AMERICAN BOAT LANDS SUPPLIES

AMERICANS DO NOT OPPOSE DELIVERY OF AMMUNITION TO CONSTITUTIONALISTS

WASHINGTON WAS ADVISED

Indications Are That United States Intends to Insist That Tampico Be Recognized as Open Port of Entry

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.—From information received late today, it is learned that the American schooner "Sunshine" from Galveston, landed ammunition at Tampico for the Constitutionalists, without interference by the United States. Huerta Government officials advised the news at headquarters recently. State and navy department officials refused to verify the report, but from other sources it is learned that the presence of the "Sunshine" at Tampico, has been known by the Washington government for several days. The attitude of the United States in regard to the actual landing of munitions for the enemies of Huerta, without interference, is regarded as a significant and viewed with apprehension. The indications tonight are, that should Huerta move to blockade Tampico, the United States will maintain the position that Tampico is an open port. Admiral Rodgers has been instructed to report to Washington at once. It is the general belief in diplomatic circles that the decision of the United States to prevent a blockade is a serious matter. It is suggested that inasmuch as no effect has been made to interfere with the Constitutionalists campaign, interference with their enemy would constitute a grave violation of neutrality.

ADMINISTRATION TRUST BILLS PASS

THREE MEASURES ACTED UPON QUICKLY BY LOWER HOUSE SENT TO SENATE

ACTION WAS UNEXPECTED

Victor Murdock Offered Substitute For Trade Committee Bill But Was Promptly Voted Down

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.—All three administration anti-trust bills passed the House late today, and were sent to the Senate for action. The opposition melted when the final test came, and the voting was quickly done. The Clayton Inter-State Trade Commission bill passed without a record of the vote. The Clayton Anti-trust bill received 275 for and 54 against it. The vote on the Rayburn Railroad capitalization bill stood 225 to 12. The House immediately began consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill and several supply bills, which must be disposed of before the session ends. The adjournment problem is now up to the Senate and Democratic leaders there are expected to agree on a program in the near future. The action on the anti-trust bills was unexpected. When the Trade Committee bill came up for final vote, Progressive leader Murdock moved that it be sent back to the Interstate Commerce committee with instructions to report on the Murdock substitute bill. The motion was rejected, and the pending bill passed without roll call. The vote on the other two bills followed in rapid succession.

Starboard Bow of the Storstad as She Reached Montreal After Sinking Empress of Ireland in St. Lawrence

The Collier Storstad crept up the St. Lawrence River to Montreal slowly after she had sunk the Empress of Ireland with 967 passengers in the lower river. Her starboard bow was torn away as the result of the collision. A hole large enough for several men to enter gaped above the water line. The injury had not been so serious that the water could enter her hold, as it did in the case of the Empress of Ireland. No sooner had the vessel arrived than a warrant was served on the captain and she was taken in charge by the authorities of the Canadian government. The government will name a commission to make a rigid inquiry into the causes of the collision. This will be composed of some of the highest officials in the government service, and it will fix the blame after hearing all the witnesses who can be found.

SCRAMBLE FOR BURTON'S SEAT

BUCKEYE STATE HAVING HOTTEST POLITICAL STRUGGLE IN RECENT YEARS

FORAKER'S CHANCES LESS

Opposed by Former Lieutenant Governor and Ex-Congressman in Ranks of the Republican Party

Special to The News.
COLUMBUS, O., June 5.—The political pot in Ohio, which seldom ceases to simmer, reached the bubbling stage when Senator Theodore E. Burton announced that he would not be a candidate for re-nomination. And now it has burst into a boil with the addition of former Lieutenant Governor Warren G. Harding to the list of entries in the free-for-all race for the Burton seat. From now on the August primaries, unless present signs are misleading, the Buckeye State is going to have one of the hottest political battles on her hands that she has experienced in many a long day.

The contests for the senatorial nomination promise to be equally bitter in both of the old parties. On the Republican side the avowed candidates include former Senator Joseph B. Foraker of Cincinnati, former Lieutenant Governor Harding of Marion, and former Congressman Ralph D. Cole of Findlay, with one or two other possible entries who are not expected to cut much figure in the race. On the Democratic side there are four active contestants—Attorney General Timothy S. Hogan, John H. Clarke of Cleveland, former Congressman John J. Lentz of Columbus and John L. Zimmerman of Springfield.

Speculation is now rife as to the effect that the Harding candidacy will have on Foraker's chances to secure the nomination. Foraker Harding entered the race for support. Harding has always been a close personal and political friend of ex-Senator Foraker, and stood by the latter when it was proposed to retire him in order to send Mr. Burton to the senate six years ago. It is because Harding stands well with the Foraker supporters that many close followers of the game predict that he will cut heavily in upon the Foraker strength in the senatorial contest. It is flattered by the followers of the ex-Congressman that the opposition will be split between Foraker and Harding and thus increase the chances for Mr. Cole to win the race.

On the Democratic side of the senatorial controversy the general opinion seems to be that the race is between Attorney General Hogan and Mr. Clarke. The Attorney General is one of the veterans in Democratic politics in Ohio. He has made a good record in office and has an acquaintance extending to every nook and corner of the State, which is expected to be of much assistance to him in his contest for Senator Burton's seat.

Mr. Clarke is a well known Cleveland lawyer, with some experience as a newspaper man, and formerly lived in Lisbon and Youngstown. He was a nominee for United States senator in 1903. In an appeal to his party setting forth his qualifications, he lays special emphasis on his extreme party loyalty and active work for the success of the Democracy, along with support of the Wilson politics, including repeal of the free-toll provision of the Panama Canal act.

Former Congressman Lentz recently added some interest to his campaign by issuing a challenge to the other candidates for the Democratic nomination to joint debates with him, making the campaign on that side of the party line one of education and not vilification and abuse. Mr. Zimmerman, the fourth applicant for the Democratic senatorial nomination, expresses himself as confident he will win the prize, with second place. The general opinion seems to be, however, that neither Lentz nor Zimmerman is very near the front in the running of the race.

Nearly all of the senatorial candidates have established headquarters in this city and tons of literature are being distributed to voters throughout the State. On several recent occasions one or another of the candidates has been heard on the stump, but the real speech-making campaign is not expected to begin until five or six weeks before the date of the general primaries in August.
