WANT TO WORK ROAD

Crab Orchard Wants Road to Hebbertsburg Neighborhood Located

I want to say, in behalf of the citizens of Crab Orchard and vicinity, concerning the pike from Crab Orchard to Hebbertsburg, a few citizens met at the little bridge on Bakers creek and viewed out a route to what is known as Aunt Lyley place, with not more than three per cent grade and not any farther in distance than the old way and the cost of building will not be more than half it would be to follow the old road.

We recommend this way as for a distance of one and one-half mile the teamsters will not have to put on brakes. It will be one of the greatest additions to that part of the highway. We are interested so much in this practical route that we went last Thursday and cut all the undergrowth. We want to get this way adopted for the county road so that work done by the road hands will not be entirely lost and to no purpose.

We need this pike route surveyed so what work is done can be put at the right place which will be a great saving to the county. If the commissioners would authorize Martin Hatfield and Marion Humphrey to locate this road, they won't need any compass; their eye is sufficient.

The people are getting restless this fine cool weather and some of them are wanting to haul lumber to Crab Orchard from J. S. Cline's mills at the half-way point from Crab Orchard to Hebbertsburg. Mr. Cline and others will do a great deal to the road so they can haul their lumber to the railroad.

Let's have a boom; everything has been at a standstill long enough; it is time the wheels should begin to roll. While Wilson is settling the railroad strike, some can be hollering for Hughes.

The Memphis-to-Bristol pike is progressing quite well now since the rain ceased.

COUNTRY LIFE INSTITUTE

So Be Held In the Baptist Church Friday and Saturday.

The following program will be the first of its kind given by the Country Life Department of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. The Presbytery of Cumberland Mountain, which includes the eleven counties of the Cumberland Plateau, is now under the supervision of this department of church work. It was organized in June, by taking the mountain sections from three other Presbyteries, and absorbing one entirely, with exception of a single county, and as the territory is all plateau territory the problems of the entire section are similar. This institute is planned to aid all the churches working on the Cumberland mountain to labor together for the better development of the entire section. All ministers, representatives of churches, school teachers, school patrons and all social organizations interested in the betterment of the Plateau country, are invited to be present and to take part.

MIDDLE TENN. FARM NEWS

Prepared Exclusively for the Chronicle by Division of Extension, College of Agriculture, University of Tennessee, Knoxville.

Legumes, like other plants, must have food or they die. The soil that cannot supply that food is known to be poor. But the soil may be rich and not grow legumes. Legumes ask that food be presented to them under certain conditions or they refuse it and die. Legumes are particular. If the soil is acid they will not do well. Most Tennessee soils need lime to change their acid condition to a state where the plant food in the soil will be used by legumes for their nourishment.

At least two tons of finely ground limestone or one ton of burned lime per acre should be disced in or otherwise mixed with the top three or four inches of the soil previous to seeding. See that your farm grows some legumes and see that the legumes have all the lime they ask for.

WHAT LIVE STOCK HAVE YOU?

The live stock that is profitable for you is the kind you should raise. That goes without saying. Probably the livestock that is common in the community will be most profitable for you. The community—your community—should be known for a certain breed of cattle or swine or chickens.

To get this require cooperation on the part of the farmers in the community. Sometimes one or two men will hold back a whole community for some supposed liking they have for a kind of live stock which the others in the community have found unsatisfactory. More frequently the man who stays to himself, who does not join his neighbors in community development, is the loser. As one live stock man of prominence put it, "If you do not care to raise the breed the others are producing then you had better move to some other place. Your profits will dwindle."

Be sure the live stock you are raising is the kind that will bring you the greatest profits for the conditions under which you are working.

USE THE CLIMATE.

Middle Tennessee is fortunate in its climate. Persons are able to live many months of the year out in the open. This makes for health.

Many of the leading doctors over the world have studied the "fresh air" question with its bearing on the health of men and women. They have found that those who live in the open, that sleep in well ventilated rooms, that keep their bodies strong with good food and care, seldom, if ever, break down with diseases like tuberculosis.

We keep our bodies strong in order to resist disease, and fresh air will help. Use the climate Middle Tennessee offers.

WORK FOR GOOD ROADS.

