TENNIS AND GOLF DEVOTEES ACTIVE

Links and Courts on San Jacinto Heights Are Kept Busy

Tennis and golf are vying with each other on San Jacinto Heights. The tennis courts, formerly four in number, are being extended, while the golf links, among the best in the country, are attracting attention of many players. From day to day the number of players in each game is increasing, and it is understood that quite a number of local contests in both games will be arranged at intervals during the remainder of the season.

The Amarillo Improvement company is doing all that is found to be necessary in making the grounds for both golf and tennis well suited to the players. The matter of transportation has been met fully, and it is stated that in the event the need exists extra service will be installed.

Boston fans like the work of Young O'Rourke, the Bridgeport shortstop, now playing with Johnny Kling's Braves.

Bill Reidy has succeeded Danny Long as manager of the San Francisco team in the Pacific Coast League.

Despite the poor showing of the Brooklyn Dodgers Jake Daubert continues to shine in all departments of the game.

Since Russell Ford joined the New York Americans in 1910 he has lost but two games to the Cleveland Naps.

By the way he is stealing bases it doesn't look as though Sam Crawford of the Tigers is slowing down this year.

Mike Donlin has been playing great ball in the field this season and hitting in the neighborhood of 400 for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Young Magee, who is putting up a fancy article of ball for the Cardinals is not related to Sherwood Magee, the heavy hitting Quaker.

Catcher Nunamaker, of the Boston Red Sox, is out of the game nursing a badly split hand, the result of one of Hall's fast inshoots.

Baltimore has sold Pitcher Bob Grant to the Hentown Tri-State League team, and Shortstop Ray Cameron to the Hamilton Club of the Canadian League.

When he failed to hit safely in a recent game Hank Perry, of the Providence team, cursed his luck and was promptly fined $10 and put out of the game. Moral: Don't talk to yourself out loud on the ball field.

Despite the fact that the Boston Braves have been up against it, McDonald keeps up a rattling good game at the thir dturn.

Pitcher Baumgartner is holding his own with the St. Louis Browns. So far this season the youngster has defeated Ed Walsh and George Mullin, two veteran stars of the American League.

A ball player wearing whiskers is a rare sight nowadays, and Gravelle, with the Gladstone team in the Upper Peninsula League, attracts a lot of attention.

I'll bet you a new hat that if I say that you, you'll think, "John B. Stetson." And when you think John B. Stetson, you're pretty sure to think "Five dollars." Now I want you to follow up these two thinks with another think. Just think "what a bargain they would be at $3." All of which means that I've that same five dollar hat at your disposal Monday for $3. It's true.

BLUES TO PLAY LEAGUERS TODAY

Dalhart Bunch Coming Down Determined to Take Back Taffy

If the weather-maker deals out an approved brand of baseball weather this afternoon, the Leaguers are going to give the Dalhart Blues a chance at a come-back in the up-town park.

During a recent series the Blues forfeited their candy to the locals, and are said to be coming down this way for the express and vengeful purpose of taking the taffy back or know a mighty good reason why.

Dad Cook's scalp-takers don't propose to lose, if such an emergency can be avoided, and to that end they'll go up against the visitors with a strengthened line-up.

Myers, a new twirler, will do some fancy pill-planting for the locals, with Paul officiating at the receiving station.

If any doubt exists as to real dolans this afternoon, the following letter from the manager of the Blues should dispel it:

Dalhart, Tex., June 18, 1912.
Mr. T. B. Wraether, Manager,
Amarillo, Texas.

Dear Sir:—Replying to your challenge to play ball on your local diamond Sunday and Monday, the 23rd and 24th, inst., we will be there on the dates named stronger than nose, radish. The way the Blues are playing ball at this time you will have to go some to take either of these games from them. We are certainly after the scalp of that bunch of yours.

You may expect us on the Sunday morning. Hope you will give these games plenty of publicity and that we may have good crowd each day. Those that were at the games we played there recently will remember that we play ball with the accent on the "b."

Yours truly,
D. O. HAZELTON,
Manager Dalhart Blues.

My Worst Blunder

FAMOUS "DOMEHEAD" PLAYS ON MAJOR LEAGUE DIAMONDS

Explained by Leading Baseball Players to HUGH S. FULLERTON

By FRANK L. CHANCE

The "Peerless Leader" of the Chicago Cubs, Who Has Shown Himself as Great in Defeat as in Victory.

I hate to tell what I think was the worst mistake I ever made in baseball, simply because everyone who hears of it can think of a bigger one than I have made. I'll confess I have made my share of blunders, and not all that the fans class as blunders really were. If a manager happens to let go of a man, who may be practically worthless to his own team, but who happens to fit exactly into some other team, they call it a blunder. Then, lots of times, we make real mistakes in not keeping certain men or in keeping others. The blunder, though, which I think was the worst I ever made, happened before I ever thought of being a manager, and was wondering whether they were going to keep me or let me out the next day.

I was catcher then and had not thought of playing first base, but Frank Selee kept urging me to try to play first. I didn't want to try it, and the reason I didn't was that I made the blunder when trying to play there.

It was down east somewhere, I've forgotten in which city, and our first baseball man was hurt, so they shoved a mitt onto me and chased me down to the bag to play it. I never had tried to play first in my life, and thought the chief part of it consisted in standing on the base and catching thrown balls. Come to think of it, that isn't so far wrong at that, because there are about as many mistakes made in leaving the base as in sticking to it.

I was getting along in fine shape. Every time anyone threw the ball at me I caught it and tossed it back to the pitcher. Toward the finish of the game we were leading by one run, and I was feeling pretty good because I had gathered in a couple of hits and really didn't mind the first base job a bit. The first hitter up for the other team in the last half of the ninth got on, somehow, and the next one rolled a bunt down toward first stop Harry McCormick was playing short for us, and he came forward as hard as he could go. I was very much interested in the play. I remember it took a hard jump, and McCormick had to stoop low while running at top speed to scoop the ball between bounds. I was wondering whether he ever would get it, and then he came up with it. I felt like cheering. He had made a wonderful scoop. Just about then the ball went whizzing right over my shoulder. I had to duck my head to keep from having it knocked off. The ball went to the stands, one run scored, the batter got around to third and scored on a fly ball, beating us out of the game. I had been so interested in watching McCormick make the play that either I forgot I was in the game at all, or else imagined I was catching. Anyhow, I was squatting with my hands on my knees watching the ball and I forgot all about catching it until it went past my head.

Under the circumstances, when Selee wanted to make a first baseman of me I balked, and it took a long argument to get me to try it at all. I didn't want to take any more chances of forgetting and getting my head knocked off.

TRIED SEVEN DOCTORS

My Life Saved by Pe-ru-na.

Mr. S. S. Johnson, Greenville, Ill., writes: "I was for five years troubled with Catarrh. Two years ago I had one foot in the grave. I had tried seven doctors and all went to a catarrh specialist in St. Louis and took several kinds of medicine a day. I could not walk more than a hundred yards without resting."

Mr. S. S. Johnson.

"My friends told me to take Peru-na, and I did so. I now feel that Peru-na saved my life. It is the best medicine on earth, and I would not be without it."
