GERMAN NAVAL TERROR
THROWS 2-TON SHELL

Socialist Paper Tells of New Type of Invulnerable Monster Killing Ship

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—The Vorwarts, the leading Berlin Socialist newspaper, which usually possesses excellent sources of information, has frequently, by its far-reaching connections, given official secrets to the world, published an extraordinary story of a new type of motor driven warship which Germany has under construction.

The details of this amazing ship given by the Vorwarts seem a little far-fetched, but if they are correct they prove that while Great Britain has been experimenting with internal combustion engines for the smallest ships in her fleet Germany has already adopted them for her most powerful, and has evolved a type of warship more formidable than anything that has ever been dreamed of and capable of throwing a projectile weighing more than two tons and a half.

The Vorwarts gives the following details of the new ship: Length, 254 feet; breadth, 48 feet; draft, 22 feet. The deck, which only projects five feet above the surface of the water, is protected by armor of such a thickness and arranged in such a way that it appears impossible for any projectile now in existence to pierce it.

THROWS TWO TON SHELL
The ship will have a single turret, which will revolve, and will be situated exactly amidships. It will be armed with two mighty guns, capable of firing shells so quickly that all existing weapons will be entirely eclipsed by its marvelous performance.

The new gun is of a caliber of seventeen inches and the weight of the projectile thrown is two tons thirteen hundredweights.

In spite of their size, it will be possible to handle these guns easily and promptly by hydraulic machinery. The revolving turret's axle will be a short mast, on which the captain's conning tower will be placed. This tower will be protected by thick armor. This curious system of construction is rendered possible by the absence of funnels and the substitution of gas inlets for funnels. More than that, it is probable that no existing battleship could withstand its onslaughts, so that its appearance is likely to produce a revolution in naval shipbuilding.

INVULNERABLE TO AIRSHIPS
According to the expectations of the German naval authorities, the new ship will be capable of delivering an attack on the largest existing battleships. More than that, it is probable that no existing battleship could withstand its onslaughts, so that its appearance is likely to produce a revolution in naval shipbuilding.

Ventilators driven by electricity will purify the air of the engine rooms from any escaped gases. In case of rough weather the ship is provided with a new kind of miniature breakwater, which could be affixed to the deck before the revolving turret. This contrivance is necessary owing to the low decks, which would be swept by the heavy sea.

Italy Agrees to Pay Successful Gamblers
ROME, Oct. 2.—The Italian government has decided to gratify to the full the Neapolitan gamblers who raised a riot last week over the suspended payment of their winnings, a sum of $1,500,000 being distributed. The government was not obliged to pay more than $1,200,000.

The state revenue derived from the lotteries averages $8,000,000 per annum. From past experience the ministry feels sure that the full payment will prove a profitable advertisement, and will probably double the number of spectators during the next few weeks. As a matter of fact about three-quarters of the population of Naples alone, which now numbers more than a million souls, tries its fortune at the lottery regularly every week.

NO ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR VICTIMS' FUNERAL

Plans for Obsequies of Elder and Reeves Incomplete

A pitiful anxiety surrounds the funeral of the victims of the great holocaust of the early hours of Saturday morning, caused by the uncertainty of when the bodies yet remaining in the debris will be found, and when they are ever found, and the almost utter impossibility of identifying those who have been taken from the ruins.

The body of Churchill Harvey-Elder was removed from the Clara Barton hospital, where he died a few hours after receiving his injuries, and is now at the morgue of Besses Bros., while the body of Wesley Reeves, which was the first one taken from the ruins, is at the parlors of the Boyle Heights Undertaking company, awaiting the verdict of the coroner before definite arrangements for the funeral can be made.

Identification of the bodies is thought impossible in a number of cases and in all probability one funeral service will be held for the unidentified dead, the time and place not having been decided. If this plan is carried out the men who met their death together will be buried in one grave, and one monument bearing the name of each will be erected.

No definite arrangements can be completed while the uncertainty remains regarding the bodies yet in the ruins. As each body or portion of what was once a human being is found it is removed to the Besses morgue awaiting the final plans for caring for the dead.

