TALK OF REMOVING CAMP M'KINLEY TO BACK COUNTRY

The vendors of soda water and cigars and those who dispense strong waters in the neighborhood of Waikiki have become despondent over the whispers of a speedy removal of Camp McKinley from its present site. Several small Chinese stores practically depend upon the purchases of canned goods with which the local artillerymen are wont to enlarge their regular rations.

Rumors have been rife among the soldiery at the camp that the barracks, quartermaster's and commissary departments, with their hospital, were to be removed to the Government reservation at Kahauiki by July 1st. The rumor was based on the fact that several of the leases by which Camp McKinley is held were to run out on that date. Colonel Maus, Inspector General of the Department of the Interior, in which the Territory of Hawaii is included, is here looking into post affairs, and his presence may have given color to the talk of removal.

The Quartermaster's Department and Captain Slaker, now in command of the artillery quarters here, during the absence of Major Ennis, were interviewed upon the subject yesterday afternoon.

Major Robinson's chief clerk stated that only a few of the several leases governing Camp McKinley would lapse at the end of next month and that the rumors of camp removal were simply rumors, nothing more. A talk with Captain Slaker threw more light on the matter. "It is true," said he, "that there is some difficulty about renewing certain of the leases that expire on June 30th, but the trouble lies in the fact that the owners ask more rent for the land than is considered just by the military authorities. Mr. Hollinger, for instance, asks $90 rent for his strip. Camp McKinley is held under several leases from various property owners who have been getting a good rent for land that otherwise would be practically worthless, except for bee farms or for growing cordwood. These people want more rent and they will possibly get it under the present circumstances. "I couldn't move to the Moanalua camp by July 1st anyway. It is Government property but is held on a private lease; there are no buildings there and if the possessors of the lease were unwilling to give it up the land would have to be condemned and a fair price for the default of the lease adjudicated.

"The owners of the Iwilei property I understand need some portion of it for private purposes, but nothing definite is decided upon as regards removal of the stock.

"Of course we are peculiarly situated here, having practically no post. The various departments are scattered all over town, the hospital is six miles from the camp, there are no officers' quarters there, the officer of the day has an hour's travel to and from the camp and if he is a married man, sees very little of his home life.

"In over twenty years' experience I have never seen a post arranged or rather disarranged as this one is. The reason is easily found though. The war in the Philippines has put Hawaii in the background as far as military affairs are concerned. I believe that Colonel Maus intends to report favorably on the building of a military post at Kahauiki. This, of course, means a regularly laid-out post with barracks, officers' row and all the departments grouped in one settlement.

"Probably a battalion of four companies of infantry will eventually be posted here. I think that is the arm of the service that will be chosen for Hawaii. I myself should not be surprised any day to receive orders to leave. We are supposed to be heavy artillery, but all we have to do is practically nothing but infantry drill; having no facilities for heavy gun or mortar practice.

"Time will see a regular post established here, but I do not think it will come right away."

CANNON ESTATE WORTH A MILLION

Relatives of Deceased Mormon to Get His Great Wealth.

SALT LAKE, Utah, May 8.—The will of the late President George Q. Cannon, who died in Monterey, Cal., last month, will be filed for probate tomorrow. The will disposes of an estate approximating in value $1,000,000. According to the terms of the will, the estate is divided into two parts, the first part consisting of gilt-edged securities worth $200,000. This is to remain in trust until George Q. Cannon's youngest child, now nine years old, attains his majority. All of the thirty-three children of President Cannon are given an acre of land from the Cannon farm and $2000 in cash on attaining majority or at marriage, the balance of the $200,000 to be divided among the children when the youngest child becomes of age.

While polygamy was recognized by the Mormon church Mr. Cannon had four wives. To these are willed their homes, provision also being made for their maintenance during life.

The remainder of President Cannon's estate, valued at $800,000 and consisting of 33,000 acres of farm land, interests in flour mills, irrigation companies and stock in banks, etc., passes into possession of the George Q. Cannon Association, of which President Cannon's children and his nephew, John M. Cannon, are stockholders. This property is to be held in trust until the youngest child is 40 years old. This will not be for thirty-one years. The estate is much larger than was generally believed.

There were twenty Americans among the English prisoners captured by Boers on May 6. They have not been released.

It is said that the war in South Africa is likely to last another year and that fresh troops are badly needed.
