OFFICIALS UNABLE TO AGREE ON BRIDGE PLAN
Structure to Cross Arroyo Seco West of Pasadena Subject of Controversy

PASADENA, July 15.—Victor Marsh, who is passing the summer in Catalina, and who makes mid-week trips to Pasadena, was interviewed yesterday on the Arroyo bridge question. In regard to the proposed Williams-Nishkian bridge from West Colorado street across to near the top of the Scoville grade, he said:
"I will be willing to donate land for a road or approach to the bridge on the San Rafael Heights side if necessary, or if the structure does not end near my property I will contribute cash along with other property owners of the district to help defray the expense of the bridge, thus cutting down the amount necessary to be asked by bond issue. The making of a direct route from West Colorado street across the arroyo would not be of material benefit to my property, although it would help some, but the benefit to the traveling public would be great. The low bridge with its treacherous turns is out of the question. I favored the original high bridge at first, but so long as the committee and the county highway commission have approved the intermediate bridge plans I am for that structure. Anything so we can connect the San Gabriel and San Fernando highways by a practically direct route from Colorado street. This thoroughfare should be opened up on the west as well as on the other end and make a practical road from town to the east to towns along the beaches. With the intermediate bridge all travel over that route would be through the center of the city."

COUNCIL INSPECTS ROUTES
A conference between city officials and members of the board of trade bridge committee was held in the Arroyo yesterday and the party went over the proposed routes in detail. The city engineers, Mayor Earley, Mayor Earley, Councilmen Barnes, Cattell, Fog, Hotaling and Korstian and City Engineer Van Ornum. Those representing the board of trade were Chairman Knight of the bridge committee, Secretary Bertonneau, C. D. Darggett, Ed T. Off and J. C. Brainerd. Messrs. Williams and Nishkian, who designed the intermediate bridge, were present by invitation of Mayor Earley.

At the outset board of trade members insisted that the poles set by the city engineers for the estimated height of the intermediate bridge were too high. It was decided to have the height checked by Williams and Nishkian. When it came to going over the ground of the proposed route of the approach to the Scoville or low bridge, members of the board of trade who have expressed a question for several months before they decided on the intermediate bridge, declared the trip was not necessary.

This led Mayor Earley to remark:
"We should investigate every phase of the question while we are on the ground. I may favor the low bridge and best of all, if we can have a concrete structure. It is all right for us to adhere to our opinions, but we are here to put both propositions plainly before the city council members, who are the ones to decide which shall be put up to the voters."

To this plan all agreed.
Little attention was paid to the intermediate bridge, which was the subject of all present had discussed the plans before. Mayor Earley and City Engineer Van Ornum took the party over the low bridge route. The first obstacle to be overcome would be the question of damages to the Richardson property, where the low bridge would land on the Pasadena side, making the removal of some stone work necessary. The road would run from the bridge along the west through the Scoville ridge, and then, at some distance, it being explained that Mr. Scoville probably would exchange the necessary land for the fifty-foot section of the Arroyo drive along the slight fill which runs along the lower end of the orchard, which would make the road practically level to a point 300 feet west. Here it would turn north with a grade of one foot to the junction of Arroyo drive and Linda Vista avenue, where the turn would be widened to swing into the main route by Grand avenue to Colorado street. The grade from the turn to the junction would be 8 per cent and would require a fill from fifteen to six feet according to Van Ornum. No estimate of the cost of this fill or the high retaining wall necessary along Arroyo drive was made.

PARTY NOT UNANIMOUS
When the party reached the top of the hill at the main traffic light, the members voted unanimously to take rest, although they were not unanimous on the bridge question. Board of trade members allied to the route just traveled as a "figure eight roller coaster" and agreed that excitement nothing could compare with a trip over the proposed road in an automobile. Mayor Earley declared that the turns and grades would not interfere with ordinary traffic.

"There isn't one automobile in twenty but what can travel the route at the speed limit," he said, "and, furthermore, the main traffic will not go over the arroyo. They will all want to take in the Arroyo drive when the boulevard plan is worked out."
J. C. Brainerd declared that the only way a stranger could be directed over the proposed route would be by means of a diagram or the assistance of an escort. Councilman Cattell endeavored to straighten out the tangled web of the standpoint of a disinterested party, he having been absent from the city during the time since the intermediate bridge was brought into the question, but his efforts to crystallize sentiment in favor of one or the other seemed unavailing. which designed the intermediate bridge said:
"We have no pecuniary interest in this question. We heard that the board of trade was to take the matter to the question of crossing the arroyo in the most feasible manner. We gathered up such data as was available and figured out a plan. We did not submit them to the board of trade in the question one way or the other. We want to work for our own satisfaction without regard to whether the city, the county or anyone else would ever build a bridge.
"Whether our plan is logical depends on what basis the question is considered, that is, whether you want a purely commercial or utility bridge with a splendid view thrown in, or whether you want a bridge to run to suit some individuals. As to the latter, the board of trade, from which the conclusions are drawn. As to the cost of the intermediate bridge, we have estimates from leading contractors and will submit them if the point comes to an issue."
Mayor Earley agreed to have City Engineer Van Ornum figure the detailed cost of fill grades and construction connected with the low bridge and arrange for a comparison with the intermediate structure.

