ALEXANDER ASKS BIG BOND VOTE

Mayor Declares That Harbor and Power Investments Will Bring Revenue to the City

An appeal to the voters to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for the harbor and power bonds was made by Mayor Alexander in an open letter yesterday.

As the executive head of the city of Los Angeles I deem it my duty to call your particular attention to the election to be held in this city on Tuesday, April 19, 1910, for the purpose of authorizing the issuing of $3,000,000 for harbor improvement and $2,500,000 for the purpose of building power plants along the Owens river aqueduct.

Both of these propositions are money earners and in no sense represent the incurring of a burdensome indebtedness; for eventually they will pay not only the expense of operating them together with the interest on the bonds, but will provide a sinking fund which will pay the principal without additional taxation, and will produce a revenue growth and prosperity, and in the future contribute to the expenses of maintenance and remove the excessive burden of taxation.

The aqueduct will develop a capacity of 120,000 electrical horse power. A mean capacity of 90,000-horse power can be developed daily. This means an enormous permanent asset and it is estimated that the profits from the power plants will more than pay for the entire aqueduct project.

At the present time the city is paying about $240,000 annually for electricity for municipal purposes. This can be eliminated by the construction of a power plant, and the location of manufacturing here will be greatly encouraged by the fact that the city will have electric power to sell at cheap rates.

HARBOR MEANS MILLIONS The improvement of the harbor means that we will have the advantage of cheap transportation for our manufactured products, that we can offer the public dockage, wharfage and warehouse facilities at the very lowest price, and the recovery of the tide lands in the harbor for the use and benefit of the people means millions in value and affords the most advantageous locations for factories.

Los Angeles entered into a contract with Wilmington and San Francisco agreed that, if they would consolidate and give the control of the harbor and its earnings to the consolidated city, the harbor would be improved by the great city so that the consolidated city would reap all of the advantages of the opening of the Panama canal.

History shows that the best investment of cities is the improvement of their harbors. Immediate growth and prosperity attend such development, and thereby is afforded access to the ocean, which is, in truth and in fact, the people's highway. This insures protection against railroad combinations.

The development of the power plants and the improvement of the harbor will, in my opinion, guarantee that Los Angeles will be a city of a million people within a very few years, and the territory contributory to our harbor will be developed proportionately.

I earnestly urge you to vote for the bonds before going to your places of business, and to see that your friends and neighbors do likewise. Do not rely on the other fellow to do it.

DIXON HINTS REPORTER ASSAULTED PRISONER

Police Captain Names Paul Braud in Connection with Attack on Negro

In a report which he has submitted to the police commission, Capt. C. E. Dixon has implicated Paul J. Braud, a police reporter on the Times, in an assault believed to have been committed on Charles Williams, a negro prisoner, on the night of December 15.

The matter of the assault is now under investigation by the grand jury, and the police commission has delayed action on the matter four weeks to give the grand jury time to report.

Williams shot Patrolman E. E. Sweeney December 15, and after he was arrested and taken to the police station, it is claimed the prisoner was brutally manhandled. Capt. Dixon believes the assault occurred in the police station, and while he does not name any officers who may have taken part in it, he states that Braud showed evidence of having been implicated in the matter, and that one of the reports heretofore attached was instructed by the police commission to do all he could to assist the grand jury in its investigation.

Williams was beaten so terribly that he will die, according to his attorney. When arraigned recently on a charge of shooting the policeman, it was developed that Williams has contracted tuberculosis as a result of his injuries.

In his report, Capt. Dixon says of the Charles Williams case: "From the meager information I have been able to glean, I am of the opinion that Williams was assaulted after he was taken to the jail, and one of the reports heretofore attached shows indications and statements to the effect that one Braud, reporter for the Times, assisted in the assault."

"It is my opinion that it would be a good case for the grand jury to investigate, because it is evident to my mind that there has been a concerted effort to cover up the matter, and as several of the participants or witnesses to the matter are not members of the police department a police commission investigation might not be sufficient."

