THEY WANT A CHANCE, NOT CHARITY; HELP UNCLE SAM GIVE THEM A START

Two crippled soldiers being taught telegraphy in one of the reconstruction hospitals maintained by the government. "We don't want charity; give us a chance!" From every reconstruction hospital in the country comes this insistent plea from thousands of wounded soldiers. Although shattered in body, the spirit that sustained them at Chateau Thierry, Argonne and Metz remains unbroken. They do not want something for nothing; they are willing to work for all they get. The Government has inaugurated reconstruction institutions at various points throughout the country where the blind, the armless and legless are taught useful trades and professions. While the soldier and sailor is undergoing vocational training, he is supported by the Government. Should he have dependents, they also receive aid. Five possible steps follow a wounded soldier's decision to take the vocational training course. They are: decision by the disabled man as to his course of training; the training itself, which is to fit him for a definite occupation; trial employment in that occupation; placement after trial in a definite job, and follow-up work to safeguard his interests. Within the next few months it is expected that several thousand disabled soldiers will have sufficiently recovered from their wounds to take the Government's vocational training course. Industrial schools and colleges throughout the country are being utilized so that most of the men are being trained close to their homes. Thirty-one per cent of the total now in training are taking commercial

ITALIAN TROOPS QUIT SOKIA Force Withdrawn After Turkish Government Protests to the Peace Conference.

Paris, May 28.—The Italian troops that occupied Sokia, 50 miles southeast of Smyrna, Asia Minor, have re-embarked on their transports. They turned over the control to Turkish military authorities. (The Turkish government had protested to the peace conference and protested to the peace conference against the landing. It also expressed regret that the Greeks were permitted to occupy Smyrna, saying the government felt it would have been wiser to have had a joint occupation by the allies. The protest said it was feared that trouble would ensue as the advance into the interior of the country continued.)

MUST INCREASE FOOD EXPORTS

America Called on by End of War to Supply Added Millions. ECONOMY STILL NEEDED. Over Three Times Pre-War Shipments Required—Situation in Wheat and Fats Proves Government's Policy Sound.

With the guns in Europe silenced, we have now to consider a new world food situation. But there can be no hope that the volume of our exports can be lightened to the slightest degree with the cessation of hostilities. Millions of people liberated from the Prussian yoke are now depending upon us for the food which will keep them from starvation. With food the United States made it possible for the forces of democracy to hold out to victory. To insure democracy in the world, we must continue to live simply in order that we may supply these liberated nations of Europe with food. Hunger among a people inevitably breeds anarchy. American food must complete the work of making the world safe for democracy.

Last year we sent 11,820,000 tons of food to Europe. For the present year, with only the European Allies to feed, we had originally pledged ourselves to a program that would have increased our exports to 17,500,000 tons. Now, to feed the liberated nations, we will have to export a total of not less than 20,000,000 tons—practically the limit of loading capacity at our ports. Reviewing the world food situation, we find that some foods will be obtainable in quantities sufficient to meet all world needs under a regime of economical consumption. On the other hand, there will be marked world shortages in some important commodities.

Return to Normal Bread Loaf. With the enlarged wheat crops which American farmers have grown, and the supplies of Australia, the Argentine and other markets now accessible to shipping, there are bread grains enough to enable the nations to return to their normal wheat loaf, provided we continue to mill flour at a high percentage of extraction and maintain economy in eating and the avoidance of waste. In fact there will be a heavy shortage—about 3,000,000,000 pounds—in pork products, dairy products and vegetable oils. While there will be a shortage of about three million tons in rich protein feeds for dairy animals, there will be sufficient supplies of other feedstuffs to allow economical consumption.

In the matter of beef, the world's supplies are limited to the capacity of the available refrigerating ships. The supplies of beef in Australia, the Argentine and the United States are sufficient to load these ships. There will be a shortage in the importing countries, but we cannot hope to expand exports materially for the next months in view of the bottle neck in transportation.

Twenty Million Tons of Food. Of the world total, North America will furnish more than 60 per cent. The United States, including the West Indies, will be called upon to furnish 20,000,000 tons of food of all kinds as compared with our pre-war exports of about 6,000,000 tons.

While we will be able to change our program in many respects, even a casual survey of the world supplies in comparison to world demands shows conclusively that Europe will know famine unless the American people bring their home consumption down to the barest minimum that will maintain health and strength. There are conditions of famine in Europe that will be beyond our power to remedy. There are 40,000,000 people in North Russia whom there is small chance of reaching with food this winter. Their transportation is demoralized in complete anarchy, and shortly many of their ports will be frozen, even if internal transport could be realized.

To Preserve Civilization. At this moment Germany has not alone sucked the food and animals from all those masses of people she has dominated and left starving, but she has left behind her a total wreckage of social institutions, and this mass of people is now confronted with absolute anarchy.

If we value our own safety and the social organization of the world, if we value the preservation of civilization itself, we cannot permit growth of this cancer in the world's vitals. Famine is the mother of anarchy. From the inability of governments to secure food for their people grows revolution and chaos. From an ability to supply their people grows stability of government and the defeat of anarchy. Did we put it on no higher plane than our interests in the protection of our institutions, we must bestir ourselves in solution of this problem.
