COUNTY BILL BEING READ

Caucus Holds Its Session in Secret.

Senator Brown in the Chair Last Night.

Those Who Are Privileged to Attend Conference of the Party.

By invitation of the Republican members of the Legislature, in caucus assembled, the members of the Executive Committee of the Republican Central Committee were privileged to meet with the legislators last night in a secret session at the Republican headquarters, on Fort street, to begin the reading of the new county government bill with a view to the proposition of changes and amendments in the discretion of the members of the Legislature. It was the plan to take the bill, section by section, read and consider it in every part, and at subsequent meetings listen to the changes to be proposed by the several legislators and consider them in their order. This work will involve a series of evening meetings, continuing, in all probability, all the balance of this week. It is the belief that the new county government bill is about the most important matter to come before the Legislature, and it is the desire of all the members to have this legislation, at least, enacted.

The meeting last night was presided over by Senator Cecil Brown, Caucus Chairman Crabbe being still confined to his house by illness. The members of the Legislature who reside in or have reached the city so far, and who are entitled to take part in the caucus deliberations are Senators Charles L. Dickey, L. L. McCandless, D. P. R. Isenberg, W. C. Achi, C. L. Crabbe, Ce-ell Brown and S. W. Wilcox and Representatives Wm. J. Wright, Wm. Aylett, F. Andrade, S. F. Chillingworth, W. W. Harris, Jonah Kumalae, C. A. Long, H. Vida, S. Kellinot, C. H. Pulaa, S. E. Kalama and H. A. Jaegar.

The members of the Executive Committee of the Republican Central Committee who are deliberating with the caucus are: George F. Carter, E. C. Winston, A. L. C. Atkinson, Colonel Jones, J. A. Gilman, Robert N. Boyd, W. G. Ashley and W. H. Coney.

All the legislators who were entitled to voice in the caucus were on hand when the meeting was called to order last night, save Dickey who had a prior engagement, and Crabbe, who is sick. But only Mr. Carter and Colonel Jones of the Executive Committee were present. Carter remained as a spectator during the proceedings, and Colonel Jones staid but a short time.

The legislators were much in earnest, and were soon hard at work. It was agreed to change the order of business reported by the committee so that the bill under consideration should be read, section by section, and members who had amendments to propose should state them, very briefly, without discussion at this time. Then, at a later meeting, these amendments proposed would be taken up in their order, and passed upon by the whole body.

The bill was read last night as far as chapter 13, which chapter was completed in the reading. There were changes proposed to nearly every section, but these were not important in the majority of cases. Where the fights will come, as indicated by the proceedings at last night's meeting, will be on the locations of the county seats on the island of Hawaii, and in those sections of the measure which define the power of the counties. Of these two questions, the county seat fights will probably be the hottest when they come on in earnest.

The caucus will meet again tonight for the further consideration of the bill.

LOKANA'S STRENGTH HAS ALL GONE

Lokana, a Hawaiian, said to have once been the strongest fisherman in Honolulu, came to the Police Station yesterday forenoon with a sad tale. His seventeen-year old granddaughter has been consigned to his care but recently a young Hawaiian came to his home and inveigled the girl away, and Lokana claims that she was not only smuggled away, but is now kept hidden. He asked the interference of the officers to prevent the girl from marrying, as she was under age, and had not the consent of her guardian.

Lokana in his time was said to have been able alone to pick up a "four-man" koa wood canoe and carry it on his shoulder to the ocean and launch it without assistance. His feats of strength are yet spoken of at Keala-moana where he once resided. Today he is a tottering, feeble man, his limbs racked with rheumatism.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 5.—Nothing has been heard from the Allies regarding the latest proposal that they be allowed three months' preference in dispensing Venezuela revenues to be used in the payment of claims. The officials are hopeful that resort will be made to The Hague if all other measures fail. The blockade will be continued indefinitely unless payment of the claims is guaranteed. It has been officially denied that the Allies object to the presence of Venezuelan troops in the port of Guayra.

The Alaska Boundary.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 5.—President Roosevelt has been informed that the opponents of the Alaskan boundary treaty will not permit its ratification by the Senate.

The treaty provides for the reference of all the boundary questions to a mixed tribunal of jurists, three on each side, to determine the interpretation to be placed on the treaty of 1825 between Great Britain and Russia, which defined the boundary between British America and Alaska.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The visit of the Sultan of Morocco to this city has been indefinitely postponed.
