POLITICAL NINE MEN FOR CITY COUNCIL RECOMMENDED

DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE ISSUES STATEMENT

JOHN D. WORKS HEADS LIST OF DESIRABLES

T. P. Arnold, Who Retired from Race, Boosts Chances of Judge R. M. Lusk—Candidates to Be Advertised

The Democratic league has issued the following statement recommending candidates for the council:

The Democratic league from the beginning of the recall campaign has been in sympathy and co-operation with the movement in this city to restore the city and its government into the hands of the people and of honest servants of the people.

The league hitherto has waited until those in charge of the campaign have formulated and announced the policy to be pursued, and when that has been done has accepted such policy and done its best to insure its success at the polls.

When the Good Government organization was organized and undertook the task of carrying forward the work which had been so auspiciously inaugurated by the Municipal league in the recall the Democratic league was able, and is still, to co-operate with that body in its action.

In common with the Municipal league in this city who are in favor of this movement it hoped and expected that the Good Government organization, through its proper committees and other agencies, would find out and suggest to the great body of voters of the city from among the numerous candidates for the council nine persons whom it could recommend to the electors as fit, competent and suitable candidates to be voted for at the primary election and who, if nominated at such primary election, would be suitable persons to be voted for at the ultimate election in December.

But in the wisdom of its councils that body has determined that it will make no recommendation or suggestion of this kind. There is little doubt that if the Good Government organization had made such recommendation this league would have approved the same. But since it failed to do so this league has felt that it was incumbent upon it to investigate as far as practicable the character and qualifications of the numerous candidates for the council, and believe, with carry forward for information to the great body of voters in this city stands, to wit:

John D. Works, Richard Plant, T. L. O'Brien, Robert M. Lusk, Charles H. Randall, H. J. Woolcott, J. J. Andrews, Frank Walker, Martin F. Betkouski.

In recommending these names this league is not insensible of the fact that there are other men in the long list of candidates for the council who are well qualified for the position and in all respects worthy of the confidence and suffrage of their fellow citizens, but it must be remembered that there are but nine names can be voted for in the primary election. Respectfully submitted, DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE, M. G. Youkum, Secretary.

The Fifty-fourth Precinct Good Government club has opened its headquarters at 257 West Pico street and will hold discussions and debates there every night during the campaign. H. W. Reed is the president of the club.

"A marked feature of the present city campaign is the interest which wage workers are taking in the direct primary, and its effect on city politics," says John T. Pope, candidate for councilman, who has been making numerous speeches to workmen in factories. Mr. Pope has dwelt particularly on the advantages of the direct primary over the old-fashioned convention system. In every case Mr. Pope has noted strong interest in the direct primary, and is confident that by the many questions asked regarding its workings.

T. P. Arnold, who has retired from the race for the council in order to better the chances of his friend, Robert M. Lusk, has made the following statement relative to his withdrawal from the race: "I have a firm belief that concentration is for the best interest of the Good Government cause in the city, I shall not press my friends to support me, but cordially introduce them to a better man, my neighbor and friend, Judge R. M. Lusk of Boyle Heights, for councilman."

Mr. Arnold's name appears on the ballot, as he did not reach a decision to withdraw until after the time limit set for official notice to that effect.

Representatives of the machine city central committee have been making strenuous efforts for several days to induce Editor Brobst of the Boyle Heights Citizen to get back on the machine Republican band wagon, even without swallowing the public utilities ordinance mess cooked up by the city council. Mr. Brobst waved them away, and the current number of the Boyle Heights Citizen comes out for O. F. Parish for mayor.

The Good Government organization will have large cards in all cars of the Los Angeles railway tomorrow urging us to ader. E. R. Allen is planning to add to the advertising greatly by a huge badge on the billboards on his candidacy for city auditor.

"George Alexander will be powerless unless you give him a city council in harmony with him," says Adam Dixon Warner. "Alexander's election is already assured, but look out for the council. If six machine men in the present city council will turn over all the benefits flowing from the aqueduct to machine control before election, what will the rubber convention machine count on when the next election? Look out for the city."

It is now hoped out that Candidate Captain Irwin, who was a native of Ireland, had formerly been a Methodist minister and married many couples residing in Los Angeles. He died late Saturday night at his home, 1159 Santee street, and is survived by his widow.

