Lodging House Keepers Fall Into Line and Beg Enumerators' Recognition

Public enthusiasm for a record breaking census has been greatly stimulated by the appeals of the census officials and the chamber of commerce to the civic pride and patriotism of Los Angeles...

For some unexplained reason, said H. C. Lichtenberger, supervisor's assistant, last night, "the lodging house keepers of Los Angeles have experienced a surprising change of heart. The telephone has been kept hot today by requests from lodging house proprietors who desired to have enumerators sent to their places, or to give information about persons who had been overlooked. Some of these were in the congested district where the work had not yet reached them, but a large part of the calls were from persons who had heretofore given us trouble either by refusing to fill out the blanks left with them for their guests, or by trying to prevent the enumerators from seeing all their roomers."

PHONES JINGLE "We have also been besieged with telephone calls from the people of Hollywood today. As it seemed to us the greater part of the population called up and expressed their fear that the census takers had overlooked them. As I explained to those who called up, Hollywood is divided into only two precincts, and spread out as the residences are, it requires considerable time for the enumerators to cover the ground. But we have been allowed two extra days for the completion of the count in Hollywood, and residents need not be alarmed if they are not visited by the enumerator even as late as Monday or Tuesday."

Seventy-five precincts in Los Angeles are completely finished now and the enumerators are being doubled up in the larger precincts. Mr. Farmer expects to put a large number at work in the downtown office buildings, factories and other places on Friday or Saturday to gather any names which have been overlooked in the residence districts.

CHILDREN BIG HELP Probably the most effective outside aid the enumerators have received is from school children, who are enthusiastically canvassing every district of the city to see that no one has been overlooked. The teachers in the public schools have given the pupils talks on the subject, explaining the importance of securing a full count for the city, and they have responded with a will.

Mr. Farmer is especially anxious to receive information regarding residents of Los Angeles who are temporarily out of the city, and again requests all persons having acquaintances who are away on business or pleasure to send in the names and addresses to his office in the Exchange building, or to give him the information by telephone. The numbers are Sunset, Main 1822; Home, F4732.

Wolter, convicted of the murder of Ruth Wheeler, 15 years old, was sentenced today by Judge Foster, in general sessions court, to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison some time during the week beginning June 6. PAULHAN'S FLIGHT AMAZES ENGLAND

Thousands See French Aviator Defeat Graham White in Sensational Race

WINS BEFORE FIRST DESCENT

Gains Big Lead by Staying in the Air Until Benumbed by Cold Winds

biles and other vehicles brought hundreds of persons to the outskirts of Litchfield. Half frozen and almost exhausted by his effort, Paulhan safely descended in a field close to the Trent railway station, amid frantic cheers of 8000 persons.

Speaking of his flight Paulhan said: "I came down because it was too cold to trust myself longer in the machine. It seemed too dangerous. My hands were numb, the wind was very gusty, and I was hardly able to descend without an accident. It is strange that I should alight at almost the same place that White descended on his first trip. I did not know this was Litchfield, though I had a hazy idea."

Paulhan went to a hotel and immediately retired, not wishing to be called at 2:30 a. m. and ordering breakfast for 3 o'clock.

WHITE REACHES NORTHAMPTON Almost at the same hour White came within sight of Northampton, where he sought vainly for a landing place. He was unable to find, and he turned back, making a descent in a grass field where a crowd soon assembled. White said: "I am sorry to continue the flight in safety. I suffered from the intense cold, and was not quite sure of my location."

When told of Paulhan's flight, he exclaimed: "Good! He was plucky to get so far. I know what a strain it is." White's mother, who writes to us, neither of them seemed much concerned at the possibility of the French aviator's reaching Manchester first.

Paulhan has made 117 miles to his credit in the 186 mile contest, while White had only fifty. Each traveled at a rate of thirty-five to forty miles an hour.

The race caused tremendous excitement in London. Bulletins of its progress were posted in public places and announced in the music halls, and evening papers containing an account of the start were eagerly snapped up. Everywhere hope was expressed that the Englishman would win.

Little else was talked of last night, though the international character of the race added greatly to the interest.

WHITE STARTS AGAIN White started from Northampton at 2:30 o'clock a. m. and passed Rugby at 3:30 o'clock. His machine was in perfect order and he had given orders that everything should be in readiness at midnight.

After inquiring anxiously what time dawn would break he said: "I must steel a march on Paulhan at all hazards. I don't mind starting in the darkness if I have light to descend by."

Paulhan reascended at 4:08 o'clock a. m. and passed Stafford at 5:40 o'clock a. m., about forty-five miles from Manchester.

Paulhan's magnificent flight of 117 miles without descent in two hours and fifty minutes compares favorably with his flight on April 18 from Orleans to Arcis Sur Aube, 118 miles in three hours and 20 minutes.

The following table shows the progress of the race: Start, 5:20 p. m.; Bletchley, 47 miles, 6:27 p. m.; Reade, 58 1/2 miles, 6:40 p. m.; Rugby, 83 miles, 7:21 p. m.; Litchfield, descent, 8:10 p. m.

White—Start, 6:30 p. m.; Tring, 32 miles, 8:15 p. m.; Bletchley, 47 miles, 7:15 p. m.; Wolverton, 53 miles, 7:50 p. m.; Reade, descent, 7:55 p. m.

ONE DEAD, 2 BURNED IN SAN DIEGO HOTEL FIRE

American House Ablaze, and Fifteen Persons Escape in Night Clothes.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 27.—One man was burned to death and two others and a girl badly burned when the American house, at Columbia and G streets, was destroyed by fire at 2:30 o'clock this morning.

The fire, according to Marco Bonis, lessee of the house, started in a vacant room and was incendiary.

The dead man is Frank Green, a laborer, aged 55 years. Jos. Arco and Marco Bonis were badly burned and Miss Bletchley Bonis slightly burned in making their escape from the blazing structure.

The American house, which was erected thirty years ago, was of wood and burned like paper. The fire was discovered by two lodgers. There were fifteen persons in the building and they had barely time to flee to the street without their clothes before the entire structure was a mass of flame.

It was not until an hour or two after the fire was under control that Green was missed. His body was found in the charred ruins this morning.

J. ROSS CLARK TELLS SUGAR PROBERS LITTLE

Grand Jurors Question Spreckels and Matson About Prices

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—A. B. Spreckels, treasurer of the Western Sugar Refining company, was examined before the federal grand jury today in its inquiry into the operations of sugar companies in California.

An attempt was made to secure admissions from Spreckels that his company arranged its shipments and deliveries so that the prices of their product would be equal at different points.

Ross Clark, vice president of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroad, and W. J. Matson, also were called as witnesses. Clark is president of the Los Angeles Beet Sugar company; Matson is a large stockholder in the Honolulu Plantation at Aloa, on the island of Oahu. No important testimony was secured.

'LOCK ME UP OR I WILL KILL MYSELF' SAYS MAN

Frederick Hobbs, Auto Salesman, Appeals to Police to Save His Life

"If you don't lock me up and care for me, I will end my life before morning." The speaker was Frederick Hobbs, 712 California street, who said he was floor manager of an automobile company, and although he displayed no signs of nervous agitation he admitted to the police surgeons in the receiving hospital that drink was the cause of his predicament, accentuated by the fact his wife was in a serious condition in the California hospital.

"I have been unable to sleep for many nights, and have been on the verge of suicide several times. Just put me to bed and quiet my nerves."

At first the police surgeons doubted the story of Hobbs, as he appeared perfectly sober, after being given the new regulation receiving hospital test for drunkenness.
