

FOOTBALL RUINS BEST YOUTH, STATES JORDAN

Stanford President Says Future Will Condemn Educators for Not Ending Game

COMPARES IT TO PUGILISM

National Educational Association Hears Address by Commissioner of Education Brown

(Associated Press) BOSTON, July 5.—Denouncing college football as a combination of brutality and pugilism that appealed to the love of the sordid, David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University, led in the discussion that followed a report made today by the committee on moral education in public schools to the national council of education of the National Educational Association in convention here. He added:

"Some day the college presidents and school heads of the country will perhaps be called cowardly and brutal because they did not put a stop to the dangers of football, a sport that destroys the best there is in many a youth."

The game, he continued, aroused the same love of the sordid that focused the interest of the country in a "ring away out in Nevada where a black man and a white man were pounding each other yesterday."

NO INTELLIGENCE REQUIRED

"No intelligence is required in the game of football," he asserted. Blacksmiths and boiler-makers can play the game as well as men of the finer intellects; in fact, they are considered the best raw material for the game."

President Jordan favored the substitution of the English game. In most of the eighteen departmental meetings of the convention today there was at least one advocate of the introduction of the industrial training and agriculture in the secondary schools.

At the second meeting of the general sessions of the association tonight President James Y. Joiner delivered his annual address.

EXTRAORDINARY LEGACY

"It was an extraordinary legacy that was left to the bureau of education by Commissioner William Terry Harris," declared Dr. Brown. "The present administration of that office has no finer nor higher responsibility than that of maintaining at its best the spirit and the tradition which constitute that legacy."

Dr. Brown referred to the institution of a new division for the promotion of methods of school administration and the use of specialists for improving the work of the land-grant colleges as additions that had been made to the activities of the service under him. He pictured the educational work being carried on in Alaska as the most extensive experiment of that kind in the world.

Such a practice school presents the white man's burden in its most concrete form, with all of the difficulties and all of the inspiring opportunities presented by this world education movement of the time."

"There in Alaska the school physician and the school nurse are now going up and down, helping the people in their sickness and teaching them how to live clean and wholesome lives. The girls are learning to cook and to sew and to make good homes."

LEARN TO EARN MONEY

"The boys are learning to earn an honest livelihood under their new conditions by new industrial pursuits, by the raising of reindeer, by improved fishing, gardening and the use of common tools. They are learning something of the white man's wisdom and the white man's better aims of life, which shall help them in their new relations with the white man as their neighbor and fellow laborer."

To extend the influence of the bureau and to strengthen it, Dr. Brown said close co-operation had been arranged with the library of congress and with the bureau of the census. The latter bureau, he said, is endeavoring to obtain more clearly uniform and comparable statistics concerning state and city systems of education.

"We have now more reason than ever before to hope that the reproach which has lain against our school reports, that they do not tell an intelligible tale, is soon to be a thing of the past," declared Dr. Brown.

CONDITIONS NECESSARY

"The improvement of school attendance must go hand in hand with the abatement of child labor and numerous other undertakings for the general welfare of childhood. It is the business of a central office to call repeated attention to three relationships, and to help those who are at work in neighboring fields to work together for their common ends."

"We need to press home such information as will lead to the improvement of school buildings. In a country which is spending $73,000,000 a year for the construction, equipment and repair of its buildings for school purposes, such information as would lead to the saving of only one per cent on this expenditure would cause an aggregate annual saving of $730,000 and the saving of the health of pupils which can be accomplished through more hygienic construction is an incomparably greater concern."

"In a thousand ways the improvement of health through education is now under way. An agency which, through the gentle force of clear information can bring these ways into union and prevent the waste of misdirected efforts will prove itself a national benefit."

QUESTIONS RAISED

"Industrial education, in its three main forms of trade schools, schools of housekeeping and schools for rural life, is every day raising more questions than anyone yet can answer. It is the business of such an office as the bureau of education to overlook this

PRINCE MARRIES DOROTHY DEACON DESPITE PROTEST

Mother of Austrian Nobleman Opposed to the Union

LONDON, July 5.—Miss Dorothy Deacon, daughter of the late Edward Deacon, and Prince Atterton Albert Radziwill were married today in St. Mary's church, Cadogan square. The ceremony was quiet, without bridesmaids, and only a few relatives and friends attending. Lord Grey de Ruthven gave away the bride.

Prince Radziwill married against the determined opposition of his mother, who is supposed to be in Austria to attend the wedding of a younger son. This London ceremony was postponed a few days ago because necessary documents wanted by English law had not arrived, and it was then reported in society that the objections of the prince's mother had prevailed.