Separate funeral services will be held over the bodies of Elder and Reeves. It was stated last night by the mother of the former at Whittier that arrangements would be completed today, and it is also expected that arrangements for the funeral for Mr. Reeves will also be arranged today.

A memorial service has been arranged for Mr. Reeves by the Epworth League of the Boyle Heights Methodist church, of which he served as president last year. This service will be held next Sunday evening in the Boyle Heights church.

DEED IS INEXCUSABLE, SAYS REV. C. W. BUGBEE

At St. Paul's pro-cathedral the Rev. C. W. Bugbee preached in the absence of the Rev. William McCormack, dean and rector, who is in the east attending the general convention of the church. The Rev. Mr. Bugbee spoke at length upon the calamity and said in part:

"We have all been shocked by the terrible disaster of Saturday morning. Perhaps—let us hope it was an accident. But it seems that it was the deed of a foolish and desperate man. In all probability this happening, if intentional, was perpetrated or instigated not by the large body of splendid and honest labor, but by men who are misrepresenting it or some misguided men whose minds have been perverted and inflamed by them and who, thinking to do some glorious deed of smarting under a sense of injustice, have committed this heinous offense against society in which a score of innocent men have lost their lives.

RT. REV. MGR. HARNETT ASKS PRAYER FOR VICTIMS

At the high mass at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning at the Cathedral of St. Vibiana the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Harnett, vicar general of the diocese, requested the prayers of the congregation for the victims of the calamity.

Charles Haggerty, one of the victims, was a member of the Catholic church and has one sister who is a nun in the cathedral convent at the corner of Ninth and Green streets, who is one of the teachers in the cathedral school.

that I possessed, I pulled myself up the belting of the paper elevator to the sidewalk above.

"As I was making that climb for life I could see the tongue of flame darting out of the windows of the building above me, and could see vast clouds of smoke and bright sparks ascending skyward."

FALLS DOWN SHAFT

According to Crabb, many of the missing will be found at the foot of the elevator shaft which fell down.

"I noticed J. C. Galliber, Carl Salada, Harry Flynn, E. A. Jordan, W. G. Johnson, E. L. Cares and Fred Llewellyn running to the elevator. I am most sure that they went down the shaft to the bottom and that their bodies will be found in that section of the building. There were several in the bottom of the shaft when I struck."

"My theory is that many were caught trying to get out by returning to the upper floor, expecting to gain exit through the main entrance, and that they did not have time to escape that way."

"As to the disaster being caused by a gas explosion, I am not sure, but there is no gas in the section of the building where the explosion occurred. High explosives were responsible for the disaster and nothing else, that I am sure of."

GADDEN SAYS EXPLOSION WAS OF NITRO GLYCERINE

Foreman Stereotype Room Was in Second Floor Near Alley

E. T. Gadden, foreman of the stereotype department of the Times for sixteen years, yesterday told of his escape from the explosion and fire. He said:

"I was sitting at my desk on the second floor of the building north of 'ink alley,' making out an inventory of my department when the explosion occurred. It was a long room and as I went toward the door one explosion, I have had a lot of experience with the use of dynamite, but the explosion that night was of a different nature. I would swear to that. The first thing I did was to wheel my desk and run toward the door. A flame shot up past the floor over 'ink alley.' The heat was intense. My first thought was to get out of the room as fast as I could. I turned back to see the men at work in the next room to me. I understand his body has not been found, and I am sure that he is still in the department run out of the room and to a rear stairway. We found the stairs so hot that we could not stand there, and we turned back. Then I thought of the men at work in the basement. I placed my hand over my face and started down the stairs to help them. I turned back by the heat. The other men were groping wildly about the room, when one of the men holstered a revolver and pointed the stairs leading to the roof and made our way over several buildings until we reached one on Franklin street which had a fire escape, and we climbed to the ground."

PRAYERS FOR FAMILIES OF MEN WHO LOST LIVES

Dr. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of the Immanuel Presbyterian church, offered a lengthy prayer at the opening of the service yesterday morning in behalf of the many families and friends bereft of loved ones by the great disaster. He expressed the hope for the speedy apprehension of the perpetrator of the great calamity and horror, and said that it would be a great lesson for the city. Dr. Walker also mentioned the sorrow of the community, to those whose loved ones had gone out never to return to their homes. He dwelt at some length on the uncertainty of life, and said that the victims were called by death as they were faithfully doing their work without a moment's warning of their fate.

