Buckingham Palace, Where King Edward Died, and in Which Body Lies in State

ROYAL PALACE BESIEGED FOR NEWS FROM KING

Gloom Settles Over Throng as the Chill of Ruler's Death Foreruns End

KING'S HORSE WINS RACE AS HIS MASTER IS DYING

LONDON, May 6.—An incident occurred this afternoon which, under ordinary circumstances, would have given King Edward the greatest elation. His horse, "Witch of the Air," in which he was keenly interested, won the spring 2-year-old stakes at Kempton park, amid the cheers of the racegoers.

The Official Gazette tonight, by a coincidence, published the first program of the court levees.

PRINCESS OF WALES, WHO BECOMES QUEEN OF GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, May 6.—From early in the morning through a day of brilliant sunshine, followed by a stormy evening with frequent heavy showers, a vast crowd filled the open space in front of Buckingham palace, awaiting news of the king's condition. Even after evening passed into night, groups stood about the gates and hung to the iron railings of the gold-tipped fence watching the coming and going of members of the royal family, of physicians, officials and other notables, until the police, shortly before midnight, to clear the streets, announced no further bulletins would be issued until morning.

Then the stragglers reluctantly left their posts of vantage and sadly started homeward, filled with apprehension. Some had spent hours at the fence, having provided themselves with sandwiches, making it unnecessary for them to leave even for their meals.

At the same time a steady stream of callers passed through the diplomatic entrance to sign the visitors' book, and make inquiries.

During the afternoon the stream grew to such proportions that more than one ambassador had to wait over an hour and a half before he could reach the desk.

These visitors received no more information than the waiting crowds outside, being simply shown the bulletins posted for the public.

The more intimate friends were received at the entrance to the wing of the palace in which the king's apartments are located, where officials of the household gave them the latest news from the sick room.

The crowd outside was an ever-increasing one, the early arrivals consisting of artisans, who stopped for a brief moment on their way to work to question the waiting reporters and police.

Later in the morning women of all classes commenced to flock through Green and St. James parks toward the palace. A few carriages and automobiles drove up with diplomats and other callers, who were soon followed by the official and social world of London, until the waiting row of vehicles stretched several blocks along the street.

When the morning bulletin, which had been given to the press and circulated in special editions long before was posted on the fence, the square was so crowded that police reserves were called to make a passage for traffic.

There had been a feeling that the reports in the morning papers were exaggerated. The bulletin, however, showed the king's condition was most grave, and the solemn faced crowd spread the news throughout the city.

The weather continued fine in the afternoon and brought out more people, who waited six hours for another bulletin. This served to increase, rather than allay the fears that rumors that the king was dead or dying were only too true.

The announcement in the papers that a bulletin would be issued at 6:30 attracted an ever increasing throng. The dinner hour caused only a slight thinning out, while later practically everybody who was within reach of the palace congregated in the square.

Many women in evening dress with their escorts left dinner tables hurriedly to come to the palace gates.

The showers, accompanied by a sharp wind, drove only a few away, and it looked as though the palace square would be filled the night long until the police moved off those who had gathered, with the news that no further bulletins would be forthcoming. Only groups of reporters remained.

BRANDEIS INTIMATES PRES. TAFT DIDN'T WEIGH FACTS

Springs a Sensation at Ballinger-Pinchot Investigation

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Keeping Secretary Ballinger on the "grill" in the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry all day, Attorney Brandeis, counsel for L. R. Glavis, sprang a mild sensation today by strongly intimating the exoneration of Ballinger and the dismissal of Glavis by the president was not the result of a judicial weighing of facts by President Taft in person, as has been generally supposed.

He indicated by his questions to Mr. Ballinger his contention that it would have been a physical impossibility for the president to have digested the great mass of matter bearing on the Alaskan coal cases—more than 800 pages in the record—in the week elapsing between the time he received it at Beverly September 6, and the making public of his letter of exoneration September 15.

