STABBED WHILE STOPPING FIGHT

FRED SATTLER IN SERIOUS CONDITION AT HOSPITAL

POLICE LOOKING FOR ASSAILANT OF WOUNDED MAN

Thrust of Knife Not Felt Until Victim Had Reached His Room at the Occidental Hotel

While attempting to separate two men who were fighting on Broadway, between Fifth and Sixth streets, shortly after 6 o'clock, Monday night, Fred Sattler, an advertising man from San Francisco, who had apartments at the Occidental hotel, was stabbed by one of the combatants and probably fatally injured. He was taken to the Clara Barton hospital, where the attendants report his condition as critical. The police are looking for the man who did the stabbing.

Sattler, in company with George Thompson of 295 East Fifth street, and Fred Herder of the Blaine hotel, was walking down Broadway, when they saw two men engaged in a fight. Sattler stepped forward and attempted to separate the enraged men. He experienced considerable difficulty in doing so, but finally got the men apart and started to walk away when one of the disputants struck at him. Sattler felt a slight twinge in his side. He supposed the man acted in such a manner, he struck the combatant in the face and knocked him down.

Sattler thought no more of the matter and continued with his companions. The police, however, followed in opposite directions. When Sattler reached his room the pain in his side increased, and when he examined his body he found the blood flowing from a knife wound in his left side.

He summoned Dr. A. J. Berry, who ordered the wounded man removed to the Clara Barton hospital. Dr. Berry then examined Sattler thoroughly and found it necessary to perform an operation.

The operation was performed yesterday. It was discovered that the knife blade had penetrated the left lung. The wounded man is in a critical condition and may not recover. He gave the detectives a good description of the man who wielded the knife and the police are looking for him.

WILL FIGHT FOR RETURN OF GIRL

Foster Mother Declares She Loves the Child More Than Life and Will Not Discontinue Efforts to Secure Her

[By Associated Press.] KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 24.—All the principals in the kidnapping of little Marian Bleakley, the "incubator baby," who was stolen from her home in Topeka Saturday, awaited today the decision of Judge E. E. Porterfield, before whom the hearing on writs of habeas corpus to prevent the return to its mother, Mrs. J. J. Bleakley, and the prisoners to Topeka will be heard tomorrow.

Should Judge Porterfield dismiss the writs nothing but a recall of the requisition papers granted by the governor of Missouri can prevent the taking of Mrs. James G. Barclay of Buffalo, N. Y., and J. N. Gentry of Kansas City to Topeka to stand trial.

James G. Barclay, an automobile dealer of Buffalo, husband of Mrs. Barclay, is on his way here to assist his wife.

The police are looking for a second man who accompanied Gentry and Mrs. Barclay from Kansas City to Topeka. He is known, and Inspector Boyle believes he will be captured by night.

Today, for the first time, Mrs. Barclay made a statement. She had, she said, gone to Topeka five weeks ago to see the baby. She talked with her while she played on the street.

"Right then," continued Mrs. Barclay, "was when the kidnapping plot was evolved, and with the making of that plot I determined that nothing should stop me."

"I went back to New York and made my plans."

Mrs. Barclay concluded: "I have fought for Marian, and I will continue to fight as long as there is blood in my veins. I love her better than my life, better than anything else on earth. And I'll have her. I will be successful, for I am right."

NEGRO SHOTS 29 ON STREET

FIRES AT EVERY WHITE MAN IN SIGHT

FIRE IS RETURNED AND BLACK IS SHOT THROUGH HEART

Angry at Death of Friends at Hands of Police, Man Runs Amuck Through Business Section of Town

MONROE, La., Aug. 24.—Angered, it is believed, because two of his friends had recently been shot by the police, William S. Wade, a negro, ran amuck today in the principal business street. He shot first at every white man he saw and then at every object before him.

The fire was returned and the negro finally fell dead with a bullet through his heart, but not before twenty-nine men, three of them negroes, had been wounded.

Among those injured are: Hugh Bigger, policeman; may die. T. H. Grant, deputy sheriff; may die. Simon Marks, merchant, Tuskegee, Ala.; may die. George McCormack, manager of the Ouachita Lumber company, West Monroe.

Dr. A. A. Forsythe, mayor of Monroe; shot in the leg. Joseph Thompson, chief dispatcher on Iron Mountain railroad; shot in body.

J. L. Kendall, trainmaster, Iron Mountain railroad. G. D. Trousdale, secretary and treasurer Southern Grocery company; shot in body.

Wade's body was publicly burned after it had been cut down from a pole from which it had hung for half an hour after he was killed. Wade purchased the shotgun and box of shells a few minutes before he first opened fire. He had not been drinking, nor did he show any evidence of having taken cocaine.

Wade came to Monroe recently from Pine Bluff, Ark. He was accompanied by several other negroes and they began to make trouble for the local police soon after they arrived. It was understood they were members of a society which had for its object revenge for all injuries done negroes.

WANTS MORE INSANE PERSONS LIKE DYER

SENT GROCERIES TO POOR FAMILY, SAYS WITNESS

Jury Concludes Religious Enthusiasm Is in Right Mind—Wants to Go to Jerusalem to Preach Gospel

"On one occasion Dyer sent $5 worth of groceries to a destitute family. If that is an evidence of insanity, it is deplorable we have not more insane persons in this world," was the observation of Samuel T. Paine, a witness in behalf of W. A. Dyer, on trial before a jury in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday charged with insanity.

The jury took the same view of the matter, returning a verdict of not guilty within a few minutes after the case was submitted.

Dyer is a religious enthusiast, one of his ideas being that he must go to Jerusalem to preach the gospel. Paine proved his staunchest supporter, making evidence of apparent mental derangement seem to the minds of the jurors proof of a clear intellect.

"There is nothing peculiar, he said, in a man wanting to go to Jerusalem to preach; others have done so, and he would like to go himself."

"If Dyer is mistaken," he added, "he will find it out. I myself believed once I was called upon to go to Mt. Bragg mountain and preach the gospel to 400 Russian Finns. When I reached there I discovered none of them could understand English and I concluded I was led by my own ignorance, but I don't believe I was insane."

"What denomination does Dyer belong to?" asked Deputy District Attorney Donnell.

"None," replied Paine, who said Dyer's followers depended upon their manual labors for the furthering of his teachings and not upon the contents of the collection plate, adding: "If more people would work with their hands there would be less need for taking up collections."
