

EXPERIENCE OF HONOLULANS DEER SHOOTING ON MOLOKAI

The Story of Two Hunters Who Spent a Week in the Mountains and Enjoyed Rare Sport As Told by One for Saturday Advertiser.

FOLLOWING are extracts from letters from a Honolulu man who has recently been hunting on Molokai to the Advertiser:

HUNTERS' CAMP.

Molokai, Nov. 9, 1900, 6 a. m.

We arrived at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, having stayed over night at the house of Mr. Seales, bookkeeper for the American Sugar Company. He treated us very nicely and gave us two large beds, a house to sleep in, and some supper and breakfast. The trip over takes five hours, and of course I was sick, but came around all right by time we got up on the lee of Molokai. One of the boys was at the landing, and the boys gave us permission to use the hunters' camp and shoot on his lands.

to get near them, but failed to get a shot.

We got into the timber near the gulch, and just as I was getting within range of a nice buck our guide fired at a herd of deer and not only did not get anything, but spoiled my chance. In a little while he fired again, and I saw a herd of about seventy deer go down the edge of the gulch, and on going up to the guide, found that he had shot the antler off a big buck. Needless to say, the buck got away. The guide is a grand sight, 3,000 feet deep, and seems to be perpendicular, but the deer go down the side and out of sight in a second. We went a little way back in the timber and waited, watching the edge of the gulch. Presently we saw three deer come up about 200 yards away and started after them. On coming to a break in the timber I saw one of them standing about 200 yards away. I let fly and the deer jumped about ten yards in the air more or less and came straight down the hill for me. He nearly fell at my feet, rushed into a dead tree, jumped up again and ran down the trail. Another one followed not a foot away. We tracked the blood about 200 yards to the deer. We both fired and missed, but I stopped the wounded one with a shot in the neck. We hastily skinned and leaving the deer suspended from a tree, started for the cabin, as it was getting dark. We had no sooner struck the trail than we ran into the big bunch again, but it was too dark to see our sights, and we both missed. The captain had gone home in advance, and we laid around, watching, having separated in different directions. Getting disgusted I put my rifle over my shoulder and went through the wood to get the other fellows together. Suddenly I heard some animal running my way, and there came a magnificent buck, nearly ran me down. He scared me and I shot clean over him. He was out of sight before I could get another shot at him. A little later it began to rain, and it has rained ever since, forcing us to remain in camp.

Friday, November 16. Raining again this morning, but we decided to go out and get soaking wet. We have had but three good days since we got here, and I want to get back to the city before I return. We are ten miles in the mountains, and there is no way to get to town except to walk.

Sunday, November 18. Rained all day and had to stay in camp.

Monday, November 19. Went over to the big gulch. Started at 4 in the morning and returned at 1:30. We got one big buck, and on arriving at camp, found that the captain had not returned. This was the first time he had been late, and I thought he must have fallen down a precipice, but about half past three he turned up, packing the hind quarters of two large deer which he had killed deep in the canyon, about 1,500 feet deep. He was nearly dead with fatigue, but dinner revived him wonderfully. We did not go out again that day, as we were both pretty tired.

Friday, November 20. Went over to Waikola Gulch, a wonderfully pretty place. Saw a large herd of deer, but as the wind was in the wrong direction, were unable to get a shot, so getting to the top of the high ridge, climbed to the top of the canyon, put out two deer and killed both. The antlers on one were very fine; the other was only a spike buck.

Wednesday, November 21. Got out at daylight and shot the largest deer of the trip. As it was a long way from the camp, took only the hind quarters and antlers of the buck to camp. On meeting the captain found he had shot another. He had a large hind quarter and the bottom of the gulch long way from the settlement. Got one deer, the hindquarters of which I packed, and must have been about twelve. Shot three turkeys to bring back up to left camp at 1:30 p. m., arriving at Kaunakakai at 4 p. m.

Friday, November 23. Got up at 3:15, before daylight, and went over to the precipice and looked down at the leper settlement. Got one deer, the hindquarters of which I packed. It seemed fifty miles to camp, and must have been about twelve. Shot three turkeys to bring back up to left camp at 1:30 p. m., arriving at Kaunakakai at 4 p. m.

Arrangements are now being made by members of the Myrtle Boat Club to give another of their enjoyable dances on the evening of the 7th instant.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

Right Wing Sums up the Local Situation Critically.

The following is the first of a series of articles on current Association football, topics written especially for the Advertiser by Right Wing:

Today is the first Saturday for many weeks which has seen no Association football match. The encounter between Iolani and Old Boys has been postponed on account of St. Andrew's Fair, which takes place today. December will witness a regular succession of matches and a fixture card will probably be arranged to run through January and February.

During the past week there was an unprecedented amount of activity in the Association football world. The formation of two new clubs brings the present number of such organizations to four. The actual teams which are ready to take the field and to accept challenges are as follows:

First Division—Scotland, England, Iolani United.

Second Division—Iolani, Iolani Old Boys, Scotland "B" team, England "B" team.

