BRICKS ARE EXCELLENT

Stand All the Tests Demanded of Them.

ENGINEER WHITE MADE EXPERIMENTS

Under Somewhat Adverse Circumstances, Local Product Proves to Be Satisfactory.

The experiments conducted for the Honolulu Clay Company by Engineer White, U.S.N., in which the bricks that have just been made at the Nuuanu kiln of that company were put to several severe tests, have turned out most gratifyingly to the company. While the bricks are not yet in as perfect a condition as they will be, and the mechanism used by the engineer was unsatisfactory in some of its details, the approximate results were all that could be desired, and will remain unchanged, so far as the general public is concerned. The experiments that will be conducted later will be for scientific purposes only, and the data so derived will be of service to builders and engineers alone.

The experiments to find the crushing power of the brick proved that the product of the local company will be able to sustain a pressure of 2,300 pounds to the square inch. The bricks are capable of sustaining a pressure of about 130 tons to the square foot. In building, the pressure seldom exceeds fifteen tons to the square foot. The crushing power of the brick was tested by placing them between two pieces of heavy timber. Engineer White says the results would have been more exact had iron plates, instead of wooden blocks, been used. The grain of the wood, the fact that the pressure of the wood upon the brick causes the latter to become embedded in the timber, all tended to make the strain uneven, which of course causes the brick to crush at a lower figure than it would were these things eliminated.

The output of the Honolulu Clay Company is not yet as satisfactory as they intend to have it. The machinery now employed allows small particles of rock to pass into the brick, thus decreasing its resistance, making the surface rough and uneven, and causing the edges to lose their sharpness. This is only a temporary shortcoming, if it need be designated in words as strong as that, and is being remedied as fast as possible.

In speaking of the new enterprise, Captain White said yesterday: "I have no hesitancy in saying that the bricks of the Honolulu Clay Company are a superior article and one which can be used with safety in any sort of building. The beginning of this enterprise will do much to encourage building along certain lines. "Some people are pouring cold water on the new concern, but in its behalf let me say that the bricks are very good indeed. They are of good color, weight and consistency. The experiments show them to be fully up to the imported article."

Mr. H. L. Kerr, one of the most active stockholders of the company, said: "We feel very much encouraged at the way our plans are beginning to materialize. People said we could not make bricks here, and time and time again we were told that our money was being wasted. For a year past we have been carrying on experiments in the valley, and now that we have been successful we intend to increase our kilns from one of 300,000 per month to several burning that number. We have had considerable trouble drying out the bricks, but this has been overcome by running steam pipes through our drying shed. The humidity of the atmosphere and the daily rains have caused us considerable trouble in finding means that would satisfactorily dispel the moisture, but the problem has been solved most successfully. "We have several large contracts already in view. These are the best testimonials as to whether or not we have met with success."

SALVATIONISTS.

Col French Will Hold Meetings at Points on Kauai.

Another full house greeted the Salvationists in their service last night. Many soldiers from the transport Buford were noticed amongst the crowd. Major Harris had charge of the preliminaries, interspersing the testimonies with some lively songs. Colonel French was again the principal speaker. Taking for his text Psalm 32:1, "Blessed is the man whose transgression is forgiven and whose sin is covered," he proceeded to show how people endeavor to cover up their sin, remarking that while there was a right way, many foolishly chose the wrong plan. Today, accompanied by Majors Harris and Wood, Colonel French will leave for Kauai. While on that island meetings will be held in Koloa, Waimea, Eleele and Makaweli.

A VALUATION.

"I understand that Milton got only a few pounds for 'Paradise Lost,'" said the literary friend.

"Well," answered Senator Sorghum, seriously, "I don't see what he could expect. I have glanced through 'Paradise Lost.' There is no way in which it could possibly influence votes."

Little to Say.—He—"I may be wrong, of course, but I always make it a rule to say just what I think." She—"You're not much of a talker, are you?"—Philadelphia Press.

Hilo, Hawaii, June 1, 1901.
Dear Sirs—In my innocence I purchased here in Hilo a jar of your PIN-MONEY PICKLES (put up by Mrs. E. G. Kidd, Richmond, Virginia).

It brought me great trouble, and of three things must occur:
1. You must stop making them.
2. I must get them at less expense.
3. I'm a ruined man.
Since my first venture I've had "jars." My family from early on every "Pickles," neighbors ring the bell and shout "Pickles," relatives call me in expectation of "Pickles." Pickles are my Nemesis. Please, sisters, quote them by the top, hoghead, ton or shipload, and "serve" me. Yours very truly,
