MAKES JELLY FROM PLANTS OF DESERT
Mrs. L. H. Yetter Turns Cactus Pears and Cactus Tongue Into Sweets for the Table

STUDYING THE SPINELESS
Requires No Cultivation, and Sunshine of Sand Waste Cares for Its Growth

DOUGLAS, Ariz., June 3.—The Arizona cactus seems to be coming into its own. It has been the hoax of everybody and everything for half a century. The only thing that has a stomach and that has appreciated its qualities in the past was the burro, though during times of extremely poor pasture the steer on the range has not disdained to risk his nose in devouring it. The announcement is now made that the forest service has decided to undertake in a limited scope the cultivation of spineless cactus in Arizona. Roscoe Wilson, supervisor of the Tonto forest in this territory, has ordered a consignment of the Burbank cacti, which will be set out in the reserve. Owing to the fact that the cactus on the reserve ranges would devour the tender cacti ad libitum, as would also the jack rabbits and gophers, the plants will be set inside a rabbit-proof wire fence. The only value that could be derived from the spineless cactus would be such as could be reaped through the required cultivation, they would not be profitable, and to make the test, after the plants are once set out they will be left to the care of mother earth and the Arizona sunshine.

It is only an incident in the history of the much despised cactus that while man has been exploiting its nutrition for the good of the range stock, woman has gone a step in advance, and is now conducting experiments with the cactus fruit with a view to tempting man himself to include in his dinner the product of the desert. The woman is Mrs. L. H. Yetter of Phoenix. Mrs. Yetter took the hint which formed the basis of her new field of operations in the cactus field from a piece of candy. "If the cactus will make taffy, why will it not make jelly?" was her inward query. She began to stew a delicacy that would look good on the store shelf, and please the master of the household as a pink, quivering pyramid. The results are that cactus pears, luscious to the eye and sweet to the tooth, slabs of pickled cactus tongue, cactus marmalade and cactus jelly threaten to take some of the conceit out of the ruby current and the orange rind. Now that Wizard Burbank has taken the tickles out of the cactus, they may be handled without gloves. Specimens of the fruit she has forwarded to different laboratories in the hope of acquiring more definite knowledge concerning the chemical properties of the plant and its fruit.

PAUL REVERE'S GREAT GRANDSON IS DEAD

NEW YORK, June 3.—Augustus L. Revere, great-grandson of Paul Revere, and said to have been the last direct descendant of that Revolutionary hero, died yesterday at his home in Morristown, N. J., of tuberculosis. Mr. Revere, 52 years old, was a son of General Joseph Revere. He was the Morristown manager of Taylor, Auchincloss & Joost, stock brokers of New York. He was an alderman and member of several clubs.

WOMAN LEAPS INTO SEINE TO ESCAPE HER HUSBAND

PARIS, June 3.—A tragedy of real life occurred here the other night. M. Lafargue, a clerk in a good position, was married two years ago, and six months ago his wife left him. He met her in the Boulevard Sebastopol. She shrieked, and, running down the street toward the Seine with her husband in pursuit, threw herself over the parapet and into the black water beneath. Lafargue dived after her, but was too late. He was very nearly drowned. His wife's body was not recovered.

LEPERS DIE FROM DRINK

CAPE TOWN, June 3.—An extraordinary riot has taken place at the Robben Island Leper station, off the Cape of Good Hope. The lepers found washed up on the beach a sixty-four-gallon keg of rum, which they broached and consumed, afterward running amuck. The full strength of the police, convict guards and officials endeavored to quell the outbreak, but they had serious difficulty in doing so, as they are not allowed by the regulations to use force. Six lepers have died from the effects of the orgy.

NEBRASKANS WILL PICNIC

The Nebraska society of Southern California will hold a basket picnic at Redondo Beach today, and it is expected that fully one-half the 3500 local members of that organization will attend. An interesting program, including addresses by Judge W. H. Morris, president of the society; Judge Richardson of Omaha and S. M. Smyser will be given, and a bountiful basket luncheon enjoyed.

