MODEST BUSH.

NEWSPAPER MEN TREAT HIM CAVALIERLY.

The United States Senators Believe His Side of the Story—So He Says.

A letter from J. E. Bush appears in this morning's Ka Leo. The letter was written in San Francisco. He complains that the Republican newspapers interviewed him, but published nothing. Democratic journals treated him better, and printed his effusions.

"When the members of the Senate read," says Mr. Bush, "this side of the story from the Hawaiian people, their eagerness for annexation was suddenly cooled down. It continued cooling down until the arrival of Paul Neumann and Prince Kawanakoa, the royal commissioners. Our commissioner told their side of the story, and it agreed with my published accounts.

"When the Senators saw it they believed mine to be true. They have concluded to leave the settlement of this question to the incoming democratic administration. I received the above news by the wires, and it made me glad.

"My fellow Hawaiian countrymen we have obtained this wonderful satisfaction from above, and we must all return thanksgiving with penitent hearts."

In another letter Mr. Bush writes: "Mr. Thurston's commissioners are fighting hard against newspapers which favor our side. Mr. Neumann advised me to remain quiet and refuse to be interviewed, but I replied no, and I have advertised the truth. I am fighting alone, but many of the wealthy Californians turned to our side when they were shown the truth.

The total rainfall for February was 14.53 inches. It is greater than for any one calendar month since regular records have been kept at Punahou. February, 1888, came very near it, with a record of 13.74 inches.

ALL VERY NICE.

MEETING OF THE BLACK-FLAG-CIVIL-RIGHTS LEAGUE.

They De de to Hold a Mass Meeting at the Chinese Theatre for Some Reason.

The first so-called public meeting of the Hawaiian Civil Rights League was held on Saturday evening at Robinson's Hall. The place mentioned is not a very large one, but it proved to be ample for the few people who were present. In all about twenty-five hungry office-seekers were there, among whom were noticed five ex-Ministers; their names are, C. W. Ashford, A. P. Peterson, Chas. Creighton, J. F. Colburn, C. L. Hopkins, Antone Rosa, F. J. Testa, V. Jacobson, L. J. Levey, D. M. Crowley, John Richardson, J. K. Kahookano, M. Davis, J. W. Gibbs, John Sheldon, E. Norrie, Friday Kenyon and a few others.

The meeting was called for 7:30 o'clock, but when that hour arrived there was not a corporal's guard present. Excuses for the non-attendance of other members were then in order. One statesman said that several of the absent ones had gone to the concert, and the other two went to Remond Grove to attend the Wheelmen's dance. A late comer volunteered the information that perhaps some had gone to the Robinson Block instead of Robinson's Hall. More excuses were offered, and meanwhile one or two stragglers dropped in. They were greeted effusively, and amidst the congratulations the motto of the organization "Black Flag" could be heard now and then.

The conversation then turned toward the Australian fleet. One member (supposed to be Friday Kenyon) stated that he had been informed by a hackman—who had buccined him out of four dollars about two weeks ago—that six vessels of the British fleet are now on their way from Australia to join the Royal Arthur and Temeraire, two war vessels which are expected at this port shortly.

This news seemed to give much encouragement to the meager crowd, so they talked and talked until 8 o'clock came.

Then C. W. Ashford, the president of the organization, took the chair, and from the platform on which many sailors have sung queer songs and danced queer dances he called the meeting to order. At this time there were twenty people present. He immediately requested the secretary to read the minutes of the previous meetings, but Antone Rosa and Charles Creighton opposed any such programme, so only the minutes of the meeting which took place at J. F. Colburn's house were read.

Besides Articles 1 and 2 which appeared in the ADVERTISER, the minutes gave additional information regarding club organization and the appointment of vice presidents for each of the following islands: Oahu, Maui, Hawaii, Molokai, Lanai, Kauai and Nihaui. Nothing was said about Ocean Island. The president makes his headquarters at Honolulu. Persons over twenty years of age are only eligible to membership.

The question of holding a mass meeting was then taken up. C. L. Hopkins, who remarked some time ago that the streets of this city would be paved with silver if the lottery bill became a law, was a committee of one to secure a meeting place. It seems that he had had some difficulty in securing a hall, but he remarked with much gusto that he had made a call on the proprietor of the Chinese Opera House on King street, and that $50 a night was the price of the hall.

The president then announced that a mass meeting would be held at the place mentioned some evening this week. Nothing was said about the fifty however.

A. P. Peterson was given the vacancy on the executive committee and then the meeting adjourned. At 8:30 o'clock the executive committee went into secret session. A reporter was not allowed to be present. This is contrary to remarks made by a prominent member who said that every meeting was to be public. Where are the police? An important circumstance was noted at the meeting. There was but one full-blooded Hawaiian present.

It is learned from a good authority that the natives will not join the league owing to the very unmistakable boodle taint about it.

The "Big Eleven" Club held an annual gathering last evening at the Arlington Hotel. A splendid dinner was served and enjoyed by the members of this exclusive society. It is said that their treasury income is derived from forfeits paid by members.

GRAND SUCCESS.

Pacific Wheelmen Entertain their Guests in a Royal Manner.

The most orderly picnic ever given at Remond Grove was the one last Saturday evening by the Pacific Wheelmen. Notwithstanding the concert at Kawaiahao Church, a large number took the trains for the Grove.

On arrival the guests were surprised at the beautiful scene before them. The pavilion was elegantly and tastefully decorated with flags and palm leaves of every description; in fact, it was frequently remarked that it reminded one of "Fairyland." The mellow glow of the electric lights enhanced the beauty of the scene.

Shortly after the arrival of the first train strains of music filled the air and immediately the dancers appeared upon the floor—which was pronounced by everyone to be perfect. The Hawaiian Quintette Club furnished the music for the evening, and not the least appreciated feature of the evening was their singing between the dances.

Mention must also be made of the fancy bicycle riding of Messrs. Bush and Dexter, which was enthusiastically applauded. As the boys are a temperate lot, no liquor was allowed on the grounds and the order which prevailed throughout the entire evening was a feature upon which they are to be complimented.

The ride home was most delightful; the moon casting its lovely rays upon the calm waters of Pearl Harbor was greatly admired by the excursionists as the train skirted the shores on its homeward journey. The Pacific Wheelmen are to be congratulated upon the success of their first picnic, and it is hoped that it will not be their last.

A BELLIGERENT BOAT BOY.

A Police Officer Runs Up Against His Fist.

Officer Sheehan is a new member of the police force. He was formerly a railroad engineer, but for want of something better to do he accepted the onerous position of guardian of the boat boys. Sheehan has been on the force now for some days and he has the appearance of a gallant copper with his snow-white duck trousers and blue coat with the regulation brass buttons.

Opinion differs as to the ability of M. Sheehan as a police officer. The boat boys say he is about as lively as a cigar store Indian, and twice as harmless, but the officer says—well, that is another story.

The dandy copper had a novel experience yesterday with one of his charges. Two boat boys were having a loud argument when the officer told them to quit. One of the boys answered by smashing Sheehan over the eye which caused him to topple over into the mud. The boy then threatened to throw his guardian into the bay but the officer called assistance before the threat was carried out, and now the boat rower will have to explain to Judge Foster why he struck a limb of the law.
