PENCILLETTES.

Greenville is going to have a Grange store.

A crow entered the Jonesboro Journal office on Thanksgiving day, while all were absent, and made plenty of "pl."

Col. Jno. B. Minnis, Special Agent of the Postoffice Department, will have his headquarters in Knoxville this winter.

The McMinn Grange High School has been established at Monse Creek, to open on the 6th of January, with Rev. J. Albert Hyden as principal.

Mr. H. H. Dulaney, one mile east of Bristol, had his barn, two horses and a large quantity of feed destroyed by fire. The work of an incendiary.

Large droves of hogs are being driven from this section through North Carolina to the Southern markets. This looks like a return of the days of yore.—Jonesboro Journal.

The May Belle, a new steamer which has been built on the Hiwassee above Charleston, was taken to Chattanooga Tuesday to receive her engines and machinery, which will be put in by the firm of Webster & Marks.

Accidental Shooting.

Two young men, Olander Goldman and Fred Young, were out taking a Thanksgiving hunt Thursday, and the former, after loading his gun, a rifle, was in the act of capping it, when it was accidentally discharged, the contents taking effect in the foot of Young, who was standing in range, inflicting a painful though fortunately not a dangerous wound. He was taken home in Dr. Drake's buggy, which happened along, and Dr. Salmarsch and Boyington were called and dressed the wound. At last accounts he was doing very well. It was very fortunate it turned out no worse than it really is, and should serve as another reminder that either boys or men when out hunting can not be too careful in the use of their fire-arms.

Removal.

James Comfort, Attorney at Law, has removed his office from the Lamar House to the old Crozier office on Gay street, opposite the Knoxville Bank. xi28d6w1m

Serious Accident.

On Thursday, as Dr. B. Frazier and his wife were driving in their buggy along Broad street, the singletree came loose, and falling against the heels of the horse frightened him so that he started to run, and turning down an embankment capsize the buggy, smashing it up considerably and seriously injuring the Doctor. One of the bones of his leg was broken below the knee, and he was otherwise bruised up. His wife, however, escaped without any serious injury. The horse soon disengaged himself from the buggy and was going full speed, but was stopped before he had gone far.

Dr. Ludlow was summoned and rendered all the assistance in his power.

Huge.

Stephen C. Howell, a lad 16 or 18 years old, living near Roseberry, in this county, killed an owl a few days ago, measuring four and a half feet from tip to tip, and otherwise large in proportion, having claws fully an inch in length. We only saw one of the feet of the owl, and judging from that and the description we had of it, it is certainly an unusually large specimen of the owl kingdom, and is about as large as they get to be in this county.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage license were issued from the County Court Clerk's office during the past week:

John L. Nicholson to Emma L. Sherwood.

James A. Roberts to Kliza C. Cole.

Wm. Beard to Mary J. Lauer.

THE HOG MARKET.

Moving Lively With Fair Prices.

[From the Daily Chronicle, Nov. 24.]

The hog market in East Tennessee is beginning to be quite lively. There is a demand for all the surplus cars belonging to the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia road for that purpose.

Hogs are awaiting shipment at Limestone, Morristown, Green-ville, Strawberry Plains, New Market, McMinn's, Loudon, Sweetwater, Athens, Riceville and Charleston. The bulk of the shipments thus far have been for the Southern market, though a few lots have gone East. Up to this only about fifty car loads have been supplied, but the shipments have not fairly commenced.

Two car loads were shipped from Strawberry Plains Monday night, and eight more were shipped from stations above on the same train. Two car loads more will be sent from Strawberry Plains next week. Four car loads will be shipped from Knoxville today.

The trade in Knoxville has also been quite lively, parties buying for packing here. Among the leading buyers are Hu. L. McClung & Co., J. A. Brakebill & Co., and Fanz & Jones. Messrs. McClung & Co. have on hand a good lot of hogs, and have purchased many others yet to be delivered, and are still buying all they can get.

