

CITIZENS RALLY TO SUPPORT OF MEXICAN LIBERAL

SIMPSON AUDITORIUM FILLED TO OVERFLOWING

FORMER JUDGE WORKS AMONG SPEAKERS

Meeting Pledges Aid by Substantial Subscriptions — Enthusiasm Breaks Out in Cheers and Applause

served its purpose of holding him in violation of the United States constitution, in violation of the oaths of the constitution; it had served its purpose, in its pretense of protecting a president who took an oath to support the constitution, to protect every man within our borders, citizen or not, high or low, rich or poor; a constitution which says no man shall be arrested without the oath of some person charging a crime against him. We have a statute in this state that in case of a man's arrest, he must be allowed to go before a magistrate and give bail. This statute was violated.

"Detectives and police officers are making the excuse that they take such actions to prevent crime.

"Detectives have made more crime than they have ever prevented. The best service the United States commissioner of commerce and labor could render the country would be to deport them all.

May Be Charged with Despotism

"Efforts were made to make the president believe that he was in danger of assassination. Nothing could be more absurd than this continually hedging the president about with an army of detectives, and keeping him in constant fear of death. I do not hesitate to state that the American presidents who were assassinated were the victims, not of anarchists, but of men who unquestionably were insane.

"De Lara is but an unfortunate and unhappy incident in one of the greatest problems confronting America today. We are standing on the brink of being charged with despotism. Whenever a man may be arrested in the streets of our own Los Angeles without charges being preferred against him and incarcerated without authority of law, what is it but despotism?"

"The most serious phase of the problem is that the American people seem indifferent.

"They say such action is necessary to prevent crime. The same excuse would have justified the Spanish inquisition. There never was a time when the violation of the constitution was necessary to prevent crime. Would the police have arrested him in this way if he had had money enough to defend himself?"

Third Degree for Woman

"Within the last few days an outrageous case of the 'third degree,' if information which I get from the newspapers is correct, has occurred in Los Angeles. A helpless woman was taken to the police station and brow-beaten and bullied by a detective in an attempt on his part to learn what he believed she knew regarding a crime. This was done simply at the behest of the detective, without a warrant of any kind. The constitution clearly says that a warrant must be issued unless a felony has been committed, and the officer has sufficient evidence to warrant taking the offender. But the prisoner must then be taken before a magistrate.

"This thing is going on all over the country, and it will continue unless something is done to protect the people."

When Judge Works finished the meeting broke into tumultuous applause which continued for several minutes. When Chairman Blight had restored order he introduced Mrs. De Lara, who sat on the platform at the speakers' right.

When the wife of the imprisoned liberal faced the audience, now aroused to the highest pitch of intense emotion, every man and woman present arose and accorded her a tremendous ovation of applause and cheers.

Mrs. De Lara, who was simply dressed in a light silk gown, thanked the audience briefly but feelingly, almost overcome by her emotion.

Tells of Persecution

Job Harriman, the next speaker introduced, gave a resume of the case of the Mexican liberals, now imprisoned in Tombstone, Ariz., with whom De Lara was arrested and later released. He reviewed the incidents in the persecution of De Lara by the Mexican government, touching upon the charges of theft made against him, disproved in the Arizona trial.

"They call this man," he said, "because he dared to tell the Mexican people of the murder of 35,000 Yaqui Indians by the Mexican government. They want him because he dared to tell the world the story of slavery and oppression in that nation."

Old Defender Speaks

Job Harriman, one of the attorneys who defended De Lara when he was arrested some two years ago, when a persistent effort was made to get the liberal across the Mexican border, took as his topic for discussion "The Abuses of Immigration Laws." He showed the various steps taken by the Diaz government to get De Lara out of the country in part as follows:

"The enmity of Mexico so persistently expressed dates back beyond his arrest a week or two ago. In fact, it dates back many years. The man who wrote a book exposing the graft existing in Mexico. From that day to this he has been hounded by spies of Diaz. That book was based on facts and it was a terrible indictment, but truth or not, it roused Diaz just as my friend Turner's articles have again aroused the Mexican despot.

De Lara was forced to leave Mexico because he had told his countrymen that the elections in Mexico were farces, that the workmen were held in bondage and that slavery existed in certain parts of Mexico. He came to the United States, where he believed he would be safe and where he intended and did carry on his campaign of education.

Marked at the Border

"As he stepped across the border he was a marked man for in every city along the border and in most every city in the United States there are so-called Mexican consuls who are paid to spy upon their countrymen. What is a consul's duty? As we know it, it is to foster business of his home government. But the Mexican consuls are not for that purpose. They are hired agents who send regular reports of every act of their countrymen in the United States, and who inform Diaz of the whereabouts of De Lara and who started his persecution.

De Lara was arrested, charged with having stolen a cord of wood valued at $11. It so happened that De Lara was the attorney for a Mexican lady who owned land adjoining the city of Los Angeles and the company at Cananea, Col. Greene wanted that land. De Lara had ordered some of the workmen on the details to go and take the land into the city. When the case came to the Mexican supreme court, it was thrown out of court. But that was not the end of the persecution.

Perjured Testimony Alleged

"Through perjured testimony, De Lara was again arrested charged with the same crime, only this time the price of the wood was raised. It was proved that under the treaty, even though the offense had been committed, De Lara could not be taken back to Mexico for trial.

"It was perjured testimony that sent Magon and his associates to prison. And it was through perjured testimony that they sought to send De Lara to Magon and his associates to prison. They are innocent, as was admitted through the man who perjured himself to send them there. The innocent are in prison. The perjurer is allowed his freedom.

"The immigration laws are such that a political reformer seeking a haven in the United States no longer can find it. There must be something radically wrong with the legal order of things which allows this.

