

MONEY IN MUSIC

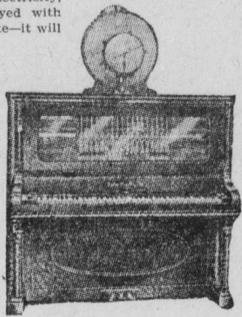

—A Straight Talk to Proprietors of Beach and Mountain Resorts, Cafes, Soda Fountains, Dancing Schools, Moving Picture Shows

Turning Music Into Money

The crowd goes where it is best amused. If you install a coin operated Electric Piano the people who are attracted by it will pay real money to hear it play, and pay real money for the things you sell. An Electric Piano will cost you nothing. Your customers will pay for it. If you are catering to the amusement-seeking people, an Electric Piano will be the best investment you ever made. The pianos we advertise may be operated by electricity, with or without coin, or may be played with the hands in the usual way. Investigate—it will pay you.

The "Peerless" Nickel-in-the-Slot Electric Piano

With Orchestra Attachment
A novel instrument that is going to create a sensation. You install one first! This is a fine upright piano, equipped with xylophone playing 25 notes, bass and snare drums, and a genuine Turkish cymbal. A piano can be played without attachments when desired. Plays all kinds of popular and classical music from perforated rolls—5 to 10 times on a roll. PRICE $950—easy terms.
Peerless Electric Piano, same as above, but without orchestra attachments. PRICE $750—easy terms.

The Berry-Wood 88 Note Coin Operated Electric Piano

This splendid new instrument plays the entire keyboard of 88 notes. It is a piano that reproduces the very highest class music in a manner that is simply astounding. A Berry-Wood Electric Piano in your place will stimulate business, focus interest, make irresistible the instrument for the very best restaurants and amusement places. It is ideal for the home because once the electric current is turned on it requires no attention—no pumping—you can leave it to do its work while you are with your guests, or dancing to its music. The "Berry-Wood" like the "Peerless," may be operated by electricity, with or without coin, or may be played by the hands. Price $900. Terms.

FILES THIRD SUIT ASKING DIVORCE

SOCIETY WOMAN ACCUSES SPOUSE OF CRUELTY

DECLARES SHE WAS FORCED TO TRAVEL ALASKAN ICE

Complaint Recites That Husband's Estate in This and Other States Is Worth Nearly $250,000

For the third time within a little more than five months Mrs. Lida M. Reed of Hollywood, formerly a society belle in Denver, has filed suit for divorce in the Los Angeles superior court against her husband, Howard S. Reed, banker and landowner and sportsman.

Mrs. Reed's suit is based on grounds of cruelty, which began, she says, on the honeymoon trip, and within a few days after the marriage ceremony was performed. Through the torrid heat of Mexico and the snowdrifts of Alaska she accompanied her husband, whose adventurist spirit, she alleges, could not tolerate the home life she loved.

Mrs. Reed's complaint was filed yesterday by her attorney, Clara Shortridge Foltz. At the same time the court was granted a temporary restraining order by Judge Bordwell, acting presiding judge in the absence of Judge Wilbur, completely tying up nearly all the property owned by Reed and a settlement is reached out of court or arranged when the divorce case is tried.

Joined as defendants in this offshoot of the divorce case are Reed's mother, Mrs. Cynthia J. Reed, and the Los Angeles Trust company, agent for the husband in his many land and other transactions.

As the result of another order issued by Judge Bordwell, Reed must appear in Judge James' department of the superior court next Friday to show cause why he should not be compelled to pay his wife's expenses during the time pending the divorce trial. These expenses, Mrs. Reed estimates, will amount to $500 and this sum her attorney will ask the court to fix.

Earlier Divorce Suits

Mrs. Reed's first action for divorce was filed December 16 by Attorney F. A. Stephenson and on the same day a receiver for Reed's property was appointed in the person of Harry E. Alexander, deputy city attorney. An amicable settlement of domestic and financial difficulties was reached out of court and the suit was dismissed March 11.

Fifteen days later a second divorce suit was filed, Mrs. Reed being represented by Attorney George S. Hupp. Similar proceedings were had, and early in April Mr. Hupp was supplanted as attorney by Clara Shortridge Foltz, through whose efforts a second friendly arrangement was effected and the case was dismissed.

A few days later Reed is said to have departed on another hunting expedition, and left with strangers in the Hollywood hotel, Mrs. Reed was given ample opportunity to brood over the occurrences of her two years of married life.

Then followed a third visit to an attorney and the filing of the divorce suit yesterday.

The couple were married in Denver March 2, 1907. The following day, in their room at a hotel in Albuquerque, N. M., Mrs. Reed states, the first of a long series of cruel acts began when her husband said:

"I will not have you near me at night, and you must make the best of the arrangements I shall provide for your accommodation."

