FATHER ARRAYED AGAINST SON IN GREAT GUBERNATORIAL FIGHT

Grove L. Johnson, Powerful Adherent of "Machine," May Take Stump Against Hiram W., Lincoln-Roosevelt Faction Candidate

NOT infrequently in the trend and angle of politics there are startling situations and climaxes constituting a real drama of which George H. Broadhurst has taken advantage in many of his late productions; yet it is seldom that there arises such a peculiarly unnatural and paradoxical situation as that which will characterize the coming campaign.

"Man of the Hour" At any rate, in California, Hiram W. Johnson is "the man of the hour," and his nomination and election are considered by those well posted as to the condition of affairs to be assured.

In the municipal campaign in San Francisco last fall, when good but weak men of once acknowledged influence were making their time expiring when it was not wise for them to stand before the masses and appeal to their civic pride in behalf of the candidate of the reform element, it was Hiram W. Johnson who sprang into the fight, on his own initiative, regardless of the consequences to himself, and organized a corps of the ablest speakers and workers that could have been mustered in that city in its hour of crucial battle and defended the graft prosecution, scored the apologists for the existence of such powerful civic criminals and the timidous erstwhile champions of decency for their supineness.

Notwithstanding their differences politically, the son, with judicious filial affection, has steadfastly refused to discuss his father's attitude toward him or toward the public. When that subject is mentioned, his consistent position and only answer has been: "He is my father and I cannot discuss that subject with any one."

NEW YORK, March 14.—John D. Rockefeller's daily prayer, repeated each morning at the beginning of the day's work, is this, according to the Rev. R. H. Johnston, pastor of the Washington Heights Baptist church, here:

PARIS, March 14.—Jean E. Darbot, radical Republican in the tariff debate in the senate today made a bitter attack on what he described as the American invasion of Europe. The American declared the balance of trade in favor of the United States constituted a profit of $400,000,000 annually at the expense of Europe, and he offered a resolution asking the government to undertake diplomatic negotiations with European powers for an economic understanding against the United States.

CHARGE DETECTIVES HOUND COMPLAINANT

UNUSUAL FEATURE INJECTED INTO CAMPBELL HEARING

Accused Held to Stand Trial in Case Brought by Merchants Bank and Trust Company

Charges of being "hounded, intimidated and followed by 'gumshoe men' by private detectives under the control of the hearing against Campbell yesterday at the preliminary hearing of H. F. Campbell in Justice Ling's court on a charge of embezzlement from the Merchants Bank and Trust company, brought the charges against Campbell.

Deputy District Attorney McCarty stated in his appeal to the court to have Hurst, who was present at the hearing, expelled from the courtroom, that Cohen had been followed by private detectives since the beginning of the hearing against Campbell, and that as a consequence he had become nervous and disturbed.

Cohen, who was sitting behind the rail separating the spectators from those connected with the hearing, was called to tell what he knew of such actions. Cohen, who is a six-footer, advanced to the counsel's tables and began to talk, when he was interrupted by E. J. Fleming, attorney for Campbell, who stated that if he was going to testify that he take the witness stand. When Cohen was seated in the witness chair Attorney Fleming casually remarked that for him to remember that he was under oath.

Testimony Objected To Before Cohen proceeded Attorney Fleming made another objection to any testimony being introduced by the witness on the grounds that it was irrelevant and immaterial to the issues of the case. The prosecution was instructed by the court that the only testimony which such evidence could be introduced was by affidavit, which it is thought will be done.

Campbell was held to answer to the preliminary hearing on the second of three charges of embezzlement made against him by the Merchants Bank and Trust company. His bail was fixed at $2000, which he was unable to furnish.

Receipt Identified Cohen, cashier of the bank, identified a receipt which was given by Campbell to the bank for the bond when it was left there by Mrs. Robertson. When cross-examined by Fleming as to his experience he testified that he had been in the business about fourteen years and that he was employed by the Oppenheimer bank of New York for ten years as "confidential fixer."

MRS. GRANT ARRANGED Mrs. Margie Virginia Grant, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses in selling furniture and a lease of a rooming house to Ella Richey for $1600, when it is claimed, she had the right to do neither, was arraigned in Judge Willis' court yesterday and given until March 21 to enter her plea.

TRIAL OF MAN WITH 'HIGH CONNECTIONS' IS DELAYED

Relationship to Congressman and a Noted Judge Alleged to Be Basis for Stock Swindle

Press of court business before Judge Davis of department twelve yesterday resulted in the trial of I. R. Landis going over until this morning. Landis is charged by George Wasem with representing himself as the son of Congressman Landis of Indiana and the nephew of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis of Chicago, to form a pedigree as a base for entering Wasem's confidence.

Wasem charges that with this excellent array of talent "in the family," Landis induced him to invest $1500 in mining stock August 25, 1907, in the Nevada Mining and Milling company. Wasem declares he gave Landis the money and later found his representations of relationship and the value of the mine were untrue. Landis still in jail, being unable to furnish bond.

HYPNOTISM LEADS TO ACTION FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Myrtle S. Nevatt Charges Mother-in-Law with Having Caused Her Husband to Treat Her Cruelly

Hypnotic influence by her husband's mother, estrangement and the kidnapping of her little baby on a cold day in an automobile while she was at work resulted in her filing for divorce against her husband, Gordon Henry Nevatt, which was continued yesterday morning in Judge House's court to next Monday morning.

