At the home of Mrs. Edward Weed Lewis in Highland Park this evening will take place the marriage of her niece, Miss Henrietta Adele Gifford, and Rowland Dudley Laws, Rev. A. G. L. Trew, D. D., officiating.

Many friends interested in the marriage of Miss Bertha Heintz and Charles Hardison Carter, which was solemnized last night at 8:30 at the home of the bride and her mother, Mrs. M. G. Heintz, on Scarff street.

The service of the Episcopal church was read by Rev. Lewis G. Morris, rector of St. John's, and members of the women's orchestra rendered the "Lohengrin" bridal chorus and "The Evening Star."

The bride's robe was of white embroidered tulle over satin, with garniture of lace, and her bouquet was of white roses. Miss Lola Heintz, who attended her sister as maid of honor, wore a pink satin and carried maidenhair fern.

Miss Ruth McFarland and Miss Constance Carvell served as bridesmaids, wearing white tulle dresses over pink and carried bouquets of pink sweet peas. Four little ribbon bearers dressed daintily in white with touches of pink wore bouquets of pink.

The marriage of Miss Neva Koons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Koons of Long Beach, and Hyland H. Gould of Troy, N. Y., took place last night at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Keller, who were married in Santa Ana about a month ago, are returning to Los Angeles after an extended trip through the middle west. After visiting Cleveland, Columbus (the bride's former home) and Toledo they went to Niagara Falls, and on the return trip stopped in Denver and Salt Lake City.

Miss Minnie Harris will entertain at her apartments in the Hotel Pleasanton this afternoon for the benefit of the Red Cross. Mrs. R. A. Moore is giving a dinner for her.

Announcing the engagement of Miss Austene George, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie C. Brand of Glendale, and John T. Cooper, a young Los Angeles business man, Miss George and Reynolds gave a luncheon at her home on Burlington avenue yesterday afternoon.

Heart-shaped place cards on which tiny bisque Cupids are placed, each holding aloft a silver arrow piercing two hearts upon which the names of the young couple were written, told the secret. Long festoons of asparagus fern, white wedding bells and Cupids, with a white wedding bell resting on a clump of gypsophylla as the table centerpiece, formed attractive decorations.

Guests present were Mrs. Kelly Reese, Mrs. David McCartney, Mrs. A. B. Eber, Miss Gertrude Churchill, Miss Florence Clark, Miss Beatrice Essenden, Miss Inez Thomas, Miss Ethel Canfield, Miss Doris Davidson, Miss Josephine McMullen, Miss Edith G. Gifford, Miss Helen Up de Graff, Miss Ethel Davenport, Miss Sally Utley and Miss Alice Butler.

Miss Helen McDonald and Charles B. Hopper, whose marriage will be an event of Monday, were complimented guests Monday night at a dinner given at the Los Angeles Country club by Frank Woodbury and Simpson Sinsbaugh.

For Miss Margaret Hough and Norman Henry Gay, whose wedding took place yesterday at the home of the bride's parents on West Thirty-fifth street, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Gay entertained with a dance and musicale Tuesday night at their home on West Forty-second place.

Those who contributed to the program were Miss Vera Lathrop, Will Garraway and Mr. Van, piano selections; Miss Bessie Wheeler, violin solos; Miss Lucy Fuhrer and Norman Gay, cello solos; Ira Gay, flute; Miss Manon Drizizlaire and Miss Edith Gay, vocal solos; Miss Vera Lathrop and Miss Ina Armstrong, readings.

Alumni of the University of Michigan resident in Southern California will hold the annual reunion this evening at the Lankershim.

The hour is 8 o'clock and the affair, which is in the nature of a reception and dinner, is to be followed by adjournment to the Belasco to see "The Lion and the Lamb." The annual evening officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

Michigan Alumni association has more than 300 members. The annual commencement exercises are taking place in Ann Arbor today.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rogers entertained last night at their home on West Adams street in compliment to their son Charles, who is graduating from the Los Angeles high school, and the guests were his classmates and a few members of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, U. S. C.

The rooms on the lower floor were given over to dancing and games which enjoyed on the lawn, where electric lights in the class colors, red and white, were strung through the trees. Red and white carnations were used in abundance in all the rooms.