J. A. Brakebill & Co. received yesterday one hundred and thirteen head of hogs to be slaughtered at the Knoxville pork house. Thirty head purchased of Mr. James Sharpe, of Sevier county, averaged 335 pounds. They were of the Chester white variety and were very fine. A lot of Berkshire fattened by Mr. J. M. French, of this county, south of the river, averaged 309 pounds. This firm of J. A. Brakebill & Co. have purchased about 700 head, and are still purchasing all the good hogs they can get.

Messrs. Fanz & Jones have about 350 head of hogs on hand and have already slaughtered about 150. They have bought about six hundred, and will probably buy others. If the weather proves favorable during the present week the Pork House will do a heavy business. Maj. W. P. Elliott is superintending the packing establishment, which is a guarantee that everything will go on systematically and expeditiously.

We understand that Mr. Dossett, of Anderson county, will arrive in town today with 300 head of fine hogs. The ruling price for good hogs delivered here is 6 1/2c gross. Some lots have sold higher. The tendency now is rather downward.

The supply of hogs in East Tennessee is not large, but is said by those who ought to know, to be larger than last year. The movement of hogs ought to, and will no doubt, give us more money, and will revive business temporarily.

AND THE

Harper Publications.

The regular price of The Whig and Chronicle is $2.00.

The regular price of Harper's Magazine, Harper's Weekly, and Harper's Bazaar, is $4.00 each. We will send The Whig and Chronicle, with either of the foregoing publications, the postage prepaid, one year, for $5.00. This is a rare opportunity for an abundance of good reading matter for 1876 for a little money.

Murder in the First Degree.

James Deering, one of the men who was shot by Policeman Smith, colored, in an attempt to arrest Deering last Wednesday night at Chattanooga, died of his wounds on Sunday night. A coroner's jury was summoned, who found that he came to his death from the pistol shot inflicted by Smith and pronounced it murder in the first degree. This should be a warning to policemen and all officers of the law, to be very careful in the use of the arms, allowed them for their self defense, and learn them not to make such a reckless use of these arms in trivial misdemeanor cases, and in fact any case, as is too much the practice throughout the country, unless in cases of extreme necessity.

The Baptist Rectory.

This is the title of a new paper published at Morristown, the first number of which is on our table. It is edited by Rev. O. C. Pope, with Rev. B. B. Kimbrough, Rev. J. F. B. Mays, Rev. J. L. M. Burnett, and Rev. J. T. Kinnannon, as corresponding editors. It is a neat four-page paper, seven columns to the page, well printed and well filled with choice reading matter. It is the organ of the Baptists in East Tennessee, and ought to be, as we have no doubt it will be, cordially supported. We certainly wish it success.

To the Interest of the Public.

We call the attention of the people of East Tennessee, to parties traveling over the country, representing themselves as agents of Smith & Stevens, marble dealers, and selling work on the reputation of our Mr. J. C. Smith. We employ no traveling agents, and have no connection with any other firm. We put up work cheaper than any establishment in East Tennessee, and guarantee satisfaction or no pay. FROM CLEVELAND.

Death of a Good Man at Ducktown Etc., Etc.

CLEVELAND, TENN., November 23, 1875.

To the Editors of the Chronicle:

Your reporter arrived in this thriving little city (for a city it is claimed to be by the people) this evening, and found many of the citizens grieving over the sudden death of a truly good man, Mr. Harry Jory, the principal clerk at the Ducktown Copper Mines. In fact, he was counted Capt. Raht's "right bower," and the man upon whom the Captain had placed the responsibility of looking to his entire business. He was faithful, energetic, honest, and an excellent manager, and his place will not be easily filled at the mines, in more ways than one.

The Methodist Episcopal Church will feel the loss of Mr. Jory, as much as Captain Raht, for he was a faithful worker in the cause of his Heavenly Master. He was the leading Sabbath School man of this section of country, and if our recollection is correct, at the last Sabbath School Convention held at Morristown he was appointed a member of the Executive Committee.

