

GIRL KILLED BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT

Son of Mrs. d'Arman of Monrovia, Who Slew Husband's Admirer, Fires Fatal Bullet

PREPARING TO GO HUNTING

Boy Cleaning Pistol in Home When It Is Discharged, Visitor Being Victim

MONROVIA, Nov. 26.—Florence Price, the 16-year-old daughter of John T. Price, living in North Grand avenue, was shot and almost instantly killed at 4 o'clock this afternoon by Cecil d'Arman, 15 years old, the son of Mrs. E. Z. d'Arman, who shot and killed her husband's admirer, Mrs. Helen Griffith, known to the Arcadia racing element as "Lady Bountiful," April 1, 1908. The death of the girl was due to the accidental discharge of a revolver and occurred in the d'Arman home, a short distance from where Mrs. Griffith met her tragic death more than two years ago.

The girl was visiting at the d'Arman home in the Savage apartments in West Orange avenue. Cecil d'Arman and a friend, Harvey Leonard, had planned a hunting trip for Sunday and were in a room examining and cleaning a shotgun and revolver. Miss Price entered the room and brushed against Cecil d'Arman, striking the revolver. Suddenly there was a loud report and Miss Price gave a piercing shriek and fell to the floor unconscious. Young d'Arman was terror stricken and for a few moments was unable to realize what had happened. He finally threw the weapon to the floor, ran to where the girl was bleeding from a wound in her abdomen and moaned that he did not know the revolver was loaded.

A physician was summoned immediately, and despite his efforts the girl continued to sink until she died within twenty minutes after being shot. The bullet had ranged upward and penetrated both walls of the stomach. The revolver belonged to the Leonard boy and was taken to the d'Arman home, whence the lads intended to start on their hunting trip early this morning.

The tragic death of the young girl completely unnerved Mrs. d'Arman. It evidently recalled to her mind the tragedy of April 1, 1908, when she waited for an hour at the little post-office at Monrovia, where she calmly drew a small revolver from her muff and fired the shots that ended the life of Mrs. Griffith, who had alienated the affections of her husband and openly flaunted the fact in the face of Mrs. d'Arman and her children.

Following the acquittal of Mrs. d'Arman of the killing of Mrs. Griffith, she had a severe attack of nervous prostration and it was thought for a time that her mind would be permanently unbalanced.

The body of the Price girl was taken to the undertaking parlors of J. J. Renaker of Monrovia, where the coroner will hold an inquest Monday.

Art Notes

BY ELIZABETH WAGGONER

The Ebells of Los Angeles will hold the second annual arts and crafts exhibition and sale at the clubhouse on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 28, 29 and 30. A program on the subject of arts and crafts will be given in the Auditorium Monday afternoon for the club members, Miss Leta Horlocker speaking on "Arts and Crafts as They Are Related to Everyday Life," Miss May Gehardt taking the subject of "Handicrafts in the Public Schools" and Hector Alliot discussing "The Craftsman of the Future." The opening reception and musicale will take place Monday evening, and on the two days following the exhibition will be open to the public from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

technical achievement. A landscape that is immediately singled out for consideration is the strikingly decorative "Reflections." Another canvas showing a fine decorative sense is the "Elysian Hilltop." "Cliffs at Del Mar" is beautiful in color, and the "Misty Day" is one of the most poetical things in the collection. "Topanga" is a noteworthy addition to the renditions we have had of this most paintable region. "Sunny Slopes" shows a fine vitality of expression, and "Gathering Storm" is most successful in the suggestion of its ominously blue sea, more threatening than the skies above.

Beginning December 5 and for two weeks following John A. Donovan will show some twenty-five or thirty canvases at the Steckel gallery. Mr. Donovan is well known as a painter of marines and his coming exhibition of paintings will show the sea in all its moods and atmospheric effects. He prefers to paint the deep sea and knows his subject thoroughly. With the exception of two small marines which were among the best things shown at the Chautauqua exhibition at Long Beach last summer this is the first time Mr. Donovan has exhibited here for three years, and the exhibition will consequently be awaited with much interest.

The exhibition of portraits by Jean Mannheim will continue for another week at Herbert Hallett's gallery in the Blanchard building. This is the first time that the interesting portrait of John W. Mitchell has been exhibited by the artist, and also the first public view of the recently completed portrait of James B. Lankershim in uniform as a colonel on the governor's staff. Among the most delightful of the paintings shown are the two so-called "portraits" of babies. The jutting down of fleeting impressions, as all child portraits must, seem to contain the very essence of childhood. The sketch known as "The New Hat" is remembered as one of the most spirited bits of painting in the exhibition when it was first shown here, and a head of an old man is noteworthy as a study in expression of character.

