TRY TO LOCATE OSTERHAUS

Captain Alleged to Have Been on Dynamite Schooner Kate Seen at San Pedro

ANOTHER BODY FOUND IN ADJOINING BUILDING

Buried beneath several tons of debris, a body was found last evening on the second floor of the Baumgardt Printing company plant at 116 North Broadway, which was wrecked by the explosion that destroyed the Times building.

While the discovery was made last evening, the matter was not reported until last night. The workman was engaged in removing the rubbish from the second floor when he lifted a bundle of burned papers and saw the body. The shock was too great for the laborer and he dropped his shovel and fled. Last night he appeared and reported the matter to the police. The coroner was notified and will remove the body this morning.

That the power schooner Kate, which is supposed to have brought 500 pounds of nitro-powder to Southern California, reached San Pedro and discharged its cargo is the belief of several detectives working on the dynamiting case. Captain J. Osterhaus, alleged to have been aboard the Kate when the explosive was transferred to that vessel from the Fastime at a secluded part of San Francisco bay, was seen in San Pedro the day following the explosion that wrecked the Times building. It is said the officers now are searching for Osterhaus, but so far have been unable to trace his movements beyond San Pedro.

According to information obtained at San Pedro yesterday, Captain Osterhaus appeared at San Pedro October 2 and remained there for several days. He is well known to the old-time residents of that town, and has been sailing in southern waters for twenty years.

A saloon keeper at San Pedro informed the officers that Osterhaus stated that he was going to San Diego. The officers have been unable to find that he reached San Diego. They now believe he returned to the Kate while the vessel was lying at anchor somewhere outside San Pedro harbor, and sailed for the south.

Osterhaus probably is one of the best informed persons in the Pacific coast. He knows almost every harbor and anchorage from Alaska to the southern part of South America. He is familiar with the small islands off the Mexican coast, and has frequently made trips to uncharted islands in the Pacific ocean off the Central and the South American coasts.

LOOK FOR OSTERHAUS
Owing to the fact that the officers have been unable to get any definite information concerning the movements of the Kate since it was seen in San Francisco bay, they believe the vessel probably was taken to some point off the coast near San Pedro and the powder taken ashore.

The detectives attach great importance to Osterhaus having been seen in San Pedro the day after the explosion, and are bending their efforts toward locating him. If Osterhaus is found, the officers say, it is probable that the identity and whereabouts of the men who purchased the explosive at Giant, Cal., September 23, and had been sailing that arrests will follow within a short time.

The detectives are positive that Osterhaus can get the information that will result in the clearing of the matter that has baffled more than 200 officers who are investigating the case.

With the exception of the developments at San Pedro, practically nothing of importance was accomplished by the officers yesterday. Detectives Jones, Boyd, McNamara and Home are working on clues that have been developed in Los Angeles. As a result of their investigations two men are being kept under surveillance at San Jose.

Handwriting Experts
Following the conference, Browne and the San Francisco police officers returned to the northern city without making an arrest.

Later it was given out that the purpose of the examination of the court reports was to investigate the records of the two men who are now under surveillance as the result of information furnished by Los Angeles detectives.

Pretty Granddaughter of Indian Chief Who Became Bride Yesterday

MRS. H. M. GALLAGHER, FORMERLY MISS LILLIAN BEATRICE GOODE

WEDS DESCENDANT OF INDIAN CHIEF

Phelps-Dodge Auditor and Granddaughter of Native Chief Marry at Alexandria

PLANS WERE KEPT SECRET

Bridal Couple to Pass Honeymoon at Potter, Then to Go to Home at Douglas

Pretty Miss Lillian Beatrice Goode, granddaughter of an Oklahoma Indian chief, became the bride of H. M. Gallagher, auditor of the Phelps-Dodge syndicate, in the ball room of the Hotel Alexandria yesterday.

The couple kept their romance secret from their friends, but the mother of each came to Los Angeles and helped arrange for the wedding. Every effort was made to keep their preparations secret, but guests in the hotel heard what was happening and manifested the liveliest interest in the romance.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ada Goode, wife of a prominent mining man of Oklahoma, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. H. M. Gallagher, witnessed the ceremony. The bride was attired in a neat, close-fitting blue serge tailor-made gown that smacked of the fashion of the wedding in Arizona last night for Santa Barbara. Their honeymoon will be passed at the Hotel Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher, together with their mothers, arrived in Los Angeles Tuesday from Arizona and registered at the Alexandria. It is thought that their friends in Arizona and Oklahoma are unaware of their marriage and that the affair had been carried out as a complete surprise. At the conclusion of the ceremony the bride and groom turned to Douglas and make their home.

DISAPPEARANCE OF G. S. RANUS STILL MYSTERY

LONG BEACH, Oct. 12.—The only new developments today in the case of the mysterious disappearance of G. S. Ranus were the dates secured this morning by Chief of Police Moyer of the dates on which Samuel Apodaca of this city bought and later sold a revolver at a Los Angeles pawnshop. The chief considers these dates as significant. Apodaca is in custody.

left and dumped into an automobile and were driven away. Where they went is not known, but it is thought that they are investigating a clew which will result in an arrest being made at an early date. Neither Rogers nor Flammer would say anything regarding the work being done by the handwriting experts. Prof. Isaacs, when seen last night stated that he was "merely doing a little work for the investigators, and that was all."

