

Opening Day of Pasadena Racket Test Attracts Fandom

GLASSY TENNIS SHOWN IN FIRST MATCHES OF MARYLAND TOURNEY

Bundy, McLoughlin, Mace, Sinsabaugh and Other Court Stars Furnish Plenty of Thrills for Crowd of Fans—New Hotel Courts Christened in Happy Style—May and Florence Sutton Will Play Today—Women's Matches Are Scheduled for Morning and Afternoon. Galusha-Herd Match Attracts

Fast and snappy tennis, a pair of perfect cement courts bordered with evergreen shrubbery that only California can boast, a typical, appreciative lawn tennis crowd, combined to make the second annual midwinter tournament of the Pasadena Tennis club on the Maryland hotel courts an assured success. Although there were no surprises in the final count of the day's play, there was enough of the three-set variety to make it interesting, and everyone voted the affair "the best ever."

One of the best matches of the program, that between Gerald Young and Nat Browne, was called on account of darkness with a score of one-set-all and two-games-all. The match will be resumed today. Young played at the net the majority of the time, Browne taking his stand behind the baseline and only coming in to kill. In driving the local player has the best of the argument, while the ex-junior Duarte title holder excels at the volleying game. Their meeting today should prove one of the best of the program.

One that looked like a pretty exhibition before the play, Mace and Herd vs. Bundy and McLoughlin, was too one-sided to produce many thrills. Both members of the losing pair were off their stride and neither serve nor drive was in right working shape. On the other hand the winner at Longwood, McLoughlin, and the winner at Newport, Bundy, drove and served in great style, working together wonderfully for their debut as a double team.

If volleying can win the national championship, Bundy and McLoughlin will be easy winners. Both are strong at the net and on the angle shots. An eastern expert is quoted as saying: "Only a pair of volley players can defeat Hackett and Alexander." If this is true, the Californians should take the title in short fashion.

One of the matches that drew the attention of the crowd was the Galusha-Herd contest. It was nip and tuck from start to finish, the veteran making a hard fight for every game but the youngster having just enough to put over the deciding points. Galusha is a hard fighter and although influenced to a great extent by climatic conditions he is not beaten until the last stroke is won and lost. Any match in which he engages is sure of a well-filled gallery.

Today's program promises even a better collection of matches than yesterday's, with Bundy and McLoughlin scheduled for their first appearances in the singles event. Miss May Sutton will also be on the morning's program and a large assembly is expected to welcome her play.

The results of the day's play were as follows:

Invitation doubles, preliminary round—Horrell and Newell, Holmes and Bell, Bacon and Young, Browne and Duncan, Johnson and Horrell, Mace and Herd, Bundy and McLoughlin, byes, Sinsabaugh and Hopper 1, Barker and Barker, 6-1, 6-4.

JOHNSON WILL ENDEAVOR TO STOP BARNSTORMING

American League Chief Declares Practice Followed by World's Champions Must Cease

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Harmony will rule in the forthcoming meeting of the two major leagues December 12 in New York, according to E. B. Johnson, president of the American league.

As in the past, there will be 154 games in the American, and from present indications the same number will be selected by the National league.

"Save for the election of four directors—two from the eastern clubs and two from the west—there won't be a great deal of business," said President Johnson. "During the course of the two league sessions I hope to confer with Mr. Lynch relative to the arrangement of playing dates for 1911, when, in a later meeting, the schedules will be drafted and acted upon."

"In addition to the schedule matter, Mr. Lynch and I will urge the passage of a new rule prohibiting the world's champions of any year to participate in barnstorming games following the close of the title series. To have a band of champions out of condition troop off to other countries and play with opposing teams in the highest stage of perfect condition and purchase, suffer defeats, cheapens baseball. This exhibition trip will have to stop."

SPORTING GOSSIP

Here's another—fresh from the east. The date line explains its news value: PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—Reports from the west make statements to the effect that Jim Jeffries is making frantic efforts to discover who dumped him on that fatal Fourth of July. In fact, these reports even go far enough to insinuate that a small fortune is being squandered in research work and that the Jeffries family is turning itself into a detective bureau, having purchased a bloodhound, as yet the trail has led only into the confines of mystery. The coroner's jury cannot even produce the corpse. All the followers of the alleged boxer are being scoured in research work and that the Jeffries family is turning itself into a detective bureau, having purchased a bloodhound, as yet the trail has led only into the confines of mystery.

The intercollegiate football championship of Southern California for the year 1910 is a tie. This decision was rendered at a special meeting last night of delegates from the different schools concerned. Russell represented Long Beach, Pelton Throp, Redin, U. S. C. and Redcliffe Santa Ana. Pelton was elected temporary chairman of the board.

