

CONFLANS SUPPLY BASE BOMBED BY THE AMERICANS

American aviators have again bombed the enemy base supply station at Conflans. This supply base is about 20 miles east of Verdun and is an important link in the enemy second line of defense.

CARES FOR FIGHTERS' FEET

Sergt. Maj. J. A. White, who is doing his bit serving as chiropodist with Uncle Sam's forces in France. The care of the lower extremities is of the utmost importance to the success of an army, and this expert sees to it that the feet of our fighting men are always in the "pink of condition."

Child Gardeners in England. Apart from the school gardens, which are increasing in number and size and excellence every year, a great deal of work in the direction of food production is being done by children, both in the gardens attached to their homes and elsewhere.

Louisa Goes Over the Top

By GIDEON HOE of The Vigilantes

Louisa is the school scrub woman. She has been connected with the school for years. She has been there with her brooms, her pails, her mops and her eternal thoroughness.

It was for the boy that she worked. It was of him and the Faderland that she talked as she rubbed, rubbed, rubbed. "Ach, what think? That boy he lends five dollars to a man on the block and he move away and we can't find him."

"Not so it is in Chermany. There he could not do this. Make bills and hide himself. There you have a little book. From school yet you have it. In it stands your name, your age, your hair, your eyes, and all what you do for a living."

"First thing you do if you move, you must go to the police and show your book, then again when you arrive you show your book to the police."

"No, no, in Chermany you cannot run away. There they have it much better. You are all bosses. Nein! You have not the discipline. Hrrp! Hrrp! Forward march!" and Louisa shouldering her brooms and mops marched down the corridor to the applause and laughter of the little children marching into school.

Louisa liked to mingle with the teachers. At the beginning of the war, when the teachers gathered in their little knots discussing the possibilities and speculating on the outcome of it all, Louisa made her contribution: "Ach, the discipline. Von Hindenburg, Von Hindenburg. He is for discipline. He is the soldier. Such a fine one never lived. You will see he will win. He is a Gottlike man."

"Oh, Louisa, have a heart. Don't scare us so early in the morning," scoffed Boy Teacher, reaching for the brief case that rested at his feet. But Louisa was before him and placed it in his hands.

"Oh, thank you, Louisa, but you mustn't do that. You'll spoil me. I'm not used to it."

"I should hope not," sniffed another young teacher, "I should hope not indeed. The idea of a woman waiting on a perfectly healthy, strong young man. I bet I wouldn't do it."

"Ach, no? In Chermany you would be better disciplined. You would save the man all."

"Why? Why?" stamped the young teacher. "Why should a woman save a man anything?"

"Because," Louisa bandedescended. "Because he is a soldier. He fights for the Faderland. Without the man what are you? Nothing. It is for you to marry a fine soldier, mother a fine soldier, raise up a fine soldier. That is your duty. That you were placed in the world for. Now he," pointing to the Boy Teacher, "would make a fine—" But the young teacher had fled.

The teachers began to grumble. "Germany, Germany. Louisa is always cheering for Germany. Why don't these people go back and fight for the Faderland? No. They stay here and root for Germany."

The Lusitania Was Sunk. Then came the news of the sinking of the Lusitania. The teachers gathered and discussed the news angrily. "The devils. Our people. Hundreds of them. Frohman, Archie Butts, Hubbard. It's awful. It was full of women and little children. Shameful."

Frau von Hindenburg! We're going to Berlin to get your precious kaiser.

"Ya, ya," said Louisa sadly. "Such things must be. It stands in the Bible. Purification by fire. If it's God's will we fight, then we fight."

When the teachers had gone to their rooms Louisa appeared in the office. "Hark," she whispered to the head teacher. "My boy has volunteered for the war. What you think of that? Isn't that fine? He says: 'Mother Louisa, I must go,' and I tell him: 'Go. We live in America, we are Americans.'"

One morning when the teachers had gathered for the morning chat, Louisa came in, her face shining. "Look," she said to the young teacher, "here is my boy's picture. He is a soldier now. How grand he looks. He is a sergeant already."