Seats were placed about the lawn and refreshments were served there, one of the surprises of the evening being a large class cake decorated in

Where Women Do Vote

AMID the din and clamor that is going on over woman suffrage perhaps it is just as well to know something of the results of women's voting as it actually exists in this country. Many questions confront the inquirer:

Has woman suffrage been a success in those states where the full exercise is permitted? Do the women exercise their right independent of husbands or family? Do the poor women go to the polls in as prominently large numbers as the well-to-do? Are the women of the under world desirous of voting, and do the police dictate the candidates for whom they will vote? Is the political atmosphere any purer as the result of adoption of woman suffrage?

The Suffrage States There are four states in which women have the full suffrage, Idaho, Colorado, Utah and Wyoming. In twenty-one states and one territory, Arizona, they may vote on school questions. These are Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Idaho, Kentucky, Kansas, Michigan, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Ohio, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

In Louisiana women taxpayers may vote on taxation questions only. In Iowa also they may vote on bonding matters. In Minnesota they may vote for public library trustees. In Kansas they may vote at municipal elections and on bonding matters. In Montana they may vote on bonding questions.

Schools Improved In one respect there seems to be unanimity of opinion; the schools of states where the women vote on such matters have been improved greatly as a result. Many women have become school superintendents and the opinion is general that it has been decidedly uplifting. These women attend to business strictly; they do not mix in politics.

It is also the opinion that where women have been elected to other county offices, such as treasurer or register, these offices have been managed well and solely for the public good. The reports show that woman suffrage has not made the political atmosphere cleaner or purer. It is rare that red and white, on the top of which was inscribed, "S. '09, L. A. H. S." The evening was enjoyed by nearly 200 young people.

Constitution, O. E. S. held an enjoyable picnic Tuesday at Bungalow. Luncheon was served at noon, followed by a business meeting, when the following officers were elected: Mrs. Hermann Baake, president; Mrs. Frances Baake, vice president; Mrs. Watta Clarke, secretary, and Mrs. Brown, treasurer.

A reception will be given Saturday evening in the Masonic hall, Hollywood, in compliment to the retiring president, Mrs. Alfred Leonard, the honors also being shared by Mrs. Theodore Helms, district deputy.

Miss Gipsy Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Richardson, celebrated her twentieth anniversary on her birth Saturday at her home on Harvard boulevard with a luncheon, followed by a matinee party at the Belasco. The guests who participated in the occasion were Miss Helen Simpson, Miss Lila Lanterman, Miss Gertrude Bailey, Miss Randleline Shaw, Miss Juliette VonStien, Miss Juliette VonStien, Miss Ruth Fulford, Miss Dorothy Whitman, Miss Jane Richardson, Miss Anna Hook and Miss Irma Ursher.

NATION'S SUMMER CAPITAL CHOSEN BY MRS. TAFT

Nestling amid hills and trees on the old Massachusetts coast, says the Des Moines News, and well under the lee of Cape Ann, is the house President Taft—rather President Taft's wife—has chosen as the summer capital of the United States.

The Edward Robinson house, which President Taft will occupy this summer, was chosen largely because it is within easy calling distance of the home of Miss Mabel Boardman, who for long has been the first lady of the land what Boston was to Fyhlain; and then, incidentally, the golf links of the Essex Country club are also close at hand, and that pleases the president.

From the lofty eminence on which the house stands one may look down directly on the golf links as well as over upon the sea. The view is unsurpassed with a generous expanse of the Atlantic showing on the eastern and southern horizon. The whole house summer is covered in luxuriant foliage, and from its broad verandas may be often had a good view of the Gloucester fishermen returning, brown sailed and weary from their catch, and a tall ship putting into the ancient ports of Salem or of Lynn.

There are but few stories of the Robinson "only" which were built about twenty years ago. It has simply been a secluded and comfortable country gentleman's home. But if the house lacks a romantic appearance, it is of two and a half stories, built in the old English half timber style of architecture, with a California note about the interior.

The interior is strikingly beautiful, reflecting the fine taste of the owner. The open hall in the center continues through up to the third story, and is finished in California redwood, and is her on the first floor are finished mostly in natural woods, the remainder being painted.