He worked in this branch of the Lord's vineyard with unceasing energy, and accomplished great good. In fact he was one of nature's noblemen, and will be sadly missed in the community which had been blessed with his presence. His last illness was but short. A few weeks since he was stricken with apoplexy but had somewhat recovered, and his friends as well as himself had entertained hopes that he would soon be himself again, but unfortunately he overrated his strength, and attempted to look after his business too soon, which resulted in a fresh attack and almost instant death yesterday morning. Capt. Raht and Mr. Jory's brother went over to Ducktown this morning to make arrangements for the funeral.

Arriving late in the afternoon, and a heavy shower of rain arriving soon after we did, we have not been able to stir around to get up much news, if indeed their is much to be found at present, but we will try our hand to-morrow.

We noticed four car loads of fine hogs passing this point for the South. They had been shipped up the country somewhere. We would rather hear of them being slaughtered in Knoxville and then being shipped South afterward, but then as we can't have our way about it, we will be satisfied if all the farmers who sold them will just send in their names for the WEEKLY CHRONICLE, which will post them as they may have to sell.

Nothing of importance transpired on our trip from Knoxville here, with the exception that we were occasionally forcibly reminded of home, and made to think that the baby had stumbled and fell, or had caught its fingers in the door, or had picked up something hot, or was crying from sheer contrariness, but when we looked around it always turned out to be somebody else's baby (there were several on the train), and the visions of home passed away. Babies are great institutions especially on a train; they keep a man from going to sleep and passing the station of his destination.

On the way to Mr. William Allison, and learned from him that has been rebuilt and is carrying the mail again from Loudon to Kingston and Rockwood. I will be remembered it burned down some time since while in the hands of Messrs. Robert and Uriah Allison, two old and experienced river men. Mr. Thomas Fritte bought the hull and machinery and had her rebuilt, and the two brothers will again run her between the points named. She is about the fastest boat on the river, and could not be managed by two more reliable men. We hope they may never meet with a similar accident again.

CIRCUS ON THE ROAD.

DeHaven's, or some other man's Colossal Aggravation (or aggravation) showed at Mouse Creek to-day, and they were trying to get a balloon off as the train stopped for dinner. We doubt if they had gas enough, however, to make it go, as they had but a slim crowd. Of course nobody on our train inquired much about the show, as Mr. J. H. Magill had too good a dinner awaiting us to fool our time away about aggravations of any kind.

We are now writing this at the well-known DELANO HOUSE,

Where we were furnished a pleasant, comfortable room after enjoying a good supper; and as soon as we finish this a clean, comfortable bed awaits us to rest upon. Capt. DeArmond is still the same pleasant, accommodating gentleman, and we don't see how anybody can feel otherwise than at home while at this house. We cheerfully recommend the Delano House to the traveling public.

Charters Granted to East Tennessee Corporations.

A charter was granted yesterday to the Knoxville and Cincinnati Southern Railroad Company, with George Brown, W. W. Woodruff, Thomas Steers, C. Powell, G. W. Grant and R. M. McChesney as incorporators. The road from Knoxville, as contemplated by the charter, will intersect the Cincinnati Southern near where it crosses Emory river, at section 177.

The Chattanooga and Harrison Turnpike Company was also chartered, with John King, Thomas Crutcher, C. W. Vinson, R. Henderson and C. B. Champion as incorporators. They propose building a turnpike between Chattanooga and Harrison, in James county.—Nashville American.

A Dealer says:

During an experience of over twenty years in the stove business, I have never seen a stove that gave such universal satisfaction to purchasers as the CHARIER STOVE in all the essential points that come to be made up a first class stove, and I consider it not only the cheapest, but the best stove for the money I ever sold.

SWEETWATER.

A Thriving Town in a Rich Country—Its Enterprises, &c.

Reported Specially for the Knoxville Chronicle.

SWEETWATER, Nov. 20, 1875.

Sweetwater is a thriving little town in one of the richest valleys in East Tennessee—Sweetwater Valley, Monroe county. There are some six or seven stores, doing a general merchandise, and from what we can learn are pretty well sustained and are on a sound basis.