Raise Church Funds

The funds for the debt on the Central Baptist church was completed yesterday at the morning service. A week ago Sunday $5200 was raised, and yesterday $2650 more was secured in bonds to continue three years. The sum secured paying the interest during the time the bonds extend. The church debt was $8000.

Saloon Robbed

Burglars entered the saloon of H. Matson, East Fifth street, and adjacent to the Arcade station, last night and stole liquors valued at $200. The saloon, which is known "as the first place to get a drink when arriving in Los Angeles and also the last place before leaving Los Angeles on the Southern Pacific line," was entered by forcing a window in the rear. The thieves were evidently connoisseurs of intoxicating liquors as they took the wines of the best vintage were taken.

LABORER ARRESTED

FOR ROBBING GIRL

When Officer Appeared Alleged Thief Said to Have Tried to Shoot Him, but is Overpowered After Struggle

J. Morency, a laborer who is alleged to have stolen $3 from the purse of Miss Etta Linwood, in a house at the corner of Sixth street and Maple avenue, attempted to shoot Patrolman Browne last night when the officer tried to arrest the man.

It is alleged Morency after grabbing the money from the woman's purse threatened to shoot up the house if anyone called an officer. Miss Linwood succeeded in getting to a house at 525 Maple avenue and telephoned for an officer, and Patrolman Browne was detailed to make the arrest.

When Browne arrived Morency stated his willingness to accompany the officer, and asked permission to change his clothes, which was granted. When he returned from his room he flourished a revolver, but before he could use it Browne grappled with him and a struggle ensued. Grasping the hand which held the revolver, Browne dragged his prisoner to the street, where the fight was renewed, but the timely appearance of other officers prevented a possible tragedy.

At police headquarters Morency broke down and cried, stating he did not steal any money and that he supposed a police officer should show a warrant before making an arrest.

It is said Morency, who recently came to Los Angeles from Canada, is a friend of Miss Linwood, who at present is supposed to be employed at Westlake park.

That there was trouble over money affairs is admitted by witnesses of the affair, also that Morency was in an angry mood and freely displayed his revolver, making threats that he would use it.

Attempts to locate Miss Linwood last night were futile, and Morency was locked up at police headquarters, booked on suspicion to await the appearance of Miss Linwood, who disappeared after notifying the police she had been robbed.

BIBLE CONCEPTION OF GOSPEL WILL ENDURE

Rev. Frank Sheets Preaches First Sermon in City at Boyle Heights Methodist Church

The first appearance of Rev. Frank D. Sheets in the pulpit of the Boyle Heights Methodist church yesterday morning gave evidence of the high appreciation accorded him by the large congregation.

Revs. Dr. Healy and Sherman were seated on the pulpit platform and assisted in the service. Former parishioners of Rev. Mr. Sheets from Rockford and Chicago were in the audience. Rev. Mr. Sheets made no reference to his coming other than to thank the Epworth League, the different classes of the Sunday school and the official board for the courteous letters of greeting sent to him. He also referred to the presence of the friends to whom he had been pastor in other churches in Illinois.

The words of his text were "Nevertheless, the foundation of God standeth sure." He said in part: "The phrases 'Back to Christ' and 'Preach the gospel' are current in speech and print. There is no denominational unanimity of opinion as to what the gospel really is. The multiple denominations are an evidence of this fact. That would seem to be the best gospel, and the best preaching is the gospel which is most effectual in softening the bitter speech, in sweetening the sour disposition, in moderating the harsh judgment, and, in a word, in promoting the spirit which impels us to do unto others as we would be done by."

"The world never will outgrow the Bible conception of the gospel. It has not outgrown the Bible conception of God. Infinite eternal energy or the power without ourselves that makes for righteousness is a comparatively poorer term for creative force than the God of the Old Testament, who is the 'Heavenly Father' of the New."

"A loving God in a loving world is the only intelligible conception of life. The world will not outgrow the Bible conception of men. Jesus' Christ came into a cruel and corrupt world disguised as a carpenter; he turned away from the palaces of kings and nobles, and stretched out his hands to the burden bearers of the world."