Capt. Dixon bases his report on a written statement made by Officer C. J. Sweeney, detailed as wagonman. Sweeney's statement was: "One of the police reporters named Braud, for a week after the arrest, frequently complained of his hand hurting him, and several times made the remark that he 'certainly gave that nigger what was coming to him.'"

"He made this remark and showed his bruised hand to several officers in the hall of the station, but at this time I cannot recall who they were. But in view of this man's injuries, and the unpleasant notoriety it has brought on the police department, I think it should be investigated."

Braud last night declared he knew nothing about the assault on Williams.

MRS. JEANIE FRANKENFIELD IS VICTIM OF PARALYSIS Mrs. Jeanie Frankenfield, wife of Jacob Frankenfield, died early yesterday afternoon at the family home, 1007 South Hill street, after an illness extending over a year, caused by paralysis. Mr. Frankenfield is ill, having suffered a stroke of paralysis several years ago.

Mrs. Frankenfield leaves, in addition to her husband, two daughters and one son, Mrs. J. W. Edwards and Mrs. Fred A. Hines, and Budd Frankenfield, who resides at the family home. Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

AFFINITY CHARGE STARTLES COURT

Mrs. H. M. Daniels Takes Stand Against Dressmaker Who Is Seeking Divorce

TELLS OF AN INVADDED HOME

Mrs. G. O. Ringer Accused of Having Won Husband of Witness from His Family

When the trial of Mrs. Geno O. Ringer's suit for divorce was resumed in Judge House's court yesterday, Mrs. Henrietta M. Daniels caused a sensation by testifying that Mrs. Ringer, in the role of an "affinity," had invaded the Daniels' home. Mrs. Daniels also is seeking a divorce.

Mrs. Daniels, a refined and attractive woman, declared she had decided to testify to protect her home and her children. She alleged that her husband, J. H. Daniels, had told her that Mrs. Ringer, who is a dressmaker, was his "affinity," and that he loved her better than anybody in the world. Her husband has asked her to free him, declared Mrs. Daniels, but she had refused because of her children and her home. She alleged that Mrs. Ringer, if the latter were given a divorce, her testimony was ostensibly for the purpose of preventing this arrangement.

Mrs. Daniels filed suit for divorce some months ago on the grounds of cruelty, and the trial is set for May 12. On the stand yesterday she would not say whether she was going to continue to prosecute the case or not. She said her husband, who owns a grocery store in the city, went to live at the home of Mrs. Ringer. She alleged that he was seen with the woman frequently, and that he came to her and asked her to get a divorce from him so that he might be free. He told her that the woman's name was Mrs. Williams, she alleged, and acknowledged that he loved her desperately. Later, she said, he came to her and told her that he was a man and that he never went with or loved any other woman.

Mrs. Daniels said she found out the other woman in the case was Mrs. Ringer, and she told her that she was a woman's name was Mrs. Williams, she alleged, and acknowledged that he loved her desperately. Later, she said, he came to her and told her that he was a man and that he never went with or loved any other woman.

SPIRITED ELECTIONS IN SIXTH CLASS CITIES

Voters Support Candidates, and Close Contests Are Result

Southern California cities of the sixth class held local elections Monday. Unusual interest, because of increased warmth in many of the contests, marked most of the elections and resulted in more extensive voting than is customary.

The election in Huntington Park resulted in a victory for the Citizens' ticket, every candidate on the slate being elected over the ticket supported by the Good Government faction. W. H. Clark, present president of the trustees, will continue in that position for two years, his term by a previous election extending that length of time. The city officers for the coming year were filled as follows: Trustees, Dana Thomas, James Harrah, William Glass and E. F. Buhles; city clerk, E. R. Allen; city treasurer, W. C. Moss; marshal, W. H. Clark. The new officials will be sworn in tomorrow and take their offices next Monday.

Interest in the election was exceedingly keen. Of the 275 citizens eligible to vote, 268 cast their ballots. Seven of those absent were known to be out of town.

Officials elected in various cities are as follows: Arcadia—Trustees, Ben Newman for two years, M. Lawrence, A. D. Bowman and J. Compton for four years; marshal, Charles Smith; clerk, A. M. Stout; treasurer, R. D. Bowman.

