MEMSIC AND PICATO AGAIN WILL MEET FOR TEN ROUNDS TONIGHT

TWO LIGHTWEIGHTS WILL ENDEAVOR TO REACH DECISIVE CONCLUSION OF DISPUTE

Fast Near-Champions Will Go No-Decision Route in Popular Program Before Fans at Naud Junction Arena and Hot Return Battle of Former Rivals Is Looked for—Men Will Weigh in at 133 Pounds at 5 o'Clock in Office of Pacific Athletic Club and Both Report Fine Condition—Four Speedy Preliminary Bouts Are Arranged

ORDER OF BOUTS TONIGHT

Herb White vs. Jap Oyama, 130 lbs., at 3, 6 rounds
Curley O'Connell vs. Kid Cleveland, catchweights, 6 rounds
Joe Reilly vs. Al Rogers, catchweights, 6 rounds
George Memsic vs. Frank Picato, 133 lbs., at 5, 10 rounds

The main eventers will weigh in at 133 pounds at 5 p. m. in the offices of the Pacific Athletic club. George Blake will handle the preliminaries and Charles Eyton will, as usual, officiate in the main event. The program will be begun at 8 o'clock sharp.

BY A. E. DUNNING

GEORGE MEMSIC and Frank Picato, the rivals of old, will settle their long-standing argument concerning individual supremacy in mitt affairs tonight when they tread the boards at Naud Junction for a scheduled ten-round no-decision battle before McCarey's Pacific Athletic club patrons. For the second time in two months the two men who have of late signed "Los Angeles" after their names and therefore can be classed in the division just below native sons, will meet in the ring, and for the second time they propose to close up accounts in as speedy a manner as possible. The Bohemian, Memsic, has promised his friends that he will give them a surprise party in the showing he makes against Picato. He is on his way toward another spurt in the game, and Frank looks like a substantial stepping-stone to him. Picato, the boy who was touted as a world beater for a few months until Memsic gave him such a stiff argument last March, still believes, and many of his admirers agree with him, that he has the punch and fighting ability to climb skyward in his chosen profession. To Picato, fighting is a life work, and like the Battler, Picato is working cautiously and carefully to push himself along. Knowing that a knockout of Memsic would entitle him to the best there is in his division, the little lightweight will go after George from the first tap of the sander.

Along the rialto the opinion is freely expressed that the battle will be even faster and more sturdily contested than was the last meeting of the boys. Should this prove true, the fans will see one of the hottest near-champion bouts McCarey has ever staged. The widely-known ability of the lads to take punishment and advance under fire, assure that there will be no loafing along the way.

WEIGHT IS EASY

Both Memsic and his opponent will find the weight an easy matter. George has passed the stage wherein he found it incumbent on him to step into a Turkish bath and swelter for hours, drying out to reach the 133-pound figure. When the men step on the scales at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the offices of the Pacific Athletic club in the Wilson building they will not have to worry about a squabble over weight-making.

Two weeks of hard training has left the main eventers as tough as bear hide. They are prepared to go the short distance at top speed, and if Memsic's showing in the terrific battle he put up with Ad Wolgast is an indication, he will be stronger and full of fight when the closing round is pounded. Against Memsic's generalship, wallop and gameness will be pitted youth and ruggedness, equal gameness and a formidable punch in either of Picato's mitts. To those who saw the last meeting there is no need of prophesying a hard-fought mill. The mere sight of these two names placed opposite each other spells "fight" all the way.

In the opening preliminary Michael Dalton, brother of the exuberant Kiddo, will meet Kid Barnes, an unknown quantity, in six rounds. Mike went in on one day's training in his last appearance and did so well that it was considered that he deserved another opportunity to see his name in print. The fight will be an interesting one, as curtain-raisers go.

JAP BOBS UP AGAIN

Eddie Robinson's Jap Oyama will make another local appearance tonight when he meets Herb White in the second bout of the evening over six rounds. The Jap never knows when he is whipped, has forgotten the sign in his language for "retreat," and as long as he is on his feet he will be boring in, taking a beating but sure of giving one in return. As the evening's screamer this will be the star. And, by the way, there is quite likely to be some hot slugging mixed up in this affair.

Curley O'Connell and Kid Cleveland will do a return engagement in the third event. The last meeting was such a howling success, in which both boys stood up and slugged themselves into an exhausted condition that the fans asked for a second battle between Curley and the clever little colored scrapper. Each has the other well gauged, meaning that Cleveland will endeavor to outbox the curly lad and O'Connell will seek to outslug his man. It will be a pretty fight for the first time in a year. The Angel fight bugs have not forgotten the occasion when he nearly ended the aspirations of one Kid Dalton and in memory thereof they will watch his work with interest. Reilly still is as clever as of old, and although he lacks his former wallop he should give Herb White all the fighting that young man could desire in six rounds. For a card of popular events, presenting thirty-four periods of milling, the fans will certainly get the worth of their money.

