RAILROADS CARRY 50,000 TO BEACHES

City Residents Crowd All Trains and Enjoy Cool Breezes at Seashore

Estimates of the three railroads operating electric trains to the beaches yesterday placed the number of visiting Angelenos carried over their lines at 50,000. Of this number 15,000 enjoyed the pleasures of the "pike" at Long Beach, an equal number at the amusements at Redondo, while the remaining 20,000 were distributed along the broad cement walk stretching along the beach from Santa Monica to Playa del Rey. Besides those who patronized the railroads many thousands made the journey to the ocean in automobiles. These were well represented at all the resorts, where machines lined the principal streets for blocks.

The unusual heat, which reached a maximum of 86 degrees in the city, caused many an Angeleno to scurry for whatever conveyance was convenient, auto, electric train, horse, carriage or bicycle. It matter not as long as the destination, the ocean, was reached in quick time.

VENICE IS CROWDED BY OVER 25,000 VISITORS

VENICE, Aug. 21.—Beginning in the early forenoon every train on the Los Angeles-Pacific railway brought a capacity load of passengers to Venice and Ocean Park. The crowd continued coming until late in the afternoon and every car belonging to the company was put in use to handle the traffic. It is estimated that the crowd here today exceeded 25,000. The majority of the visitors left for their homes by 7 o'clock p. m., but the railway company was busy until a very late hour getting the crowd back to Los Angeles. Every bath house on the beach was patronized heavily by the crowds and several thousand bathers splashed in the surf. All the amusement enterprises were visited by continuous crowds.

FOURTEEN YEAR OLD GIRL IS VICTIM OF ASSAULT

Found Unconscious on Sidewalk by Chinese Merchant

Lying unconscious, her hair matted and her clothing disarranged, Elsie Prunzel, 14 years old, of 1222 Stanford avenue, was found by Wen Kee, a Chinese commission merchant, on the outer edge of the sidewalk in front of his home at 523 East Tenth street, shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. The girl was hurried to the receiving hospital, where she recovered consciousness soon after her arrival and told of having been attacked by a man, dragged into a building, beaten into insensibility and criminally assaulted. According to her story, the girl visited a moving picture show at Sixth and Main street last night. She left the place and started for her home. After walking several blocks she noticed that she was being followed. She quickened her steps and attempted to get away from the man. He finally overtook her near the market at Tenth and San Julian streets and made an indecent proposal to her. She refused and he seized her by the arm and dragged her into an uncompleted building near by.

The girl made desperate efforts to free herself from his grasp and succeeded in wrenching from his grasp. She struck him full in the face. He struck her on the head with a heavy cane which he carried and she toppled over on a pile of loose straw. Before she lapsed into unconsciousness she realized that he was injuring her. She regained consciousness later, dragged herself to the sidewalk and became unconscious.

ITALIAN KILLS BROTHER WHO TERRORIZED PARTY

Intoxicated Man Draws Gun, and in Fusillade Young Girl Is Shot

MARTINEZ, Cal., Aug. 21.—Endeavoring to protect himself and others in the house from death or injury, Spezia Billecci, an Italian fisherman, shot and killed his brother, Jose Billecci, late last night when the latter ran amuck with a knife and a revolver among a number of friends in the home of Mrs. Margaret Bruno, at Crockett.

Many shots were fired at each other by the brothers, and during the fusillade Rosie Billecci, the 10-year-old niece of the combatants, was struck in the forehead by a bullet and killed. The Billecci brothers were among a number of guests at the home of Mrs. Bruno. As the affair progressed Jose Billecci, who had been drinking, became quarrelsome, and when his brother remonstrated with him, he drew a knife. Spezia grappled with him and in the struggle was terribly cut about the arms, chest and head.

Mrs. Bruno, in an effort to separate the two men, was also badly wounded, perhaps fatally. Tearing away from his brother, Jose took a revolver from his pocket and began firing. Spezia returned the fire, and at the second shot Jose fell dead. As his body pitched forward Spezia continued to shoot.

The guests ran from the room, among them little Rosie Billecci. With the last shot from her uncle's revolver the girl fell backward, a gaping wound in her head. Mrs. Bruno and Spezia Billecci have been brought to this city and are being treated in a hospital. Both may die.

'BIRD DRESSES' LATEST FAD OF LONDON WOMEN

Claims Brother-in-Law Attacked Him Following Dispute with Sister

LONDON, Aug. 21.—"Bird" dresses will be one of the novelties in the coming winter. Although the name may suggest it, these frocks are not made of feathers. A West End modiste described them to a Daily Express representative. "The whole idea is to copy the plumage of different birds in ninnos, because in nature all the colors blend so exquisitely.

"One of the most popular birds, of course, is the peacock, and all the wonderful shades of gold, green and vivid blue are blended together. "The most attractive way of arranging the ninnos is to have an underdress of dull gold and an overdress of shot blue and green silt up the sides so as to show the gold. "The only decorations are peacocks embroidered in all their natural colors with tails spread.

"The jay is another bird which is well worth while copying, and the kindfisher makes a wonderful robe, with all the exquisite blues mounted over orange. "A flamingo gown carried out in pale pink velled in white is a beautiful tofet for a debutante, and a pheasant gown would be most handsome. "Little feather fans to match the various dresses can now be bought."

LAWYER FOR MRS. STARBUCK WRITES OF KENDALL CASE

LONG BEACH, Aug. 21.—H. W. Brunk of Berkeley, attorney for Mrs. Margaret E. Starbuck of Oakland has written to Long Beach parties regarding what Mrs. Starbuck knows of the Kendall murder case. In his letter he gives a copy of a letter he sent to District Attorney Lea, stating that the Japanese Yamaguchi told Mrs. Starbuck of a fight with the Kendalls. The letter then goes on: "Mrs. Starbuck placed on evidence in the matter because the Japanese told her the story five or six days after it happened, although his face bore signs of having received blows. "Mrs. Starbuck has no theory as to who committed the crime, and if the Japanese did why he did it. From the outset, until this moment, she has freely told everything she knew about the Japanese and is doing all she can to aid the authorities in finding the guilty person. Many of the newspaper reports of what she has stated to a number of newspapers have been garbled and have been the cause of much distress to her. "Mr. and Mrs. Starbuck formerly lived here for a number of years. He was an architect and both were well known.

GETS SKULL FRACTURED AFTER FAMILY QUARREL

Claims Brother-in-Law Attacked Him Following Dispute with Sister

Suffering from a fractured skull, which he says is due to blows dealt by his brother-in-law, W. Gwin, yesterday morning, Kirk Lander, 23 years old, living at 1247 Prospect street, made his way to the Lissner building in South Spring street in search of a doctor, groped his way to the fourth floor and then fell unconscious. He was found in the hallway and the police were called.

Lander was taken to the receiving hospital and recovered consciousness shortly after his arrival. The police surgeons examined the injured man and found he had incurred a fractured skull. Lander says he was attacked by his brother-in-law following a family quarrel yesterday morning. The injured man, it seems, engaged in a dispute with Mrs. Gwin and hot words were passed. Lander was suffering from a headache at the time and went on the front porch and sat down. While he was there Gwin came home and went into the house. "He spoke to me as he passed," said Lander, "and I paid no more attention to him. I remained there with my head buried in my hands when suddenly I was struck on the back of the head and knocked fully six feet, falling on my face. Gwin then jumped on my back and rained blows on the back of my neck. I finally got to my feet and struck at him, but missed and fell down. While I was lying prostrate he kicked me in the face and left me. Later I made my way into the house, where I remained until this evening. My head began to pain me and I went to town to consult a physician."
