Clever Artists to Take Part in Interesting Show at Blanchard Hall

Tonight occurs the benefit performance arranged through the efforts of The Herald to raise money to assist Mrs. Dolores Vidal, a worthy widow, in paying off a lien put against her home for the improvement of Mission road. The performance will be one of unusual merit for the reason that the response to The Herald appeal for talent was generous beyond all expectation. The program which has been arranged is interesting throughout. The performance will be given in Blanchard hall, beginning at 8 o'clock. There has been a most satisfactory sale of tickets for the concert and a crowded house is assured. All the tickets are not gone, however, and more may be obtained at The Herald office, Mullen & Bluet and with William Elmers at 1519 Santee street. In the evening tickets will be sold at the door. The hall is on the second story of the Blanchard building, Broadway entrance.

Widow Whose Humble Home Is to Be Saved Her by Generous People

MRS. DOLORES VIDAL

Mayor Alexander Indorses Benefit Performance to Assist Mrs. Vidal

The Herald's plan to give a benefit performance at Blanchard hall Tuesday night for the benefit of Mrs. Dolores Vidal is a most worthy charity, and I hope the people of Los Angeles will patronize it well. It is most unfortunate that a poor widow who has had to struggle hard to acquire her little home should lose it on account of an assessment for a boulevard for which she has no use. This is Thanksgiving time, and those of us who have much to be thankful for should remember the widow to whom Thanksgiving may mean the loss of her little home unless the street assessment lien against her property is lifted.—Mayor George Alexander.

THIEF ENTERS CHURCH; WOMEN'S HATS HIS LOOT

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Fifty Brooklyn young women, members of the congregation of the Roman Catholic church, are today bewailing the loss of their new winter millinery. While attending a special communion service yesterday, at which they had exchanged their hats for white veils, a thief entered the cloak room and stole $700 worth of alpacas, plumes and feathers.

NOTED BIRD MEN AGREE TO SOAR AT DOMINGUEZ

Hoxsey, Brookins and Parmalee Will Take Part in January Aviation Meet

Hoxsey, Brookins and Philip O. Parmalee, who has succeeded Johnstone in the title of Wright flyers in the west, will come to Los Angeles to take part in the January aviation meet. Roy Knabenshue, manager of the Wright exhibition department, left Los Angeles last night for San Francisco to make arrangements for bringing the men here. Mr. Knabenshue is enthusiastic over the prospects for a successful meet and says he expects that he was willing to donate his services to make the Los Angeles aviation contests the best ever held in the United States. The January meet will be held on Dominguez field. The Aero Club of America has sanctioned a meet of ten days, from January 12 to 22, and the bird men will fly under the auspices of the Aero Club of Los Angeles. A committee made up from the chamber of commerce, the realty board, the clearing house association, city council and other bodies is working to make the meeting a big success, and invitations, coupled with the proper financial inducements have been sent to practically all of the conspicuously successful flyers now in America. Among them are the Wright brothers, Hamilton, Moisant, Grahame-White, Latham and Glenn Curtiss. It is expected that most of these men will come here, as they realize that Southern California climatic conditions make Los Angeles the ideal spot for winter flights. Last year's meet resulted in a lot of fractured records, most of which have since been broken in the east. Los Angeles is after these eastern records, and men who flew here last year say there is no reason why the new records should not be smashed again, on conditions here being, they declare, the best in the country.

WIFE SLAYS MAN WHO PURSUES HER

Mrs. De Vita Shoots Abele Brove Who She Says Tried to Break Up Her Home

INFATUATION CAUSES DEED
Woman Declares Victim Threatened to Kill Her Unless She Would Elope

