WOULD DEBATE CENTRAL BANK WITH SENATOR

CONGRESSMAN FOWLER ASKS TO MEET ALDRICH NEW JERSEY REPRESENTATIVE SAYS PLAN IS PERILOUS

"Cure All" Advocated by Chairman of the Finance Committee is Declared Destructive to Present System

[By Associated Press.] ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 24.—Charles N. Fowler, congressman from the Fifth New Jersey district and former chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, today addressed an open letter to Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, chairman of the monetary committee, created by congress, and also chairman of the finance committee of the senate, charging him with the butt of his attack on a central bank to be established in one or more cities on the subject of a central bank. Mr. Fowler writes that he is opposed to the establishment of a central bank under conditions because with it would come most disastrous and disheartening favoritism and the ultimate destruction of our purely individual and independent form of banking. The letter follows: "Just before you started for Europe in August it was stated in the press that as a result of a meeting of the monetary committee of which you are chairman a central bank was to be advocated by your commission and upon your return from Europe you would proceed with a view of instructing the people upon our financial affairs (needs and recommend as a 'cure all' a central bank. Inspired Propaganda "After your departure there was an evidently inspired and well organized propaganda in favor of the central bank, conceived and carried on for the purpose of preparing the way for your home coming and your arrangements to swing around the circle, and initiate the people of the United States into the mysteries of your central bank plan. "Inasmuch as I am convinced that the one thing above all others that this country does not want is a central bank, because it will not effect nor accomplish the necessary reform, but in the end will make a bad condition immeasurably worse, therefore, in order that the American people who I know will decide this important question upon bending before them for consideration and determination, right, as they did in the case of the gold standard, if only they be given an opportunity for having both sides of it fully presented and thoroughly discussed, may be informed as to the merits of the plan, I now challenge you to a joint debate upon the following propositions: Fowler's Contentions "First, a central bank will not effect or accomplish the necessary reform of our finances and currency; it is unsuited to the American people who I know of our present evils and precipitate and develop other evils of a most serious nature. "Second, our financial and currency problems must be solved upon economic lines of an entirely different character. "I assert you cannot successfully and beneficially superimpose a monarchical form of banking upon nearly 25,000 individual, independent, free banking institutions, which have grown up and developed in harmony with the principles of our republican form of government. "To establish a central bank in this country under existing conditions would be undemocratic, un-republican and un-American in its intent, to the general welfare of the people, because with a central bank will come a most discouraging and disheartening favoritism, the gradual breaking down and ultimate destruction of our purely individual and independent form of banking, will meet you in joint debate upon the above propositions at one or more of our leading cities up to 100 or more of them, if you choose, at such times and upon such conditions or terms as may be agreed upon by us hereafter."

POLICE CAPTURE ALLEGED HOLDUP MAN ROBBED OF $25 SAVES THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS

Patrolman Forced to Use Revolver Before He Was Able to Subdue Fleeing Person—Robber Not Identified

A man giving the name of Charles Krause was arrested last evening and taken to police headquarters after he had given a policeman, a man who had been held up and the latter's friend a long chase in the vicinity of Turner street. The policeman, Patrolman Green, fired five shots at the supposed highwayman, and when he caught up to the fleeing man he was obliged to shoot him with the butt of his revolver, and not till his scalp had been torn open did the fugitive yield. That the man who gives his name as Charles Krause is an amateur in the holdup game if he is the right person was evidenced when he was taken to police headquarters charged with highway robbery and of relieving P. Gianos of $25 near the home of John Harkins, 417 Turner street. Krause was arrested after a long chase, during which he had been shot at five times by Patrolman Green at the corner of Commercial and Vignes streets, and after a desperate struggle with the patrolman was subdued after his scalp had been split open by a blow from the revolver butt. Although Krause is said to have obtained $25, which he is claimed to have thrown away in his flight to escape arrest, he overlooked the fact that his victim had in his possession $295.

Holdup Man Carried Razor

According to the story told by Gianos, he was walking along Turner street when he was approached by a man, who held a razor in his right hand and demanded money. Gianos explained he was without arms and proceeded to request for money. In one pocket he had a purse containing $250 in gold and loose individual pocket was $45 in bills. Gianos succeeded in abstracting a few bills and finally handed $25 to the highwayman, stating that was all he had. Apparently satisfied, the highwayman proceeded on his way, but Gianos awoke John Harkins, a friend, and together they trailed the man from block to block. A few blocks from the holdup Harkins caught up with Krause, but the latter was said to have resisted and threatened death to any one who approached him. Not a bit daunted, Harkins kept on the trail, despite the attempts of the highwayman to dodge him, until he caught sight of Patrolman Green.

Went Little into Society

He was married, but went little into society. He was noted for his reticence to public functions and made no public addresses after taking his seat as a justice. Cases involving the reports of corporations received special consideration at Justice Peckham's hands and he was the author of some of the court's most noteworthy opinions of recent days along this line. Among them may be mentioned the case of the Consolidated Gas company of New York, in which he held that while rates fixed by the legislature must be fair, they are not to be so low as to cause the return of several million dollars to consumers. Several of Mr. Peckham's corporation decisions dealt with the Sherman anti-trust law and the return of the trans-Missouri cases, in both of which he held the law to be applicable. One of the principal elements in the opinion of the court in the case of Attorney General Young of Minnesota, in which he held that the federal courts could interfere with the execution by the state courts of an unconstitutional state law.