CROWD HAS A GALA TIME IN HAMBURGER'S TOYLAND

Miniature City of Christmas Gifts Delights Throng of Mothers and Happy Kiddies

There was a record breaking crowd in the toy department of Hamburger's great white store yesterday—no scarcely less of a surprise to the management of the store than to those who composed the throng. Screens separating the department from others on the same floor were removed, and during the day thousands of enthusiastic mothers and happy children packed the aisles between the beautiful array of toys and holiday novelties of every description.

One hundred and twenty-five clerks were called to the department and they were not enough to wait on the throng. As many more will be employed to take care of the rush that is anticipated now that the toy department is open for the holiday season. The last trip of buyers to the toy centers of Europe lasted three months and resulted in the addition to the mammoth stock already purchased of every novelty obtainable on the other side of the Atlantic. The display, therefore, probably is as great as can be seen in any store on the Pacific coast.

No wonder the children were happy yesterday, and their happiness was accentuated by the presence of Santa Claus, who distributed candy, and George B. Beckwith, a well known clown, with his trick dog, from Barnum & Bailey's circus. A space of 200x165 feet on the fourth floor has been devoted to the display. Fifty feet of the same floor has been reserved for additional stock which may be called for at any moment it may be needed.

OH, FAREWELL, YOU BOY JOY RIDERS!

Amendments to Ordinance Forbid Operation of Motor Vehicles by Those Under 18

JAIL SENTENCE IS ABOLISHED

Police Traffic Squad Will Toot Whistles on Street Corners to Avoid Congestion

Amendments to the traffic ordinance that will make some radical changes were adopted by the legislation committee at its session yesterday morning and will be presented to the city council for incorporation into the ordinance Tuesday.

One radical change is that no one can operate an automobile or any other motor vehicle, which includes motorcycles, who is less than 18 years old. That means that boys cannot take out their papas' automobiles for joy rides any more. Neither can children scorch around the streets on the "spitting devils."

The amendments to the traffic ordinance were approved by the police commission, but Mayor Alexander, president of the commission, and John Topham, commissioner, both said yesterday that they did not know the elimination of the jail sentence was included in the amendments. They were prepared by Sergeant Butler of the traffic squad and this particular amendment was written in Sergeant Butler's handwriting.

Commissioner Topham declared he would not have approved this particular amendment had he known it was included and the mayor made the same statement at first. But after thinking it over the mayor said that he was not strongly opposed to the elimination of this provision.

"As far as I know there have been but two jail sentences since the ordinance has been in effect," the mayor said. "The judges do not like to impose jail sentences and when such a sentence is involved it is difficult to convict an offender." For that reason many persons who should have been punished have escaped altogether.

LET YOUR STOMACH HAVE ITS OWN WAY

Do Not Try to Drive and Force It to Work When It Is Not Able or You Will Suffer All the Time

You cannot treat your stomach as some men treat their horse; force, drive or even starve it into doing work at which it rebels. The stomach is a patient and faithful servant and will stand much abuse and ill treatment before it "talks," but when it does you had better go slow with it and not attempt to make it work. Some people have the mistaken idea that they can make their stomachs work by starving themselves. They might cure the stomach that way, but it would take so long that they would have no use for a stomach when they got through. The sensible way out of the difficulty is to let the stomach rest if it wants to, and employ a substitute to do its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do the work of your stomach for you and digest your food just as your stomach used to when it was well. You can prove this by putting your food in a glass jar with one of the tablets and sufficient water and you will see the food digested in just the same time as the digestive fluids of the stomach would do it. That will satisfy your mind. Now to satisfy both your mind and body take one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating—eat all and what you want—fasting you will find digested because you will feel no disturbance or weight in your stomach; in fact, you will forget all about having a stomach, just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act in a natural way because they contain only the natural elements of the gastric juices and other digestive fluids of the stomach. It makes no difference what condition the stomach is in they go right ahead of their own accord and do their work. They know their business and surrounding conditions do not influence them in the least. They relieve the weak stomach of all its burdens and give it its much-needed rest and permit it to become strong and healthy.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. They are so well known and their popularity is so great that a druggist would as soon think of being out of alcohol or quinine as of them. In fact, physicians are prescribing them all over the land, and if your own doctor is real honest with you he will tell you that there is nothing on earth so good for dyspepsia as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.