Mrs. Angela Maria De Vita, an Italian living at 1426 East Sixty-first street, is in the city jail, charged with the killing of Abele Brove, also an Italian, who, the woman asserted, disturbed the peace of her home. Despite the seriousness of the charge against her, Mrs. De Vita declares she killed Brove on principle, and that she does not regret her act. A trial by jury, the woman says, will clear her of all blame. "He said he would blow my house to atoms, kill me and burn up my children if I didn't run away with him," said Mrs. De Vita as she entered her cell. "What man who talks like that to a happily married woman has any right to live? I killed him because he deserved it." Mrs. De Vita says Brove had tried to get her to leave her husband for two months. Yesterday morning she visited a friend in a lone street, and as she came out of the house she was met at the gate by Brove. She says they walked together as far as Frutkin park. Brove, trying to persuade her to go away with him. After a time the woman says she became tired of Brove's importuning and boarded a car for home. She says Brove followed her. At Main and College streets, according to Mrs. De Vita, he jumped on the car step, and grabbing her by the waist, tried to pull her to the ground. "SHOTS MAN FIVE TIMES" "But I was prepared," said Mrs. De Vita. "I carried a small revolver inside my waist, and I pulled it out. I shot the man five times until all the chambers of my revolver were empty." Patrolman Heaston heard the shots and rushed to the scene in time to see the woman standing over Brove's body. She was waving her revolver and crying: "I'm glad I did it. He deserved what I've given him!" She made no effort to resist arrest. Mrs. De Vita is the wife of a junk dealer and has four children, the youngest about nineteen months old. She is 35 years old and has been married about thirteen years. Brove was a carpenter living at 414 Pine street.

FESTIVAL AND BAZAAR OF HOLY CROSS OPENS

Costume Dance Will Close Church Fair to Raise Fund for Parochial School

The festival and bazaar by the societies of the Holy Cross church opened last evening. Arranged about the new parochial hall were daintily decorated tables with useful and fancy articles for sale, the tables being presided over by prominent members of the various societies represented. Throughout the evening an orchestra of ten pieces furnished a musical program. Judge Paul McCormick was to have delivered an address, but was prevented from being present on account of a severe cold. One of the principal features of the evening was the "kangaroo court," which caused much mirth and netted a neat sum for the general fund. The festival will be continued four evenings, to close on Thanksgiving evening with a fancy costume dance. The funds realized will be used on the new parochial school building recently erected on the church grounds which has a debt of $3000. The Holy Name society had general charges of the hall and the various tables conducted by the parish societies were in charge of popular maids and matrons as follows: Sodality of the Immaculate Conception table decorated in the sodality colors of blue and white was in charge of Misses C. Mullin, D. Fahey, R. Knapper and Dr. de la Hautiere, assisted by thirty members of the sodality. Candy and flowers were sold at this table. St. Joseph's decorated in martial red and blue was in charge of Misses M. Chandler, J. O'Grady and A. O'Neil, assisted by twelve members. Children's table where holly, ferns, toys and gifts for children were sold was in charge of Misses Julia Kilfoin and Anna Lane, assisted by the parents of the children taking part. The Holy Name table in red and white was presided over by Misses C. O'Toole and J. Tepe, selling needlework, assisted by members of the Holy Name circle. The Sacred Heart table in green and white with furniture and a fish pond as special attractions was in charge of Misses J. Schabacher, J. Clark and T. Flannery, assisted by members of the Sacred Heart circle. The dining room is in charge of the women of St. Anthony's and St. Elizabeth's circles, with Misses J. Preter, Huck, P. Horan and C. P. Cooke in charge.

POLICE CHIEF'S ARREST IS THREATENED BY DEAN

Former Secretary Says He Will Get Warrant Charging Galloway with Falsifying

If Harry E. Dean does what he said last night he would do, a warrant will be served on Alexander Galloway, chief of police, today, charging him with malfeasance in office. Dean filed additional charges against the chief Saturday and he declared last night that if the police commission took no action on the matter a warrant today would charge the chief with falsifying records. No action was taken by the commission on the additional charge except to file it without reading. In this charge Dean declared that Chief Galloway had urged Fred L. Baker, president of the Baker Iron works, to buy some stock the chief owned in an industrial corporation at the time Baker wanted additional police protection for his iron works. Dean encloses what purports to be a copy of the letter written by the chief to Mr. Baker, in which the phrase "I need the money" is written in capital letters and the chief explains he is not using a slang phrase but is much in earnest. But while no action was taken in public, in the meantime was a long session behind the closed doors of the mayor's office, preceding the public meeting that lasted nearly two hours. It was one of the longest executive sessions the police commission has ever held and the members admitted after it was over that the charge against the chief had been under discussion.