Sweetwater boasts several good churches, and three good schools—two female and one male. One of the female schools is being conducted under the auspices of the M. E. Church, South, by Prof. Parker. The other female school is being conducted by Mrs. Cook, a lady thoroughly competent for the position. The male school is under charge of Prof. Bachman, a thorough teacher, who gives general satisfaction.

Monroe county is well known as one of the richest counties in East Tennessee, and it is in this county that the champion corn raiser, Mr. Henderson raised 147 bushels and 60 pounds of corn to the acre. The county is also famous for the fine stock it contains, and the Monroe county fair always has more fine stock on exhibition than almost any other county fair in the country.

Monroe county generally ships every year from 30,000 to 60,000 bushels of wheat. The great want is a steam flouring mill at Sweetwater, and any man with capital could make it pay by building a mill of this kind at this place with a capacity to at least grind the wheat produced in this county, if not more. The man who builds the mill would make money, and the town and county would be benefited by shipping the flour instead of the wheat. The mills elsewhere make money out of it, and why not keep the profit in grinding the wheat at home? We are satisfied that if any man with the means would undertake the business he would be encouraged by the citizens. We have talked with some of the best merchants of the place, and they seem anxious for an enterprise of the kind, and one of them informed me that he had his stock of goods only converted into cash he would soon show his faith as to the safety of the investment by his works.

We understand that a pretty extensive shoe factory is soon to be started in Sweetwater. All the arrangements have been completed, and the enterprise is soon to be under way. An enterprising merchant, by examining into the matter, found that he could have shoes manufactured in Sweetwater, at the same price that he could buy the same class of work in the East, and save the freight, besides keeping the money at home, and so had determined to make the venture. He is sensible, and we feel confident that many of the articles now brought on from the East could be manufactured right in our midst, for the same price, if not for less, and our currency would cease to contract in this country to so an alarming extent. It is this idea of sending East for almost every article we use that causes the scarcity of money, and our people will have to awake to their own interest if they ever expect to prosper.

The Taylor Brothers are successfully running a foundry and machine shop in this place. It is true, it is yet on a rather limited scale, but they are pushing men, and are bound to succeed.

As before stated, Sweetwater is surrounded by a rich belt of country, and there is nothing to hinder the place from growing, and its merchants and people from doing well. Among its citizens there are none more enterprising than the firm of Hight & Scroggs, and any one wishing any information in regard to the place, or to the advantages it offers for manufacturing enterprises, such as we have mentioned above, the building of a steam mill or anything of the kind will receive prompt attention by addressing them. Persons might do much worse than to locate at Sweetwater.

LOUDBON ITEMS.

Loudon at present is rather quiet, as the river trade has not fairly opened, but when grain moves Loudon does her share in the shipping business. Yet the stores of Loudon have no reason to complain, and are all doing a pretty fair business.

The Loudon Lumber and Manufacturing Company have been making some repairs and putting in new machinery, and when completed they will be able to do a good business. Dr. Albright is the general Superintendent.

Mr. Sylvester has erected a new livery stable eighty feet in length and with room to accommodate thirty horses.

The Emory City is again making regular trip from Loudon to Kingston and Rockwood, carrying the United States Mail. We suppose that the present schedule will be changed to suit the new schedule of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad.

Mr. O. Hambricht keeps a good hotel near the depot, and knows how to treat his guests.

Mr. B. F. Hambricht has a large store near the depot, and is doing a good business.

We met Mr. J. D. Turner, the Sheriff of Loudon county, and found him the same good-natured, jovial gentleman he always was.

Good Templar Organization.

On Thanksgiving night Rev. J. F. Goldman, Grand Lecturer for East Tennessee, organized the Walnut Grove Lodge, with eighteen initiations. The following are the officers:

Prof. J. R. Shippe, W. C. T. Miss Eva Grubb, W. V. T. M. A. Clapp, W. S. M. S. L. Mynatt, F. S. T. W. Kearns, Treasurer. H. L. W. Mynatt, Marshal. J. A. Rutherford, Chaplain. Mrs. Magie Clapp, D. M. D. L. Gibbs, O. G. Jas. Grubb, Lodge Deputy.