Alhambra—Trustees, George W. Cameron, Hans Rief, R. R. Bohlow, clerk, A. A. Chapp; treasurer, James McLaren; marshal, B. F. Parker.

Anaheim—Trustees, C. O. Rust and Max Kristling elected and C. L. Becker and W. F. Quarton tied; clerk, E. D. Merritt; treasurer, Charles A. Boese; marshal, V. U. Simpson.

TOTS ADOPTED FROM HOME HOLD REUNION

A reception to children who have been placed by the Children's Home Society of California in the homes of foster parents was held in the Sunday school room of the First Methodist church, Sixth and Hill streets, yesterday afternoon in connection with the eighteenth annual meeting of the society. About one hundred happy little tots were present, expressing with laughter and childish shouts their delight in having found homes where they might receive the affection and care due them. Previous to the reception, which was so successful that the society has determined to make it an annual event, a business meeting and election of directors was held. The old board was re-elected with one exception—J. W. Webb of Modesto being appointed in the place of Rev. L. N. McCash. The other directors are Julius A. Brown, Dr. F. B. Kellogg, Col. J. W. Eddy, Z. L. Parmelee, James H. Woods, A. E. Merrill, Fairfax H. Whelan and J. M. Stewart. The directors re-elected the present officers: Julius A. Brown, president; Col. J. W. Eddy and Dr. F. B. Kellogg, vice presidents; T. M. Stewart, attorney; G. F. Whittey, secretary, and James H. Woods, treasurer. State Superintendent Herbert W. Lewis of San Francisco was present at the meeting. During the past year the society has taken charge of 29 children, placed 37 of them in approved homes, maintained supervision of all placed during previous years and secured the legal adoption of seventy-five. This was accomplished at an expense of $81 per child, or about one-half the expense of the maintenance of a child in an institution for one year. The general offices and receiving home of the society are at 214 Griffith avenue.

PRESBYTERIAN DELEGATES DEPART FOR SAN DIEGO

Members of Party to Attend Conference in South One hundred delegates from the Los Angeles Presbytery to San Diego left yesterday in time for the opening session, which occurred last evening. The Los Angeles delegation included the pastors of Los Angeles churches and lay delegates. The sessions will be held in the First Presbyterian church of San Diego, of which Rev. E. Hollenbeck, formerly of New York, has recently assumed the pastorate. At this session delegates will be elected to attend the general assembly of the denomination, to be held in Atlantic City, N. J., in May. Rev. W. A. Hunter, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Los Angeles, preached the opening sermon last night.

LIQUID AIR EXPERT TO SPEAK AT ASSOCIATION

Y. M. C. A. Entertainer Startles Porter with Demonstration

William Pattif, the man who entertained large audiences in Los Angeles seven years ago with his demonstrations of liquid air, appeared yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. building, at which place he will lecture on Thursday night, with two large and very cold bottles of frozen oxygen, and caused considerable amusement by his impromptu experiments.

Oscar, the negro porter, admitted that he was not fully informed as to the merits of air in that form, and obligingly held out his hand to see how it felt. A moment later he interrupted a furious massaging of the frosted member long enough to protest feebly, "Lawsee, man, Ah done need that hand."

Mr. Pattif has added experiments with wireless telegraphy and radium to his lecture, and promises a most interesting and convincing demonstration of the future possibilities of both subjects.

"Despite the fact that the high cost of production," said Mr. Pattif, "has prevented the practical application of liquid air to many commercial uses, its field is constantly growing, and the big steel companies use large quantities of it for cutting, with a blow pipe, armor plate and other forms of steel which defy ordinary tools."

INSTALL NEW HYDRANT The building of new streets, with parkings on each side, in the Hollywood section has made such increased demands upon the water supply, owing to the amount of sprinkling and irrigation, that the Union Hollywood Water company has found it necessary to install a new 200-horsepower boiler in its Sherman pumping plant. This also will insure constant adequate high pressures in the fire hydrants which the Los Angeles fire commission is having installed in the newly annexed district.
