

DECLARE WOMAN'S DEATH ACCIDENT

Relatives of Mrs. Vesta Safford Claim Heart Failure Caused Fall from Automobile

CORONER'S INQUEST WAIVED

Henry O'Melveny Says His Niece Was Frequently Subject to Fainting Spells

That Mrs. Vesta Safford, who was instantly killed in an automobile accident early yesterday morning, was a niece of Henry O'Melveny, a prominent attorney of Los Angeles, and that she was subject to attacks of heart trouble were two disclosures which followed an investigation of the tragedy yesterday.

The woman's relatives believe the deep wound in Mrs. Safford's head, which was directly responsible for her death, was inflicted by the tool box, placed on the side of the automobile. They declare in all probability Mrs. Safford's head struck the sharp corner of the tool box as she plunged to the street.

Coroner Hartwell said last night he was convinced the woman's death was accidental and he could see no reason for holding an inquest.

LIQUOR WAR OVERSHADOWS OREGON POLITICAL RACE

Serious Charges Against Candidates in Webfoot State

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 5.—The most bitter campaign of a decade at least is being fought in Oregon. The center of interest is on the liquor question. There are three initiative measures affecting this matter. One is a so-called "home rule" amendment to the state constitution granting to municipalities complete control of the sale of liquor.

The general impression seems to be that all the liquor amendments and laws will go down to defeat. "Home rule" and prohibition also, but as to the gubernatorial race, only extreme partisans are willing to hazard even a guess. Oregon will elect two congressmen, one from each of its two districts. Willis C. Hawley and A. W. Laferty, Republican candidates from the first and second districts, will both be elected, probably by overwhelming majorities, over Robert C. Smith and John Manning, Democrats.

GIVE YOUR STOMACH A NICE VACATION

Don't Do It By Starving It Either—Let a Substitute Do the Work.

The old adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," applies just as well to the stomach, one of the most important organs of the human system, as it does to the man himself. If your stomach is worn out and rebels against being further taxed beyond its limit, the only sensible thing you can do is to give it a rest. Employ a substitute for a short time and see if it will not more than repay you in results.

Dyspepsia Tablets are a willing and most efficient substitute. They themselves digest every bit of food in the stomach in just the same way that the stomach itself would, were it well. They contain all the essential elements that the gastric juice and other digestive fluids of the stomach contain and actually act just the same as do just the same work as the natural fluids would do, were the stomach well and sound. They, therefore, relieve the stomach, just as one workman relieves another, and permit it to rest and recuperate and regain its normal health and strength.

This "vacation" idea was suggested by the letter of a prominent lawyer in Chicago. Read what he says: "I was engaged in the most momentous undertaking of my life in bringing about the coalition of certain great interests that meant much to me as well as my clients. It was not the work of days, but of months. I was working night and day almost, when at a very critical time my stomach went clear back on me. The undue mental strain brought it about and hurried up what would have happened later on.

"What I ate I had to literally force down and it was a source of misery as I had a sour stomach much of the time. My head ached, I was sluggish and began to lose my ambition to carry out my undertaking. It looked pretty gloomy for me and I confided my plight to one of my clients. He had been cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and at once went down to a drug store and brought a box up to the office.

"I had not taken a quarter of that box before I found that they would do all the work my stomach ever did; and as a rest or vacation was out of the question for me I determined to give my stomach a vacation. I kept right on taking the tablets and braced up and went ahead with my work with renewed vigor, at just as much as I ever did and carried out that undertaking to a successful issue. I feel that I have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to thank for saving me the handsome fee I ever received as well as my reputation and last but not least my stomach. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box.

COURT ANNULS MARRIAGE PERFORMED ILLEGALLY

Woman Who Reweds Too Soon After Divorce Gets Second Wedding Revoked

Testimony to the effect that she did not know that she had to wait a year after receiving an interlocutory decree of divorce before marrying again gained for Maud R. Rudisill an annulment of her marriage to Jacob House.

The case was heard yesterday before Judge Conroy, of the superior court. The plaintiff told the court her marriage to John R. Rudisill in Mitchell, South Dakota, November 22, 1901, and of her coming to Los Angeles six years later, filing a divorce complaint and obtaining a decree. She went to Lawrence, Kansas, where House asked her to be his wife and she accepted. When the ceremony was performed for her and House she had not obtained her final decree of divorce, but she said an attorney told her it was legal to marry again after being granted the interlocutory instrument. She thought she was House's legal wife until she read in a newspaper of a case similar to hers and so she consulted another attorney who told her that she and House were not legally united in marriage. She remained with House two weeks after that, in which period he informed her that he would not so through the marriage ceremony again with her. She said that she would have been willing to remain his wife.