Bulletin for politicians: President Taft's summer home is located a mile from the railroad station.

AN UNCONVENTIONAL TRAVELER

It seems a pity that so many people, if I may judge by the worried faces, miss the real pleasures of Europe by spending so much money and doing what they think they ought to. Just the opposite was a fine American girl I met, who was seeing Europe for the first time with her grandmother. The grandmother, cultivated and wise enough to use her own eyes and not other people's, had dreamed always of this journey, but had never been able to leave home when life's other duties were done.

She had first a month's teaching in Rome; in Florence the illness of her grandmother detained her and she was instructed for six weeks. In Venice she continued Italian. In France and Germany she repeated her English and Italian lessons to such effect that she was a librarian by profession. In every town where she stayed for some weeks she made arrangements to have exchange language lessons along with the pronunciation of such lessons may be had anywhere, as foreign newspaper advertisements will testify. In Florence, for instance, she secured a number of good teachers, and had Italian lessons to give her.

MAN'S WINNING CARD

A perfectly adorable man! No, it isn't as difficult as it sounds. Briefly speaking, a man's winning card is knowledge of how to treat a woman. Specifically, it is a tender, solicitous, protecting manner. A woman just loves to be "protected," whether there is anything to be protected from or not.

She loves to know that a man is anxious for her safety and comfort, even when there is no cause in the world for anxiety. She loves to have him wait on her, even when there is a room full of hired waiters about. She loves to be treated like an adorable, cunning, helpless child, even when she is 5 feet 10 and weighs, well, she isn't selling.

The winning way, the irresistible masculine magnetism, is to be gentle and inborn. It can't be put on or vanished over. It is neither a pose nor a patent. It is the gift of one of the good fairies at birth. If it is going to be trained into a man, he must be caught and schooled very early—say before he is 10 years old.

Learning How FOR THE SHUT-IN

I am going to pass this along, for I think it will fill a long void. One thing is certain, that there are times when the well-meaning interest of her friends is truly exasperating and nerve racking. She is an invalid, and these good friends who enjoy the sight of her face and perhaps bring her a religious book for consolation.

Every woman enjoys a religious book at times and she enjoys a little sad company at times, too, when missing her own comfort, but there is no one in the world who needs more amusement than those who are sadly afflicted. I am sure a woman who is tired, weary, sick to desperation, who has no one to visit with the whole intention of leaving her with a feeling of kindness for you. Do not go forth like a saint to a sinner and depress the sick. There are times when the ordeal of hearing how Ann Maria died, and tell us not the agonies you endured in the self-same way, but come with a smile.

DRESS FOR YOUNG MOTHERS

A grandmother once made the remark: "The worst dressed women in the world are young mothers." And some how or other that remark brings to mind a number of young women who are growing careless when their pride and ambition is directed toward another in the home. The kimono is a good makeshift, the wrap is brought into use, the hair is not so carefully arranged and yet the baby will be dressed his prettiest, sometimes several times a day. Do not forget yourself. No quilted shoes always have a neat outfit to wear. A plain dress with a princess apron always looks well. Put a quart of milk in a pan, add a bay leaf, small pieces of parsley and white pepper and a small chopped onion. Boil and add a paste made of flour and cream. As it goes, cry. He is going to do it anyway to expand his lungs for health's sake, and so long as he doesn't cry until he is black in the face he may as well let you take time to put on the pompadour and dress.

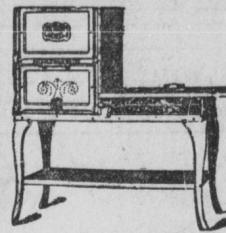

ASPARAGUS CREAM

Boil a 10-cent bunch of asparagus until tender. Press the juice and asparagus through a colander. Put a quart of milk in a pan, add a bay leaf, small pieces of parsley and white pepper and a small chopped onion. Boil and add a paste made of flour and cream. As it goes, cry. He is going to do it anyway to expand his lungs for health's sake, and so long as he doesn't cry until he is black in the face he may as well let you take time to put on the pompadour and dress.

