

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wailuku dropped to 8 1/2 yesterday on Stock Exchange.

A Japanese man and wife are wanted as cook, and man for out-work.

Those looking for a house, rooms, etc., consult the classified advertisements on page 8 today.

The Amateur Orchestra held a rehearsal yesterday evening in the Young Men's Christian Association hall.

The band played at the Hawaiian Hotel last night, a large audience appreciating the fine program of selections.

Louis Meyer, late city editor of the Hawaiian Journal, has taken a sabbatical leave from the editorial staff of the paper.

Chesler Doyle has been appointed as interpreter for the fire claims commission, and will begin his duties this morning.

George See was elected financial secretary of Court Luncheon No. 659, A. O. U. at an election of officers which took place last Wednesday night.

The Wireless Telegraph Company has opened its town office at Fort street, and occupies space in the office used by the C. A. B. in the Campbell block.

The schooner Malolo brought three men from Kauai yesterday morning—two men and a young girl. They came from Hanalei, and all are in the early stages of the disease.

The Lele Poi Mo'i Dancing Club will give a social dance at their hall on the corner of Fort and King streets next Saturday evening. Professor Sharpe's orchestra will be in attendance. Every one invited.

Barrett, the young man who was arrested by Delegate Wilcox for a commission in the regular army, has received orders from Washington to report at San Francisco for examination.

F. C. Hason, who has been auditing the fire claims which the Commission is preparing for presentation to the fire claims commission, passed upon 2,522 undivided claims, aggregating $420,000.

The remains of Mrs. Charlotte Blake followed to the grave yesterday afternoon by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. The Rev. Mr. Kittling presided. The last resting place, in the cemetery, was literally covered with flowers.

George Herbert's many friends will be pleased to hear that according to reports received by the last mail, his health has greatly improved during his stay in California. He will be back in Honolulu and resume his practice on the 1st of August.

Mr. F. W. Macfarlane, president of the committee which gave the luau at the Drillshed last Saturday night, reports that the total receipts amounted to $2,019.65; expenses, $314.65, leaving a net profit of $1,704.90.

The new griddle iron work delivery system put in position in the office yesterday. They are hand pieces of workmanship, and in accordance with the prevailing system used in all postoffices of any consequence. The ladies' window is located with the new delivery window now.

Mr. E. S. Gill requests this paper to print that her husband, the editor of the Hawaiian, intends to return to Honolulu. The household goods of the family are now being shipped to Phoenix, Arizona. "There is no reason why Mr. Gill should leave here," remarks "unless the Islands should be sinking, or my husband's health should fail."

A detail is made of the statement published in the San Francisco Examiner, and reprinted in yesterday's Advertiser, to the effect that George R. E. had written a letter denying any settlement had been made by the strike at the Honolulu Iron Works. A representative of that firm yesterday that George R. E. was his employer and had denied writing any such letter. Furthermore, Mr. E. is not the secretary of the local office being occupied by E. Miller.

REBECCAS HOLD AN INSTALLATION

Miss Dayton, the Noble Grand, Given an Elegant Jewel.

Last evening the Olive Branch Lodge of Rebekas held their semi annual installation. The following officers were inducted:

- Noble Grand, Miss Guernev.
- Vice Noble Grand, Miss Margaret Smith.
- Secretary, Miss May Weir.
- Treasurer, Mrs. Charlock.
- Right Hand Supporter, Mrs. Hickey.
- Left Hand Supporter, Miss Mabel Bruus.
- Vice Grand Supports: Right Hand, Miss Ferguson; Left Hand, Miss Goldie Guernev.
- Chaplain, Mrs. Willing.

At the close of the lodge work an elegant jewel was presented to Miss Dayton by Deputy Grand Sire J. D. McVeigh. The members were then entertained by the following program, which, though short, was most meritorious:

- Piano Solo—Miss Weir.
- Recitation—Mr. J. W. Hickey.
- Song—Mrs. Charlock.
- Recitation—Miss Dayton.

Dancing and refreshments followed. The music for the merrymakers was furnished by Prof. Wm. Sharpe's orchestra.

POLO MATCH ON MAUI TODAY

This afternoon near Wailuku, Maui, will be a polo match between teams representing the Oahu and Maui polo clubs.

The following are the teams:

- Oahu—Charles Judd, captain; Garrett Judd, H. Damon, S. E. Damon.
- Maui—F. F. Baldwin, George Bailey, David Fleming, Harry Copp.

The two clubs played a couple of games at Moanalua some time ago, both of which were won by the Oahuans. In today's game the visitors will be much better mounted than the Mauites, which is greatly in their favor. The Maui players are older and heavier men than their opponents and will not have more than two horses apiece so that the chances are that some of the ponies will give out before the game is over. The visitors, on the other hand, can each rely upon three mounts and will therefore possess a considerable advantage over the other team.

The members of the Maui team have had the benefit of more experience than is the case with the Oahuans, every man of the side having played in several matches and tournaments. The indications are that they will play a more brilliant but less steady game than their antagonists.

Stockyards Building.

The new buildings of the Honolulu Stock Yards Co., Ltd., on south King street will be completed within a month. Contractor Smith is putting into practice a rather novel plan in order to prevent an inconvenient delay. The company's harness shop stood directly in the path of the carpenters, and as the shop could not very well be moved before the new building was ready for occupancy, the contractor got out of the dilemma by building around and over it. The old structure had been almost entirely enclosed by the new framework, and it is now being torn down. The harness shop will be removed to the new quarters provided for it today.

Mrs. Eda Blankart Funston, wife of Brigadier General Funston, is in the city. Being the general's wife, she does not see anything wrong in her husband's capture of Agumaldo, and the Crier is far too tender-hearted to disillusionize the lady. I love a faithful wife above all things—platonically, of course—and so I can listen with a patience almost rapturous to Mrs. Funston's accounts of what she classes heroism on the part of General Funston. "My husband," says the lady, "was sorry to have been obliged to jump, by promotion, over the heads of so many of his superiors." Your husband was not the only officer in the service who was sorry, Mrs. Funston, I assure you.—San Francisco News-Letter.

"I suppose it is a long time since you have had stage fright," said the friend. "Yes," said Mr. Stormington Barnes. "But I have box office fright every now and then."
