

MORGAN SIVIA OF TROUP MAKES TEST

ONE OF THE BEST KNOWN MEN OF CENTRAL TEXAS TELLS WHAT "PLANT JUICE" DID FOR HIM.

There are few better known men in Central Texas than Morgan Sivia of Troup, who is identified with the Republic Trust Company of Dallas. He travels a great deal over the state and has a wide circle of friends. It is interesting to note that he bought his first bottle of Plant Juice while at Houston and later purchases have been made of the "Plant Juice" demonstrator in other towns.

Of the thousands of Texas people today interested in "Plant Juice" there are not many more enthusiastic over it than Morgan Sivia.

"It is the only thing that has given me relief," he states, "and that is sufficient reason why I should think well of it and recommend it to others who may be suffering as I have suffered. I was all run down, full of malaria, constipated and suffering with rheumatism. At times I was almost down and out and it was with difficulty that I managed to keep on the go. A change came quickly with my taking "Plant Juice." It braced me up from the start, did away with my rheumatism, relieved me of constipation; took the malaria out of me and in fact straightened me up generally and made me feel like new. "Plant Juice" is great. It has done me a world of good and I shall always gladly recommend it."

Commenting on the foregoing statement, the demonstrator of "Plant Juice" at the Thompson Drug Store, said:

Hundreds of Amarillo people are now interested in "Plant Juice" all of them who will give it a trial will be no less enthusiastic over it than is Mr. Morgan Sivia. It is the greatest specific of the age for all stomach, blood and kidney troubles. The action of this great vegetable tonic is direct and quick. Those who have such symptoms as indigestion, acidity, gas, foul breath, bloating, dizziness, lassitude, depression of spirits, loss of vitality, pain in the hips and back, touches of rheumatism, poor circulation, deranged kidneys, discoloration, blotched and pimply skin, nervousness and kindred ailments to give "Plant Juice" a trial. They will find it will do all and even more than is claimed for it. Call today at Thompson Drug Store, and talk with our "Plant Juice" demonstrator.

RICHARDS BOOKS BIG SUCCESSES

Season to Open at Grand Opera House Night of September 25

The recent sale of the Grand Opera House building to the new Bankers Trust Company will in no wise effect the opera season in Amarillo, plans being practically perfected by Manager George E. Richards to give the theater-going public one of the best seasons of high class productions which this city has ever known.

Mr. Richards, who has been connected with the Grand in years past, will act as manager this season for the first time, his success during the latter part of 1911 proving conclusively that he is eminently fitted for the difficult task before him.

Mr. Richards announced last night that the season proper would be opened on the night of September 2 with "The Rosary" which scored a notable success in the East, and which is too well known for extended comment.

Among the other high-class productions which have already been booked are the following:

- The House of a Thousand Candles.
- The Stumbling Block.
- The Servant in the House.
- The Shepherd on the Hills.
- Hamlet, in which Hillard Wight and Amrose Wight will star.
- Alma, Where Do You Live?
- Granstar.
- The Red Rose.
- The City.
- Sarah Peden in "The Kindling."

According to Mr. Richards, the outlook is most promising for a probably successful season. It is his purpose to add to the already worthy list with other high class attractions. After the first of the year, it is believed that the run of topnotchers will be steady and continuous.

Stock Company Coming

In advance of the formal opening date the management will offer a three-night attraction by a high class stock company. The John E. Frank Players, featuring Nellie Waters, late star from "The Flower of the Ranch," will begin a three-nights engagement at the Grand, starting Thursday, September 12, presenting the comedy drama "Love Pirate," with high class vaudeville between acts.

This is the only Stock Company that will play in Amarillo this season, according to announcement.

Call of Humanity.
The American people are making some headway toward the conquest of tuberculosis and some other forms of insidious disease. They have done much to reduce death by accident and violence. But so much remains to be done in both lines that our efforts thus far seem very feeble.

One of the big life insurance companies has called attention through one of its publications to a few pertinent facts in this connection. For instance, in commending our manifest grief over the Titanic's destruction of 1,635 lives, it reminds us that 1,731 lives are wasted every week by violence in the United States, 2,885 lives are wasted every week by tuberculosis—in short, 1,780 lives are lost every day by preventable causes. Or, it says, "An American dies every minute from a preventable cause."

It goes after American cities for caring more for a low tax rate than they do for a high death rate, and urges the importance of employing efficient health officers. This, of course, is important, but there are other ways in which we need to rouse ourselves to the supreme and solemn obligation.—Omaha He.

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

HESSIAN FLY.

Late Sowing as a Means of Combating This Pest.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]
Nothing can be done if a field once becomes badly infested with the fly, though heavy fertilization or manuring will greatly assist the plants to resist the attack. It is best, therefore, when a serious attack is anticipated, to forestall it by late sowing.

Any farmer may establish a safe date of sowing for his locality by noting the time of seeding and the degree of infestation for a few years, or by writing to his state experiment station, or he may ask his state entomologist for this information.

COSTLY ONION FEAST FOR NEW YORK VISITOR

The moral of this little experience of a man calling himself William H. Ormes, 42 years old, owner and manager of the Kamapo Inn at Tuxedo, is that persons who are going to balk against paying the New York price for onions should leave their "keep-ums" at home.

The melancholy person basked in the bright lights of Broadway until dawn began to streak the sky. Then he dropped into a restaurant at 63 West Thirty-sixth street.

"I want a portion of chopped onions," he told the waiter. "A grown man's portion, I understand. A real portion of real onions for a live one. I love onions. I eat 'em alive. So trot 'em out and see that they have a punch to 'em."

A platter of chopped onions was soon before him. He made good on his boast, for sary an onion or fragment thereof remained when he had finished.

"What's the damage?" he cheerfully asked.

"Thirty cents," replied the waiter. The patron whooped in derision. "Thirty cents!" he yelled. "Why, man, I could get a bushel of onions for what at the Waldorf?"

"Well, you can't get 'em here for that," retorted the waiter, "so come across."

Instead, the man went into the street, followed by the waiter. There they discussed kinds and varieties and prices of onions until Policeman Welsh decided if anyone in the neighborhood got any sleep he would have to let the lieutenant at the station house settle the question.

When they reached the station, the man describing himself as Ormes still refused to pay thirty cents for the "grown man's portion" of onions, and Lieutenant McCarthy, not being an authority on onions, suggested that the waiter make a charge. He did.

When Ormes was searched the first thing the policeman found was a fully loaded revolver. The next thing was a blackjack. Seeing that these little ornaments had been discovered, the prisoner became more tractable and the waiter the thirty cents he demanded and the charge was withdrawn. Then he started to say good-by to catch the 5-15 train home, but the lieutenant reminded him that he was under arrest for violation of the Sullivan law.

"Well, I'll pay that, too," he agreed. "How much does New York charge for the Sullivan law? Here, I'll give you forty cents to square the account."

When he ascertained what he was up against he was alarmed, but had to go to a cell. He told the police he was taking the revolver and blackjack up to his inn he used as a curiosity—New York Evening World.
