The Drummer's Grievances.
The issues presented to the consideration of voters in this bewildering canvass by the Drummer's national convention, held in Louisville, Ky., October 3, are well set forth by their candidate for the presidency, Mr. Joseph Mulholland, in his letter of acceptance, from which we make the following extracts: You select me as the standard bearer of more than 350,000 of the most intelligent, most energetic business men in America. If elected to the high office for which you nominated me, it shall be my study and pleasure to devote my entire time to the business interests of the Republic. My cabinet shall be composed entirely of good, pure, intelligent drummers and business men. It shall be my first duty to select men for officers, first from the ranks of the drumming fraternity, next from the newspaper fraternity, then from the intelligent working class and business men. I am most emphatically in favor of free interstate commerce. No restrictions should be placed upon the business interests of the country in the shape of local and municipal or state laws imposed as a tax upon the drumming fraternity. It is unconstitutional and must be abolished. The hotels should furnish you better accommodations for the prices they charge you.

INSUFFICIENT HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS.
The hotel accommodations are insufficient, the drummer being compelled to spread his samples all around the room instead of exhibiting them in show cases provided by the proprietor.
The railroads should allow you more excess of baggage in order that you might increase your sales by exhibiting more samples, which you are now deterred from doing owing to the enormous tax they place upon you for such.

THE DRUMMER IS CROWDED IN THE CARS.
In the cars the conductor and passengers grumble because the drummer occupies a seat or two with his samples and accuse him of wanting the whole car. When, by proper legislation, we can compel these grasping monopolists to at least place special cars at our service.
As a class you have been slandered and debased of society in many places, simply from the fact that you were a drummer. No matter how gentlemanly you may have been, or how kindly your deportment, or how intelligent, sober, industrious, respectable and conscientious you may have been, overly-nice people all over the land regarded you with suspicion, as if you were some strange wild animal or a modern coachman.

Scientist—I have just made a discovery, which will, I think, interest you exceedingly.
Editor—Indeed! What is it?
Scientist—I have found in New Granada a curious vegetable product which may be called an ink plant. Its juice can be used in writing without any previous preparation.
Editor—Who cares for that? When you find a tree that grows shears let me know.

Old Silver Coins.
A man who lives near Pittsburg has six pieces of silver, each weighing a little more than the standard silver dollar, all perfect, and dates as plain as when new. The dates run from 1730 to 1754. On one side the figure resembles Gen. Washington's head, the other side being hieroglyphics. These pieces were plowed up in a field.
