

WILL INVADE HOMES WHILE PEOPLE SLEEP

RELIGIOUS CRUSADERS PLAN NERVY ACTION

Probation Officer at Washington Proposes to Enter Residences and Take Flashlight Photos After Families Retire

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—An invasion of the homes of the poor at night when the inmates have retired is said to be one of the newest moves designed for the religious, moral and sanitary uplift of the national capital.

Nocturnal invasions of such homes are to be made, it is said, by Rev. Reed H. Topp, probation officer of the District of Columbia, members of the police force and a health inspector.

Armed with a flashlight camera, the probation officer, it is said, will secure photographic evidence of the conditions which prevail when the mantle of night has fallen on these homes.

He will inform himself previously as to the relations and degree of consanguinity existing in the homes he will select for his visits.

Homes of whites as well as of negroes will be visited, it is said. On these tours, it is said, newspaper men will be taken. The purpose apparently is to inform the public of such conditions as may be found to exist.

The probation officer is quoted as follows regarding his proposed expeditions: "This particular phase of the life of the poor has been so far overlooked by the juvenile court. I don't believe that as a general thing we could find conditions very bad, but I am confident what we do discover will prove a valuable enlightenment to the general public."

"Little thought is given at the present time to the immorality engendered by insufficient or badly arranged sleeping quarters."

"I do not think the manner in which we approach them will be in any way offensive. Our trips, while they may seem a bit unorthodox, are distinctly for the common good."

UNITED STATES PRODUCE PLENTY FOR ALL TO EAT

Output of Foodstuffs Shown to Be Equal to the Increase of Population

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—In spite of the declaration that the production of foodstuffs is not keeping pace with the growth of population the department of agriculture has issued a statement showing that the United States produces more than holding its own in the task of feeding its people.

The bureau of statistics is authority for the declaration that during the fiscal year the imports of farm products into the United States were valued at $540,000,000, which was $14,000,000 less than in 1908 and $7,000,000 less than in 1907.

That the American farmer is awakening to the necessity for closer and more extensive cultivation of his land is evidenced by the fact that during the year prior to 1909 more than one-half of the total imports into the country consisted of farm products.

In the nine years since 1900 much less than one-half of the imports have been products of the farm.

A peculiar feature of the report is the fact that the exportation from Hawaii increased $12,000,000 and from Porto Rico $4,000,000, there was no increase in agricultural products from the United States.

In fact there has been a decrease in the materials brought here from the nation's insular possessions.

Charcoal Lozenges Powerful Absorbents

Offensive Breath and Stomach Gases Cannot Exist When They Are Used

Charcoal, by virtue of its porous nature, takes up gases mechanically, just as a sponge takes up water. Its capacity in this respect is in proportion to the number and fineness of its pores.

Charcoal made from sugar, beechwood, vegetable ivory, coconut shells and willow wood is a compact, heavy substance, having a metallic luster, the pores being quite invisible.

Chemical tests of various kinds performed by expert chemists have revealed the fact that charcoal made from willow wood is not only absolutely harmless but that it is by far the most powerful absorbent of all kinds of gases.

Certain other woods, mentioned above, are used by some manufacturers in making charcoal, and besides not being half as effective in absorbing stomach gases have also been found to be positively harmful to the digestive system.

Willow wood charcoal is, then, the very best for the purpose of absorbing excessive gas of the stomach, removing intestinal flatulency and purifying foul breath. Charcoal to be effective against gastric flatulence must be introduced among the gases of the stomach in the same state as when fresh from the crucible.

The means of effecting this is to compress them into soluble lozenges, so that after being dissolved in the mouth and swallowed the charcoal is "set free," and at once begins its work of oxidizing and absorbing foul gases, and also, through its antiseptic properties, of purifying the entire alimentary tract.

It is definitely known that the absorbent and cleansing action of charcoal is protracted and continued through the intestinal system as well as in the stomach, and it proves beneficial there also.

In STUART'S CHARCOAL LOZENGES we have a gas-absorbing remedy which readily takes precedence over all others. The charcoal used in them is the very best that can be obtained. They are composed of the finest young willow wood, converted into charcoal by the special, carbonizing process used and before being compressed into lozenges the powdered charcoal is rendered sweet and thoroughly agreeable to the taste by being mixed with pure honey, and the result is a product equally as palatable as candy.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges have attained a wide popularity among the people, millions of boxes being sold every year. They have, over and over again, proved their efficiency as rapid and powerful absorbents of foul stomach gases, relieving and curing flatulency, belching or the eructation of gases and, finally in the purification, of offensive breath.

