HOUSE NOTES.

The Noble Billy, when someone was speaking about gambling yesterday, said: "We all do it." Who authorized the little naïf to use the editorial "we"?

The removal of C. A. Brown yesterday afternoon was the last kick of a dying mule. The Cabinet, like the scorpion, carries its sting in its tail.

Minister Ned must have had a hand in the leading editorial of last evening's Court and Cabinet Organ. His speech commenced with that editorial, almost verbatim.

The late Ministry might well have prayed—if it had been the praying kind—to be saved from its friends. One of these ardent admirers launched out into a fervent eulogy of the Gibson Administration. Another said morality was played out, and made a plea for the lottery.

ATTEMPT TO KILL.

James Gibbs, a Painter, Tries to Shoot Hon. R. W. Wilcox.

An Exciting Time on King Street About Dusk—The Present Political Struggle is the Cause.

At last lawlessness has broken out and on the side of the following of the ousted Ministry.

The outbreak took place last evening about dusk on King street immediately in front of the office of the Liberal, which is situated on the ground floor of the K. of P. building, and might have resulted in the death or wounding of Hon. Robert W. Wilcox.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

From an eye witness the following account of the affair was learned:

About 5:30 o'clock Mr. Wilcox, who had been standing on the corner of Fort and King streets talking to a friend, started towards the office of his paper and when about ten feet away from the place was accosted by James W. Gibbs, a politician, who applied a vile epithet to the law maker. Wilcox noticed that his insulter appeared to be under the influence of liquor and merely gave him a shove and told him to get one side. By this time both men were in front of the Liberal office, when Gibbs stepped from the sidewalk and was seen to put his hand to his hip as if reaching for a weapon, and in a second the gleaming barrel of a pistol was seen, but whether the revolver was drawn from the would-be murderer's hip pocket or inside coat pocket, there is doubt.

THE ASSAILANT PINNED.

Mr. Wilcox was alive to the serious nature of the occasion and immediately grappled with Gibbs, who in the meantime was trying to get an aim, but fortunately was unable to do so, and in the final struggle he made a supreme effort to get free and at the same time fired the pistol, but owing to the position in which he was held, the bullet passed harmlessly by the legislator and buried itself in the earth but a few feet away.

After the murderous shot was fired assistance came to the relief of Mr. Wilcox and the weapon was taken from Gibbs. The news spread like wildfire, and in a few moments an immense throng collected near the spot of the attempted assassination. In the meantime Gibbs was released and immediately sought refuge in a hack standing by and implored the driver of the vehicle to take him to the Station House, which was done, while the crowd followed the hack.

THE DEFENSE OF GIBBS.

Gibbs was taken to the Marshal's office where it is understood he denied the ownership of the pistol and claimed it was the property of Mr. Wilcox, and further, that the last named gentleman did the shooting.

The prisoner's defense is ingenious, but in this case, in the minds of many, it will be of little avail as there are at least three eye witnesses to the affair, one of whom is a disinterested party and is positive that Gibbs drew the pistol while he was standing in the street.

The revolver is of the American bulldog pattern, about 38 calibre, and when taken from Gibbs but one chamber was empty.

LET DOWN EASY.

Gibbs is charged with an assault with a deadly weapon and was released on bonds shortly after his surrender. His case will come up in the Police Court this morning.

Gibbs is an old resident here and while he is addicted to the use of liquor he has never been regarded as a dangerous man. He has meddled in politics for some years and is one of the leaders of a local organization known as the Mechanics' Union, an appendage of the National Reform Party.

He has never had any previous trouble with the man he attempted to kill and no reason, other than political enmity, can be assigned for his cowardly action of yesterday.

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the parlors of the Central Union Church. On Wednesday evening at the same place a public meeting will be held by the association, when papers will be read and other business transacted.

THE HAWAIIAN GAZETTE, (12 pages) is out this morning, and contains all the news of the last week. A mail leaves this week and a copy should accompany your letter abroad.

The ADVERTISER has the largest circulation and prints more live news than any of its alleged contemporaries. Its advertising columns prove that business men know a good thing when they see it. If you do not take this journal you are behind the times.

EXIT THE CABINET.

A Big Majority Cuts Off Their Official Heads.

Although want-of-confidence resolutions have been for some time, their non-appearance up to yesterday disappointed many people who were anxious to see the members of the Macfarlane Cabinet relegated to private life.

But the long-looked-for event loomed up yesterday morning, when Rep. Waipulani engaged the attention of the House by reading a document that was destined to remove, virtually for a second time, a Cabinet that did not command the confidence of a majority of the members of the House, or of the business community either.

The introducer of the resolution started the ball rolling, followed up by several other native members, when Noble Thurston took the matter in hand, and in a vigorous speech denounced the Cabinet as being utterly incapable of handling the government reins.

The debate continued until after 5 o'clock, when the House adjourned until 7 o'clock in the evening.

At the appointed hour the members were in their seats; the rear portion of the hall was crowded, the lobbies of the Government building were well filled with citizens discussing the question pro and con. Members of the Cabinet tried to explain their attitude on important questions, but it was breath wasted, as the roll call on the resolution footed up 31 against the Ministers, while only 15 members voted for their retention—so the obnoxious Cabinet had to go.

It was freely remarked in the lobby that Noble Peterson would vote with the majority so he would be available to form the next Cabinet; but he didn't, and it is all conjecture now as to the man who will name the new Ministry.

MURDER IN THE AIR.

A Drunken Native With a Rusty Cutlass.

A young man with the historical name of John Brown happened along Alakea street last evening, and when near the corner of Merchant street several festive native maidens relieved him of his coat and ran inside of a shabby mansion, a type of architecture very common in the vicinity.

At this time the rain commenced to pour in an ungentle manner, with the result that John had a very long longing for his garment and went in search of the same. He entered a yard, walked up a pair of stairs and met a door, which he hammered on until a native named Kaai made his appearance accompanied by a large-sized jag and a rusty cutlass which he wielded in a threatening manner, finally striking John a blow on the shoulder which made him see stars. Finally the weapon was taken from the murderous hands of Kaai and taken to the Police Station. When John was last seen he was still in search of his coat. No arrests were made.

A COUNTRY RESIDENCE was destroyed by fire, with all its contents—nothing saved. A fire nearly always comes unexpectedly and at the most inconvenient time. Will it ever be convenient? No, but you'll have a big sense of relief to know that your important papers, books and trinkets are in a Hall's Safe. It matters not how intense the heat, this Safe will always come out on top. They commend themselves to users.

Sixty dollars will buy a Safe adapted for your home. A beauty, too, and just as fire-proof as its bigger brothers. Size, inside, 13x11x9 inches. Four men can lift it and a small boy roll it anywhere.

"German Syrup"

"We are six in family. We live in a place where we are subject to violent Colds and Lung Troubles. I have used German Syrup for six years successfully for Sore Throat, Cough, Cold, Hoarseness, and spitting-up of Blood. I have tried many different kinds of cough Syrups in my time, but let me say to anyone wanting such a medicine—German Syrup is the best. That has been my experience. If you use it once, you will go back to it whenever you need it. It gives total relief and is a quick cure. My advice to everyone suffering with Lung Troubles—Try it. You will soon be convinced. In all the families where you German Syrup is used we have no trouble with the Lungs at all. It is the medicine for this country." G. G. GREEN, Sole Man'fr, Woodbury, N.J.