On Sunday evening the English Association Football Club was formed. The meeting was held in the Scottish Thistle Club and a scheme of rules was drawn up and officers elected. The scheme of rules which has been selected is the same as the English International team, namely: a white shirt and dark pants. The badge of the club, which will be worn on the left pocket, is a red rose on a white shield. The secretary reports the number of members already enrolled as about twenty-five. This number insures the English line a second team and all members of the club will therefore be able to participate in match games.

The Old Iolani Boys' Association football club was successfully launched on Tuesday. A large and representative meeting of former members was held in the school grounds at 8 o'clock. Mr. P. Olanie, who played his football at Denston College, England, and is therefore eminently qualified to pilot the club to victory, was chosen captain and Mr. Bolster appointed vice captain. The club costume will be a white shirt with a blue sash worn diagonally over the left shoulder and dark blue pants. The badge which has been chosen is St. Andrew's cross, to be worn on the shirt pocket.

A resolution was carried by members of the two Iolani clubs on Tuesday that in all important matters a team should be chosen from members of both clubs, to be called the Iolani United. The committee hopes to be strong enough to compete in league matches. The colors of the Iolani United will be a white shirt with a red diagonal sash and blue pants. The return of Mr. Harvey from Molokai, where he has spent the last week, is the concern of the deer and longhairs, will strengthen the English defense very materially. With Harvey and Soper together as full backs the Scotch team will be sure of having to work hard for their goals and will deserve all they obtain.

The rapidly increasing number of devotees to the dribbling game augurs well for its permanence among us. The first team in the field was that of Iolani College, which made its debut some six weeks ago. Scotland followed a short time since with a numerous following and the present week has seen the inauguration of two other clubs. The number of the various organizations at the present time is approximately returned as follows:

Iolani College 15
Scotland 10
England 20
Old Iolani 20

Total 65

The above members include only actual players and all the clubs are increasing their membership very satisfactorily.

Still another club, one that we may confidently predict the advent of a new city will find Honolulu with five clubs in working order with a membership of well over one hundred actual players. The club, which has been named the Iolani United, is a loss not only to the Scotch Association but to the football of the island.

During his short stay with us, he on two occasions, showed his quality and would, without doubt, have stayed, had he proved the central figure in the Scottish attack. Mr. Boyle is an old Association player and has done service in first class football at home. He carries our heartfelt wishes for the future and the hope that he is not finally lost to our local football.

The next great movement in the Association football will be the establishment of a league, with a schedule of match fixtures for the coming year. The matches will probably be played during the first two months of the year and very keen rivalry will be shown for the possession of the challenge cup, which it is proposed to establish.

In a few weeks all clubs interested in Association football will be invited to send delegates to a general meeting, when a properly constituted league will be organized and a schedule of matches established for the league matches.

One of the chief points for legislation will be anticipated difficulty of qualification. This will probably be met by a requirement that each club shall register three players with the league secretary at the commencement of the league matches. Only members who have been thus "signed" on will be allowed to play in league matches and no player will be allowed to represent more than one team. The purchase of proper goal-posts and nets may also be discussed and each team invited to share the expense necessary to obtain these much needed articles.

Much dissatisfaction has been expressed on the imperfect shape of the balls which have been obtained locally. As a rule the balls have been almost any shape, round, oval, or triangular, and the difficulty of good play. We have brought the matter to the notice of a well known local firm and are assured that the matter shall be at once rectified and an order placed in the States for the requisite article. Not a few private orders have been mailed to England for single balls and it is gratifying to know that the long delay entailed by this procedure will be at no time of a good ball being on sale in the town.

We are glad to be able to announce that the Hon. W. R. Hoare has accepted the honorary presidency of the English football club. Mr. Hoare has always shown a keen interest in cricket and we are sure that his association with football will be conducive to the best interests of the game.

The practice match which was held on Thursday brought out a large number of players and a highly interesting game was the result. A fair attendance of spectators was brought together and showed that the game is increasing in popularity. Indeed, could the best matches be held earlier in the afternoon a large crowd would no doubt be attracted.

Among the new players plenty of promising form was shown. Goudie, the latest Scotch recruit, plays an energetic game and credit great things of him. Gibbs showed excellent judgment in goal and would probably make a useful inside left for the English Club, which he is joining. Finlay, the captain of the newly formed Old Iolani Club, is an old player and only needs a few games to bring back his former cunning. The brothers Cullin are worth handy with the feet, but we hear one of them is leaving Honolulu. Allen, who is a little practice will make a good forward. He combines well with his centre.

Mr. Harvey, a past master in the art of defense, put in his first appearance this season and will soon get into practice.

INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL.

Review of the Standing of the Elevens That Competed.

The intercollegiate football season is over and the Maile Ilimas have come out on top in the senior division. That they are the superiors of the artillery and Punahou College no one doubts, but it would appear, to judge by their excellent showing this season, that Punahou Alumni will prove a hard nut for the green and gold boys to crack. The Alumni have defeated the college three times by scores of 6-0, 5-0, 12-0. The Maile Ilimas allowed the college to score against them and only exceeded their score by the value of a touchdown.