Dr. E. S. Chapman, superintendent of the Anti-saloon league, who occupied the pulpit of the First Methodist church in the absence of the Rev. Charles Edward Locke, who is attending the Methodist conference, made special mention of the horror of the community at large at the great disaster, and said that he was one of the most enthusiastic Christians in the work of the Anti-saloon league progressed. He expressed the sympathy of the congregation with those who mourned the loss of loved ones.

At the meeting for men yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. building Harold W. Kellogg said that all citizens, whether Christians or not, should grieve at the calamity and that the prayers of thousands of people were being offered for the bereaved families. The Rev. E. H. Emmett followed in a short address, in which he spoke of the sorrow of the community.

Saturday morning the Rev. Dr. S. Hecht of the Temple B'nai B'rith repeated to the calamity which had occurred but a few hours previous, and will again refer to the severe loss at the Hebrew New Year's services, which will begin this evening. Dr. Hecht in his Sabbath address on Saturday expressed the deepest sympathy with the bereaved families.

In many of the churches special mention of the sad disaster was made in the prayers offered for the bereaved families that mourn the loss of loved ones. Among those who offered these prayers were the Rev. Dr. Warren P. Day, pastor emeritus of the First Congregational church; the Rev. A. B. Pritchard, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, and the Rev. A. S. Phelps, pastor of the Central Baptist church.

The Rev. W. D. Landis, pastor of the Westlake Presbyterian church, paid a sad tribute to the lives of the fire victims at the morning service yesterday, offering a special prayer for the family of Grant Moore, whose wife is a member of the church.

SORROW & GRIEF PRAY FOR VICTIMS

Thousands Assemble in the City Churches to Lament Over Dynamite Tragedy

RISING VOTES OF SYMPATHY

Clergymen Voice Stand of Congregations for Maintenance of Law and Order

Sorrow and horror were mingled by thousands of people who attended church services yesterday—sorrow and indignation for the senseless tragedy of the whole country, and grief for the thousands whose loved ones had been called by death ... a dynamite explosion while doing their duty, and horrified that such a calamity had been visited upon the name of the City of Angels.

Regardless of color and creed, from the great churches and cathedrals to the humble missions, a general lament of sorrow was voiced by the speakers, and thousands of people joined in the prayers for consolation of the bereaved who may never know the hands of either God or man. And husbands went forth to their duty never to return.

In almost every church in the city and the surrounding country this voice of sadness was a predominating tone throughout the services. Several of the churches counted prominent members among the dead.

SYMPATHY OF CONGREGATION EXTENDED TO THE FAMILIES

Impressive Scenes During Services in Christ Church

One of the most impressive scenes was that in Christ Episcopal church yesterday morning when, after passing resolutions of sympathy, the vast congregation that filled the sanctuary, kneeling in prayer, stood with bowed heads while the Rev. Baker P. Lee, the rector, offered a special prayer, using the words of the crucifixion: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

The resolutions, which were adopted with a rising vote which was unanimous, extended to the Times the sympathy of the church and of the congregation in its hour of bereavement and voiced the stand of the congregation for law and order as against anarchy and arson. The congregation extended its co-operation for freedom and Christian work to the Times and to the press of the city, the resolutions being signed by the Rev. Baker P. Lee, the rector; George W. Parsons, warden; C. A. Rockwell, treasurer, and Ben Williams, vestryman.

The Rev. Cassius M. Carter, who has been recently named as pastor of the First Baptist church, spoke of the disaster yesterday morning in grave accents, alluding to the well-known name of the city abroad and the blight that would result from the widespread reports of the disaster.

"Los Angeles is known around the world," said Dr. Carter, "and we must all be proud of it. But every great city and nation child should hold the lingering hope that it was an accident. It shows that Christianity is not triumphant in our country, and it should teach our churches to be more vigilant in the spread of the gospel. In this day of sadness our sympathy goes out to the bereaved ones and those suffering in the hospitals and their homes."