MAINE SOCIETIES WILL FROLIC

The Pine Tree State association of Los Angeles and the State of Maine association of Pasadena will unite in a basket picnic at Long Beach today. Special cars over the Pacific Electric will carry the former residents of Maine now living in Southern California to the beach, cars leaving Pasadena at 8 o'clock and Los Angeles one hour later.

GUMNOCK GRADUATES PLAY 'MICE AND MEN'

1500 See Commendable Presentation of English Comedy. Commencement June 15

The graduating class of the Cumnock School of Expression presented the annual class play of the school last evening in Cumnock hall, 1500 South Figueroa street, before an audience which taxed the hall to its utmost. The offering was "Mice and Men," an English comedy, and the seniors' presentation of it was good.

The play was staged under the direction of Miss Jane Burt, dramatic instructor of the Cumnock school. Although more than half the characters in the piece are males, the whole cast was composed of young women.

Comencement will be held at the school June 15. The program will include "Enoch Arden," by Mrs. Merrill Moore Grigg, assisted by Miss Fannie C. Dillon, who will play Strauss' musical setting. Diphomas will be awarded to Esther J. Cummings, Hazel Dell, Mabel Pearce Fishburn, Alda Kemp Green, Marie Skinner Hickox, Georgia Morton, Annie Clark Poyas, Grace Anna Straesser and Marian K. Strathearn of the school of expression; Erma May Lane of the department of physical education, and Mona de Leuz Botesford, Frances Mackey, Lella Eleanor Roessler, Gladys Arries Wilhelm and Helen Hunt Williams of the Cumnock academy.

This afternoon Mrs. Merrill Moore Grigg will entertain the children of the Cumnock alumnae with a garden party at the school, and on the following Friday the academic department will offer its annual class play, "A Russian Honeycomb."

Monday, June 13, the class of 1910 will hold its annual graduates' recital, and on June 16 the graduates will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Grigg at a reception at the school. The final event of the school's commencement affairs will be the annual banquet of the school of the alumnae association of the school of expression, on June 18, in Cumnock hall. On this occasion Miss Helen Tappe and her orchestra will render a selected program.

INCUBATOR MAKER MAY MOVE HIS PLANT HERE

George H. Lee, an extensive manufacturer of incubators, is in Los Angeles, a guest at the Angelus hotel, looking over local territory with a view of establishing an incubator factory here. Mr. Lee at present has a large factory for manufacturing incubators in Omaha, but he has recently come to the conclusion that he can make them much cheaper on the Pacific coast and ship them east than he can make them in the east. For this reason he is investigating and may build a factory here at once.

Mr. Lee is also looking into the available supply of redwood timber here, as the commodity is both a quite necessity in the manufacturing of incubators. The wood from this section is the most desirable and it has proved a great factor in leading Mr. Lee to locate here.

U. OF C. PREP HOLDS CLASS DAY EXERCISES

Hall Jammed as Graduates Display Their Talents

The class day exercises of the senior class of the preparatory school of the University of Southern California, an event of the university class day exercises of 1910, were held last night in the college chapel. The large auditorium was crowded to overflowing.

An excellent program was presented by members of the class. Mr. Long played a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Frodinger, which was well received. The class will, in which several yards long, in which random shots were taken at the faculty and students, was read by Claude Peck. The class prophecy, prepared by E. Long, W. Ward, J. Holloway and C. Henderson, and presented by Holloway and Long, was clever both in the future and in the past.

CITY PUTS $500 ON HEAD OF MURDERER OF BROOKS

The finance committee yesterday appropriated $500 to the police fund to be paid as a reward to anyone who captures the highwayman who murdered Patrolman David Brooks. This action was taken at the suggestion of the police commission.

There was not much hesitancy on the part of the committee in setting aside this money, although the city is in need of funds, for the committee does not believe the reward will ever be claimed. It has now been about two months since the murder occurred and the murderer has had plenty of time to get out of the way.

YOUTHFUL SPEAKER ON PRISON REFORM VICTOR

Murray Morgan of the Hollywood High School Wins Debate from Occidental Representative

J. Murray Morgan, representing the Hollywood high school, won first place in the oratorical contest held last evening in the assembly hall of the Los Angeles high school, under the auspices of the Southern California Debating and Oratorical association. Robert Anderson of the Occidental preparatory school was awarded second prize.