Louisa gazed lovingly at the post-card picture of a fine looking soldier boy. "Ha, ha, my fine fellow. Now you don't turn over and sleep again while I call you five times more. Ta tata, Ta tata, Ta ta ta. Forward march. TEE is fine for you," she chuckled.

The Liberty Loan posters came. The big loan drive was on. Louisa fell in love with one of the posters. "Such a beautiful young lady. How strong she is waving the flag and leading the army. She is schoen, ya, ya, she calls for money for the soldiers. She shall have it. Ya, ya."

Glancing about to be sure she was not noticed, she slipped into the office. Once inside she drew from her pocket an envelope with the red triangle in the corner and laid it before the head teacher. "Look. This money my boy sends. It is the money they give him for being a good soldier. That money I never spend. Take it and buy a Liberty Bond." So Louisa went over the top for Uncle Sam.

THE TEST

By JOHN BROWN JEWETT of The Vigilantes.

This is your crisis, this your hour: Earth's oceans and its shores Hold but one place of portent power, One duty—it is yours.

Think not to hide amid the crowd That covers land and sea; The voice of Fate is calling loud; "Look to him, world—'tis he!"

Yes, you—no other. None are born To do what you must do; No beaten captain waits such scorn For failure, as must you.

It is the test, the fine one: Shall kings or people rule? Who are the people? There are none If one is called in vain.

On you the sorrow, blood and cost, The glory or the shame. If freedom's cause today is lost, You only are to blame.

THOSE WHO CANNOT GO

By EDWARD A. G. HERMANN of The Vigilantes.

Are you sorry? Or are you glad? Perhaps you would go if you could, but you must stay at home.

You cannot be a hero at the battle-front, but you can live heroically wherever you are.

It takes five men at home to keep one man in the trenches.

YOU belong to one of those groups of five men. The five men at home must stand together and do the things that count most for one man at the front. For any one man to fail is to play false to the cause for which we work and they fight.

You cannot fight, but you can work and pray; you can love and serve; you can save carefully and give sacrificially. Above all else you ought to worship in times of war.

We believe our cause is righteous. Our faith is justified. Our human instincts are not lying to us.

The lofty ideals for which our brave boys are fighting are the ideals for which pure Christianity has stood for 1,900 years. When the church has been blind to the vision of the ideals she has grown weak and unworthy of the great Leader. We stand with him today for the sanctity of womanhood and the protection of children; for justice and mercy, truth and righteousness; for industrial, political and social democracy; for international law and universal brotherhood; for the establishment of the kingdom of God on earth.

These are the great ideals which carry with them freedom, peace and happiness for all the future.

After all, true religion is the real conservator of civilization and the ultimate unifier of humanity. The future of democracy and civilization is bound up with Christianity.

THE FLAG SPEAKS

By THEODOSIA GARRISON of The Vigilantes.

Great minds planned me, High hearts made me, Strong arms raised me To fly while life endures; Fine souls wrought for me, Brave men fought for me, Bound and broken sought for me— Now—I am yours.

The wide world sees me, The wild seas know me, The four winds lift me A signal and a flame; Your youth and your age, Your hope and heritage, Your father's father's page That bears your name.

Your hands uphold me, Your strength sustains me, Your service honors me With every task it gives. Hold me your word and worth, Hold me your sword and hearth, Hold me your sign to earth That Freedom lives.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Drop Freezezone on a touchy corn, then lift that corn off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic! No humbug!

A tiny bottle of Freezezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. Freezezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.—Adv.

The Worm Turned.

A Richmond (Va.) man who motored today to the resort where his wife and baby were spending the summer was called on to help prepare the morning meal of his son and heir. He proved a little unskilled in removing the top of the can that was handed him, and his wife became scornful and impatient.

"I do wish I had married a man!" she said, with fine sarcasm.

The unfortunate continued to struggle vainly with the stubborn tin.

"And I do wish I had married a woman," he grunted. "Then I would not have had to bother with these artificial breakfast foods."

Many people imagine that Worms or Tape-worm cannot be gotten rid of entirely. Those who have used "Dead Shot"—Dr. Feer's Vermifuge, know that they can. Adv.