Ever since the marriage she says, her husband has objected to her presence in his apartment, and she has been compelled to occupy adjoining rooms.

"Almost continually between March 6 and April 1907 while we were living in Pasadena and Hollywood," continues Mrs. Reed, "my husband treated me as a stranger, leaving me alone a large portion of the time, persistently refusing to talk to me, and otherwise causing me humiliation."

While I was sick in bed in Hollywood, April 1907, he rushed to my room and loudly commanded me to "get up; pack your belongings and get ready to start for Alaska on a train leaving Los Angeles today." He declared I was only feigning illness.

"The next day when we reached Oakland I became ill again, but he compelled me to continue the journey northward. I was still suffering when we reached Seattle, and when I spoke to him about it he said: 'I will never again be a friend to you nor have anything further to do with you.'"

Journey Through Snow
"During the ocean voyage from Seattle to Nyak, Alaska, he treated me very badly. On April 13 we reached Kodiak islands and he compelled me to travel with him through snow and ice in his search for large game. He refused to speak to me on the way. Then he made me accompany him in a small boat on a trip through Bering sea and afterward to walk fifteen miles through ice and snow to a camping place."

Detailing further alleged acts of cruelty, Mrs. Reed said her husband, September 2, 1907, in Sacramento, left her alone on the street and refused to permit her to enter his apartments. She resumes:

"Ten days later he compelled me, against my wishes, to go with him from Sacramento to Chicago, and on December 23, while we were staying at the St. Francis hotel in Denver, he refused to give me ten dollars with which to purchase Christmas gifts."

"On March 10, last year, while we were in Santa Fe, N. M., he treated me cruelly and a month later, while we were again living at Hollywood, he compelled me to go with him on a hunting trip into the interior of Mexico."

Mrs. Reed believes her husband's fortune to be between $225,000 and $250,000, which she enumerates as follows:

Property in the Reed addition on West Jefferson street, Los Angeles, valued at $50,000; 160 acres in the Imperial valley, $20,000; stock in the United States Bank and Trust company, Santa Fe, N. M., $45,000; promissory notes, $25,000; stock in the Victor Medical Book Publishing company, 315 Dearborn street, Chicago, $10,000; property in Denver, $7500; property in Pawhuska, Okla., $5000; a plantation in Honduras valued at $50,000, and deposits in banks, $5000.

The trial of the divorce action will be set after the hearing on the order to show cause next Friday.

BROTHERS WILL DIFFER

There were two brothers who were left orphans when quite young, and were compelled to work for their support and limited education. A few years ago one of the boys, then growing into manhood, came to the office of the Los Angeles Investment Company to inquire about starting payments upon a home. As he had not saved from his earnings the amount necessary to make the small first payment, he decided to invest $10 a month in stock in this Co-operative Building Company and allow the quarterly dividends to be reinvested, thus compounding each quarter.

After a comparatively short time, the earnings from these stock investments, with the increased value of the stock, enabled him to handle a good sized payment upon a new home, by simply putting up his stock as security for this payment. He got married and took possession of the home. By saving from his salary, and making his regular monthly payments, he now has his home paid for, besides having a good block of stock paid for, from which he is drawing regular quarterly cash dividends.

The other brother could not see it that way, and said he would not buy a home until he had the money to pay cash, as he did not like this payment plan. The result is that he has been paying rent all these years, and his surplus has been spent in other ways, so he is where he was when he began.

We offer this opportunity to every one. Invest your savings and have it make more money for you. You will be surprised at the results. Hundreds are doing this with us every month. No one has ever failed to get his money upon demand.

START NEW CONTEST OVER DOTTER ESTATE

SISTERS WANT TO ADMINISTER BROTHER'S PROPERTY

Two Petition to Take Charge of Affairs Left by Young Man Killed in Automobile Accident

By the filing in the superior court yesterday of a second petition for letters of administration of the estate of George C. Dotter, who was killed in an automobile accident May 17, the feud among the Dotter children which marked a contest last year over the property left by their mother bids fair to break out afresh.

In the contest over the $150,000 estate left by Mrs. Dotter, Miss Idella Dotter, now Mrs. Purser, opposed the demands of her two sisters, Mrs. Lottie Dotter Barre, now Mrs. Van Pelt, and Mrs. Corinne Dotter Carlson.

In the newly started battle over property, Mrs. Van Pelt has abandoned the camp of her former colleague, and has taken sides with Mrs. Purser against Mrs. Carlson.

The first petition for letters of administration was filed May 20 by Mrs. Carlson, who placed the value of the estate left by her brother at $150,000. Yesterday the second petition was filed jointly by Mrs. Van Pelt and Mrs. Purser, who appraise the estate at more than $6000.

Hearing of the matter is set for June 2. In the contest over Mrs. Dotter's estate, Mrs. Purser succeeded in preventing her sisters' efforts to break her mother's will.