"De Lara's greatest offense against his government has been raising his voice for the weak and oppressed. His mission has been one to the poor. Is that a crime? Meek and gentle, a scholar and a lover of liberty—that is the man who is now in the county jail charged with being an anarchist. If he be an anarchist then every man and every woman who protests against governmental abuses is an anarchist. We must protest, and we do protest, for we know we are in the right."

Abuses Pointed Out

Mr. Harriman's remarks were punctuated with applause from the moment he began until he ended. He showed the various abuses then existing in the present immigration laws, and pointed the finger of accusation at members of the police force. Every word he uttered he said he would be responsible for and would be ready to back up with proof at any time.

Following Mr. Harriman, Frank J. White, who eloquently appeal for contribution to the defense fund. As a result of Mr. White's words nearly $300 was raised.

Resolutions protesting against the arrest and deportation of De Lara were offered and read by Louis Guernsey. He also read a letter from Madam Caroline Severance, "the mother of women's clubs in America." Following are the resolutions:

Resolutions Adopted

Whereas, on October 17, 1909, L. Gutierrez de Lara was arrested by police officers of the city of Los Angeles without having committed any crime, and was thereafter held in the custody of the city of Los Angeles either against the laws of the state of California or the ordinances of the city of Los Angeles and was thereafter held imprisoned in the city jail of Los Angeles on what was termed "suspicion," being denied admission to bail and also permission to communicate with any person, and

Whereas, at least two opportunities were afforded the police officials to take the said De Lara before a magistrate for examination at the earliest practicable moment, as the law requires, notwithstanding which he was held imprisoned until October 20, 1909, and was not released until habeas corpus proceedings had been instituted in his behalf, when he was at length arraigned before a magistrate upon the groundless charge of disturbing the peace and admitted to bail, and

Whereas, when said case for disturbance of the peace was regularly called for trial the same was dismissed on motion of the prosecution and the said De Lara thereupon rearrested upon telegraphic instructions from the bureau of immigration of the department of commerce and labor at Washington as an alien anarchist subject to deportation to Mexico; and

Whereas, the said De Lara is not an anarchist and has never given utterance to anarchistic sentiments and has never advocated force or violence for the accomplishment of social reform, but has always maintained the attitude of a peaceable reformer seeking to uplift the masses of his countrymen by lawful and educational means, and

Whereas, the deportation of the said De Lara to Mexico would leave an indelible stain upon the fair fame of the American nation, therefore be it

Resolved, that we, citizens and residents of the city of Los Angeles, in mass meeting assembled, do hereby protest against the action of the police officials of this city in the treatment accorded the said De Lara, and do hereby condemn such action as a violation of law and a dangerous infringement of the principles of liberty upon which our government is founded, and

Resolved, that we likewise protest against the arrest and detention of the said De Lara as an alien anarchist, and our belief in his innocence of the charge now pending against him, and

Resolved, that we protest against public officials of the United States leading their aid to the return of political refugees to foreign countries, thus sulling the traditional fame of the United States as a haven of refuge for victims of foreign oppression, and

Knew Him as Gentleman

I wish to bear my personal testimony to my knowledge of this brave young patriot from several interviews at my home since his first coming to Los Angeles. I found him a scholar and a gentleman, by birth and instinct. A son with the old-time reverence for a noble mother; and with a passion for freedom akin to that of our own Patrick Henry, his eyes kindled and voice quivered when warned to guard against personal danger.

May your efforts, dear friends, lead to a world-wide protest against the dreadful injustice now set on foot! Let not our fair city, our state and nation be classed with despotic Russia and with the Span in the parallel case of Prof. Ferrer! Our country, with all its shortcomings and wrongs, has long been, with England, the refuge of the oppressed of all lands; and it comes the foreigner with its high legend in marble of liberty enlightening the world." At least let us do our best to make this a helpful truth.

"For the cause that needs assistance; "For the wrong that needs resistance."

MADAME CAROLINE SEVERANCE, Labor Leader Adds Voice

Stanley Wilson, editor of The Citizen, was the final speaker of the evening. He traced the movements of those seeking religious and political freedom from the first days when the Pilgrims were first to leave England, to their coming to America from Holland, and down through the revolutionary days, into the time of the civil war and on to the present day. He said De Lara was a survivor of the spirit of the Pilgrims, and that he was as far from being an anarchist as the earth is from the sun.

"If a man who believes in political reform and freedom and who aids his brother is an anarchist," said Mr. Wilson, "then, thank God, it is such men as De Lara of whom the Master said, 'Greater love hath no man than that he should give his life for his brother.'"

After announcement of the amount subscribed for the defense fund had been made, an informal reception was held upon the stage.

DE LARA CASE SAVORS OF POLITICAL PERSECUTION

Under the heading "Scents of Political Persecution" the Graphic published the following: "Whatever the real motive behind the arrest of De Lara and Lozano, alleged Mexican anarchists who are detained in this city, the forcible detention of the accused does not speak well for those responsible. It will be recalled that when these same men were taken into custody upon arrest and former trumped-up charge, at the behest of the Mexican government—presumably, it was insisted in this column that their alleged offense at the time would be proved in court to have been no crime at all, insofar as the laws of the United States are concerned. It looked then to an unprejudiced outsider as if then to an unprejudiced outsider as if the proceedings were of an inspired nature. This view of the situation was more than demonstrated when the accused came to trial, and, after remaining in custody for a long time they were finally released. There was no real evidence against them. I should not be surprised to learn that this second arrest is of similar groundless tenor. In fact there are grave suspicions that the entire proceedings pending may turn out to be the worst sort of political persecution."