Expressions of Sorrow

When the news of Justice Peckham's death was brought to the other members of the supreme court tonight, all were deeply affected. Chief Justice Fuller expressed his sorrow and said the passing of Justice Peckham was a severe loss to the American bench. Justice Harlan, who had known the jurist when he heard the news, said: "It is a great loss to the country," he said. "Justice Peckham was one of the ablest jurists who ever sat on the American bench. He was absolutely pure in mind and thought and free from everything that would prevent him from rendering an honest judgment in any case brought before him. He had strong political convictions, but when on the bench he knew no partisan politics and cared nothing for them. His sole desire was to administer the law as it was and to give each party in every case his just rights. I had a great personal affection for him and he was one of the purest men I ever knew."

Opposition Causes Delay

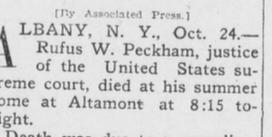

PEKING, Oct. 24.—Hsu Chih Ching, president of the board of communication, has not yet fixed a date for the continuation of the negotiations for the foreign loan of $30,000,000 for the construction of the Hankow-Sze Chuen railroad, which were left uncompleted by the death of Chang Chi Fung, the grand councillor. The delay is caused by the opposition recently expressed by the Hu-Peh provincial assembly.

JUSTICE RUFUS W. PECKHAM

ROOSEVELT PARTY HAS THRILLING EXPERIENCE

[By Associated Press.] NAIROBI, British East Africa, Saturday, Oct. 25.—Col. Roosevelt, accompanied by his son Kermit, Edmond Heller and R. J. Cunningham, left for Nyeri in the early days of August with the intention of getting a bull, cow and calf elephant. Although better elephants are obtainable in the Nile country of Uganda, Col. Roosevelt wanted to get an elephant in the Keia district, so that Heller could have a better chance in the cooler climate there of saving the skin in good condition. Major Mearns and Loring were to go to Nairobi and send off their bird and animal collections to New York and then all out their caravan for the expedition to the snow line of Mount Kenia (18,200 feet). They made their first camp at Kamiti ranch, which belongs to Hugh H. Heatley. They were then to march by easy stages over the Ruiru river, the Ndorugu river, the scene of a fruitless diamond rush in 1906, over the fine concrete bridges at the Thika and Chania rivers, where they would see the beautiful falls at the junction of those two rivers, thence past Punda Millie, which is the fine farm of Messrs. Swift and Rutherford, and to Fort Hall at Maragata. Meanwhile Col. Roosevelt was not idle, and as already noted he shot a fine bull elephant, with tusks weighing about eighty pounds each. After getting his elephant, Col. Roosevelt went toward Mweru, where there is good game shooting. A sportsman came into Nyeri from Mweru, less than a day's march away, who had encountered a charging man-eating lion, a charging rhinoceros and an elephant all within twenty paces of one another. He shot the lion dead with his first shot, and then the rhinoceros charged and fell dead to a good shot. Then, to his amazement, a bull elephant appeared and he shot it dead. Many strange things happen in the chase in British East Africa. When Mr. Selus and Mr. McMillan were out in this district accompanied by Judd, the professional hunter, they were after lions one day, and Judd was following Mr. Selus on a mule. Suddenly his mule nearly stepped on a huge lion, and as the mule swerved Judd fired from his hip with the rifle and almost simultaneously the mule bucked him off and he landed almost upon the lion. He thought his last hour had come and prepared to make a fight for his life, but to his surprise the lion did not move. Then he realized the beast was a lion, and he fired the shot which entered the eye and killed it instantly, without leaving a mark on the skin. On the road to Mweru and Nyeri man-eating lions have been playing havoc, and the British government has been forced to close the road to traffic. It is estimated that several hundred natives have been killed by these lions. Col. Roosevelt therefore does the community special service with every lion he kills.

BANK OF ENGLAND ATTRACTS ATTENTION OF WORLD

[By Associated Press.] NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The Bank of England has commanded the attention of the whole financial world in an unusual degree during the last week with its third successive advance in two weeks of its official discount rate. The rate has been doubled in that period. Omifious intimations come from the English money center that additional protective measures will be resorted to if necessary to avert further inroads on London's banking resources. Coming in a period of assurances of the ample resources of the money markets this action furnishes evidence of a wide misallocation of the situation. As to the elements in that misallocation opinions differ, but there are certain of the factors in the problem which are clear. One of these is extensive American borrowings in the London money market. Critics in London allege an unbridled speculation in the New York stock market is primarily responsible for the condition. One of the principal elements in the misallocation of the autumn money market lies in the abnormal state of the country's foreign trade. Not only have its imports enormously increased but exports have decreased. The action of the stock market has shown the contest going on against the unfavorable influence of the money situation. The brilliant business outlook encourages the obstinate holdings of stocks, even while the narrowing money resources reduce the demand.

