The ISOLATED CONTINENT

By Guido von Horvath and Dean Hoard

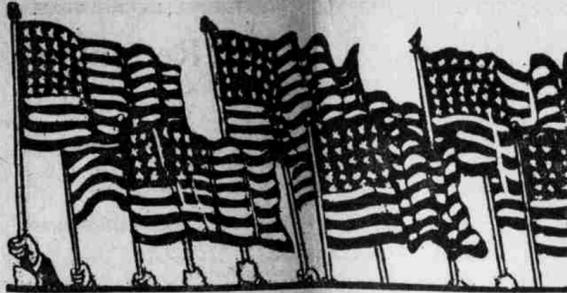

CAN you imagine the Republics of America combined under one government as the United Republics of America with a woman as president; when airplanes travel at the speed of a thousand miles an hour with ease? Although today but a dream, they are not beyond the range of possibilities as described in the new serial we have secured.

A Remarkable Romance of the Future

This fascinating work of fiction takes you to the time when wonderful forces as yet undiscovered are utilized in international warfare and to maintain universal peace. If you want to read a story that surpassed the wildest dreams of H. G. Wells, the famous novelist, don't fail to read

FLAG DAY JUNE 14

Old Glory Has Waved Over Us For One Hundred And Forty Years. It Is The Sentiment Uniting Us As A Nation That Makes It More To Us Than A Beautiful Piece of Cloth. It Means: "Liberty And Union, Now And Forever, One And Inseparable."

The Flag By FRANKLIN K. LANE Secretary of the Interior

ONE morning, as I passed into the land office, the Flag dropped me a most cordial salutation, and from its rippling folds I heard it say: "Good morning, Mr. Flag Maker."

"I beg your pardon, Old Glory," I said. "You are mistaken. I am not the President of the United States, nor the Vice President, not a member of Congress, nor a general in the army. I am only a government clerk."

"Well, you helped to clear that patent for the hopeful inventor in New York, or pushed the opening of that new ditch in Colorado, or made that mine in Illinois more safe, or brought relief to the old soldier in Wyoming. No matter whichever one of these beneficent individuals you may happen to be, I give you greeting, Mr. Flag Maker."

□ □ □ □

"Yesterday the Congress spoke the word which will open the door of Alaska, but a mother in Michigan worked from sunrise until far into the night to give her boy an education. She, too, is making the Flag. Yesterday we made a new law to prevent financial panics; yesterday, no doubt, a school-teacher in Ohio taught his first letters to a boy who will write a song that will give cheer to millions of our race. We are all making the Flag."

"But," I said, impatiently, "these people were only working."

Then came a great shout about the Flag.

"Let me tell you who I am."

"The work that we do is the making of the real Flag."

"I am not the Flag, not at all. I am but its shadow."

"I am whatever you make me, nothing more."

"I am your belief in yourself, your dream of what a people may become."

"I live a changing life, a life of moods and passions, of heart-breaks and tired muscles."

□ □ □ □

"Sometimes I am strong with pride, when men do an honest work, fitting the rails together truly."

"Sometimes I droop, and then purpose has gone from me and then cynically I play the coward."

"Sometimes I am loud, garish and full of that ego that blasts judgment."

"But always I am all that you hope to be and have the courage to try for."

"I am song and fear, struggle and panic, an ennobling hope."

"I am the day's work of the weakest man and the largest dream of the most daring."

"I am the Constitution and the courts, statutes and statute makers, soldier and drenaught, drayman and street-sweep, cook, counselor and clerk."

"I am the battle of yesterday and the mistake of tomorrow."

"I am the mystery of the men who do without knowing why."

"I am the clutch of an idea and the reasoned purpose of resolution."

□ □ □ □

"I am no more than what you believe me to be, and I am all that you believe I can be."

"I am what you make me, nothing more."

"I swing before your eyes as a bright dream of color, a symbol of yourself, a pictured suggestion of that big thing which makes this nation. My stars and my stripes are your dreams and your labors. They are bright with cheer, brilliant with courage, firm with faith because you have made them so out of your hearts, for you are the makers of the Flag, and it is well that you glory in the making."

CUSTOMS IN ARMY AND NAVY

Explicit Regulations Govern the Display of the Stars and Stripes on Land and Sea.

Concerning "Flag Day" the following from the Army and Navy Journal may be of interest:

A correspondent asks as to the origin of the custom of hoisting the flag on board ship and at our army posts at sunrise and hauling it down at sunset. Some of our readers may be able to add to the information we give here. The army hoists its flag at sunrise and hauls it down at sunset. The navy raises the flag at eight in the morning and hauls it down at sunset. The flag is not flown at sea except for the purpose of exchanging courtesies with other vessels, but a vessel making port keeps the flag flying until she comes to anchor, whatever the hour may be. The flag is hoisted on board ship during church service, with the church pennant flying above it. The hoisting of a flag below another flag is the token of surrender.

The regulations require that: "At every military post or station the flag will be hoisted at the sounding of the first note of the reveille, or of the first note of a march, if a march be played before reveille. The flag will be lowered at the sounding of the last note of the retreat, and while the flag is being lowered the band will play 'The Star-Spangled Banner.' The national flag shall be displayed at a seacoast or lake fort at the commencement of an action and during a battle in which the fort may be engaged, whether by day or at night."

The national ensign on board a ship of the navy at anchor shall be hoisted at 8 a. m. and kept flying until sunset, if the weather permits. Whenever a ship comes to anchor or gets underway, if there is sufficient light for the ensign to be seen, it shall be hoisted, although earlier or later than the time specified. Unless there are good reasons to the contrary, the ensign shall be displayed when falling in with other ships of war, or when near the land, and especially when passing or approaching forts, lighthouses or towns."

True Americanism. The Americanism of a man is not always proved by what he says. It is proved by what he thinks, and his general attitude toward government. The flag stands for freedom and self-government, the supremacy of the civil over the military authority, and individual rights. In this country, as long as it continues to be American, the state will be the servant, and not the master of the people.

YES! BUT IT IS TRUE

If someone told you that you could make a dollar, or perhaps five dollars, without any work on your part, you'd label it 'bosh' wouldn't you?

But it's true, just the same. A Bank Check Book will save you one, two, possibly five dollars—simply because it is always the 'exact change' and a cancelled check is an undisputed receipt for a paid bill.