BALLINGER WITH PRESIDENT, TALKS ON RECLAMATION

Reorganization of Service Discussed with Taft on Visit to Beverly

SECRETARY WILL NOT RESIGN TO TRY TO FINANCE PROBLEM

Tells About the $1,000,000 Provided to Protect the Imperial Valley

(Associated Press) BEVERLY, July 5.—The reorganization of the reclamation service was discussed today at a three-hours conference between President Taft and Secretary Ballinger. Although no official information could be obtained, it was reported that the future plans for reclamation do not include retention of Frederick K. Newell as the director of that service. Mr. Ballinger would not discuss this phase in any way. It is known, however, that the secretary has long regarded Mr. Newell as a hindrance to his plans for the reclamation service. Mr. Newell has openly opposed Mr. Ballinger, and Mr. Ballinger in turn has publicly stated that he did not regard Mr. Newell as the man for the place. Just when and how Mr. Newell is going could not be learned.

Secretary Ballinger left for Washington tonight. He will remain there a few days and then start on a long trip through the west, during which he will visit a number of Indian reserves and probably look over some of the reclamation projects now under way. His trip, including a brief rest at his home in Seattle, will occupy from six weeks to two months.

RESIGNATION RUMORS

When Secretary Ballinger alighted from the train here this morning he was greeted by the usual crop of resignation rumors. "I am not a quitter," he said, "and never have been. I did not bring a resignation with me and will not leave on my own account."

After he had lunched and conferred with the president Mr. Ballinger was told of a later rumor that he would resign after the special congressional investigating committee had made its report. The only suggestion of resignation that came in reply was the secretary's smile.

"I am in this fight and I am going to see it through," he said. The recent withdrawal of water power sites, phosphate and petroleum lands for reclamation, covering more than 37,000 acres in various states and the two territories, were discussed with the president by Secretary Ballinger.

CONSERVATION POLICY

"Dealing with these lands," said the secretary, "we will continue the conservation policy in every detail. At the same time the president proposes that an opportunity for development shall be given. The first work before us is the proper classification of the lands. This will have to be done by the geological survey, and the undertaking is a big one. Once the classification is completed we will be confronted with the problem of getting special legislation through congress for the disposition of the lands on a fair basis. This legislation will require a lot of thought and study."

Secretary Ballinger said tonight that he had prepared the instructions for the board of engineers appointed by the president to pass on the irrigation projects that are to be completed under the $20,000,000 issue of certificates of indebtedness.

WILL NOT WAIT

It will not be necessary for him to wait in Washington for the five engineer officers to assemble. An effort will be made to have Secretary Ballinger and the board of engineers go over the work with the engineers.

Mr. Ballinger made it plain that while the army engineers will have the actual work of construction will be done by the field force of the reclamation service under the supervision of the civil engineers. General William T. Marshall, the engineer officer appointed last week as consulting engineer to the reclamation service, will of course be an important factor in the work.

IMPERIAL VALLEY

As to the expenditure of the $1,000,000 fund placed at the disposal of the president to protect the Imperial valley in Southern California from the Colorado river, Secretary Ballinger said that all immediate danger seemed to have passed and engineers would be sent to report on the situation before any work was ordered. An effort will be made to provide permanent protection of the banks of the Colorado and the Laguna dam.

In addition to Secretary Ballinger the president has called this afternoon Paymaster General Whipple of the Navy, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Beekman Winthrop and Representative John Dwight of New York, the vice president of the National bank, J. E. Fishburn, president National Bank of California; Henry T. Lee of the water commission; W. B. Mathews of the aqueduct board, and J. O. Koepfli.

SEAMAN AND MINER SAYS HE FOUND COOK'S RECORD

Says He Found Proof of Climb on Mt. McKinley

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 5.—P. J. Carrigan, an able-bodied seaman and placer miner, who arrived in Colorado Springs a few days ago, made the assertion today that he had climbed Mt. McKinley and found there the copper tube and records left by Dr. Cook to establish the latter's claim of having first ascended the mountain. Carrigan's story is recorded by John R. Bradley, Dr. Cook's former backer, as sufficient plausible to warrant careful investigation.

BOARDS NAMED TO AD SALE OF AQUEDUCT BONDS

Bankers to Assist City in Keeping Work Going at Top Speed

Anxious to Reach Agreement with Syndicate Which Holds Option on Issue

An early solution of the financial problems which have arisen in connection with the building of the aqueduct is expected as the result of the appointment yesterday of an advisory committee to work with the finance committee of the council and the aqueduct commission in planning a way to get the money needed to carry on the work on an extensive scale.