MADRID OFFERS PUBLIC PROTEST

SEVERAL THOUSAND JOIN IN HUGE PARADE

[By Associated Press.] MADRID, Oct. 24.—Several thousand Republicans and Socialists, headed by Deputy Alejandro Lerroux, chief of the Republicans in Barcelona, paraded the principal streets of Madrid today in protest against former Premier Maura's policy. A similar demonstration occurred at Saragossa, but there were no disorders in either place. The Imparciale (Liberal) announces that the Morocco adventure is to be pushed no further. The government has made public the documents in the Ferrer case, in the form of a brochure, which has been sent out broadcast. Ten thousand persons took part today in an anti-clerical demonstration at Bilbao, and extra troops were drafted into service. The religious establishments are heavily guarded. A bomb was found today in the church of the Irish Dominicans at Lisbon. The sacristan extinguished the fuse. Two persons were arrested.

WITH a smile showing through the tears which stood in his eyes, L. Gutierrez De Lara, the Mexican Liberal and patriot, yesterday offered his thanks to the people of Los Angeles for their demonstration in his behalf Saturday night, especially at the mass meeting as he sat in his prison cell, separated from his wife by iron bars covered with closely woven wires. Every word he drank in, and every few moments he interrupted to voice his approval. From his cell De Lara issued yesterday the following statement: "Something more than pleased by and obliged for the demonstration by the liberty loving people of Los Angeles in my behalf. It encourages me to give my whole life to the noble ideals which I profess and which are so well understood by the people. "If in my past life I have at some time hesitated in my struggles, or some selfish feeling has overcome me to impede my progress, now, no matter if I am freed or if I am deported to Mexico to my doom, I give myself entirely, body and soul and intelligence, to the cause of humanity which I love so well. No Fear of Lozano "They say they will use Miguel Lozano against me. Well, they may do it, but his testimony will not hurt me in any way. I have never debated with Lozano, and especially at the time I am accused of having espoused the overthrow of all government. Once I debated with a man named Gonzalez. He took the side of 'No government,' while I spoke for 'Political Government.' I repeat I am a Socialist, but I am not and never will be an anarchist. "If they convict me and deport me to my doom in Mexico it will be only through perjured testimony. I believe I shall be freed, for I feel certain the immigration laws will not treat me justly, and being treated justly means my freedom. "If my arrest has been the cause of bringing to the notice of the people something more than pleased by and obliged for the demonstration by the liberty loving people of Los Angeles in my behalf, I will gladly suffer any pain, any imprisonment, if by so doing I aid my fellow man, for I believe there is such a thing as the brotherhood of man in which every human being has a member's good standing so long as he respects the rights of others. Thanks Auditors and Speakers "Let me again say that I thank every man and woman who was present Saturday night, the speakers who urged consideration for me and the Defense League, and the men who so earnest, effective work. "A man in jail, cut out from his associates, and without funds, begins to realize he has friends when reports of such a meeting as that held Saturday night are brought to him. "When De Lara was told that Lozano, Cuban, was to be used against me, I was against him. De Lara looked up with a smile and said: 'Well, let him tell all he knows, but let him tell the truth. It will be more in my favor than anything I could ever produce as testimony.' "De Lara probably will be released today on bonds of $3000. Names of the bondsmen have not been made public, although it is believed that members of the Defense League and by the attorneys that three of the prominent business men in Los Angeles have volunteered to do so. No definite time has been set for the hearing. This probably will be determined today. Hearing to Be Secret "In the Los Angeles Times yesterday the following statement was contained in an account of the De Lara protest: 'The Mexican government auditorium: "De Lara is now held at the request of the Mexican government, pending an investigation into the charges against him in Mexico." "That statement is absolutely false," said Immigration Inspector A. C. Ridgway when questioned yesterday. "It is misleading in every detail and should not be considered. The Mexican government has nothing to do with this case, so far as I know. "De Lara's hearing will not be open to the public. The hearing will be before me some time, but I cannot tell. De Lara and his attorneys will be the only ones, other than the immigration officials, present. We shall not even allow the witnesses for and against De Lara to appear while the hearing is in progress. We feel this is the best plan, and as it is according to law we shall follow it. Lozano to Testify "I am not at liberty to tell just who the witnesses for the government will be. However, I will say that Miguel Lozano, the Cuban now in jail on a charge of being an alien anarchist, will be one of those to appear against De Lara. Los Angeles police officers probably will also appear. I have not received all my information from the local police, but it was largely upon their statements that De Lara's arrest was ordered. "De Lara and Lozano, I am informed, entered into an argument tinged with anarchistic sentiments. This is the reason I shall have Lozano tell his side of the case. "I am ready and anxious to release De Lara on $3000 bonds. I have been informed that De Lara's friends will be ready to furnish the bonds within a few hours. He probably will be released from jail some time Monday." When Inspector Ridgway was asked to grant permission to a representative of The Herald to interview De Lara in jail the request was flatly refused. "I cannot allow any such thing," said the inspector. "De Lara will probably be released on bail and then you can talk to him all you want." As one of the results of the mass