CORPSES SHOW DEATH QUICK IN MINE TRAP

Eight Bodies Recovered from Palos Explosion Which Sent Over 100 to Doom

PALOS, Ala., May 6.—Eight bodies were removed shortly after daylight today from mine No. 3 of the Palos Coal & Coke company, where between 100 and 150 miners were entombed by an explosion yesterday afternoon. The condition of the bodies indicated that death was instantaneous.

After the removal of the bodies it was found necessary to send a force of miners into the workings to strengthen the brattices and to prevent caves which were frequent during the night. Meanwhile the dead had been removed to a temporary morgue near the working and were slowly identified.

Several of the bodies were badly lacerated and all were burned about the head. Among those identified was C. B. Stansberry, assistant mine foreman.

Among the dead in the mine is said to be H. A. McArdle, whose brother is president of the Amalgamated association of tin and steel workers in Pennsylvania.

When the bodies were brought to the surface women and children fought with the guards about the entrance for a view of the victims. Ropes were stretched about the opening to enable the work of rescue to proceed unhindered.

KING GEORGE V LOVES LIFE ON BOUNDING SEA

Many Years of Young Monarch's Life Devoted to Studies on War Vessels

LONDON, May 6.—George Frederick Ernest Albert, Prince of Wales, who now becomes king, is the second son of King Edward and Queen Alexandra. He was born at Marlborough house June 3, 1865, seventeen months after the birth of his older brother, the late Duke of Clarence.

He and his brother entered the navy together as cadets and he spent two years on the Britannia. He then started on a three-year voyage around the world on the Bacchante. In 1892, when his brother died, he became heir apparent and took his seat in the house of lords as Duke of York.

In May, 1893, his engagement was announced to Princess Victoria May of Teck, and they were married July 16, 1893. Six children were born to them, Edward Albert, Albert Frederick, Victoria Alexandra, Henry William, George Edward and John Charles.

The prince became Duke of Cornwall when his father took the throne and soon after he started on a tour of the colonies. He opened the first parliament of the commonwealth of Australia. In celebration of his safe return he was entertained by the London corporation at Guild hall on December 5, 1901, on which occasion he delivered his well remembered advice to England to "wake up."

In the fall of 1905 he went to India, and when he returned there was another celebration. On this occasion he said that "the task of governing India will be made the easier if we, on our part, infuse into it a wider element of sympathy."

In 1908 he visited Canada to attend the celebration at Quebec and on that occasion met Vice President Fairbanks.

FARMERS TO JOIN LABOR UNIONS FOR PROTECTION

ST. LOUIS, May 6.—Organized labor and organized farmers will work together hereafter in preserving the rights and liberties of both under the provisions of a resolution unanimously adopted by the executive committee of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative union here yesterday.

The affiliation between the American Federation of Labor and the Farmers' union has been a favorite project of Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, and the adoption of the resolution followed a four days' conference between Gompers and other labor leaders and the farmers' committee.

Officials of the Farmers' union declare the affiliation has no political significance. The Farmers' union claims a membership of 3,000,000.

RARE HONOR PAID T. R. BY ROYAL UNIVERSITY

King Frederick Institution Confers Doctor of Philosophy

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, May 6.—King Frederick's university conferred on Theodore Roosevelt today the degree of doctor of philosophy. It was the third time in a century that the degree had been given a foreigner.

King Hankson was present. The dean of the faculty of history and philosophy made an address, likening Col. Roosevelt to a rushing human engine, difficult to follow and making it difficult, amid clouds of smoke, to discern precisely the manner of man he was. Some saw a winged angel and others a modern devil with claws up.

LLAMAS KILL THOUSAND CHINESE IN AN UPRISING

PEKING, May 7.—A report was received here today that 1000 Chinese soldiers, members of the garrison at Lhasa, have been killed as the result of a sudden uprising of the Llamas. The report is not fully confirmed.

You can buy it, perhaps at many places, but there's one BEST place to buy it—and that place is advertised.