She seeks divorce on the grounds of cruelty and asks a decree, alimony and the custody of their child. She declares in her complaint that her husband has deserted her ever since December 19, 1907, and in spite of letters sent to him by her relatives when she was ill to keep her from going insane he coldly refused to go to her unless she returned to his mother in Oakland, who is alleged to be the cause of the trouble between the two.

TO GUARD AGAINST RABIES An ordinance was passed by the board of supervisors yesterday making it a misdemeanor to import dogs into Los Angeles county from any locality outside the county "where the disease of dogs, known as rabies or hydrophobia is known to exist." A fine of $50 or twenty-five days in the county jail is fixed as the penalty for the violation of the ordinance. It will take effect March 29.

WANT TAFT TO MODIFY BLEACHED FLOUR RULING

Delegation of Millers Asks President to Make Present Regulations Less Stringent

WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Taft today received a second visit from the committee sent to Washington last week by the various state millers' associations and the Millers' National Defense association, which was formed to demand the repeal of the flour prosecution of the government. The committee included S. R. Larrabee of Kansas.

The millers have asked the president to modify the ruling of the secretary of agriculture that all bleached flour is adulterated by excluding from the ruling flour bleached by electricity. Secretary Wilson afterward expressed the opinion that there would be no modification of the bleached flour ruling.

DEALERS GIVE TESTIMONY ON HIGH COST OF LIVING

Butter Dealer Tells Why Price Once Dropped—Grocer Complains of Business

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The unusual drop of 6 cents in the price of butter controlled by the Elgin board of trade last January was due to the straining of the milk to the highest point and the consequent large purchase by consumers of the cheaper storage butter, according to James F. Oyster, a Washington butter dealer, who testified today before the select senate committee on the high cost of living. Mr. Oyster explained at great length how the Elgin board fixed the price of butter every Monday. He said, however, that the Elgin board could not properly be regarded as a trust.

William Poulton, a Baltimore retail grocer and dealer, told the committee he had been able to make only a bare living out of his business during the last two years, and that he believed equally of the retailers in other lines of business in Baltimore were nearly "broke."

ARIZONA TOWNS TO WELCOME EXCURSION

Special "Glad Hand" Train Leaves Today, and Nearly All Reservations Have Been Taken

The special train of the chamber of commerce leaves this afternoon on the "glad hand" excursion to Arizona with practically a full roster, although a few reservations may still be made by individuals or firms who desire to have a representative make the acquaintance of the Arizona trade.

Great interest continues to be manifested by the cities along the route, and as recently as yesterday telegrams were received by the chamber expressing satisfaction with the arrangements made, and assuring readiness to royally entertain the excursionists. Some slight changes were requested, as in the case of Globe, which complains that the time scheduled for the inspection of the plant of the Copper Queen company, to say nothing of the other industries.

At Mesa the excursionists will leave the train and proceed in autos to Tempe, six or seven miles farther on. The El Tovar hotel has notified Secretary Wiggins that three meals will be served in the dining room of the hotel while the party is at the Grand canyon.

Dean, alleging that they were both badly injured in a collision of two cars on the company's line between Los Angeles and Pasadena on January 25, 1910.

PASTEUR TREATMENT GIVEN DOG'S VICTIM

Dr. W. J. Chambers Injects Emulsion from Spine of Canine Into Patient and Is Confident of Success

Dr. W. J. Chambers of the board of health yesterday began the Pasteur treatment for rabies on E. R. Seidson, who was bitten by a mad dog about ten days ago. The operation was performed in the city's chemical laboratory, and Dr. Chambers has confidence it will prove a complete success.

The operation consists in injecting an emulsion of the spinal cord of a dog that has been inoculated with rabies. When the dog develops the disease after inoculation he is killed and the spinal cord taken out and dried. The length of time the drying process continues determines the strength of the virus. In one day's drying it is very strong, and weakens with each additional day.

GRADE CROSSINGS MAY BE GRAND JURY SUBJECT

Inquisitorial Body Calls Railroad Engineer, Supervisors and Highway Commissioners to Testify

Something more than an investigation of the construction of roads under the county highway commission, appears to have been commenced by the grand jury, and it is believed that the proper protection of railway crossings is about to be discussed.

An active session of the inquisitorial body was held yesterday, at which H. B. Titcomb, civil engineer of the Southern Pacific for the district between Fresno and El Paso, was called as a witness. When subpoenaed he had no idea of what the jury wanted with him, and after he came out he would tell nothing, because he had been sworn to keep silent. An interesting situation in which he is placed is that he is required to give a report to officials of the road, and last night he was in a quandary.

J. H. Melville, assistant secretary of the Metropolitan Sprinkling company, was also called as a witness, but nothing could be learned from him. George H. Bixby, chairman of the highway commission; J. W. Calvert, member of the same body; C. D. Daggett of Pasadena, former chairman of the commission who was deposed by the supervisors to give place to Calvert; H. D. McCabe, supervisor of the Second district, and R. W. Pridham, supervisor for the Fifth district, were called as witnesses yesterday.

COUNTY SEEKS ROADWAY

Instructions were given to the district attorney yesterday by the board of supervisors to begin proceedings at once for the condemnation of a strip of land fifty feet wide in the Francisco Lugo tract, consisting of 17.67 acres on the north side of Long Beach boulevard, to be used by the county as a road.

EDWIN GOULD AT CATALINA Edwin Gould, son of the late Jay Gould, accompanied by W. Seward Webb, vice president of the New York Central line, passed yesterday at Santa Catalina Island. Mr. Gould has been a guest at the Green in Pasadena for the past few days. He expects to go to San Francisco later this week.