RIVERSIDE BRIEFS
RIVERSIDE, July 14.—Dr. W. F. Funderburg of this city, who made a few millions in Pennsylvania oil, is to try for oil in Southern California. Several months ago he purchased 800 acres of land in the Puente valley, ostensibly for farming purposes. He has leased a considerable part of the property to E. C. Conroy, an experienced oil man from Beaumont, Tex., who will at once install rigs for testing out the section. Beaumont, the apple town up in San Antonio, has to make another try for incorporation. The recent fire in the town has aroused the people to the necessity for fire protection and they realize this can only be secured through municipal effort.

A. H. Koebig, Jr., a Los Angeles engineer, has a crew of surveyors at work in the San Jacinto mountains doing preliminary work for a dam to be built across Strawberry creek at the Domergoni ranch. This has been bonded for $25,000 by the power company and is supposed to be behind Engineer Koebig.

MAN BADLY INJURED BY ESCAPING STEAM
Valve of a Steam Roller Engine Blows Out While Employe Was Making Repairs

LONG BEACH, July 14.—O. S. Parks, an employe of the Oil-Macadam Paving company, which is constructing the southern portion of the Los Angeles Long Beach boulevard, was burned by steam this morning. Parks is night man for the company and at 7 o'clock this morning he was engaged in adjusting a valve on the engine of the company's steam roller.
He had expected to remove the valve before completing his work but it flew off some time before he planned to take it out and a terrific burst of steam knocked him over and scalded him frightfully about the face, neck, chest and arms. He was attended by Long Beach physicians and taken to his home at Willow. This afternoon he was removed to a hospital. It is believed his eyes were not seriously injured.

CHICKEN FANCIER'S LUCK GAINS HIM FOUR HENS

LONG BEACH, July 14.—Instead of getting two hens and a rooster, for which he had sent a $100 draft to a Kansas City dealer, W. J. Gardner, a local chicken fancier, received a shipment of six hens, the shipping clerk having made an error and sent Gardner's order to Honolulu. The Kansas City firm, however, has just forwarded to Gardner a rooster and informed him he can keep all the hens, hence he is more than satisfied.
His good luck with chickens was proved by another incident recently. A cold, stiff and supposedly dead Houdan chicken, which was thrown by him far over the beach, came to life and scratched at the gate for admittance that same evening.

OBJECT TO BANQUET TO CONGRESSMAN MCLACHLAN

LONG BEACH, July 14.—R. H. Young of the local branch of the Lincoln-Roosevelt league, and L. Day, editor of a paper supporting the league, voiced dissenting votes at the chamber of commerce directors' meeting this morning when the board of directors proposed that a reception and banquet at Hotel Virginia be arranged in honor of Congressman James McLachlan, as a token of appreciation for his efforts and success in securing a $40,000 appropriation for a federal building site in this city. The banquet and reception are to be strictly non-partisan affairs.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNICS
LONG BEACH, July 14.—One hundred and fifty members of the Presbyterian Sunday school at Bell, a station between here and Los Angeles on the Salt Lake road, had a fair trial in picnic baskets on the auditorium's lower deck. Mrs. L. A. Turner is superintendent of the picnic and a fair trial in the Rev. W. H. Tieman is pastor of the church. Fifty of the party, waiting for the train at Cudahy, a nearby station, were waiting for the picnic. They did not so much as hesitate. They succeeded in boarding a later train, however.

REPAIRING BROKEN PIER
LONG BEACH, July 14.—Workmen for the Mercantile Construction company, now engaged in repairing the damaged pier, found today that the twelve-inch iron girders at the point where the pier was wrecked were warped and twisted in several places. Another badger was killed recently in the extreme eastern part of the city and a Chinese gardener has reported sighting one of the beasts near his vegetable farm.

FINED FOR MOLESTING WOMAN
LONG BEACH, July 14.—A. P. Lawson, an Artesia rancher, and J. J. Monroy, a Mexican, were arrested last night at Artesia street and Cherry avenue, allegedly in an intoxicated condition. Mrs. John Hardestie, who resides at that corner, stated that while she was alone at home the men drove up to the house, unbidden their horse and acted as if they were at home. Each of the duo was fined $25 by Justice Underwood.

