will put him right back on the pedestal from which he toppled a few months ago.

MANAGER MCCAREY WILL INTRODUCE AN INNOVATION IN FIGHTING FIVE ROUND BOUTS AS COUNTER MEASURES, THIS GIVING SOME NEWCOMERS IN THE PUGILISTIC GAME A CHANCE TO WIN RECOGNITION AND MAKE A DEBUT BEFORE THE FANS.

Selling players furnished the sport at Santa Anita yesterday afternoon, but a track that was almost lightning fast enabled them to make fast time, and in races where definite form had been established by the contenders the results were in accord with the figures, although the bookies persisted in making long shots out of legitimate favorites, which the form players were not a little pleased.