The winner's theme was "The Denial of Justice." Under this heading he told his listeners statistics show that 65 per cent of the prisoners in the jails of the United States are boys. In closing he spoke of the needed prison reforms, which when placed in vogue will tend to place these boy prisoners back in the straight and narrow path from which they stray.

Robert Anderson of Occidental preparatory spoke on "The Cry of the Vanquished." He told of the injustice the Indians have suffered at the hands of the white men, and stated that they are receiving the worst treatment at the present time ever accorded them, through deaf ears being turned on their appeals for funds to irrigate the scorched lands that the government presented to them in exchange for the fertile valleys which the ever onward march of civilization took from them.

ANTI-SALOON MOVEMENT IS WIDELY ADVERTISED

Wide publicity of the Anti-Saloon league movement in California is being given in the east, according to the report of Dr. E. S. Chapman, president of the league, who has returned to Los Angeles after an extended trip to the large eastern cities in the interest of the anti-saloon work.

Dr. Chapman attended several anti-saloon meetings in Detroit, Minneapolis and other large cities with encouraging results.

CONTRACTS AWARDED FOR THE HISTORICAL BUILDING

J. F. Atkinson Bids $219,777 for General Construction

Contracts were awarded yesterday for much of the construction work of the county historical and arts building, which will be erected in Agricultural park. The board of supervisors met with the board of governors of the building.

J. F. Atkinson was awarded the contract for general construction, his bid being $219,777. Eugene Murray's bid of $308,238 for the plumbing and gasfitting was accepted and the Richards-Neustadt company was awarded the electric contract on its bid of $32,900.

Eight bids were submitted to the board on the general construction work, but two were thrown out owing to their not conforming to the specifications.

ORATORS COMPETE IN ST. VINCENT'S COLLEGE

Henry Dockweiler, son of I. B. Dockweiler, won first place in the Father Meyer gold medal oratorical contest last night at the Father Meyer hall of St. Vincent's college. The medal was the highest award for the senior students. His selection was the chariot race from "Ben Hur." Fred Swenson won second place with the grave diggers' scene from "Hamlet" and Percy O'Connor was given third honorable mention with "Sparticus to the Gladiators."

The judges were Judge Victor F. Shaw, Senator H. S. G. McCartney, Dr. E. A. Bryant, Guy B. Barham and H. S. Stewart.

DESPOUDENT FAWN IN N. Y. ZOO IS A SUICIDE

Thinking Mother Was Being Killed Would Die, Too

NEW YORK, June 3.—Evidently actuated by the belief that Zoo employees were planning to harm her mother, Violet, one of the youngest fallow deer at the Bronx Zoological park, leaped from a high ledge yesterday afternoon straight at a picket fence. Barney McEnroe and other Zoo employees rushed to her rescue and promptly took her from the fence, but Violet gasped her last a few minutes after she had committed the rash act. Though she left no note behind explaining her conduct, McEnroe and the other witnesses of Violet's end are convinced that it was a clear case of suicide.

It all came about because Violet's mother had been suffering for some time from corns. Dr. W. Reid Blair, official Zoo physician, decided yesterday to "manicure" the deer's hoofs. When he entered the deer enclosure and sought to catch Violet's mother she didn't like his face. So he called they chased the deer about with loud cries. At this point it was that Violet, who had been deeply solicitous all the while for her mother, decided that her parent was about to be murdered and that life held nothing for herself. With a despairing bleat Violet rushed to the brink of the ledge fence, bounded into space. She was only 2 months old, poor deer, and a general favorite.

NEW SHOPPING IDEA

"I can stand for some things, but not everything," said the clerk as he watched a stylishly dressed woman leave the store.

"What is the matter?" asked the proprietor, who had walked up unobserved. "That woman who just left hurried up to the counter and asked to see men's shirts. I spent 20 minutes showing her every style and color we carry. After inspecting the entire stock she rose and thanked me sweetly, adding: 'I didn't wish to purchase any. You see I am making my husband some summer shirts and I wanted to be sure I was doing them right. My husband is very particular about the finish of his shirts! And they say married women are so considerate!'"

The boss smiled and walked away.