THIRD YEAR PREPS WIN

The third year preps of Occidental defeated the fourth years in a one-sided game yesterday afternoon on the Academy field, the score being 17 to 4.

The fourth years were guilty of many errors, and these, combined with the batting of the third years, gave the latter thirteen runs in the third inning. McDowell, who was in the box for the juniors, was in good form and struck out ten men.

DILLON SHUTS OUT SACRAMENTO

ANGELS PLAY ERRORLESS BALL AGAINST SENATORS

WHALEN BLOWS UP IN SIXTH INNING AT CHUTES

Jud Smith Returns to Place at Third and Lines Out Two Doubles. Champs' Heavy Hitting Cause of Victory

Los Angeles 7, Sacramento 0
Los Angeles shut out Sacramento yesterday, playing at top speed and displaying the best form they have exhibited since the opening of the season. Trained down fine, running bases like sprinters, hitting like demons and fielding without an error, the Angels had the visitors beaten from the first pitched ball, but the Grahamites did not allow Dillon to get away without putting up a battle. There is one noticeable thing about the Sacramento team that is a source of gratification to the true sportsman. They never give up without a hard fight, but this struggle is always clean, and their playing over decisions and cringing evinced by any of the Coasters. The example of Graham, one of the best-mannered players in the business, is contagious. Yesterday, when McGreevy changed a decision, an action which with Portland playing probably would have caused a small-sized riot, the Senators gathered around him and protested quietly, taking his final adverse verdict in a manner that should be an object lesson to every other team in the league.

Gilt-edge pitching by Tozer, the wildness of Jimmy Whalen, who was replaced by Ehman in the seventh, and four costly errors by the northerners were responsible for the shutout. The locals played like live wires, getting off on their toes to first, stealing bases with impunity and swinging at Whalen's best delivery like a crew from the "land of manners" relying on the railroad gang, striking every spike with the precision of experts. It was clock-work ball of the highest order in the Angel innings, and loose play in the visitors' periods.

Angels Assume Lead
After two no-run innings the Angels took a big lead over the former outlaws. In the third the reliable and hard-hitting little Daley, who is almost sure to start things when a running hit is needed, singled hot, to left, and went to second on Godwin's out. Beall singled to center, and when Howard repeated over right Daley scored the first run of the game. Beall going to third. Then the parade around the sacks began, and before it ended the Angels had secured a lead of four runs, locals appearing over but the shouting. Jud Smith, who went back into yesterday's game after a four days' absence, due to a badly injured wrist, which was hit by a pitched ball, appeared next at the plate, and after his warm reception just had to make good. He did so by slapping out a hard one to Gandil, was safe at first, and Beal crossed the pan in front of the throw in.

Delmas hit a bunt along first, scoring Howard, and while Gandil hollered over his decision in being the batter safe at first, the runners got another base. Dillon bunted along first, the ball landing low, and Whalen, expecting it to remain so, did not pick it up. The sphere rolled into the diamond, and McGreevy, who had prematurely called a foul, reversed his decision. While Whalen held the ball Smith reached home.

On this showing the locals rested on their laurels and until the sixth there were few sensations, except for the good work of Tozer in the box and the fast fielding of the champions. In the first six innings Tozer's offerings to the Senatorial shrine were three scratch hits.

Angels Don Hitting Garb
In the sixth the Angels once more donned their hitting garb and went after Whalen. Tozer walked, stole second and scored on Daley's hit to center. Godwin breezed a high one to Center Fielder Zamlock, and the youngsters made a brave try, running far infield, but dropped the ball, Daley crossing the plate. Beal came through with a single, but Godwin in attempting to steal home was caught by a walker.

These runs had all been made after two men had been placed out of commission, and this out closed the side for this period. Sacramento tried hard to ginger up for a fighting finish, and almost made a run in the seventh, but unlucky drives on their part and good hitting by the locals held them to the second bag. Buck Ehman, formerly of the Boston Americans, was here sent in by Graham as a forlorn hope. Whalen showing signs of going to pieces, Smith lamed out in the second inning like a ton of lead, banging out a hard double. He stole third and came home on Byrne's low throw to Doyle to catch him off the bag. This run ended all the scoring. The detailed score:

MEMORIAL GOLF TROPHY
NEW YORK, May 6.—The Tom Morris memorial trophy, presented to the Western Golf association by Peter Dawson of Glasgow in tribute to the memory of old Tom Morris, was placed on view today in the Waldorf-Astoria. It will be sent to Chicago in a few days. The trophy is about five feet high, of silver and copper, and represents Tom Morris in the act of driving. A panel back of the fire represents the St. Andrews golf links. It is to be awarded to the team of eight players returning the best score against "par" on its own course. The plan of playing simultaneous team matches all over the country on a fixed date is so new that an actual test of several years, golfers say, will be needed to demonstrate its advantages.
