ARIZONA HOLDS FIRST PRIMARY

Votes for State, County, Congressional and Senate Candidates

BALLOTING WAS SLOW

OWING TO WIDE EXPANSE COVERED RESULTS MAY NOT BE KNOWN UNTIL TOMORROW.

Special to Daily News.
Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 24.—Men who have lived from youth to old age in Arizona, some of them having resided in the Territory for nearly half a century, went to the polls today and for the first time in their lives expressed by ballot their choice for governor and other executive, judicial and legislative officials. The occasion was the general primaries for the nomination of candidates to be voted for at the first State election in Arizona, which is to be held in December. New Mexico, which was admitted to Statehood at the same time as Arizona, held to the convention plan or nominations, but Arizona adopted the direct primary system and put it into operation for the first time today. Owing to the large expanse of territory covered by the new State and the remote locations of many of the communities the results of the primary elections may not be definitely known until tomorrow.

A heavy vote reported in Phoenix and in other of the chief cities gives evidence of the keen interest the people of the new State are taking in their first effort at self-government. The citizens of Arizona have always elected their own country officers and their legislators, but the President has named the governor and the other executive officials, including the judiciary, and Congress has always had veto power over the territorial legislative enactments.

For the first time they are to exercise the power of all other sovereign States, and on December 12 next, will choose all their own officials, from governor to constable, and including representatives in Congress and a legislature that will choose two United States senators. Heretofore Arizona has been allowed one "delegate" in the house of representatives, but this delegate has no vote. He occupied a seat and served on committees, but had no voice in legislative matters so far as voting was concerned. So the new State is to send a full fledged member of the house and two members to the senate.

In today's primaries nominations were made for governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, attorney-general, superintendent of public instruction, corporation commissioner, United States senator and representative and three judges of the State supreme court. The ballots contained complete tickets representing the Republican, Democratic and Socialist parties.

The Republican candidates for the nomination for governor were E. W. Wells of Prescott and George U. Young of Phoenix. Three Democrats aspire to the governorship. They were Dr. H. A. Hughes of Phoenix, George W. P. Hunt of Globe and T. P. Woodfin of Florence. P. W. Galatine of Globe had been unanimously endorsed by the Socialist party for governor.

COURT CENSURE FOR VENIREMAN

B. W. Clark Dismissed After Challenge by McNamara Counsel

TALKED TO TIMES MAN

DEFINITELY STATED THAT FOURTEEN MEN WILL BE CHOSEN TO SERVE AS JURORS.

By Associated Press.
Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 24.—B. W. Clark, a venireman in the McNamara case, was dismissed this afternoon from further participation in the trial, after being challenged by the defense at Judge Fordwell's suggestion, because he talked on the street about the case with Harry Chandler, the latter being president and general manager of the Times-Mirror company, and son-in-law of General Otis, the publisher of the Times. Clark was severely censured by the court.

According to the statements of Clark, Chandler had stated that he hoped the former would qualify as a juror. Chandler is held as in no wise responsible for the conversation, which was stated by Clark.

In his cross examination Clark gave a new clue leading to a new witness, his son, and the defense states that the boy will be subpoenaed. Clark said that his son had told him that the explosion was unquestionably one of gas because that when on the night of the explosion, he came home he smelled gas. This strengthened Talesman Clark's opinion that the explosion was caused by gas.

It was definitely stated today that fourteen men will hear the case as jurors, which is possible under the California law providing two more additional jurors may be qualified in cases in which the trial is likely to be of great duration and importance. The extra two will be tent with the other twelve, and hear evidence and one of them will be drawn to serve as a regular juror in the case of sickness of one of the original twelve. None of the fourteen seemed to be in slight tonight. The six jurors temporarily accepted by the defendant and the state remain in the box, but all are likely to be peremptorily challenged.

MRS. O'CONNOR RAPS MERE MAN

Pays Her Respects and Urges Suffragists to Stand Together

ANSWERS ARGUMENTS

DECLARES EXISTING LAWS ARE UNJUST TO WOMEN AND ONLY FRANCHISE WILL CHANGE THEM.

By Associated Press.
Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24.—Man and his political ways were weighed and found wanting this afternoon by Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, wife of the Irish leader, who addressed the National Woman Suffrage Convention on the text, "Let Our Watchword be Unity." Mrs. O'Connor replied to what she termed the "old threadbare arguments" against woman suffrage, outlined what she declared were typical abuses of men's powers and urged her sisters to "stand shoulder to shoulder and march forward together."

"If the majority of men could be convinced that it would be to their personal advantage and to the advantage of the State to accede to the vote to women our fight would be at an end," she declared. "When you ask them why we don't vote they advance old threadbare arguments, the first being that all women would vote according to the politics of their husbands. If this be true, who shouldn't a man want two votes instead of one? Another argument is that if women had votes, men would no longer pick up their handkerchiefs. I have lived in England twenty-six years, and during that time I have always picked up my own handkerchief and not had the advantage of a vote either."

"A man left alone in Baltimore this summer with a negro cook called her into the dining room and said, 'I don't want you, Maria. I want my meals cooked better hereafter or out the door you go; I don't propose to pay you $20 a month to send in everything I eat burned to a crisp.' 'Look a here,' returned Maria, 'don't you talk that way to me, you just member who I is; I don't like your tone of voice and I ain't no trash for you to holler at; you mustn't take me for no wife.'"

"And finally, the great and overwhelming argument is that to give women votes would destroy Man's home. It doesn't matter about women, Man's home is the thing to be considered. Then there is the last weak-kneed argument, the refuge of the pessimist that already the franchise is too large, and as women are clamoring for a vote the only remedy is to take it away from a certain number of men who have not gone through a collegiate course and cannot stand well in a spelling competition."

"Men are not to be trusted with unlimited power. But the very foundation of the relations of man and woman are wholly wrong. The theory is that men toward women are wise, noble, generous, chivalrous and just; that we can trust them to make laws

"Home Run" Baker got two of the double scorers.

It was tough luck for Philadelphia, as a moment later Barry tapped a slow one along the foul line. Mathewson waited for it to roll inside the diamond, but it stayed inside and Barry was safe at first. Thomas fouled out to Meyers. No runs, two hits, one error.