The advisory committee consists of W. B. Mathews, counsel for the aqueduct; Major Henry T. Lee of the Los Angeles water commission; Stoddard Jess, vice president of the First National bank; J. E. Fishburn, president of the National bank of California, and J. O. Koepfli, a business man.

SYNDICATE'S REFUSAL

The problems which this committee, working with the city council and the aqueduct board, will try to solve, are those growing out of the attitude of the bond syndicates which hold an option on the aqueduct bond issue. Under the terms of their contract with the city they should make a bi-monthly payment account of their bond purchase on July 31, amounting to $15,000. This they have indicated they will not do, claiming that they have taken more than $2,000,000 worth of aqueduct bonds already in excess of the required purchase at contract periods.

Recently the city council, on the advice of City Attorney Hewitt, notified the syndicates to make the contract payment of $15,000 due July 31. The city's contention is that the purchases made by the syndicates of their own volition and cannot now be charged against the sum due under the contract on July 31.

OTHER SALES

An effort will be made by the advisory committee and the city's representatives to make such advantageous financial arrangements elsewhere as will offset the financial loss due to the attitude of the bond buyers, or, by negotiating with them direct effect some amicable adjustment of the difficulty.

The aqueduct commission, the city council and the advisory committee, alike, are anxious to reach a compromise with the bond buyers. The appointment of an advisory committee including several of the most prominent financiers in the city is expected to greatly facilitate negotiations with the eastern financiers.

If an agreement can be reached the work of building the aqueduct will be rushed. Every effort to achieve this result will be made. The advisory committee, which was appointed by the adoption of a resolution offered by J. E. Fishburn, will get to work at once.

In offering the resolution with the approval of the finance committee, Mr. Washburn said:

"According to the contentions of the bond syndicates no money is due the city until December 1 of this year, at which time $500,000 is to be paid. They contend that the money which they have been furnishing the city are advance payments of this year's option. Upon the advice of the city attorney the council forwarded them a notice a short time since to the effect that the fund which had been paid to them to celebrate the work were considered voluntary advances made for that purpose and did not affect the payments due under the contract. The notice called upon them to take the bonds named in the contract as being due July 31. On February 1, the syndicate will be called upon to decide whether or not they will exercise the option for $4,995,000 this year. Statements made by them during the recent conference in New York would indicate that their action will be determined by the state of the bond market at that time, as they distinctly stated that they feel under no legal or moral obligations to take the bonds unless it is profitable."

BAD OUTLOOK

"Negotiations with the syndicate are still going forward, but the prospect of making arrangements satisfactory to the city are not very encouraging. The situation therefore is a very embarrassing one and the outcome problematic. It is undoubtedly in our advantage to continue relations with the syndicate if we can do so on terms that will be fair and just to the city. If we cannot, then it becomes incumbent upon us as soon as this contract is terminated to have negotiations with other parties sufficiently advanced to cause us minimum embarrassment in the construction of the aqueduct."

"The responsibility in matters of this kind is by the charter imposed upon the city council. The crisis is too great and the effect upon the city in case of any mismanagement is of such a serious nature that we must spare no effort or expense to accomplish the best results. As prudent and experienced advisers are very much needed the finance committee requests the council to call upon the following named gentlemen to aid its committee in every way possible: Stoddard Jess, vice president First National bank; J. E. Fishburn, president National Bank of California; Henry T. Lee of the water commission; W. B. Mathews of the aqueduct board, and J. O. Koepfli."

HYDE SENTENCED FOR LIFE TERM

Swope Poisoner Convicted of the Slaying of Millionaire to Die Behind Prison Walls

(Associated Press) KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 5.—Dr. B. C. Hyde, convicted of having poisoned Col. Thomas H. Swope, the millionaire philanthropist, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor this morning by Judge Ralph S. Latschaw in the criminal court.

An appeal to the state supreme court was filed by Hyde's attorneys and until it is taken up by the higher court the prisoner will remain in the county jail here.

The case was called by Judge Latschaw as a case of capital offense. The doctor and his wife, who had stood by him so faithfully, sat side by side and held each other's hand as Judge Latschaw promptly overruled the motion for arrest of judgment and commanded Dr. Hyde to stand up. Before passing sentence he asked the prisoner if he had anything to say.

Dr. Hyde, smiling and very calm, replied: "I did not understand you, judge."

"Have you anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon you?" repeated the judge.