FROM SEVIER COUNTY.

A Sad Accident.

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 26, 1875.

To the Editors of the Chronicle:

On Monday last, Mr. A. M. Chambers and son went out hunting at night, and after wandering through the woods they got somewhat bewildered. Their dogs made signs at the foot of a large poplar tree as though there was something in it. They concluded to fell the tree which they did, and in falling, it fell among other timber and against a large dead tree, bending it somewhat, but failing to break the top of it down. The dead tree sprang back and came with such power that it broke the top out; threw the broken top back and struck Mr. Chambers upon the top of his head, crushed him to the ground, killing him instantly. His head was crushed to pieces, both legs broken above the knees, and in fact, it is thought there was scarcely a sound bone in him. His son was standing by his side at the time the tree struck him. The tree brushed him also. When he saw his father was killed he undertook to pull him from under the log but failed. He then started for help, being some two miles from home, and also lost, thought he would take down the hollow he was then in, which took him directly from home. After going about one mile he came to a neighbor's house some distance from home. He then rallied the neighbors. They took torches and went in search of the remains and found him about 11 o'clock in the night, and cut the log off of him and brought him home. His wife died about 18 months since. He leaves a son about 18 years of age and a little daughter about two years old.

Miss Caroline Mullendare, a young lady, the daughter of John Mullendare, died of fever the same night.

SEVIER.

"Wearisome Condition of Humanity"

How many wretched homes in our land! How many heart-broken invalids! Life with many signifies a mere onerous existence. All are subject to disease, but when health is removed the hope is nearly gone out. Sickness is usually incurred through exposure or carelessness. Especially is this true with those diseases peculiar to women. Through her own imprudence and folly she is made to drag out a miserable existence, a source of annoyance and anxiety to her friends, and anything but a comfort and pleasure to herself. Exposure to the cold at times when she should be most prudent, and overtaxing her body with laborious employment, are both fruitful causes of many of the maladies from which she suffers. Gradually the bloom leaves her cheeks, her lips grow ashy white, her vivacity departs, she continually experiences a feeling of weariness and general languor, and altogether presents a ghastly appearance. What does she need? Should she take some stimulating drug, which will for the time make her "feel better," or does her entire system demand reparation? She requires something which not only will restore to health the diseased organs, but will tone and invigorate the system. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do this. It imparts strength to the diseased parts, brings back the glow of health, and restores comfort where previously there was only suffering.

Every invalid lady should send for "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," in which over fifty pages are devoted to the consideration of those diseases peculiar to women. It will be sent, post-paid, to any address, for $1.50. Address, R. V. Pierce, M. D., World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y. Agents wanted to sell this valuable work.

Fratricide by Poison.

HOUKVILLE, Nov. 26, 1875.

To the Editors of the Chronicle:

A few nights ago Alvin Fry was suddenly prostrated with what he thought at first to be "cramp colic." Dr. Meek was called in, who averred that the symptoms were indicative of poison. He was taken ill one evening, died about 1 o'clock next morning, and was interred next day. Since his interment, proof has been procured condemning his brother Alfred, with whom he occasionally quarreled because of his being too intimate with his wife.

The brother-murderer awaits, in custody, his trial. Subpoenas were issued for Drs. Walker and Meek to conduct the post mortem examination, as he is to be exhumed to-morrow.

Seldon Webb, a married young gentleman, or hell-bend, rather, who violated the person of a little girl of Mr. Keener not long since, was seen on a mountain stretch for "old Smoky" yesterday. Webb has a wife and child at home.

We were all pained to hear of Mr. Nat. Chambers' death, which was caused by the falling of a tree. All who knew him feel that they have lost a friend, an enterprising citizen. More anon.

Means Business.