BISHOP SAYS FILIPINOS WILL ASK INDEPENDENCE

Methodist Leader Tells Clergy-men of Oriental Conditions

"I expect to read in the newspaper of tomorrow that the Philippine assembly has framed petitions for the United States for immediate independence," said Bishop W. F. Oldham of India before the Methodist preachers' association yesterday at the First Methodist church. The bishop spoke in high praise of the leading men of the Philippines. He strongly advocated the Aldrich bill for the formal admission of the conditions of the Philippine islands. "More good missionary influences are being brought to bear from the outside than the inside of the walls of China," said the bishop. In speaking of the overcrowded conditions of China and the doors closed against the orient, the bishop said: "The missionaries for the Chinese not to force themselves against closed doors but to enter the portals of southeastern Asia, where the land and opportunities are awaiting them." J. J. Wallace, lieutenant governor-elect, was introduced to the meeting amid much enthusiasm. He said: "I must give the credit to the Royal Asiatic society and the liquor interests for their assistance in my election. The literature they distributed reacted against them, for people decided to vote for the other fellow, whom the liquor men did not advocate."

BODY OF INFANT FOUND UNDER HEAP OF RUBBISH

The police are investigating the circumstances connected with the finding of a six or eight-months-old white girl baby in a rubbish heap at 117 North Mountain View avenue by two colored women, Miss E. W. Walker and Miss A. Thierman, yesterday afternoon. The infant was found buried deep in the rubbish and wrapped in several thicknesses of newspaper. It had been dead several hours. Later it was learned that the rubbish had been carried to Mountain View avenue by H. S. Smith, a driver living at 1028 East Fifty-sixth street. Smith said he had a regular rubbish route and that during the morning he had been his rounds. Smith believes he can assist the police in identifying the baby. The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Breese Bros.

With the avowed intention of walking from Los Angeles to Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Jarbeau will leave River station at 7 o'clock this morning on their long "hike," carrying with them postcards and literature advertising this city. The couple, who are 22 and 21 years of age respectively, according to their story, have been traveling about the country on trains and steamships for several months, and now, being tired of that mode of travel, are going to try it on foot. The couple applied to the chamber of commerce yesterday for a commission from that body. They expect to make the trip in 125 days.

TWO MEN SEEK $60,000 DAMAGES FROM RAILROAD

The Athlison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad company is defendant in two damage suits transferred yesterday from the northern to the southern district of the United States circuit courts. George A. Cook of Bakersfield, an engineer formerly employed by the railroad company, is the plaintiff in one and George H. Farmer, a rancher of Tulare, is the plaintiff in the other. Cook asks for $25,766 because of injuries he suffered in the explosion of an engine in the Bakersfield yards August 27 which, he claims, was caused from a defect in the boiler. Farmer asks for $35,000 as a claim for injuries he received June 4, 1910, when a Santa Fe train is alleged to have struck his horse and buggy at a railroad crossing near Tulare, smashing the buggy, killing the horse and injuring the plaintiff.

CONSTRUCTION STARTED ON NEW DOCK AND WAREHOUSE

The Crescent Wharf and Warehouse company yesterday morning began the construction of a dock and warehouse in East San Pedro, which when completed will be one of the most modern on the Pacific coast. The warehouse itself will be 6x 240 feet in size and will be so arranged that boats can load and unload directly to and from railroad cars. At present there is twenty-four feet of water where the new dock will stand, but the piers have been driven for thirty feet of water.

A. H. Secombe, a pawnbroker living at 1837 East First street, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Boyd and Jones and placed in jail on a charge of embezzling a diamond ring valued at $450, the property of A. B. Boyce. According to Boyce, he secured a $150 loan on the ring from Secombe last May. The latter part of October Boyce said he returned the loan with interest and asked for his ring. Secombe told Boyce he had sold it. Boyce waited nearly a month for the pawnbroker to return his ring before causing his arrest.
