Municipal Affairs ORNAMENTAL POSTS FOR LAMPS GROW IN FAVOR

Pico Street Lighting Plan to Be Adopted in Other Sections of the City

The desire to beautify streets with ornamental lights is spreading to various parts of the city. With the adoption of the ornamental lighting project for Pico street from Main to Vermont other streets have been stirred to activity and yesterday petitions were filed asking the council to begin proceedings for the lighting of Seventh street from Hoover to Boyle and of Sixth from Main to Alameda.

These ornamental lamp posts are paid for by the property owners on the lighted street and the property owners also pay for the light for the first year. While the ornamental lighting plan is especially beneficial to the property on the street lighted, other portions of the city are benefited, as the ornamental lamp posts are taken off the street lighted by the ornamental posts and placed in other sections of the city where there is no light of any kind.

ORDINANCE TO GOVERN CAR SPEED REQUESTED

Public Utilities Commission Also Seeks Measure to Regulate Sale of Franchises

Recommendations of the board of public utilities on the matter of street car speed and the sale of franchises will be incorporated into a law. The legislation committee last night passed recommendations carefully and will ask the council to instruct the city attorney to present an ordinance covering them.

The terms of this new law street car speed is to be limited to the same speed that automobiles and other vehicles must observe, twelve miles in the congested district and twenty miles in other parts of the city. On the Pacific Electric Long Beach line and other roads where the cars run on private rights of way, they are not subject to the same regulations. Signals and flagmen must be provided at the street intersections.

FIRST COUNCIL CANDIDATES MUST FILE NEW PETITIONS

All candidates for election to the city council must file new petitions under the first ordinance calling an election, passed when Plant resigned from the council, will have to take out new petitions to contest the ordinance passed by the council Wednesday, according to the opinion of City Attorney Hewitt.

CONDEMN THEATER BULLETINS

Bulletin boards in front of theaters will have to come down. The legislation committee will recommend to the council Tuesday that the city attorney be instructed to prepare an ordinance eliminating all bulletin boards from the streets. This action is taken from the recommendation of the building inspector, who told the council that if the large theaters were permitted to have bulletin boards, there was no reason why they should be denied to moving picture theaters.

WILL LEGALIZE CREDITS

Good behavior credits for city prisoners will be legalized by an ordinance the legislation committee will ask the council to adopt. City prisoners have been awarded one day in thirty for good behavior, and their terms have been shortened that much. But Chief Galloway found there was no ordinance making such action legal, and the police commission asked for a law covering the matter.

BUILDING PERMIT DENIED

The building committee yesterday decided to deny the petition of the California Furniture company to erect an ornamental marquee in front of its place of business at 648 South Broadway. It would require an amendment to the building ordinance to permit it, and while the committee considered it would be a beautiful ornament, it did not want again to change the present restrictions.

HARRIS HAD RIGHT TO TAKE MONEY IS CLAIM

Defense Admits General Facts but Denies That Act Is Robbery

Strenuous efforts were made yesterday afternoon by the attorneys for Leslie Harris, on a charge in Judge Willis' court on trial of robbing the McFarland shirt company's store at 4542 Broadway, to introduce evidence to the effect that Harris was secretary and a director of the company at the time he took the money, and that consequently he was within his rights.

Deputy District Attorney Ford for several hours fought the introduction of the testimony, on the ground that even if he was a secretary or other officer of the company he had no right to take money from the safe. In the morning Don H. McFarland, the prosecuting witness, was on the stand and told of seeing Harris take the money. The police officers who arrested Harris after they were informed by McFarland that Harris had taken the money from the safe, testified as to how they followed the defendant upstairs in the O. T. Johnson building. They said they found Harris in a room, and when the place was searched they found he had placed the money in cuspidors in order to get rid of the "evidence."

The defense acknowledges this part of the story, and sticks to the theory that Harris, as an officer, had a right to take the money. They made efforts to show by the company's books that Harris was a stockholder, and when they endeavored to introduce the books to the court they could not be found. Judge Willis overruled a motion by the prosecution to prevent the introduction of the books. All the attorneys, the clerk, the bailiff and the defendant himself searched the court room. The books could not be found and it looked as though they had been spirited away. Deputy District Attorney Ford finally emerged from the judge's chambers with the books and a triumphant smile.

For the third time the damage suit of E. B. Osborne against the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway company is heard in the superior court of Los Angeles county, the plaintiff asking a sum aggregating $65,000 for injuries he alleges he sustained by being struck by one of the defendant's cars in January, 1909, at Sixteenth and New Hampshire streets.

Osborne secured judgments in both the former trials, but a new trial was granted. The plaintiff first secured a judgment for $1500 in department five. The case was retried in department seven and a judgment for $4200 was awarded. The case commenced on its third trial yesterday in Judge Bordwell's court.

The hearing of the application will take place next Monday morning.

News of the Courts ASKS MORE MONEY TO AUDIT COUNTY BOOKS

Grand Jury Petitions Court for Additional $2000 to Pay Experts' Fees

An affidavit asking for more than twice the amount appropriated for verifying the books of the various county offices was filed yesterday by the Los Angeles county grand jury with Judge Curtis D. Wilbur of the superior court. "Compting" was made of the grand jury, which has had to employ a much larger number of expert accountants to go over the books than formerly, in view of the big increase in county business.

According to the affidavit, at the time the present grand jury was impaneled the county books had not been audited by experts for over eighteen months, and the last time they were gone over by experts it had been found that $125 was sufficient for the expenses of the experting. In making the appropriation for the present examination of the books, therefore, the same amount was allowed for the work.

Several weeks ago, however, the grand jury found that the books had not been half audited before the amount allowed had gone in payments to expert accountants, who have been working for over a month on the books. It was found that more accountants would have to be employed in order to complete the work in a reasonable time, so a number have been hired at the rate of $4 a day, the chief of the accountants receiving $5 a day.

FALLING BRICK IS NOT IDENTIFIED; NON SUIT

Workman Asking Damages from S. P. Unable to Prove Case

J. W. Atherton lost in his suit for $25,000 damages against the Southern Pacific Railway company for personal injuries. Judge Bordwell's court yesterday morning, the latter instructing the jury to return a verdict for the defendant. The reason followed the defendant's motion for a non-suit by the attorneys for the defense.

Atherton had been struck on the head by a falling brick while working on a building being erected by the company in Los Angeles. He claimed his hearing and eyesight had been permanently injured, following concussion of the brain from the blow. The decision of the jury was of considerable interest in law circles in view of the fact that the plaintiff based his complaint on the ground that the defendants were required by law to provide a safe place for employees to work.

PLAINTIFF NON-SUITED; DEFENDANT ENJOINED

Judge Monroe yesterday enjoined Giuseppe Guagliardi from running a trench in such a manner that it would dump storm water against or upon the lot of Frank E. Stone on Tal street. Although the case, which was brought by Mr. Stone, was non-suited, the latter looks upon the action of the court as a victory for him.

Jesus Spazza, charged with grand larceny in stealing from the person of F. Hanlot a watch valued at $10, pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of larceny before Judge Davis yesterday and asked probation. This was refused, and he was sentenced to three months in the county jail. As he had served two months while awaiting trial his sentence approximates the maximum penalty for larceny.

JUDGE SETS GRANT TRIAL

A motion to quash the information and a demurrer to the complaint in the case of Murrer V.
