After measuring a number of the intermediate class he decided it would be necessary to raise the height qualifications from five feet two inches to five feet three inches for boys under 14 years of age.

COMBER TOPPLES BOY FROM PIER INTO SURF

Charles McFarland Disappears Through Hole but Is Soon Rescued

LONG BEACH, Nov. 3.—While sitting on the floor of the lower deck of the pier this morning and fishing through a hole made by the heavy breakers wrenching loose a plank, Charles McFarland, 14 years old, was precipitated into the water by a comber which tipped the board on which he was seated. He clutched at the flooring on either side of him but could not save himself. George Munger, an old-time fisherman, was casting for surf fish nearby and heard the party calling for help. Munger saw the youth's head disappearing through the hole. Running to the spot he seized one of the loose planks, dropped it into the water and yelled to the boy to keep afloat by it until a boat was brought. Munger ran to the outer wharf, and he, with E. B. Counts and George Addis, manned a rowboat and hastened to the lad's rescue. The boy was much frightened and exhausted. After he was lifted into the skiff the pier was closed to general traffic, "danger" sign being posted at the gate.

PROMINENT REAL ESTATE MAN IS CRITICALLY ILL

LONG BEACH, Nov. 3.—S. N. Butters, a well known real estate dealer and property owner, lies critically ill in the Seaside hospital, where he was removed this morning from his apartments in the City. Members of the family were reluctant to discuss the case, but friends said that he had suffered severe nervous prostration brought on by worry over a lawsuit in the east. Mr. Butters had been unwell since returning from a second trip to Chicago and Michigan points a few weeks ago. His mother, Mrs. Mary Butters, died quite suddenly about a year ago, a trip east proving too much for her. A contest regarding the estate was soon started. The family is a prominent one here and Mr. Butters is a prominent member of the Elks' lodge.