REEVES ONCE ACTIVE IN EPWORTH LEAGUE WORK

Victim Found First Was Formerly in Church Organization

At the Boyle Heights Methodist church sorrow was manifest in the large congregations at both services. Wesley Reeves, whose body was the first taken from the ruins and the only one positively identified, was one of the prominent members of the church and last year acted as president of the Epworth league.

In the absence of Dr. W. E. Tilroe, the pastor, who is attending conference at Fresno, the Rev. W. P. Smith preached yesterday, and in alluding to the catastrophe he said, "If the prince of demons were turned loose, he could conceive of no more dastardly crime. Last evening the Rev. L. G. Reynolds spoke particularly of the sad death of Mr. Reeves, saying that he was known and loved in all the church work, and that he was one of the most enthusiastic Christians in the entire church membership."

At the meeting of the Epworth league last evening the sorrow of the members was particularly noticeable, and a memorial service is being arranged by the league to be held in the church next Sunday evening.

In his sermon and prayer last night at Temple Baptist church Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher referred to the destruction of the Times building and the terrible tragedy in the loss of life. He expressed profound sympathy for the owners of the paper, and especially for the grief-stricken families of those who had lost their lives in the disaster.

"Our city today is under the shadow of a terrible tragedy. The destruction of the Times building, entailing a terrible loss of life and property, should arouse every law-abiding, liberty-loving citizen. It makes no difference how much we may disagree in the home and fireside about the political or religious views, there should be no place among civilized, not to say Christian, people, for jealousy, hatred, envy, and murder. If it is proved that union labor had anything to do with the awful destruction of property and life last Friday night, then I shall be profoundly sorry for the cause of organized labor. It will have received a blow from which it will never recover in this city. One thing is absolutely certain, the people of Los Angeles and ultimately the people of this country will not stand for the lawless, anarchistic methods of Russia and some European countries. The citizens of Los Angeles do not propose that this city shall be run on the same basis that San Francisco is managed today. That city in its moral corruption and lawless methods has been and is a disgrace to the Pacific coast and the whole country. It makes no difference how many people may have disagreed with the morning Times in its views on various questions, all fair-minded people will unite in the most emphatic and positive manner in condemning this crime as the act of a conscienceless villain, who, if discovered, deserves no mercy but the hands of either God or man. Everything known to human ingenuity should be done to discover the authors of this foul deed and punishment meted out to them. We are sure and sure that it will be a warning to all other villains against the repetition of such an act."

At the First Christian church the pastor, Rev. A. C. Smither, last night in a grand before a large congregation the following remarks concerning the destruction of the buildings of the Los Angeles Times:

"Los Angeles is today in mourning and disgrace; in mourning over a large number of her worthy people who have been slain by the ruthless hands of assassins, breaking in the dark and staining the blood of human beings; in disgrace before a civilized world because our fair city has permitted anarchists and bomb-throwers to remain in our midst and commit one of the most dastardly deeds in modern times."

"As a public journal, exercising the rights of free speech, the Los Angeles Times has been a constant reminder of law and order and of industrial freedom. Its persistent criticism of some of the methods of labor unions has aroused a bitter and malicious campaign against it by these industrial organizations. The indications are that some of the devotees of these movements, stung to the quick by the attitude of the Times, have resorted to the use of dynamite, and we stand aghast at this awful crime."

"It is impossible to believe that the respectable laboring people of our city have any part in this atrocious crime. It is very easy to believe that it was done by the anarchists and assassins who have wrought such shame in San Francisco and who have declared their purpose to unionize Los Angeles. They have committed one of the greatest crimes of modern civilization. Into the homes of law-abiding people have come the shadows of death as a result of their heinous deed. Their folly, apart from their crime, is most evident. Where the Los Angeles Times has had hundreds of friends heretofore, it will have thousands hereafter. Where it has had unsparing critics in the past, it will have devoted friends in the future. The cause of labor unionism will hereafter be associated in Los Angeles with thugs, bomb-throwers, anarchists and assassins and their lawless methods from which it cannot recover in years."

"These organizations of our city owe it to themselves to denounce to the world the crime of the Times building, and to put forth their greatest efforts to apprehend and punish the criminals and to use all possible means to wipe away our proud record as a city this foul stain."