The following which appears conspicuously posted in the office of a member of the bar of our neighboring county of Roane "means business." Many victims will appreciate the force of the reasons for his request. We trust the admonitions have been generally heeded:

NOTICE.

All persons are respectfully requested not to read my private papers, or to look over my shoulder while I am reading or writing letters, or to use my pens, stationery, or stamps, nor take books from the library without first askout permission, and then to return them without solicitation.

Claimants and Clients must look up their own evidence. My duty is to apply the evidence when furnished, not to hunt it up. Parties writing to me will enclose a stamp to pre-pay postage on the answers, otherwise my letters will not receive attention.

My fees must be Cash. W. H. DIRTZ, Kingston, Tenn.

Good Property for Sale.

Elsewhere will be found the card of Mr. C. W. Catlett, of Sevier county, who offers some fine mill property for sale. Any one wishing such property will do well to consult him. His mills are situated in a fine country, are located on Pigeon River, where they suffer little damage from high water, and are never stopped by low water. Read his card, and if you wish to purchase such property, address him at Catlettsburgh, without delay.

The Holston Methodists.

This journal has recently consolidated with the Holston Advocate, and in the future, as in the past, will be conducted under the title at the head of this notice. It is a large, well printed and ably edited journal, devoted to the interests of the M. E. Church, South. It already has a large circulation, and if the people of that Church appreciate merit, it will still have a larger circulation. It is edited with ability highly creditable.

FROM BLOUNTVILLE.

A Man Charged with Murder. Acquitted, Etc.

To the Editors of the Chronicle:

Chancery Court was held here last week by Chancellor H. C. Smith. The heavy rain which fell about Elizabethton on Monday morning, the 15th instant, prevented the Chancellor from reaching Blountville until some time in the afternoon, and hence not much was done on that day, but all was business the balance of the week. Court closed only a few minutes before midnight Saturday, having run through considerable work.

On Monday, the 22d, Circuit Court met, Judge E. E. Gillenwaters presiding. Most of the week has been taken up in the trial of F. C. Miles, charged with the murder of Harvey Provenge, last summer, in Bristol. Miles had a large array of counsel, consisting of W. D. McCloskey, Esq., D. F. Bailey, Esq., W. V. Dederick, Esq., and the Hon. R. E. Butler. Attorney General Hacker was assisted by W. V. Vance and John E. Burson, Esq's. The case was ably and thoroughly argued, the argument of the case taking up one day and a half. The killing was not denied, but the defendant put in the plea of self-defense, and on this he was acquitted, and barely acquitted. It is understood that the jury was, for a time, divided, but finally came together, upon the conclusion that Miles must either hang, or be acquitted, and rendered a verdict as above stated.

Judge Gillenwaters gave the main, Miles, a wholesome and well-timed lecture before dismissing him.

Not long after he was set at liberty, he was arrested for having shot off a gun or pistol at John Hawley in Bristol some months since. And being unable to give bond, was released upon his own recognizance.

Great astonishment is expected by the people at the verdict of the jury in this case. It was expected that he would either hang, or go to the State's prison for a long time.

Only one convict for the penitentiary—that of young James Cox, who is sentenced for one year—being convicted of attempting to abase a female under the age of ten years. Cox is a young man of good raising. He has respectable parents, who are much grieved that their son has come to such a bad end.

The law provides for a two weeks' term of the Circuit Court here, but only one week will be held here now, as the lawyers must attend other courts next week, and can not be here.

The weather is warm and pleasant. SULLIVAN.

The E. T. Va. & Ga. "Iron Horse" vs The "Gray Horse" of 1840.

To the Editors of the Chronicle:

Let me relieve your readers with a bit of novelty. Looking over the annual report of our East Tennessee road for the past year, I have been curious enough to calculate the cost of traveling now compared with 1840. Then, most of the travel was on horseback, except, with those who could afford the more expensive jolting and rolling this-way-and-that-way process of going in stage coaches, carry-alls, buggies and carriages were limited luxuries then.

I note that for the year ending June 30th, 1