Judge Conroy continued until November 25 the case of Ethel A. Gillen against Frank C. Gillian from whom she wishes to be divorced, alleging that her husband has been convicted of a felony. The reason for the postponement is that it is desired to make a correction in an affidavit of summons. The defendant, it is said, received summons on the original complaint but not upon the amended complaint by which it is hoped to obtain a decree.

The same judge awarded alimony of $50 a month, $200 as attorney's fees and $300 as costs, to Mildred Barce, pending the hearing of the divorce action she has instituted against James W. Barce on the grounds of cruelty. He has filed a cross-complaint alleging infidelity. The couple are said to be possessors of community property valued at $25,000.

Two new suits for divorce were filed with the county clerk yesterday. They are those of W. H. M. Dickerson against Charlotte Dickerson and Ellen Patterson against Hanlon Patterson. Frances L. Amos instituted an action for the annulment of her marriage to Henry W. Wilson. She says she had another husband living at the time she went through the marriage ceremony with Wilson.

WATER COMPANY DESIRES RIGHT TO RAISE RATES

The Los Angeles county waterworks has asked the city council to amend the ordinance fixing rates that may be charged for water within the city limits, so that it may charge higher rates for a private water company, but it serves some of the people who live in the "shoe-string" strip, and it is these consumers the company believes should pay more.

In its petition the company says it can show that because the water has to be pumped from deep wells at great expense, it is losing money on the water it furnishes the city consumers.

BEVANI OPERA COMPANY SCORES DOUBLE TRIUMPH

Performances Remarkable for Excellence, and Houses Filled to Capacity

BY FLORENCE BOSARD LAWRENCE The Bevani opera company achieved a double triumph yesterday with two performances, each one remarkable for excellence. Both houses were filled to capacity, and in the evening more than six hundred persons were turned away from the doors. The work of these singers entirely justifies such popularity and the opera season promises to become one of the most important of the musical year.

Margaret Jarman, a Los Angeles girl, made her first appearance on a local stage last evening, singing the magnificent role of Azucena in "Il Trovatore," to the Leonora of Anna Frey and the Maricco of Eugenio Battaini. The entire cast was splendid, the ensembles were well balanced, and solos and concerted numbers were given with discrimination. Miss Jarman has a strong contralto voice, full of color and capable of great emotional intensity. She is endowed also with a physique of attractive proportions and shows remarkable dramatic ability. This young woman has had a limited operatic experience, but her reading of the old 1838 mother, her depiction of the passions with which the part is so replete, would

Watch The Herald for The Fortune Hunter

The Herald has made arrangements with Messrs. Cohan & Harris, the owners of "The Fortune Hunter," which comes to the Mason opera house two weeks, commencing November 14, to publish the story in detail, accompanied with pictures of the main scenes, commencing Wednesday, November 9.

There will be some novel features connected with this publication and it would be wise for The Herald's readers to follow the story daily, for it will not only give them an opportunity of reading the story of "The Fortune Hunter" but they may also derive personal benefits of which detail announcement will be made later in the columns of this paper.

Be sure and watch The Herald for further announcement.

CONTRACTORS ARE SHOT DOWN BY BLACK HAND GANG

Four Italians Dying as Result of Mysterious Attacks

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Four Italians are dying as a result of mysterious Black Hand attacks in three widely separated sections of the city today. Dominick Tofoni, a wealthy Harlem saloonkeeper, was halted by three masked men while on his way home and blackjacked into unconsciousness. Vilano Vilerno, a merchant, was pushed beneath a street car in the Italian colony after a quarrel with two unidentified companions and received fatal injuries. Antonio Ringino and Gaetano Fortio, small contractors, were walking together on the lower east side, when they were surrounded by a gang of young Italians and shot down. Both will die. All the assailants escaped.

MRS. STREIGHT IS GUILTY, DECLARES JURY AT WACO

Woman Who Killed Husband Sentenced to Life Imprisonment

WACO, Tex., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Minnie Lee Streight, charged with the murder of her husband, T. E. Streight at McGregor, Tex., June 18 last, was found guilty of murder in the first degree in the fourth district court here today. Her punishment was fixed at life imprisonment. The defendant, who was lying on a cot, which she has been forced to occupy for several weeks, sobbed convulsively when the verdict was announced, but did not speak. Streight, one of the best known newspaper men in the state, was shot in the forehead with a pistol and killed on the night of June 18. His wife admitted the killing, but asserted that Streight, as a result of domestic troubles, had attempted to cut her with a razor. The state claimed that Streight was asleep when shot. Counsel for the defense will ask for a new trial.

COURT FIXES WEIGHT FOR LOAF OF KANSAS BREAD

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 5.—The state supreme court decided today that a loaf of bread must weigh sixteen ounces or it was not a full loaf.

John McCoat, a Leavenworth baker, was arrested because he did not label his bread that Streight was asleep when shot. Counsel for the defense will ask for a new trial. The supreme court affirmed the decision.