One delegate from each school was selected to attend a meeting to be held one week after Christmas, when a better schedule will be arranged for next year.

The matter of the championship was then taken up and after a long debate the delegates decided that a tie was the only satisfactory way of settling the question.

GRAFT PROBERS TO GET TUBE BOOKS

New York Legislative Committee Trying to Trace $300,000 Boodle Fund

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The books of the Metropolitan turf association, an organization of bookmakers which flourished before the passage of the Hughes anti-betting bill, will be placed before the legislative graft investigating committee tomorrow.

This announcement was made tonight by Isidor Kresel, counsel for the committee. He said James J. Evans, treasurer of the association, who was subpoenaed on Wednesday, had agreed to appear, bringing the books on the tracks of the jockey club. Many of its members were men of wealth.

Testimony heard by the committee that influenced members of the jockey club had run a fund of $300,000 at a dinner at the Hotel Hamilton. The Hughes race track bill was characterized by August Belmont, president of the club, as "a piece of legislation which would wipe out the jockey club, chief counsel for the committee, estimated yesterday at least $250,000 was contributed. Only a few names, however, have been uncovered, and these have all been individuals for "legal services" and "special services."

It is known that "special services" may be construed and will seek a definition tomorrow from F. K. Sturgis, treasurer of the jockey club.

PLAYERS LOSE SELVES IN DREAMY WALTZ MAZES

Thespians and Smart Set Dance Until Dawn

Shining lights in the local theatrical world, as well as those who have taken up on Goldan's Broadway, were present at the actors' ball in the Golden-Bosley hall last night. Society and the matinee girls were also present and added to the festivity of the occasion. A grand orchestra, on a bow of dancing and flowers at one end of the ballroom, launched the popular airs of the day, and the men began to waltz before the earlier arrivals thought of going home.

The ball was given by the Players' Country Club under the auspices of the Theatrical Treasures' association. The floor space was crowded with dancers shortly after the opening of the ball at midnight.

Among the theatrical people present were William Faversham and his wife, Countess de Swirsky; Anna Pavlova, the dancer; Lewis Stone, Marjorie Rambau, Eleanor Gordon, Dick Ferris, Florence Stone, A. Byron Beasley and others.

SULLIVAN MAY BE GIVEN BOUQUET

Baron Long Offers to Bet $1000 His Boy Can Win from Jim Flynn

Jim Flynn has finally found something to do. The Fighting Fireman, after vainly seeking for a match, was accommodated yesterday, when Promoter McCarey agreed to a bout with Dan Sullivan, the date being undecided. In all probability some December day will be selected, as Sullivan is anxious to get in action and prefers an early opportunity to show.

Not only will the men battle for a winner's and loser's end of their cut of the gate receipts, but a $1000 bet is also among the possibilities. Baron Long, who is handling Sullivan, wired his desire to wager a bunch of the filthy on his boy's chances, and as Flynn has all along talked about a side issue, some coin is apt to change hands.

Long thinks pretty well of Sullivan and is perfectly satisfied to let his money express this opinion. As soon as Flynn signifies his willingness to bet, the former Jeffries Athletic club chief will send down a certified check. The only condition Long imposes is that the bout be scheduled for at least twenty rounds, at catch weights.

Flynn is ready to fight at any time and give the usual good account of himself. The fireman has been putting in some strenuous afternoons at Jack Doyle's gymnasium and with a little more training will be in San Francisco and as soon as a date is decided on will come south with Manager Long and select a training camp.

BIDS FOR BREAKWATER OPENED; RUSSELL'S LOW

Estimates Will Go to Washington, and Work May Be Started in Ninety Days

Of the four estimates received for the filling of the 1800-foot opening at the shore end of the breakwater at San Pedro, that of W. S. Russell was the lowest, and the contract probably will be let to him. His bid was for $1.38 a ton to lay the rock as required by the government's specifications. Mr. Russell recently came here from the north, where he has been building a number of large dams for the Nevada-California power company.

While one of the bids was 29 cents in excess of Mr. Russell's, the other two came but a little higher. By contract with the U. S. Army, the North American Dredging company $1.04, and Sharruck-Biddinger company $1.67. The bid was received on Monday at 10 o'clock. C. T. Leeds, United States engineer, yesterday afternoon. They will be forwarded at once to the office of the Washington D. C., where they will be passed on. It is believed that work can be begun within ninety days.

There is now about $200,000 available for the carrying on of the work. The appropriation by the last session of congress was $150,000, but, in addition to this, the $80,000 left from the amount raised for the building of the main breakwater was available.

EDMONTON, Alberta—W. R. Clark, president of the Alberta & Ontario Waterways Railway company, has appealed to the United States government authorities for protection from a loss he says he will suffer as a result of the canceling of a contract with him for a railway to be built to the north.