Buy a package of these little lozenges from your druggist for 25 cents and forward us your name and address for free sample package. Address: F. A. Stuart Co., 209 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET IN MANILA HARBOR

American Warships Enter Port of Metropolis of Philippines Two Days Ahead of Schedule

MANILA, Oct. 30.—The United States Pacific fleet, Rear Admiral Sebree commanding, entered Manila bay at 3 o'clock this afternoon, two days ahead of its scheduled time. The voyage from Honolulu was uneventful.

COURT'S REMARKS CAUSE OF REVERSAL

APPEALS TRIBUNAL REMANDS CASE OF MAN CONVICTED

Kansas City Jurist Said to Have Made Comments to Jury Which Are Adverse to Proper Methods

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.—Because of remarks made to a jury by Judge Smith McPherson of the federal district court at Kansas City, the federal court of appeals today and remanded the case of John F. Rudd, who had been fined $500 and sentenced to eleven months in jail on a charge of conducting a scheme to defraud.

Rudd was accused of using the mails in an effort to sell a patent pump operated by a pendulum and a spring lever. The records showed that after the evidence was submitted Judge McPherson said to the jury:

"No man with the slightest degree of intelligence above insanity would say that this pump is practical. Any school boy would know better. This man either is guilty of a criminal act or he is an idiot, insane and foolish. The defendant claims to believe in his machine. If he does, he is crazy. If he does not, he is guilty."

The decision of the court of appeals, written by Judge Hook, says: "It is the province of a court to comment on facts and evidence, but his comments should be dispassionate and guarded in order that the jurors may be left free to exercise their independent judgment."

NATION'S NEW DISEASE SLOWLY VANQUISHED

Only Two Cases of Pellagra Remain Among Insane at Elgin and Four at Hospital in Dunning

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Pellagra, the nation's new disease, which is beginning to disappear in the insane hospitals at Dunning and Elgin, where it flourished during the summer months. Only a few cases are being treated at these institutions.

At Dunning four patients now are afflicted with pellagra. A total of twenty-six patients were treated there since the disease was first discovered, fourteen of whom died.

In the other twelve cases the malady has subsided. At Elgin only two cases remain.

The approach of winter is believed to be the cause of the disappearance of the disease. Doctors studying pellagra at the two hospitals are unable to state positively whether the disappearance of the disease is temporary or permanent.

SUSPENDS HEAD OF IMPORTANT BUREAU

GEODETIC SURVEY OFFICER FACES CHARGE

"Inefficiency" Basis of Sudden Action Taken by Secretary McHarg Against Two Officers of Department

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Frank Walley Perkins, acting superintendent of the United States coast and geodetic survey, was suspended today without pay, and John J. Gilbert, inspector of hydrography and topography, reduced from $3000 to $2000 a year as the result of charges of administrative irregularities.

The action was taken by Acting Secretary of Commerce and Labor McHarg. Their cases will be passed upon later by Secretary Nagel, who is now in the west.

Just on the eve of his retirement from office Mr. McHarg took action on the charges against the two officials. Perkins was at the head of the survey, while Dr. O. H. Tittman, the director, was in Europe.

The charges, Acting Secretary McHarg said today, do not in any way affect Dr. Tittman.

Perkins is charged with suppressing official correspondence and shielding employees who have been reported to the head of the department of commerce and labor charges against the management of the survey and with evading questions officially asked him.

Mr. Perkins left the office for his home early this afternoon. Mr. Tittman had nothing to say.

MINIATURE REBELLION IN GREECE IS SUPPRESSED

Officers, Sailors and Workmen in the Dockyard at Salamis Surrender to Government

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 30.—Tibaldi's miniature rebellion has been suppressed, according to an official announcement made by the government today.

Nevertheless, the torpedo boat destroyer Velos with her rebel crew, is a well known sea power.

Several officers, sailors and workmen in the dock-yard at Salamis have surrendered to the government.

Three of the rebels were killed and several wounded when a shell from the government land battery struck the mutinous torpedo boat Sphendona during the engagement yesterday.

The rebellious force at the arsenal on the island of Salamis surrendered today. All of the vessels of which Tibaldos took possession have returned home, with the exception of the Velos, on which it is supposed Tibaldos has taken refuge.

The torpedo boat destroyer Velos returned to the arsenal this evening and the command of the craft was immediately placed under arrest. Lieutenant Tibaldos is still missing.

He is believed to be in the vicinity of Mount Paros, where the police are keeping a strict watch.