To build good roads organize a community club. That seems to be the experience of Jordan Springs, which demonstrated true enterprise when its community club laid plans to build six miles of excellent road to connect their community with the pike. Over fifty men gave volunteer work on the road the first day fifteen hauled gravel; two men barbecued four sheep, while the ladies and girls brought basket lunches.

The county agreed to pay for two days work for every day these volunteers gave. So far one thousand days tree labor have been promised.

On the day when this work was taken up the girls of the canning clubs, in their white caps and aprons, served the dinner. After dinner a few short speeches were made and further plans laid for the continuance of the work.

The men who lead are the men who read

Remember the union Temperance service in the Baptist church next Sunday at 11 a. m. The Anti-Saloon League provides the speaker.

At the annual meeting of the Congregational church Sunday the pastor was elected for another year; the church is in good condition every way.

Edgar Hamby, son of Emmett Hamby, cut his left foot severely Friday while making cross ties. The wound was made with a broad axe and was on top of the left foot. The leader to the great toe was almost severed and a bad gash made several inches long. Dr. V. L. Lewis dressed the wound and the boy is doing well.

Mark Tollett and son Hugh, of Melvin, were in an automobile wreck a few days ago in which Mr. Tollett was severely bruised and his back injured. The machine turned over and he was pinned down by it until it was lifted off him. The son, Hugh, had his left hip badly bruised. Mr. Tollett's little daughter was in the machine also, but was not hurt.

Mrs. W. H. Hyder and daughter, Miss Hattie, of Harriman, have been visiting relatives in the valley for several days and are now the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Potter.

Miss Frances Kemmer, who has been the guest of friends here for the past few days, will return to her home in Grassy Cove today.

A party of young folks went to Adams Ford Sunday to spend the day swimming and fishing and a delightful day was spent.

Judge S. C. Brown and wife, of Athens, arrived Friday morning to see her father, Samuel Cline, who is now very low and is not expected to survive many days. He is in his eighty-eighth year and has been failing for several weeks until he has reached the point where tired nature will soon yield and this man of noble character, who is held in the highest esteem by all who know him, will pass to that shining shore where the good and true shall enjoy eternal peace and happiness.

The City Schools will open Monday with Prof. H. H. Vincent as principal and the same corps of assistants as last year: Misses Catherine and Camilla Manier and Mrs. C. E. Keyes.

Owing to the great advance in the price of flour, T. M. Rector has decided to defer baking bread for the trade until flour prices are lower. In the meantime our merchants are ordering bread from distant cities.

Saturday night a number of young folks, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Potter, surprised them by coming to their home and presenting them with a handsome linen table cloth and napkins to match. A social hour was spent and sherbet and cakes were served, after which the young people all went to the home of Mrs. Pearle Keyes and danced until midnight. Those giving the shower were: Mrs. Pearle Keyes, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Martin, Misses Violet Haley, Antoinette Jackson, Bessie Potter, Lola Belle Snodgrass, Eula Bishop; Messrs Ernest Burnett, Edgar and Jonas Snodgrass, Andy Horn, Litton Thurman, Milo and Nathan Lemert. Miss Martha Melvin, of Waldensia, was an out-of-town guest.

Mrs. L. W. Martin and Miss Fannie DeGolia gave a six o'clock dinner Friday, in honor of Miss Frances Kemmer, of Grassy Cove. The other guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Taylor and Gen. J. R. Mitchell.

Mrs. J. B. Johnson entertained at cards Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Frances Kemmer, of Grassy Cove, and Miss Blanche Frazier, of Birmingham, Ala. There were two tables and the other guests were: Miss Grace Linnhart, of Birmingham, Ala., Miss Dora Dretzner, Chattanooga, Mrs. Geo. E. Taylor, Misses Susie Dunbar and Bessie Potter. Delicious salad and ice courses were served at the close of the games.

Mrs. M. H. Burnett returned Monday from a visit of some days with friends in White county. Mrs. Burnett and children expect to join Mr. Burnett in Alabama in a short time.

Mrs. F. J. Upham entertained yesterday with a five-course luncheon in honor of Miss Frances Kemmer, of Grassy Cove. The color scheme was pink and white and the rooms were decorated with asters and hydrangeas. The other guests were Messdames Geo. E. Taylor, Voiner Hamby, L. W. Martin and Misses Nell Snodgrass, Ethel Keyes, Fannie DeGolia. After luncheon cards were enjoyed for some time and at the close of the game watermelon was served.