LONG BEACH ITEMS
LONG BEACH, July 14.—Charles Hollis was fined $20 for cruelty to animals. It was said he gaged a team with unnecessary vigor.
An extension of Contractors Anselm Grieco and P. A. Crow of the Oil-Macadam Paving company to complete the paving of Pasadena avenue and Twentieth and Twenty-first streets, Eldon Bruce, son of C. F. Bruce of East First street, fell last night while skating and broke his right arm.
A new ordinance, having the intent of taking the fire and police commissions out from under the domination of the purchasing committee, will be considered tomorrow night by the council.

SANTA ANA SEWAGE PLAN MEETS WITH OPPOSITION
SANTA ANA, July 14.—An effort is being made to bring about an meeting between the trustees of Newport Beach and those of Santa Ana, to arrive at some definite plan for turning over to Santa Ana sewage in Newport bay. The Newport Beach officials approve the plan and are talking of enlarging the city limits to take in that part of the bay which Santa Ana desires for a sewage outfall. It is believed a thorough talking over of the plan proposed by this city will cause Newport Beach to view the matter differently.

DEFEAT AMENDMENTS TO IRRIGATION BY-LAWS
SANTA ANA, July 14.—The canvass of the vote recently taken by the stockholders of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company on various amendments to the articles of incorporation and by-laws was completed yesterday by the canvassing board. Cood Adams, J. W. Crawford, P. W. Greenleaf, W. S. Gregg and D. F. Campbell.
The amendments were defeated. The most important of these was a proposition to increase the capital stock from $100,000 to $200,000. This lacked 3000 votes of carrying.

INSPECTING CANYON ROAD
SANTA ANA, July 14.—Daniel Halladay, engineer for the Orange county highway commission, and R. T. Harris, secretary of the commission, and Fred Struck, county supervisor, passed today in an examination of the road from Santa Ana to Hemet. The Orange county road furnishing the only direct highway to the important points in Orange county, its cities and beaches.

ELKS DECLARE BENNETT NOT MEMBER OF ORDER
Believe Man Wanted for Swindling Stole Identification Cards

SAN BERNARDINO, July 14.—Irving C. Bennett, sought at San Pedro for passing a worthless check, representing $100,000, to the Elks club, is not a member of the Elks, and that order is now endeavoring to look up his past history. Bennett is not a member of the local lodge. For a number of weeks, however, he made his home here while employed as a brakeman on the Santa Fe. He claimed to be a life member of New York lodge No. 1 and exhibited a life certificate.
Local Elks freely charge that Bennett is not an Elk and in the fact that he registered at San Pedro as a member of lodge No. 825 officers of this lodge believe they can now account for the disappearance of four blank membership cards from the Elks club office, which were taken during the time Bennett had access by means of his New York card to the local clubhouse.

CLAIMS HOME CITY DID NOT GIVE HIM FAIR TRIAL
SANTA MONICA, July 14.—S. F. Moore, who is being tried for the alleged illegal sale of liquor at Sawtelle, has petitioned the state supreme court for a new trial, which was granted by the court. Justice Steele presided in Moore's former trial. Moore claimed that he was not given a fair trial in his home city, as he was found guilty once and desired the next trial to be held elsewhere. Moore was tried first before City Recorder George H. Salsbery, but the jury disagreed. He declares he will fight the conviction to a finish.

RAISE FUNDS TO SECURE COMPLETION OF RAILWAY
POMONA, July 14.—The movement started at the meeting of the board of trade on Monday night, to raise the $5500 necessary to secure the completion of the Pacific Electric railway's line from Upland through Claremont, is meeting with great success. The committee, composed of Messrs. Dole, Lobingier, Bichowsky, Tate and Nichols, which has been soliciting funds, has met with general response and by today has secured the names of 150 men pledged to give $25 each, then larger subscriptions will be sought. The merchants are anxious to hasten the coming of the railway, and it is hoped that it will be completed in time for the Christmas trade.

MAN LIVES ENDANGERED BY STORMS ON DESERT
Clever Canyon and Other Mining Districts Stripped of Vegetation by Torrents

SAN BERNARDINO, July 14.—Terrible thunderstorms on the desert, featured by cloudbursts, have done considerable damage in the mining districts. Clever canyon, north of the Holcomb valley outlet on the desert was washed of vegetation, clean to a floor, mining men narrowly escaping the walls of water which poured in series down the gulch. But meager details have been received here. Wallace Hampton, returning from Holcomb valley, witnessed the floods from the top of the gulch. The roar of the big volumes of water as they whirled huge boulders down the canyon could be plainly heard.
Through his field glass Hampton could see mining parties rapidly scaling the steep, rocky walls of the canyon to escape the onrush of waters. It is his opinion that no lives were lost, though possibly pack animals and mining equipment may have disappeared in the torrents.
All day lightning played about Mt. San Bernardino, over which the thunderbolts gathered. The storm area extends far out on the desert and in a wide area has resulted in rain, the showers being heavy and in most instances being accompanied by high winds.