$25.00 FOR A LOAF OF BREAD

The Denver Gas and Electric Co. recently offered three prizes for the best three loaves of bread baked by gas in their city. The first prize was $25.00, the second $15.00 and the third $10.00, which have just been awarded. There were 1209 loaves submitted in the contest, making a good-sized army of women competitors. Out of the numerous makes of gas ranges used in this contest, it was noticeable that the successful winners all used

DETROIT JEWEL Gas Ranges

It took more than half a day to examine the 1209 loaves, but after a painstaking examination they found three loaves on which they could agree; these were regular in shape and beautifully browned. Mrs. George Yates of 1231 W. 2nd ave. was declared the first prize winner. The recipe, of course, was fine, but the result shows what can be done in a Detroit Jewel oven. The baking was simply perfect. The range used was a Detroit Jewel No. 70—18 in., style No. 2, like the one herewith shown. Here is what she says about regulating the fire: "Ten minutes before the time to put it into the oven I turned on the gas in the range, and after it had been on for about 10 minutes I tested it. It should be hot enough in the oven to turn a piece of writing paper a dark brown in 5 minutes; then I put the bread in and left both burners going for 10 minutes; after 10 minutes had elapsed I turned off the rear burner and left the bread in 30 minutes; 5 minutes before taking the bread out, I turned the other burner off."

Detroit Jewel gas ranges are especially celebrated for their extra fine baking qualities. One can have the very best recipe, but without them use a range that they can depend on to bake well, their efforts are generally very discouraging to any cook, but a novice can bake well in a Detroit Jewel; all one has to do is to follow instructions about turning on the gas and a cheap one does as good work as the highest priced—then they cost no more than other makes. While almost every make of gas ranges is sold in Denver, still there are more Detroit Jewels sold there than all other makes combined, because it is only gas range that successfully competes with their cheap coal fuel in that city, and is consequently recommended by the Denver Gas Co.

MAN WITH THE CONUNDRUM

You Win a Prize if You Can Follow Its Maze

The man with the aggravating side whiskers comes into the office of the man with the discouraged eyebrows and says: "I've thought up a new one." "You have, have you?" asks the man with the discouraged eyebrows. "Yes, it's a conker. Why are the little sister and brother of a young lady who has been keeping company with a young man named Julius Smitz, and who has been away from town for two months, when life's other duties were done. The girl had earned and saved her own money, and she made Europe yield her all it could in a year without wearying her. These two shook themselves free of traditional boarding houses and pensions, and made living arrangements which brought them profit in our ways than in money. The girl was a librarian by profession. In every town where she stayed for some weeks she made arrangements to have exchange language lessons along with the pronunciation of such lessons may be had anywhere, as foreign newspaper advertisements will testify. In Florence, for instance, she secured a number of good teachers, and had Italian lessons to give her."

SOIL FOR FLOWERS

A florist advises the following soil mixture for flowers: An equal mixture of good garden soil, half as much hickory shavings, the same amount of sand or dry ashes, the same amount of sand and old tea leaves dried and ground to a powder. This is excellent for pansies, and will loosen soil that has a tendency to pack. Coffee grounds are useful for the same purpose. Soot is excellent for pansies. It is said lettuce is more tender when grown in beds containing a large amount of coal soot.

USE FOR OLD BABY BUGGY

An old baby buggy has been put to good use in a modern home. The basket was removed and also the springs, a board was fitted above the wheels and this useful article is now a step saver in taking dishes from the dining room to the kitchen and it is just as convenient for holding the clothes basket in the yard when the maid does her laundry work.

AT THE PARTY

At a child's party the children could not understand the long corkscrew mother explained the process. She cut the dough into long strips, wound them around the corkscrew sticks, then around smooth, green sticks, then turned them often in the oven. When the peach sticks were removed, they were laid across the pan and not in it when baked.

HIDING THE ASH PIT

Plant a row of hollyhocks or sunflowers close to the pit, then a row of sweet fern or salvia and a row of petunias or collis. This makes a triple row of plants in graduated depths, the smallest ones hiding the stalks of the taller ones.

WITH YOUR GARDEN FLOWERS

Think of the ones who have no flowers this summer. Take a bouquet to the little old woman who has no flower yard or else who is unable to have one will not delight in a bouquet of old-fashioned flowers.