"My attorneys will talk for me," said Dr. Hyde simply.

At this point Attorney Lucas, for the defense, arose and told the court that he had nothing to say. Then, as Dr. Hyde remained standing, Judge Latschaw continued: "The judgment of the court, Dr. Hyde, is that you be confined in the state penitentiary at Jefferson City at hard labor for and during the period of your natural life."

A moment later Dr. Hyde had resumed his seat by his wife at the attorney's table. His attorney asked the court to grant bail. This Judge Latschaw said he could not do, and then Mr. Lucas presented an affidavit for an appeal to the state supreme court. He was accepted by Judge Latschaw, and Hyde was remanded to the county jail.

The court said the prisoner would be kept there until the supreme court had passed finally upon his case. As the court does not meet until the first week in September, and it has a heavy docket, it is the belief of the attorneys that the case cannot be reached for at least six months.

BIG STICK SWINGS IN THE FIGHT TO CRUSH BALLINGER

Roosevelt is Backing Poindexter for Senate as an Avowed Enemy of Secretary

GOES SQUARELY ON RECORD

Dips Into Washington Politics to Defeat Supporter of Taft Cabinet Member

(Associated Press) OYSTER BAY, July 5.—Theodore Roosevelt made it clear today, not by direct statement but by implication so strong that it admits of no misinterpretation, that he will support Representative Miles Poindexter in his fight for a seat in the United States senate from the state of Washington.

They had luncheon together and a conference at Sagamore Hill today, and Mr. Poindexter departed jubilant.

In endorsing Poindexter for the senate, Col. Roosevelt took a line of his own, squarely in opposition to Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, whom President Taft has so warmly defended.

It is the only stand he has taken bearing directly or indirectly on the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy.

Mr. Poindexter is opposed to Secretary Ballinger from first to last, and is working to unseat Senator Piles of Washington, who has been identified with the Ballinger wing of the Republican party in that state. The secretary and Mr. Poindexter are from the same Seattle district.

Leaving Oyster Bay after the conference Mr. Poindexter said:

"I have worked together always, and he assured me that we always will work together. I am delighted with the result of the visit."

OPENLY AGAINST BALLINGER

Col. Roosevelt looked happy when he received the political situation in the northwest. He assured me he was in hearty sympathy with my conservation policy.

"Mr. Poindexter is a candidate for the United States senate and is politically opposed to that wing of the party headed by Mr. Ballinger, secretary of the interior."

That was all the colonel wanted to have put in quotation marks. What he said otherwise made it rather clear he had given assurance to Mr. Poindexter that he would support him in his attempt to succeed Senator Piles.

Coincidentally Secretary Ballinger and President Taft held a conference at Beverly today in which they discussed the reclamation service. There, Mr. Ballinger denied with emphasis the rumor that he was to resign.

"I am not a quitter and never have been," he said.

POINDEXTER IS INSURGENT

Miles Poindexter is an out and out insurgent elected by the people of Washington on a radical platform. He has been a firm supporter of Roosevelt policies, especially as they relate to conservation. They were so with the Washington man. At lunch they discussed the Ballinger-Pinchot occurrence in detail in the course of their talk on the political status of the northwest.

What was the general opinion here is that Col. Roosevelt is still "feeling his way" as regards his ultimate attitude toward the Taft administration, his stand today is considered the most striking indication of his political frame of mind. And that he will still fight hard for the conservation movement he made plain to interviewers when Mr. Poindexter had gone.

MORE INSURGENTS DINING

There have been two important insurgent conferences at Sagamore Hill since the colonel's return; but more are coming.

One of the most potent of these is arranged for Thursday next. On that day five of the best known and weightiest of the insurgents are coming to have a talk with the ex-president, but Mr. Roosevelt declined to give out their names.

Governor Hughes had been expected tomorrow but he telegraphed he would attend the funeral of Chief Justice Fuller at Bar Harbor. He will come to Oyster Bay Thursday or Friday.

Robert Bacon, ambassador to France, and Gilbert Gardner, a magazine writer, were the other guests at luncheon at Sagamore Hill today.

"The colonel and the ambassador fought it out today on the tennis court at Sagamore Hill as they used to do at the White House once upon a time. The colonel is going to his editorial offices in New York in the morning and will return to his home in the day."

POINDEXTER TO FIGHT BALLINGER FOR SENATE

Senator Piles Announces That He Will Retire

SEATTLE, July 5.—Secretary of the Interior E. A. Ballinger and Representative Miles Poindexter, the insurgent candidate for the senate to succeed Senator Piles, are not residents of the
