

THE LIME KILN CLUB.

A Collection Taken, Repairs Voted and Craps Hung on the Doorknob.

"The odder day I received a visit from a cull'd orator who want'd to set out on a tower," said Brother Gardner, as the meeting was called to order.

The president made a thorough search of it and then continued: "The hat was passed and it came back empty. The president made a thorough search of it and then continued:

The Rev. Penstock then arose to a question of privilege. During the last three or four years he had suffered dreadful pains in observing the fact that eight out of every ten marriages among colored people took place before a white preacher.

The librarian reported that during the summer vacation rain, rats and mildew had destroyed over 2,000 of the almanacs and railroad guides on the library shelves.

The secretary announced a communication from Vicksburg, setting forth the fact that the Hon. Backhold Smith, an honorary member and an orator who rates A1 with Bradstreet, had passed over the river to be known on the shores of earth never again.

The knob of the outer door was ordered draped in mourning for the usual thirty days, and after voting down a resolution by Trustees Pullback to permit members to sit with their shoes off during meetings, the audience dispersed, and some stole Professor Slayback's white plug hat and left an old straw in its place.

A Banquet Hall Desalted.

[Texas Siftings.]

Landlady—I wish to say that there will be dessert to-day for everybody. Those who have paid their board will get pudding for dessert. Those who have not will desert the table.

A Good Customer Sacrificed. [New York Times.]

"That boy of yours is not adapted for the undertaking business," explained an undertaker to the boy's father, who inquired why he had been discharged.

"What's the trouble with him?" "He hasn't a reading sense of what is due the afflicted. Day before yesterday Mrs. B. buried her fourth husband. I sent the boy up to learn at what hour she wished the ceremony to take place, and he asked her what her regular time of day was for burying husbands. I expect to lose her trade entirely."

Church Notes from the Young. [Columbus Dispatch.]

Said Bobby to the minister at dinner: "Can a church whistle?" "Why do you ask?" "Cos pa owes $12 back pew rent, and he says he's going to let the church whistle for it."

[Boston Globe.] "Little girl, do you know whose bones this is?" asked a solemn-looking man of a bright child seated on the church steps.

"Yes, sir; it's God's, but He ain't in," she said, as the old gentleman was about to pass up the steps, "and His agent's gone to Europe."

The Burglar's Presence of Mind. [London Tid-Bits.]

Hearing a noise at night Jones descends with a lighted candle and discovers a burglar escaping with a full sack. "Hello!" he cries, "come back, you!" "Eh, what?" returns the burglar; "ah, yes, the silver candlestick! Permit me." He takes it from the hand of the astonished Jones and puts it into his bag. "Ten thousand thanks. Have I forgotten anything else?"