After a thorough investigation by Detective William J. Burns, who arrived in Sacramento yesterday morning, George Wallace, who was arrested in that city Tuesday as a suspect in the Times dynamiting case, was released. Soon after the release of Wallace the Sacramento authorities received a message from Chief Galway asking that the suspect be held pending the arrival of an officer from Los Angeles to bring him south for investigation. This request was disregarded and no attempt was made to rearrest Wallace, the northern authorities being convinced that the man knows nothing about the case.

Detective Burns stated that the man is innocent of any connection with the affair.

HOMEOPATHS TO FORM HOSPITAL

Medical Convention Votes $1000 for Southern California Charity Institutions

TECHNICAL PAPERS READ

Dr. Hawkes Opposes National Legislation—Only 'Regulars' in the Army and Navy

The twentieth annual meeting of the Southern California Homeopathic Medical society convened at the Hotel Westminster yesterday morning. Address reports, election of officers for the coming year and the reading of many scientific papers took up the greater portion of the opening day.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. W. J. Hawkes, president of the society, at 10 o'clock in the morning. Dr. Hawkes in his annual address attacked proposed national medical legislation. He said in part:

"The ultimate result of the making of the proposed medical legislation bills into law, no matter what the wording may be, would be the binding hand of the government upon all other healing practice, not indorsed by the American Medical association. Care was taken in the phraseology of the proposed bills that lawmakers and the public generally could find nothing to warrant the claim that such a fear was well grounded. But we know better.

Prof. Irving Fisher's bulletin of the committee of one hundred says: 'The health department would mean death to the quacks.' But a homeopath is to them a quack! They doubtless are honest in their belief—hence it would be a pity to suppress them. It is to suppress all quacks! And if they are honest they will do their best to accomplish that end; they always have tried to suppress us as quacks.

KEPT OUT OF ARMY
"Already, without such legislation and without representation in the cabinet, they are able to keep homeopathic surgeons and all others not of the miscelated 'regular' school out of the army and navy and all other governmental professional positions.

"This can't be altogether accident, nor because all others are unfit. There are nearly 7000 physicians employed by the United States government; all are allopaths—not one is of any other school. Is this the result of accident or of design?

"The National League for Medical Freedom is doing and has already done wonderful work in this matter; and we all, every one of us, should join this association. It costs nothing but the filling out of a blank, which the league will furnish to all who may apply, and a 2-cent stamp.

"Our great need in the furtherance of both our professional and political interests is more of the old-time faith and enthusiasm—the enthusiasm and self-sacrifice of Hahnemann and his disciples and coworkers in the old country; and of Hering, Guernsey, Lippe, Dullman, the Allens and others in our own."

After the president's address, the reports of the secretary and treasurer were read. The report of the secretary was the voting of the $1000 in the society and election of officers for the coming year commenced. It resulted as follows:

OMAHA BACHELOR WILLS HIS NAMESAKE $50,000

Tool Maker Must Earn $2000 a Year to Get Bequest

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 12.—M. P. Winther is a poor toolmaker in a Kenosha factory, but he has an incentive to work, and if he is able to make good at the end of three years he will be in possession of a small fortune.

Winther was named for Martinus Petersen, an eccentric but wealthy bachelor of Omaha, and when the will of Petersen was filed for probate last Saturday it included an inheritance of $50,000 for the Kenosha namesake. However, it was stipulated in the will that before Winther should inherit the money he should show the executors of the will that he is able to command an income of $2000 a year.

Three years is given for Winthers to reach this point. He is now making about $25 a week, but he is something of an artist and he believes that by making pictures by day and working as a toolmaker at night he can reach the point where he can claim his fortune.

CHURCH FACTIONS LINE UP FOR ORGANIZATION FIGHT

Negro Question Is Discussed by National Christians

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 12.—Factions in the Christian churches now in national convention here are lining up for the struggle tomorrow over the basic principles of the church organization.

The disagreement is over what is known as the Philput resolution, providing for an administrative body and the unification of the three missionary organizations in the church. As it is now organized the church has no central body. A committee of eight met in Kansas City last week to form plans to defeat the Philput resolution, and a committee of fifty met today to carry on this work.

The negro question came up for discussion today and was treated at length by E. J. Lehman, president of the Southern Christian institute in Mississippi. He said:

"If we do not take steps to discharge our duty toward the negroes their degeneration will rapidly undermine our society."

"Social conditions of our towns and villages are alarming. Unless we arrest sinister tendencies we must prepare to see in the next fifty or seventy-five years labor strife, mob violence and night rider depredations."

FLOOD CAUSED BY RAIN STOPS KINGSTON TRAFFIC

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 12.—Heavy rains have been falling here since Monday and considerable damage has been done. The fall amounted to nine inches in twenty-four hours, ending at noon today. The thoroughfares are flooded and the railway and street car service is interrupted. The telegraph wires are down between important centers. It is feared that squalls accompanying the rain will have a bad effect on the banana crop.

CHATTANOOGA, Oct. 12.—The Army of the Cumberland, an organization of civil war veterans, is holding its annual reunion in this city. More than 150 old soldiers are present from the central states and other sections. Among these are G. F. Burton, president of the Army of the Cumberland society; Gen. Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio, former congressman and chairman of the Chickamauga park commission, and Gen. Samuel W. Brice, now blind, one of the heroes of the battle of Stone river.