"They ought to use all their power to maintain order and allay all passions engendered by this appalling crime. They owe it to themselves and to the community to repudiate the leadership of men of foul character and anarchistic proclivities; for the most heinous enemy of life and property is the cowardly, skulking anarchist who fights in the dark with dynamite. Our fair city should use every possible means and spare no expense in bringing these enemies of humanity and civilization to justice and to see that they suffer the most extreme punishment for their unspeakable crime. Every lover of free speech, of liberty and of the rights of humanity should contribute his powers to the removal from our city these enemies of our city's life."

"The daily newspaper is one of the greatest deterrents from evil. The newspaper ought to be a leader in all that makes for the betterment of the community and of the world. When the public disapproves of the policy of a newspaper it can protect itself by refusing to subscribe for it or to patronize its advertising columns. But to seek the destruction of the real estate and employes of a great metropolitan newspaper by dynamite is an unspeakable crime. No denunciation nor punishment could be too great for such enemies of human good. Let all the powers of the law and of the community be commanded for their arrest and punishment."

TRINITY CHURCH TAKES ACTION
The following resolution was presented to the congregation of Trinity M. E. church, South, on yesterday and was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, on the morning of October 1, 1910, there occurred a terrible explosion in the building of the Los Angeles Times, causing the death of a number of the employes of said newspaper and inflicting serious personal injuries on others, as well as a great financial loss to the owner of said property; and

"Whereas, all right-thinking people deplore this great catastrophe and heartily sympathize with the bereaved, as well as those who suffered said financial loss; and

"Resolved, further, that these resolutions be spread upon the records of this church and a copy furnished to the press for publication."

Opening of Beautiful Foreign Novelties

The wonderful variety of exquisite effects make it safe to predict one of the greatest seasons in years for richness and elaboration of trimming. Nothing is too rich or too magnificent—yet throughout there is true harmony:

The influence of the Orient is prominent. Persian colorings are everywhere, and many designs are characteristically Eastern. Metallic effects are favorites, beads—of rubber or wood—sprinkle everything, and the color gamut has apparently no end. Possibly the most interesting are—GARNITURES, NOVELTY ALL-OVERS, BANDS AND GALLOONS—many of them separable into trimming motifs—all of them made almost entirely by hand in exquisite fashion.

MARABOU—in colors and cream, will be extremely popular this season for trimming hats, evening wraps and dresses—the recent Fashion Show strikingly exemplified this tendency. We have practically every shade in stock.

FELLOWSHIP AND CHURCH MEMBERS SCORE PERPETRATORS OF OUTRAGE

By a unanimous vote the Los Angeles Fellowship in Blanchard hall yesterday morning passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, that the Los Angeles Fellowship expresses its heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved sufferers from the disaster of Saturday morning; that we condemn the dastardly act of incendiarism and murder and that we extend to the Times our deep sympathy in its misfortune."

The resolution was offered by Henry Harrison, vice president of the Fellowship, board of trustees and seconded by David A. Harrison.

Reynold E. Blight, the minister of the Fellowship, in a vigorous prelude that was warmly applauded by the large audience that filled Blanchard hall, condemned the outrage in outspoken terms.

"The Fellowship stands unworriedly against all violence and hatred," he declared. "Violence and outrage bring about their own defeat, and a cause is never helped forward by crime, incendiarism and assassination. No matter what attitude a citizen may take toward the Times as an institution, he must as a good citizen unsparingly condemn the dastardly outrage of Saturday morning. As good citizens let us fight for the cause of civic righteousness as we see it, but let us fight fair, and dynamite and murder are always indefensible."

"At this time all good citizens are under obligation to do four things: First, to refrain from hasty judgment. Let us know the facts and discover the perpetrators of the crime. Until the evidence is forthcoming we must withhold condemnation of any man or set of men. Second, we must maintain our calm, cool, sober spirit, and from down any attempt to stir up passion or prejudice. Third, we must spare no effort or pains to locate the guilty persons and bring them to justice. Fourth, we must continue the campaign of education until all men shall learn that the cause of brotherhood and civilization is not helped forward by hatred and violent agitation. Only brotherly kindness and love will bring about the reign of brotherhood and fraternity."
